The bride was dressed in white satin, with pearl trimming and wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor wore honeydew net over georgette, with velvet trimming, and carried a bouquet of larkspur and chrysanthemums. The other attendants wore blue and orchid georgette, and carried old-fashioned flowers.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Philip Isham sang "Oh Promise Me". This was followed by the wedding march from Lohengrin played by Mrs. Fred Abel, who also played during the reception following.

The catering was in charge of a Willimantic firm. About 100 guests were present from Hartford, Manchester, Willimantic, Norwich, New London, New York, Boston, Brattleboro, Worcester and Columbia.

Mr. Mitchell is office manager of the Hartford Special Machine Co. The bride for several years was a teacher at the Oaks school in Willimantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left for an automobile trip and on their return will make their home on Dearfield avenue, Hartford.

POETRY

The Chambered Nautilus

This is the ship of pearl, which, poets feign,
Sails the unshadowed main,—
The venturous bark that flings
On the sweet summer wind its purple wings
In gulfs enchanted, where the Siren sings,
And coral reefs lie bare,
Where the cold sea-maids rise to sun their streaming hair.

Its webs of living gauze no more unfurl;
Wrecked is the ship of pearl!
And every chambered cell,
Where its dim dreaming life was wont to dwell,
As the frail tenant shaped his growing shell,
Before thee lies revealed,—
Its irised ceiling rent, its sunless crypt unsealed!

Year after year beheld the silent toil
That spread this lustrous coil;
Still, as the spiral grew,
He left the past year's dwelling for the new,
Stole with soft step its shining archway through,
Built up its idle door,
Stretched in its last-found home, and knew the old no more.

Thanks for the heavenly message brought by thee,
Child of the wandering sea,
Cast from her lap, forlorn!
From thy dead lips a clearer note is born
Than ever Triton blew from wreathed horn!
While on mine ear it rings,
Through the deep caves of thought I hear a voice that sings:

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!
—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The Republic

Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What Workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,

Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock,
'Tis of the wave and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail,
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee,—are all with thee!
—Henry W. Longfellow.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Walter—Did you ring for me, sir?

Man at table—Ring for you? Good gracious no, man. I was tolling the bell for you. I thought you were dead.—American Funeral Director.

He—Her niece is rather good looking, eh?

Him—Don't say knees in, say knees are.—Leatherneck.

If the moon had a baby, would the sky rocket? — Abbey Student.

Your dog license expired July 31st, wrote the license man.

So did the dog, endorsed the wise crack.—Our Navy.

Alpine Climber (who is hanging desperately to the cliff over which he had fallen) to guide—If you have a moment to spare, drop me a line.—Bystander.

Hopeless Pupil—When I become a great musician, I will owe it all to you, professor.

Professor—No, I am sorry, but my fees are payable in advance.—Canadian Magazine.

He—Do you think your father will object to my suit?

She—I don't see why he should. He wears one almost as bad.—American Sheep Breeder and Wood Grower.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen has been promised $10,000 for playing tennis in America, but she will probably have to raise a racket and go to the courts before realizing any net profits.—Southern Lumberman.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Some of the mountains and canyons hidden under the sea have been named.

An oil suitable for lubricating airplane motors can be obtained from grape seed.

Elephants used as beasts of burden in India and Siam must almost always be caught wild, as the captives rarely breed.

A kind of fly imported from Europe to help fight the gypsy and brown-tail moths is found to attack 92 different species of insects.

Three is the magic number of a household in Pantygor, Wales, where triplets have arrived for the third time. The mother is herself one of a trio and her husband also is a triplet.

Former Empress Charlotte of Mexico who is living as a recluse in the castle of Bouchout, in Belgium, is in good health and easily surmounted a recent attack of influenza. The periods of mental disturbance which overcome her from time to time are decreasing in strength and number. She has passed her 87th birthday.

Feature for feature, inch for inch and ounce for ounce, Kazuo Kaneko and Tsuguo Kaneko, twins, in Tokio, are so much alike that even their parents were unable to distinguish between them. In voice, manner, likes and dislikes they are duplicates. Called to the colors recently, the examining officers could find no identifying marks so were forced to affix marks to their ear lobes so that commanding officers might know to which one they were giving orders.

NIANTIC

The tag day held for the benefit of Niantic Fire department Friday, Saturday and Sunday of last week was a success. The goal was $1,500 and that amount was over subscribed according to the general chairman Walter G. Barker. Mr. Barker was assisted by 25 members of the fire department who covered Black Point, Giant's Neck, Crescent Beach, Niantic, Pine and Saunders groves in the drive. George A. Gavitt of Main street deserves credit for the contributions he received. He covered Main street last Saturday and he was high man in the drive. His total collections were $250.50 which was a record. The department will meet next Monday evening at which time Chairman Barker will make a complete report. The committee appointed for this drive were discharged with a vote of thanks for the

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE
New York

Stocks strong; General Motors resume leadership.
Bonds firm; several French issues reached highs.
Foreign exchanges steady; European rates firm in light trading.
Cotton lower; favorable weather forecast.
Sugar: irregular.
Coffee firm; better Brazilian market.

Chicago

Wheat higher; bullish Liverpool cables.
Corn barely steady; larger country offerings.
Cattle: Firm.
Hogs irregular; lightweights weak.

MARKET WAS STRONG.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in today's market, which gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of strength in recent weeks. Aside from a number of trade and earnings reports, there was nothing in the day's news to account for the sudden change in speculative sentiment, but the feeling has been growing for several days that a consolidation was nearing an end and that at least a technical rally was merited.

Encouraging statements on the fall outlook have been received in Wall street during the last few days from bankers and leaders in the steel, oil, copper and automobile industries, but several of the larger commission houses have urged careful discrimination in the purchase of stocks. Although the call money rate held firm at 5 per cent. all day, the credit situation was no longer a source of general uneasiness, and at least a temporary decline in rates was looked for when the income tax payments were out of the way tomorrow.

Public interest showed signs of expansion, particularly in the amusement, copper, food, motor and investment rail road shares. The commercial possibilities of the improved talking motion pictures have fired the speculative imagination with the result that several sensational advances took place in several of the stocks of companies sponsoring these devices. Fox Film A was bid up over 6 points to 78 1-2, closing within a small fraction of the top. Warner Bros. Pictures A soared nearly 7 points to a new record high at 65 1-8 but fell back to 65 on profit taking. Paramount was bid up 3 1-2 points to 78, with buying attributed to reports of large current earnings, and Famous Players and Loew's advanced a point or two.

Strength of the coppers reflected the improvement in the market for the red metal. American Smelting crossed 149 for the extreme gain of more than 3 points but sagged slightly from that level. Howe Sound, which is expected to increase the regular dividend from $3 to $4, touched a record high at 44 1-8 after having sold as low as 37 earlier in the year.

Selling pressure appears to have been lifted from Mack Trucks. The final sale was a block of 850 shares at 110, an overnight loss of 2 points. But that level the stock climbed to 115 and ran a point below the top. General Motors was bid up 3 1-2 points on sales of less than 100 shares. Among the specialties which held out were American Sumatra Tobacco, Butterick, DuPont, International and Tobacco Product. Oils and steels were firm.

Reports of the Atchison directors to give dividend action at today's meeting, which had no effect on the stock which closed 2 2-8 points above that at the Atlantic coast. Railway bonds (Chesapeake and Ohio Convertible 4½s and Penn Reading General 4s) resumed substantial gains.

Foreign prices were mixed. Active French issues advanced nearly a point on reports of rains in the agricultural west and a better Liverpool cotton closed 20 to 23 points lower on local and southern spot sales. Sugar was unchanged and coffee was slightly easier. Cotton futures were unchanged to 12 points higher.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges held fairly steady in quiet trading. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 and French francs around 3.90 cents. Japanese yen advanced about a cent to 46 7-16 cents, the highest level quoted since the earthquake of 1923.

FAIR TODAY; PROBABLY SHOWERS TOMORROW

Norwich Bulletin

NORWICH, CONN., WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 15, 1926

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Wednesday, Sept. 15, 1926

THE WEATHER

Conditions

No reports have been received this evening from the vicinity of the tropical storm west southwest of Bermuda. It is probably moving slowly northward or northeastward. Another disturbance is central about latitude eighteen degrees north and longitude sixty-two degrees west and moving west or northwestward.

Pressure is high over the north Atlantic states and is high and rising from eastern Alaska southeastward over the British northwest territory to Alberta, accompanied by the coldest weather so far this season.

A western disturbance will advance eastward and it will be attended by showers on Thursday in the north Atlantic states. The temperature will rise somewhat Wednesday in the north Atlantic states and it will not change materially Thursday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Gentle to moderate variable becoming east and southeast except fresh easterly over extreme south portion, and fair weather Wednesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh east and northeast becoming strong over southeast portion, and mostly fair weather Wednesday.

Forecast

For southern New England: Fair and slightly warmer Wednesday; Thursday increasing cloudiness probably followed by showers.

Observations

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperatures and barometric changes Tuesday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	46	30.50
12 m.	65	30.60
6 p. m.	54	30.60

Highest: 65, lowest 42.

Comparisons

Predictions for Tuesday: Fair.

Tuesday's weather: Fair and cooler, south wind.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Delandre Provost, who has been spending the summer vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Provost and family of Hunters avenue has resumed her studies at the Academy of the Holy Family in Baltic.

Mr. and Mrs. Donat Ducharme of North A street have returned from a stay of several weeks in Canada.

Anthony Murphy who has been spending several weeks at the home of his mother, Mrs. Anthony Murphy and family of Merchants avenue has returned to the Sulpician Seminary, Catholic university at Washington, D. C.

Frederick W. Stone of New Haven has been a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stone of South A street.

After spending the annual summer vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amede Plon and family of Hunters avenue, Miss Isabel Plon has returned to the Academy of the Holy Family of Baltic.

A Workers' conference was held Monday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational church, with Superintendent Victor H. Davis presiding. There was a large attendance. Arrangements were made for the opening of the church school and for the observance of Rally day, which will be held on the first Sunday of October. It was also planned to resume the sessions of the church school next Sunday and the conference voted to change the time from 9:15 to 12 o'clock. Miss Isabel Barritt, who for several years has been the secretary of the conference and the church school presented her resignation as she is to leave town. It was accepted with regret. Because of a number of vacancies, new members are to be elected to the conference at an early date.

Mrs. Prime Dugas of South A street and her two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Dugas and Mrs. Joseph Dugas of Merchants avenue left Tuesday for Canada, and will visit for some time with relatives in Montreal. The trip is being made in Mrs. Joseph Dugas' automobile.

Rev. U. O. Bellerose, pastor of the Sacred Heart church is spending a few days in Canada.

Miss Irene Parent has returned to the Academy of the Holy Family at Baltic, after spending the summer vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon T. Parent and family of South Second avenue.

A meeting of Ponemah council, No. 84, Knights of Columbus, was held Monday evening in the council rooms on Providence street. Grand Knight John J. Daley presided.

Joseph Allard has resigned his position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stokes have taken a house on Norwich avenue and are occupying it.

Mr. and Mrs Joseph Gauthier and family have moved from South B street to the house at 43 South A street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayor and family of Terrace avenue have moved to Norwich.

Rudolph Faucher of South B street has resigned his position with the carding department of the local mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Turcotte have moved to a house on South Fifth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Barritt and their daughter, Miss Isabel Barritt of Norwich avenue are to move to Norwich.

GAVE MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS HELEN KAHN

A well arranged miscellaneous shower was given to Miss Helen G. Kahn at her home in Franklin, in anticipation of her marriage with Donald G. Bullard of Montville.

Beautiful gladioli, dahlias with bowls of nasturtium were used as decorations. In the large dining room a pink umbrella with pink and white streamers was hung, with wedding bells each side, gifts being attached to the streamers.

As Miss Kahn returned home the guests assembled in the dining room to greet her. After opening of gifts which were many and beautiful, including cut glass, pyrex, silver, aluminum, china and money, a tempting lunch of sandwiches, cakes sherbet and coffee was served. Guests were present from East Hartford, Lebanon, Montville, and Franklin.

The delightful affair was arranged by Miss Francis McIntosh and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith.

BED CLOTHES CATCH FIRE AFTER SUICIDE ON OAKRIDGE STREET

Fred Schneider, about 70 years of age, committed suicide by shooting at his home, No. 46 Oakridge street, about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Medical Examiner C. C. Gildersleeve viewed the body and gave Undertaker C. A. Gage permission to remove it to his undertaking rooms. Mr. Schneider's act was caused by despondency over the fact that he was to be taken to an old men's home and because his wife is in the hospital. The body was discovered when smoke was seen coming from the house and the fire department was called.

Schneider killed himself while standing in front of a mirror in his bed room. He used an old type .32 cal., revolver. After sending the bullet into his heart Schneider fell across the bed, and in some manner the bed clothing caught fire, probably from the flame from the revolver.

Mrs. Augusta Levitsky, a neighbor, noticed smoke coming from the house and notified the fire department. Chief Howard L. Stanton, Squad A and Engine No. 2 responded to the call and discovered Mr. Schneider's body. The room was filled with smoke and the mattress and bed clothing were smouldering. Chief Stanton found the revolver and turned it over to Officer John Carroll.

While the fire department was on the way, Mrs. Levitsky and Mrs. Carl Zemke, of No. 552 Boswell avenue, the latter a niece, broke into the locked house. That Schneider's self-destruction was premeditated was evident from the fact that important documents and papers were found on a table in the parlor. Neighbors who visited Mr. Schneider Monday night said that he was in a highly nervous state at that time.

He had been living alone since his wife had been taken to the Backus hospital suffering from the infirmities of old age. Mr. Schneider was born in Germany and was married in his native country, his wife's maiden name being Mary Glemn. Mr. and Mrs. Schneider had made their home in this country for 50 years and for 40 years he had been employed by the Norwich Belt company. For the last three years he had led a retired life, due to ill health. He attended the German Lutheran church on Franklin street and was a member of the Foresters of America. Survivors are his wife, and a niece, Mrs. Carl Zemke of this city.

RUMOR OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS IS UNFOUNDED

During the past week a number of telephone inquiries were received in the office of the state department of health concerning a reported outbreak of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) at Ocean Beach. A New London health officer gives the information that the matter had been thoroughly investigated and not a single case could be found.

The number of cases of poliomyelitis reported to the state department of health is lower so far this year than for the same period during any year since 1919. Up to the end of August, a total of ten cases were reported, one of which was reported in February, two in March, one in April, one in July and five in August. For the corresponding last year thirty cases were reported and in the corresponding period or 1924—sixty two cases were reported.

A tabulation of reported cases by months covering a period of years indicates that as a rule poliomyelitis reaches its greatest prevalence in August and September. For the nine year period 1917-1925 inclusive, 53 cases were reported in July, 126 cases during August, 131 during September and 82 during October. This four month period is the time of year when poliomyelitis is most prevalent. In 1925 fourteen cases were reported for August, twelve for September and three for October. This year only five cases were reported for August.

The cases reported so far this year have all been sporadic. They have not been grouped. Only one case has been reported from a town. The February case was reported from West Hartford, two March cases from Killingly and Clinton, the April case from Danbury, the July case from Waterbury and the five August cases were reported one each from West Haven, Jewett City, Old Saybrook, Suffield and Enfield.

Thus it appears that the present situation in regard to poliomyelitis is not such as to justify apprehension. The origin of the unfounded rumors as to the presence of the disease at Ocean Beach is not known. No case has been reported from New London during the present year.

VISITORS FROM WORCESTER FIND NORWICH BEAUTIFUL

Thomas Schofield, of the C. A. King wholesale house, Worcester, and his son Roger T. Schofield, now with an electric typewriter firm, Worcester, motored to Norwich and New London early in the week, making several calls while passing through Norwich. The elder Schofield is one of five brothers, Massachusetts boys, who began life in the modest American way, yet all were successful.

John A. Schofield who went west as a young man, advanced to be vice president and treasurer of Butler Brothers, Chicago, and at his death a short time ago was rated several times a millionaire. Another brother, the late William Schofield, rose to be a judge of the federal courts. Prof. Henry Schofield, like his brother the judge a Harvard graduate, was a professor in Western university, Kansas City. Philip, the youngest brother has charge of the interests of Butler Bros. in New York.

Thomas Schofield, on his first visit to this city in many years, was greatly impressed with the evident growth and prosperity of Norwich and the beauty of its situation and environment.

His son, Roger T. Schofield married Miss Winifred Anna Skelly, formerly a successful teacher in High street school, Norwich.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS WILL GIVE THEATRICAL PRODUCTIONS

Residents of Norwich and Taftville have recently formed a dramatic society, naming themselves The Community Players.

Their first programme, to be given early in October and on which rehearsals have been in progress for some time, will be made up of two plays: Pinero's the Magistrate; known later as the musical comedy, Good Morning, Judge; and preceded by Louis N. Parker's clever little play, The Man in the Street. Plans are being made for the opening performance in Taftville, followed by performances in Jewett City, Plainfield, Danielson, Moosup, Norwich, and a special evening at Uncas-on-Thames, for the benefit of the patients, and for holiday fund.

Aubury Travers is director of the Community Players, the entire staging and producing of all programmes is to be under his control.

The proceeds of the first performance are to be used as a fund for the future programmes and a subscription plan will soon be announced.

It is felt that enough interest will be aroused, and such support given, financially, that the Community players may proceed with their plans for their next two programmes of Rip Van Winkle, and later, Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

YEOMANS WILL RETURN TO BENCH IN OCTOBER

It is expected that Judge Edward M. Yeomans will return to the superior court bench in October, when the criminal superior court opens at Litchfield. Judge Yeomans, who has been ill since last March and had been at the Hartford hospital for a considerable time, was scheduled to preside in Bridgeport Tuesday at the opening of the criminal session. Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin substituted, as Judge Yeomans is still at his home in Andover convalescing.

NORWICH TOWN

The September meeting of Home chapter of the King's Daughters was held at the Johnson Home Monday afternoon, with a large attendance. The leader Mrs. William E. Manning opened the meeting with scripture reading and prayer.

The treasurer, Mrs. Herbert E. Branche reported over $50 cleared from the supper held during July, at Buckingham Memorial by the chapter. It was voted to contribute several aprons to the Bazaar of Nations, to be held during the fall, for the benefit of Backus hospital auxiliary. These will be made by the Home chapter sewing society, which is to have its opening meeting for this season with the leader, Mrs. Manning, Thursday, September 16th, at her home on Williams street.

Home chapter's motto brought the meeting to a close. A social hour followed with sandwiches and coffee served by the refreshment committee, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Fulton, chairman.

Miss Nellie McGarry of Town street, with, Miss Mary Devlin of Norwich, leave today (Wednesday) for Fishers Island, where they will join others for a two weeks' stay at the Connors cottage.

From a point leading up from the city line on Washington street and extending over the state highway into Town street, a large force of men under Supervisor Henry T. Gorman of the state highway department, spread the fall coating of tarvia, with top dressing of sand, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Burdick entertained a family gathering Sunday at their home, 155 West Town street that included relatives of both. Mr. Burdick's relatives were his uncle, Frank Latham of New London and Mr. Latham's daughter, Mrs. Etta Gray and three sons, also of New London; his son, Edward Latham and the latter's three daughters from Deep River, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lee and Junior Drew, of New London. Mrs. Burdick's relatives were an aunt, Mrs. John Carey and the latter's daughter, Miss Matilda Carey of Stafford Springs, another aunt, Mrs. Louis Crawshaw, of Springfield, Mass., and John Vacher, a brother of Mrs. Burdick, of Boston and these with Mr. and Mrs. Burdick, making a company of 18. Mrs. Crawshaw and Mr. Vacher remained for a longer visit at the Burdick home.

On a business and pleasure trip combined Thomas H. Bacheler of East Town street, left Monday evening for New York on a trip which he expects will take him as far as Ligonier, Indiana, where he will visit his brother, Rev. Gilbert B. Bacheler. For 15 years, prior to returning to Norwich, Thomas Bacheler was a resident of Michigan, and it is this state where he will spend most of his time, visiting friends in his former home town at Mears, also in Detroit, Muskegon, Jackson and Concord. Mr. Bacheler's plans were to stop en route at Albany. His stay is indefinite although he plans to be away several weeks at least.

Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Bacheler and family have returned to their home in Providence, following a visit of three weeks at the Bacheler homestead on East Town street as guests of Miss Mary Bacheler and Thomas H. Bacheler, aunt and uncle respectivily of Rev. Mr. Bacheler.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy and Miss Alice H. Kennedy of Town street, had as guests Sunday, Mrs. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Mary White and daughter, Miss Annie White, of Webster, Mass., also John Dwyer of Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Avery (Dorothy Lord) moved recently from 36 River avenue, Norwich, to 17 Spicer avenue, Groton. Mr. Avery is employed by the Southern New England Telephone company, with headquarters at New London.

Theodore Sterry, expert violinist completed a successful three months' engagement Sunday evening in New London where he played in the orchestra at a leading hotel during the summer.

Standish Beebe of Quaker Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Beebe, enrolled this year as a student at Norwich Free Academy. During the school year Master Beebe will make his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Beebe of Scotland road.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Millard (Gladys Belle Beebe) have returned to Jersey City, N. J., following a stay of three weeks with Mrs. Millard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Beebe. While in Norwich Town Mr. and Mrs. Millard made daily auto trips, calling on relatives and friends. Among those visited were Mr. Millard's relatives who were passing the summer at Gales Ferry, including his sister, Mrs. Osborn, and family of New London, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Millard, former Norwich residents.

Studying Piano in Hartford

The many friends of Miss Viola Levitsky, the versatile pianist of the N. F. A. class of '26, will be glad to learn that she is continuing her studies in music with a Hartford professor. She left Tuesday afternoon for that city. Her studies on the piano will be mostly in harmony and composition, in preparation for her entrance in the Boston university of music next. In her studies with Professor [illegible] of this city she has shown [illegible] brilliance in the rendition of classical compositions and her friends feel certain of her success in the higher levels of the music world.

THOMS NOT CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION AS GOVERNOR

Announcement Made at Opening of Democratic State Convention in New Haven—Mr. Thoms Declared His Advocacy of Charles G. Morris and Said He Hoped the Delegates Would See the Situation as He Saw It—Captain Frank P. Fenton's Keynote Address Was Warmly Applauded.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—To [illegible] in the field against the republican ticket nominated at [illegible] democratic state convention [illegible] Music hall tonight. [illegible] was the largest in [illegible] The full [illegible] and the temporary [illegible] the gathering's command [illegible]

[illegible] was the announcement by William E. Thoms that [illegible] candidate for nomination [illegible] he would [illegible] if tendered [illegible] he said that [illegible] when he said [illegible] take a place on the [illegible] Mr. Thoms said he felt [illegible] the nomination for [illegible] and go to Charles G. Morris. He hoped the delegates would see the situation as he saw it. Mr. Thoms was at the convention although [illegible] a delegate.

[illegible] the situation as regards the make-up of the state ticket [illegible] up. None of the leaders would express an opinion, most of them referring to National Committeeman Lucius F. Specht, saying that [illegible] for the delegates themselves to pass on the nominees. Some suggested that they would ignore Thoms' declaration to retire and [illegible] gave him a compliment [illegible]

[illegible] Specht when State Chairman [illegible] pounding his gavel [illegible] to make the delegates in the rear of the hall take their seats. Secretary Lynch asked that smoking cease as it was against the rules to smoke in the place. The temporary chairman Captain Frank P. Fenton, of Willimantic, was introduced and was greeted by the audience standing and applauding. A flashlight of the delegates was taken, with all facing to the rear.

The chairman began his address [illegible] time and again brought out [illegible] clapping. He said in part:

I appreciate the high honor conferred upon me as temporary chairman of this convention. The privilege is [illegible] and I am of my opinion the delegates here today and tomorrow [illegible] with a democratic United States senator from Connecticut and [illegible] a democrat as the next governor of the state.

We have survived at the parting of the ways in Connecticut. We have [illegible] the place where the right of the people of this state to rule themselves [illegible] once more be returned to [illegible] November next.

[illegible] stated that political parties are necessary under our form of government. That is true for the more [illegible] accepted these political parties as [illegible] none secure are the rights of [illegible] a people.

But [illegible] state for the past few years we have been unfortunate because the influence of political power [illegible] been so great in the favor of one [illegible] that that party has become [illegible] dominated by a powerful [illegible] clique who have so dared [illegible] the rights of the towns and [illegible] cities of our state that the [illegible] has become a public scandal. [illegible] the record of the electors of this [illegible] against this condition is here. [illegible] fair minded man there is only [illegible] answer in sight. That remedy is [illegible] overthrowing democratic victory for our [illegible] in November. Independent [illegible] Connecticut, can you show [illegible] other reason? Your answer, if [illegible] considered the conditions. [illegible] no. The nominees for the next [illegible] assembly are already picked. [illegible] in the hands of the machine is [illegible] the control is already assured Connecticut is now in line for [illegible] continuation of that legislation [illegible] year by year been gradually [illegible] the right of home rule from the [illegible] and towns of this state.

This is no guess work. We are facing facts. And "facts are stubborn things." The solution to this problem [illegible] with this convention. You delegates as representatives of the great democracy of this state have a serious duty to perform. You should perform it with a single aim in view. Forget all partisanship, all local differences of opinion and united in a [illegible] manner in such a way as will [illegible] the confidence not only of democratic electors of this state but of the [illegible] independents as well. We can afford to submerge our minor differences for the welfare of all. If we do this and unite under a common banner [illegible] only the welfare of our state in mind and pledge ourselves to restore [illegible] the towns of this state the rights so recklessly taken away from them, nothing can stop the triumphant march of our ticket to victory on election [illegible]

The only thing we must do is to nominate a ticket and promulgate a platform that will win the confidence of the thinking men and women of Connecticut. We must nominate candidates who, if elected, will aid in giving back to the voters of the Constitutional right of local self government and put a stop to that orgy of [illegible] which coming from our legislature the last few sessions has stepped [illegible] taking the historic powers from the towns and municipalities of this state.

A few more sessions of the Connecticut general assembly like that of 1925 and the towns and cities of Connecticut will not be troubled further in handling matters of local taxation, [illegible] highways and local government [illegible] all matters of local self government will be regulated by the general assembly at Hartford which is now giving dictatorial guidance of our affairs, the chairman of the republican state central committee.

These may seem wild statements to [illegible] but the truth of these assertions is testified by the records of the acts of the last general assembly. As I am speaking to a convention comprised of delegates from the towns of this state which have been seriously affected by legislation adopted the past [illegible] years it is not necessary for me to enumerate these laws which are on the statute books of Connecticut where they have been placed by the republican machine in spite of the almost unanimous protest of the electors of those towns and cities. Those laws affect the very existence and municipal life of the cities of Connecticut. Some might say, as this comes from a democrat, that it is just talk at this time. Let us see what a regular elected republican member of the last general assembly says about the question. Here are his exact words:

"It would actually take several columns to describe, as they ought to be described, the overt acts of the gang in usurpation and defiance of constitutional and statutory mandates of government."

Here this republican member of the last legislature goes on to enumerate a score or more to prove his case. He says that inadequate political functions for party control plan their nominations long beforehand and so have everything their own way when the assembly meets. Their chief asset is the indifference of the public who usually lets the abuses go on until they become intolerable and then goes out to smash things instead of planning constructive measures.

These are republican words applied to the republican government of this state. Volumes of other damaging evidence along the same lines can be summoned and all from republican sources. What of these things are true, I leave for you to judge. But if these things are true and I sincerely believe they are, then they are the real issues before the voters next November in Connecticut and not those set forth by the distinguished United States senator of this state in his speech of several thousand words before the republican state convention a few days ago.

Let our deliberations in this convention be such that when we present our ticket to the electors of this state it will have the support of a united democracy.

The chairman's mention of Simeon E. Baldwin as a "great independent democratic governor" brought hand clapping. A reference to Governor Smith of New York brought half of the delegates to their feet with cheers, and one waved a folding chair aloft. The pause gave the chairman opportunity to take a drink of water. Later on there was a burst of applause with mention of Woodrow Wilson.

A vigorous round of hand clapping followed Captain Fenton's close. This address was one of the shortest at any convention in recent years, being 15 minutes in length. He was listened to intently and was heard throughout the hall although he was suffering from a cold.

A recess was ordered to permit senatorial districts to select their convention committee members.

The hall had been liberally decorated with flags festooned along the gallery rails and on the stage.

M'ADOO-SMITH ISSUE CAUSE OF ROW IN THE CONVENTION

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—An echo of the dispute in the Connecticut delegation to the last democratic national convention when some members wanted to break away from support of William McAdoo for the presidency in favor of Governor Smith of New York, came into the state democratic convention tonight. For a time there was a verbal scrap to which kept Chairman Frank P. Fenton, who had just given the keynote address, busy with the gavel.

The question had come up as to acceptance of reports on convention committees and a new state committee. The convention had been told that the present state choice of committee members—two men and two women in two districts. The convention was asked to do it.

At the national convention the delegation members who favored Gov. Smith were led by Dr. E. G. Dolan of Manchester and since that time the latter had opposed Thomas J. Spellacy, present national committeeman. In his own district Dr. Dolan has been opposed by those who have stood by Mr. Spellacy.

The convention tonight was told that Dolan was re-elected state committeeman at an "irregular caucus." Dolan was given the floor to make a reply during which he said the trouble was the "old McAdoo-Smith fight all over again because he had pushed through every effort among the Connecticut delegates in behalf of Smith."

He asked Mr. Spellacy: "Why did Franklin Roosevelt send for me to take over the leadership of the Connecticut delegation in behalf of the next president of the United States?" Mr. Spellacy did not reply.

Homer S. Cummings was Connecticut's national committeeman at the time. He was not at tonight's convention.

The convention by its cries of "out of order" compelled Dolan to bring his remarks to an end.

The delegates after much excitement ordered Dr. Dolan's district to choose committee members again which was done and if the report is accepted tomorrow Dr. Dolan will have been ousted.

The convention tomorrow will select a nominee for United States senator and a state ticket and adopt a platform. The contest is expected to be over a plank on the prohibition question and an expression of the party's attitude towards Gov. Smith. Dr. Dolan heads the group who want a wet plank and a declaration in Gov. Smith's favor.

Parole Is Advised For John W. Langley

Former Congressman in Prison For Conspiracy to Violate Prohibition Law.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—John W. Langley, former congressman from Kentucky, serving a sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary, on conviction of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law, has been recommended for parole by the pardon board, it was said today at the Atlanta prison.

The recommendation for clemency goes to Washington to Attorney General Sargent.

The board denied clemency to Neufeld Jones, former assistant prohibition director for Georgia, and his brother, Winfield both of whom are serving two year sentences at the Atlanta federal prison for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

DEPOSITION EXONERATES SACCO AND VANZETTI

DEDHAM, Mass., Sept. 14—(AP)—The deposition of a condemned murderer now awaiting electrocution was read in superior court today as the latest move to gain a new trial for Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco. In the 132 page document Celestino Madeiros, 24 years old, exonerated Sacco and Vanzetti of the double murder of which they were convicted and declared that he was a member of the gang that committed the crime.

The sight of Sacco's wife and little children coming to see him during his long incarceration in jail led Madeiros to make his confession, the deposition set forth. Then it went on, reciting in detail how he and four others drove from Providence to South Braintree in the spring of 1920, how two members of the party shot down a paymaster and his guard, and how they escaped with the payroll.

Madeiros was convicted on another crime of murder of an aged bank cashier during the attempted robbery in Wrentham. It was during his detention in the same jail that he saw Sacco for the first time, he said. But although moved by a desire to save Sacco and Vanzetti from death, Madeiros steadfastly refused to name the other members of the gang who were implicated in the South Braintree murder.

In an effort to combat some three score affidavits filed by defense counsel, the government today introduced 12. All were brief and for the most part they were designed to impeach sections of the statement entered by the defense.

DOWNFALL OF FROST CAUSED BY INFORMER FRIEDMAN

He said they made their revelations fully and without exaggerations. Frost's arrest followed.

TILSON'S COMMENT ON THE RESULT OF MAINE PRIMARY

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Results of the primary election in Maine show that the people of the state "are well satisfied with the way national affairs have been conducted," Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, eastern director of the republican senatorial and congressional committee, said in a statement today.

"I have delayed making any comment on the election in Maine until I could have before me fairly complete figures" he said. "I now have a report which indicates that while Governor Brewster's plurality is over 21,000 the combined pluralities of the four republican members of congress from Maine total 36,000.

Slight Turn-Over in Nine State Primaries

But One U. S. Senator and Only a Few Members of the House Were Defeated.

(By the Associated Press)

Nearly complete returns from yesterday's nine primary battles indicate the defeat of but one United States senator and only a few members of the house of representatives.

In Colorado late returns gave Charles W. Waterman, former Coolidge campaign manager, and anti-klan candidate, a several thousand vote lead over Senator Rice W. Means in the republican senatorial contest. Means is commander in chief of the Spanish-American war veterans and reputed head of the klan in the state.

A nip and tuck race in Maryland gave Senator O. E. Weller a slight advantage over Representative John Philip Hill, one of the recognized leaders of the wets both in and out of congress. Senator Weller, a Democrat, will be opposed in November by another avowed wet, Representative Millard Tydings who was unopposed for the democratic senatorial nomination.

With comparatively few surprises noted in any of the primaries, Michigan afforded an exception. Auditing returns lately continued to indicate the early lead taken by Fred W. Green of Ionia over Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck in the fight for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

In the eleventh Michigan congressional district Representative Frank Sterling, veteran house member and for much of last season acting chairman of the house military committee, is locked in a tight race with Dr. Frank P. Bohn of Newberry, for the republican nomination.

Another Michigan congressional battle is between Representative Robert Clancy, anti-prohibitionist Representative Robert Crawford, anti-klansman, and Vincent Gilmore, a democrat, was defeated for the party congressional nomination by Sosnowski, a republican. Clancy now turned republican, threatens to capture that party's nomination.

Three senate veterans, Smith of South Carolina, and Broussard, of Louisiana, both democrats, and Jones, of Washington, a republican, had comfortable margins for renomination while Senator Dale, republican, Vermont, and Senator Butler, republican, Massachusetts, were unopposed. In the November election Senator Butler will contest with former Senator David I. Walsh, democrat.

In New York, which voted only for congressmen in the Representative Celler, a democrat, Representative Tydings, democrat, and the republican nomination by a court which tried him on manslaughter.

MAINE'S CHILD-ELOPERS GONE FOR THIRD TIME

ELLSWORTH, Me., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Maine's child-elopers, David Coughlin, 11, and Nellie Piper, 14, who disappeared yesterday for the third time within as many months, were still unaccounted for tonight, according to Sheriff Charles Conley who headed a large posse that searched the woods near here for the missing children.

The authorities believed the two people were accompanied by Ruby Ross, a graduate of this year's class of the Ellsworth high school. Miss Ross also disappeared yesterday after leaving an automobile belonging to the company by whom she was employed on the pretense of collecting bills.

Coughlin and the Piper girl were reported to have boarded a train here while they left Columbia Falls although they held tickets for Ellsworth. The station agent at Columbia Falls said today that a couple left the train there but he did not believe it was the elopers.

At the time of these last elopements both left notes saying the would commit suicide if followed. But upon being caught after a week in the woods, they promised good behavior and said they would await the permission of their parents before being married.

TWO NEW BRITAIN MEN DEAD FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Two New Britain men were fatally injured and two others hurt in an automobile accident in Cromwell tonight.

The dead are Stanley Baranowski, 48, and Joseph Wasniewski, 40.

The four men were returning from a berrying trip in a touring car driven by Joseph Talamori, also of New Britain, when one, down a grade in Cromwell, Talamori attempted to pass another car. As he swung his car out he noticed a third car coming up the hill and applied his brakes suddenly to avoid a collision. The brakes jammed, causing the machine to overturn. It skidded for about 100 feet.

The driver suffered a dislocated elbow and shock. The two fatally injured died soon after reaching the Middlesex hospital. The fourth man, Henry Krawczynski, also of New Britain, received a few minor cuts. He was discharged after being treated.

Baranowski is survived by a widow and six children. Wasniewski, a widow and four children.

Medical Examiner J. E. Gaffey announced the deaths and autopsy orders were made.

DEMOCRATIC FLARE-UP IN WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The possible nomination of a democratic lieutenant governor who withdrew in favor of an upstate candidate and a hint of fraud in the nomination of Suffolk county's republican candidate for district attorney furnished the chief aftermath features of yesterday's primary election tonight.

On the face of incomplete but representative returns, it appeared probable tonight that Harry J. Dooley, who withdrew in favor of Joseph B. Ely of Westfield would be nominated by the democrats for lieutenant governor over the man to whom he publicly threw his support to assure a balanced ticket, complete returns from the most of the cities and from 16 representative towns gave Dooley, 46,440 and Ely 40,-953.

With the possible upset staring them in the face, democratic leaders expressed the fear that their "well balanced" ticket had been damaged beyond repair, due to indignation from the voters in the western part of the state.

4 INDICTMENTS RETURNED FOR HALL-MILLS MURDER

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, Her Brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and Henry D. B. Carpender Must Face Trial For Murder Committed Four Years Ago—Grand Jury Deliberated But Ten Minutes Before Returning the Indictments.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Four persons were indicted late today for the murder on September 14, 1922, of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

The indictments named Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered man, her brother, Willie Stevens and her cousin Henry De La M. Carpender, all of New Brunswick, and Henry Stevens of LaFayette, Ocean county, also a brother of Mrs. Hall. Each of the four indictments contained two counts—one charging the defendants with the murder of the minister, and the other that of the woman.

Mrs. Hall, who was arrested July 24, was released two days later, in [illegible] bail. Carpender and Willie Stevens have been held without bail in the Somerset county jail since August 12.

Henry Stevens was arrested shortly after Somerset tonight at Lafayette, N. J. on a bench warrant charging murder.

The Lafayette man is a fire arms expert formerly in the employ of an ammunition manufacturing concern. He has lived in Lafayette for 20 years and is a member of the borough and water commissions.

Carpender is a wealthy stockbroker with offices in New York. Mr. Carpenders are known as middle-aged men of wealth in their own right. He made his home with Mrs. Hall.

The grand jury deliberated but ten minutes before returning the indictments. The indictments were returned the April term of court. They were conveyed at the earliest time possible as the result of a suspension of the Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson denied as he came out.

The four defendants will be arraigned before Judge [illegible] in the Somerset county court [illegible] date has not been announced. It also will be [illegible] pleas are made.

WM. H. BRACKETT DROPS DEAD ON SO. WILLINGTON HIGHWAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 16—While returning to his home from the postoffice at 8.45 o'clock this morning, William H. Brackett, 73, of South Willington dropped dead on the highway. Early in the morning, he had suffered a slight attack of acute indigestion and had received attention from Dr. Frank B. Converse of West Willington. Mr. Brackett was believed to have recovered and walked to the post office for his mail. Dr. Converse, who is also medical examiner for Tolland county was summoned. He announced that death was due to angina pectoris, and gave permission for the body to be removed to undertaking rooms.

Residents of South Willington were shocked as the sudden death of Mr Brackett became known. He has resided in the community since boyhood. Born in Woodstock, August 14, 1853, the son of Orville H. and Hattie Maine Brackett, he went to South Willington as a young man to work for the Gardner Hall Thread company, remaining in their employ for fifty-five years. For several years past he has been foreman of one of the departments. He took an active interest on the activities of the town and was an ardent worker for the republican party. He was a member of the delegation representing Willington at the state convention in Hartford Monday and Tuesday. He was representative from Willington in the general assembly during 1917 and again in 1921, 1923, and 1925.

Surviving him is his wife, a granddaughter, Miss Hazel Brackett, both of South Willington; a sister, Mrs. George H. Phillips of Worcester; two nieces, Mrs. Willard Osborne of Charlton City, Mass., and Mrs. W. L. Phillips of New Bedford.

At the first fall meeting of the Baptist Missionary society, held at the home of Mrs. Francis Campbell Tuesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. A. M. Brown presided. After devotional exercises and business, the president took charge of the program, "Moslem Women." Mrs. Wilbur, impersonating the Muezzin, sounded the call to prayer. The map talk by Mrs. A. M. Brown was highly interesting and was introductory to instructive reading on the Moslem creed, the Legend of Kaaba, Mecca, and Mohammedan influence upon the world. Pictures of typical Moslem women were exhibited. At the close of the program a very pleasing half hour was spent, tea and wafers being served by the hostess, Mrs. Francis Campbell.

F. X. Cassavant claims that the version in the Danielson news of the accident in which he figured was incorrect. His machine did not run into the Conn. Co. bus while it was discharging passengers in Danielson, he states. Mr. Cassavant was driving slowly through Main street, Danielson, coming from Putnam. The Conn. Co. bus was coming from Norwich into Danielson. Suddenly, without warning the bus turned sharp across the road to go to the station to discharge its passengers. Mr. Cassavant did not know of this custom, and not seeing any warning of such a procedure, could not stop his machine quickly enough, so hit the bus.

Special dinner Friday at J. C. Restaurant, Main St. 50c.—Adv.

Mrs. Hattie M. Fields and two daughters Nellie and Hattie leave today (Thursday) for a trip to North Carolina. They will also stop at New York city, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C. and Richmond, Va.

DANIELSON

DEBT OF TOWN REDUCED OVER $4,000 REPORT SHOWS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 15—Following the completion of the work of the town's auditors, a statement of the financial condition of the town of Killingly was available at the office of the selectmen today.

High lights in the mass of figures and statistics include the fact that, aside from the expenditures incurred in the high school building program of this year, the town's debt has been reduced by $4,066 while $2004 additional has been charged off for uncollected personal taxes, assessed against persons who have moved away, the indigent poor, cripples and in items assessed through enrollment errors.

Budget figures for the current fiscal year indicate that a tax of not less than 23 mills, and possibly a bit more, will be required to raise the $160,758, that will be needed to discharge the town's current obligations. Of this amount $96,368 will be required for schools and $64,390.24 for the selectmen. The prospective tax represents a possible increase of about five mills over the rate for last year.

Maintenance of the schools during the year 1926-1927, and the operation of them, will entail an estimated expense of $44,625. To this must be added the sinking fund payment on the school bonds of $5,000 and interest on the school bond issue of $6375. Last year the gross amount spent for schools was $51,736.97, while the net amount was $69,414.47.

The statement of the town condition includes inventory of property and equipment of the town. The town hall building is carried in this inventory at $75,000, and it would readily sell for much more money than that. The Attawaugan schoolhouse is listed as worth $15,000; townhouse, tools and motors $15,000; record vault and fixtures at $5,000; office furniture $750; postoffice fixtures $2842; school buildings and equipment (elementary) $100,000; high [illegible] (1907-08) $75,000; high school enlargement of 1926 (as one-third applies) $50,000; three permanent [illegible] highway bridges $15,000; total operating plant $289,730.

Current assets include: Cash on hand $30,824.78; borough of Danielson, demand note loan $5000, accounts receivable $24,00.04; taxes due (book value) $71,725.65, $58,000; total current assets $149,550.82. The total liability of the town is $366,762.06. This is an increase in current liability over last year of $141,951.14, and due to the town's heavy expenditure for high school enlargement.

The statement shows that the cost per pupil in Killingly's schools the past fiscal year, not including interest, was for the grade schools $60.01, for the high school $87.03. The past year Killingly received $6340.04 in tuition for pupils attending schools within the borders from other towns.

DEATH OF MISS A. E. DAY—A WELL KNOWN TEACHER

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 15—Miss Annie Elizabeth Day, after an illness of a number of weeks, died at her home on Main street early this morning. Miss Day was a native of Brooklyn and was born October 24, 1860, a daughter of Willard and Catharine Brown Day, who were of families that had lived for generations in the section where Miss Day was born.

Miss Day gave the greater number of her active years to teaching in the schools of Brooklyn and Killingly and to her hundreds of former pupils owe a debt of gratitude for the patient ability she so consistently exercised in leading them along the paths of knowledge. For some time past has been retired under the teachers' pension act of Connecticut. Miss Day was the last of her family. A nephew, Guy Miller, of Bridgeport, came here on Wednesday to arrange for her funeral.

WHAT HIGH SCHOOL ADDITION IS TO COST THE TOWN

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 15—That the people of Killingly may know just what the special committee on the building of the new high school has done in the way of expending money for the addition to the structure now nearing completion Supt. William E. Parker of Killingly's schools has issued a financial statement, as of August 31, setting forth what the contracts obligated the towns for and what the expenses incurred have been, as well as the extras voted to date.

The contracts entered into for the construction of the high schools were: A. F. Smiley company, general contractors, $112,441.70; M. J. Daly company, heating, plumbing $23,369; total $135,810.70.

Architect's commissions were $5,-45.64.

An extra expense that developed when excavating for the foundations for the north addition was for a drain to take away surface water coming down an old flowage way from east of Broad street, across the high school property, thence across adjoining properties to the west and connecting the Jacobs Mfg. company land and School street into School street sewer. The old drainage system had to be changed to make space for the school addition and the cost involved was $504.13. Sundry and minor items of expense amount to $198.08. Bond sale advertising cost $14.57, and the legal and other expenses incident to disposing of the $150,000 issue of bonds was $368. Urinal equipment, listed in the extra expenses cost $245, and there was a charge of $68 for laboratory outlets, not provided for in the general contract. A gas cooking device is listed at $12, and an electric telephone equipment at $500. Other extra expenses that could not be foreseen at the time of making the contracts included $260 for composition floors, this to the Smiley company and $75 to Tull brothers for additional hardware. The largest item of extra expense is $2451.08 to the Lyon Metallic company for lockers. The total expense contracted is $148,655.20.

The special $150,000 school bond issue of the town to care for the expense sold at a premium of $1149, providing $151,449 for the work to be done. With the expenses listed up to August 31, this leaves an unexpended balance of $2493.80.

Of course all of the money for which the town has become obligated has not been paid out—barely $100,000 of it up to the present week. What is retained, however, aside from the balance mentioned, must eventually go to contractors as they advance and complete their work, which will not be through, in some cases, until some time in January, in all probability.

The committee feels that the residents of Killingly should know about the finances of the building work at this time, and have accordingly issued a statement that contains the foregoing figures.

Loss of the republican nomination for attorney-general by Attorney E. L. Darbie of this town, speaker of the last house, at the state convention Tuesday, was a severe disappointment to his friends here and in many other localities of the state. However, Mr. Darbie has accepted with great good grace and is grateful to all of those who gave support to his candidacy in a noteworthy battle for the honor.

Mr. Darbie had nothing to say Wednesday relative to any future political preference he might have, but his friends were not at all backward about coming out with the suggestion that he be nominated for senator from the 28th senatorial district, in a caucus to be held in the near future. Jokingly, they pointed out, has not been honored with a senator since Postmaster E. H. Keech served in that capacity during the session of 1915. They contend that Mr. Darbie, having served the last two terms in the house is in line for the nomination for senator and has deserved the honor. The district is made up of the towns of Killingly, Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Eastford and Ashford.

Killingly reacted with resiliency on Wednesday to the announcement that the Connecticut Mills company contemplates removing half of the machinery of the corporation to the south—no definite locality made known, though southern states have been quite thoroughly canvassed. It is known for attractive locations and attractive terms—in the way of leases, financing, etc.

The Connecticut mills have been a splendid asset to Danielson in years gone by and it will not be without regret that all interests here contemplate its plans to remove at least half its machinery to the south. However, the town is not discouraged over the untoward turn of affairs. Rather it contemplates bucking up, hustling and seeking new industries. Whatever the Connecticut Mills does eventually, its plants and the fine section of Danielson it developed at Connecticut village will remain. These cannot be removed. In these properties Danielson sees its opportunity to go out, as the wideawake citizens of southern communities are now doing, and interest some new concern in locating here, this, of course looking far forward to a day that it is hoped may never dawn, when the Connecticut Mills have ceased activities here and are but memories of the past.

There is little chance in the north for further competition in the manufacture of fine fabric with the plants in the south. This is a fact beyond dispute, no matter how much it may hurt northern pride to make the admission. Down south operatives are willing to work longer hours for less money than is accepted in the New England states, so that section of the country gets the fine fabric business. And the labor problem is only one of the considerations. There are others in the way of tax exemption, local financial aid, nearness to the cotton fields, etc., etc., that count heavily with manufacturers who are pained to leave New England, but are forced to do it if they would continue as active concerns.

The thousands who live in eastern Connecticut areas where daylight saving time is in force and who have an interest in the fairs of Windham county will do well to remember that the programs of these fairs are fixed on standard time.

Coming along the state highway between Hampton and Brooklyn, Tuesday night Jerome Keech ran down and killed one of a pair of red foxes that were running ahead of his machine. Mr. Keech picked up the carcass and brought it to Danielson—the first fox kill of the season.

As for a number of years past, J. C. Witter was starter of the horse races at the Woodstock fair on Wednesday.

One of the best cattle exhibits at Woodstock fair this year is by Everill James of the Echo Valley farm on the Green Hollow road, about three miles south of Danielson. Mr. James is showing Ayrshires.

The dining room of the Danielson inn is open again.—adv.

Light frosts were reported all through this section Wednesday morning when the temperature went down to 37 degrees.

Charles Abdullah of Mechanic street has purchased of James Manley the old Paine farm, near Squaw rocks, just over the southern border of the town of Killingly in Plainfield.

Arthur C. Bissonnette of Fall River is spending a few days with relatives in Danielson.

There was a very considerable attendance from Danielson Wednesday of the 68th annual fair at Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Witter are to move from their home on Cottage St., to the Day property which Mr. Witter recently purchased on Broad street, opposite Davis park.

Russell Terwilliger of South Killingly is progressing toward recovery from an injury—a broken arm—sustained while he was trying to crank an automobile.

Stories about a new theatre for Danielson persist, but there is nothing really substantial as yet to give real credit to any of these rumors.

State officers from the Danielson barracks were on duty at Woodstock fair Wednesday, an arrangement that is in force at the exhibition each year.

Mrs. Sidney F. Marland will have members of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., at her home for a meeting this (Thursday) afternoon.

PUTNAM

PHRASE IN N. B. REAM WILL MEANS $10,000 LOSS TO SON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Sept. 15—The late Norman B. Ream of New York and Thompson, Conn., railroad director, wheat operator and one of the schrewdest financiers of his time, slipped just a trifle in phrasing his will and the slip cost his son Robert $10,204.08, all because the will used the word "for" in place of "in lieu of".

A New York paper says:

"Mr. Ream, who brought his business headquarters for the latter part of his life to New York from Chicago and lived the latter part of his life—he died in 1913—in Thompson, Conn., left an estate estimated at $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. He included in his will a provision that two of his sons, Robert C. and Norman B., two of the executors, were to receive $50,000 each "for commissions, percentages and allowes made by statute or otherwise."

"In making his income tax returns for 1924, Robert Ream included this $50,000, but claimed exemption on the ground that it was a bequest. He paid under protest and brought suit to recover from the collector of internal revenue. Federal Judge Hazel, in dismissing the suit, pointed out that, on the basis of precedents, the sum was a bequest only if made "in lieu of all compensation as executors." In the Ream case, the sons got the money only if they served as executors, so that it was an income and taxable."

SECURE BUT 11 JURORS FOR WETHERBEE TRIAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 15—The first day of the trial of Raymond Wetherbee, charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of the newly born child of Agnes Pytko, on the night of June 30, ended with only eleven jurors in the box.

A panel of fifty reported when court convened this morning and out of the first twelve examined six proved satisfactory to each side. But the remainder of the panel was exhausted with one short of the legal number. Nearly all of those excused had formed an opinion, or had conscientious objections to capital punishment.

Sheriff Gates called an additional panel of eighteen from people who were in the court room or business men on Main street, but none of these was acceptable. Of the eighteen, one was not in robust health, five had formed opinions, which, they said, would require evidence to remove, and twelve were opposed to capital punishment. Lawyers and attaches of the court said that they had never known of such a large proportion of people who were opposed to inflicting the death penalty.

Judge John R. Booth, who is presiding, adjourned court until 9 o'clock Thursday morning when the sheriff will have another panel of twenty, from which it is believed a twelfth juror can be selected.

Wetherbee sat by the side of his attorneys, Irving H. Miron of this city and Samuel B. Harvey of Willimantic. He took a close interest in all that went on, but offered no word of advice or suggestion to his counsel about the choosing of jurors. He is twenty-four years old, boyish looking, with rather a weak but not a vicious face.

Agnes Pytko, seventeen, who claims that Wetherbee was the father of the child and that he threw it in the river, and who was jointly indicted with Wetherbee, was in the court room, but took no part in the proceedings. She is slight of build, blonde and not unattractive in appearance. The court room was crowded during the hearing.

Howard C. Bradford, state attorney, is being assisted in the prosecution by Gen. W. A. King.

MISS WHEELOCK HONORED AT PRE-NUPTIAL BRIDGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 15—Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Howard Shirreffs entertained at bridge at her home on Gilman street in honor of Miss Sylvia Wheelock who is to become the bride Saturday of A. Allen Averill, of Pomfret. There were five tables in play and the other guests were Mrs. Leroy Fulton, of San Diego, Cal., Mrs. Karl T. WOODSTOCK FAIR'S BIGGEST DAY FAVORED BY MATCHLESS WEATHER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 15—In all the 68 years that the annual Woodstock fair has been held, no more nearly perfect day has come to attract attendance than was today, the "big day" of this year's exhibition.

The stream of people that made up the attendance began to flow through the gates as early as 9 o'clock and grew steadily in density until well into the afternoon.

While the faithful horse has not been entirely eliminated as a means of getting people to the fair from all the towns for miles around, it is a safe estimate that more than 90 per cent. of all those who attended the exhibition Wednesday came in motor cars. In the late afternoon the cricis inside the race track had the appearance of a great outdoor garage, and parked all manner of mchines from the lowly and often decrepit flivver to costly and luxurious sedans. It would seem that the annual fair still holds a compelling appeal for the rich and the poor, for the lowly as well as those of high estate.

This year the fair is much the same as it has been for the past decade. It is a real country fair without the flair and the foibles of many such exhibits held in or near centers of dense population. The Woodstock fair sticks close to the original purpose or its establishment—the exhibition of agricultural products and allied lines, the displays of cattle, poultry, sheep and other live stock and to contests between town teams of horses and oxen. It has its horse races and, to be sure, there is entertainment and special diversion in the way or vaudeville and the hawkers who have various souvenirs and other things to sell, and the little tent shows that attract and amuse.

There have been years when the ex-hibition building held a greater variety of exhibits and a greater number of them than is the case this year, but this is held to be largely accounted for by an unusually poor growing season and to various attendant handicaps. Nevertheless, he will find on a trip through the building and the other towns that send entries to the fair continues to produce anto the fair continues to produce anvegetables and fruits, dairy interests are not lagging flowers and that the of all the countryside in this day and age. The apple exhibit is particularly fine this year, as are the flowers, and judges were at work among the displays on Wednesday making the awards that will bring joy to exhibitors.

County Agent Frank L. Davis of the Windham County Farmers' association had an association booth of which he was in charge at the fair today. The association is not making any special showing of products on its own account, but stressing its effort to interest all producers of farm products in the fact that Windham county sets in a central location in the best marketing area in all New England.

A large map sets out the county lines and the relation of Windham county to such splendid markets as Boston, largest of New England cities, Worcester, the second city of Massachusetts, and Providence, New England's second most important center of population. Mention of this makes no account of the scores of smaller towns and cities that offer ready markets for Windham county's farm products.

Enjoying this advantageous loca-tion the Farmers' association has set about broadcasing a program for having Windham county produce superior quality products for its selling field. "We are out to have this county noted for its high grade products," Mr. Davis said, "whether they be milk, vegetables, fruit, eggs or other things that go to market from the farms. We can win the market for the best products and oblige the western farmer to take what he can get of the trade in the market for poorer grades of produce."

Mr. Davis cited many convincing statistics as to what is now being done along these lines by county farmers. He mentioned that 6,000 quarts of Grade A milk now goes daily out of the county to Boston and Providence, of the number of barrels of A-1 apples that were sold out of this county last year and of the demand that has been created for special selected and boxed fresh eggs direct for poultry farms or Windham's towns. Mr. Davis, on the strength of what already has been achieved, is enthusiastic over the marketing possibilities of Windham county farm products of the finest grades.

The cattle show this year is limited as to entries, but excellent as to the animals entered. The tendency at Woodstock, as at other fairs, is the showing of pure bred cattle and some fine specimens were on display Wednesday.

The poultry show, including pigeons, is small this year, but the entries of interest.

During Wednesday features were the plowing match, showing of working oxen and steers and draft oxen, these being morning events, and the cattle parade on the track in the afternoon.

J. Carl Witter of Danielson acted as starter of the races, the results of which follow:

APPLY varnish stain to a metal panel. Allow the panel to dry. Bend or crease it over a straight edge. Then straighten it out and examine its surface.

An inefficient varnish stain will crack badly where it was creased, leaving a broken film that will chip off and expose the bare surface.

Devoe Mirrolac will retain an unbroken film thereby fully protecting the surface. This proves the elasticity and durability of the product.

Practical tests prove Devoe quality.

EASTERN CONN. BOWLING LEAGUE ENROLLS EIGHT TEAMS FOR SERIES

With the coming of cooler weather the bowling game in eastern Connecticut has begun to pick up and the game will now become the popular pastime for the winter months. A meeting of those interested in bowling was held Wednesday afternoon in this city and the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league was reorganized for the winter of 1926-27. Fred Dugas of Taftville was elected president of the league, "Bill" Hull vice president and Myles E. Standish, secretary and treasurer.

Representatives from eight alleys attended the meeting Wednesday, as teams in the league have been entered by the Peerless and Lawrence alleys of New London, Aetna, Palace and St. Joseph's alleys of Norwich, and alleys in Groton and Westerly and Taftville, making up an eight team league. The clubs have banded together and have placed $160 in the treasury to provide prizes and it is also planned to have the annual banquet at the close of the season.

Rules drawn up at the meeting included the following: A bowler cannot roll on two teams and that there shall be two rounds of bowling, home and home games. In the scoring of points there will be four, three on strings and one on pinfall. It was also voted that a 24 hour notice is required for any postponed game and that the foul line shall be enforced in the series this year.

The season is to open on Monday September 20th, with the following teams scheduled to play: Palace at Aetna, St Joseph's at Taftville, Groton at Westerly and Lawrence at Peerless.

The announcement of prizes to be awarded at the conclusion of the series of games was also made Wednesday and are to be as follows: First prize $50 one second prize $30, third prize $20, high team three, $10.00; high team single, $5.00; individual high three, $5.00, individual high single, $5.00; individual high average, $10.00, second high average, $5.00.

TILDEN IS RAPIDLY GETTING BACK INTO FORM

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 15—(AP)—America's tennis "big four" once again face the challenge of France's impetuous young invaders, this time with the national singles championship at stake.

Surveying the third round of the title tournament at the West Side club's stadium today, the quartet of American aces will go into the quarter-finals tomorrow against the same opponents they turned back in the Davis cup challenge round last week.

This is the way the France-American battle lines will be drawn in tomorrow's matches, starting at 2:30 p. m. William T. Tilden vs. Henri Cochet, Vincent Richards vs. Jacques Brugnon, Richard N. Williams vs. Rene Lacoste and William M. Johnston vs. Jan Borotra.

Tilden's battle in defense of the title he has worn for the past six years found him extended for the third time of the day, carried to the full limit of five sets by Arnold W. Jones of Providence, R. I., former Yale captain. Nevertheless the national champion's strong finish not only earned him the victory by scores of 7-9, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, but revealed him as closer to his real form than at any time this week.

The figures indicated that Tilden had a close call from losing three sets in a row but the suddenness with which he regained control and swept through the final two sets, taking more chances with his injured knee than at any previous time, showed that he has lost none of the keen edge of his game when it comes to a pinch. Using a bundle of bandages for a rubber knee supporter in the middle of the match, Tilden dashed about the court at the close with scarcely any sign of his previous limp.

The champion will meet his biggest test tomorrow however for his opponent, in downing the formidable young New Yorker, Frances T. Hunter today, at 7-5, 6-3, 0-6 6-3, flashed a dazzling game of unusual brilliancy.

The other three Americans had little difficulty advancing. Williams lost a set before conquering Herbert L. Bowman Novak, at 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, but Richards and Richards triumphed easily in straight sets.

Little Bill took matters easy to master Edward Jacobs, Baltimore youth, at 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, while Richards vanquished the remaining Japanese ace, Tozo Tobe, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4

Brugnon was the only one of the Frenchmen to be really extended and it took him five sizzling sets to check Dr. George King of New York by scores of 6-3, 6-2, 7-9, 5-7, 6-1.

Borotra and Lacoste both seemed at the top of their games the "bounding basque" vanquishing the intercollegiate champion, Edward G. Chandler of California, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, while Lacoste though dropping a set, easily proved himself the master of Manuel Alonso, of Spain, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

PIRATES SEE PENNANT HOPES GROW MORE DIM

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—(AP)—Pittsburgh saw her pennant chances grow more dim today as her traditional rivals, the New York Giants, took a step away from her. Though the Pirates won the series three games to two the loss placed them three and one half games behind Cincinnati, leading leaguers, and three games below St. Louis.

New York started off with a vengeance in the second inning with a double by Tyson, Jackson's walk, and Hogan's single. But the Buccaneers went into a two run lead in the next frame. Smith singled, Birkofer walked, and then Wanier smashed a triple into deep right center and went home on Cutler's drive.

The Giants crawled up one more run with their second run scored in the same inning. The Pirates scored again in the fourth on singles by Traynor and Smith, but New York went after Bush that inning for three runs and victory. Morrison was sent in to save the day but the New Yorkers smashed their threat, putting over four tallies before he could get under way.

Scott held the visitors scoreless for the rest of the way. It was the Pittsburgers farewell appearance at the Polo Grounds.

YANKS GIVE INDIANS PENNANT HOPES A BLOW

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 15—(AP)—New York leathered an early lead today on Cleveland's home field winning six straight from the Yankees and going into first place, to resume the first of the series here six to four.

The Yankees drove Uhle, Cleveland pitching ace, from the mound in the seventh. Uhle previously had beaten New York three times this year. Lindstrom's two-run double with the bases filled and Combs' single, scoring Lindstrom, gave New York the lead in the seventh. New York batted Uhle hard and got a pass and Pipp's Texas Leaguer was hit by a pitched ball.

Cleveland drove Jones from the box in the fifth, but Shawkey who replaced him was a puzzle. Both Jones and Shawkey were helped by New Yorks four double plays. Koenig playing a remarkable, but error game at short-stop and coming on in one of the American league records by accepting sixteen chances.

The game was held up 45 minutes in the first inning because of rain, resumed in the eighth, then preventing the playing of a second game.

A doubleheader will be played tomorrow.

Sachems Vs. Yantic A. A

Sunday afternoon on the Yantic field the Sachems of Norwich will open the first of a three game series with the Yantic A. A. Both of these teams have made quite a reputation for themselves this year especially the Yantic team which was a contender for the flag in the Twi-league. For the past two weeks these two teams have been trying to arrange a game with each other to settle the dispute of which has the better team and at last a three game series was arranged.

When people begin to whistle a popular air all the sentiment is blown out of it.

REDS MAKE IT FIVE STRAIGHT FROM ROBINS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 15—(AP)—Playing in fine form the Reds humbled Brooklyn and retained the top notch in the National league scramble today, 7 to 2. The victory gave Cincinnati a clean sweep in the five-game series.

Rixey, southpaw who blanked the Robins Monday, was a puzzle for Brooklyn again today. He allowed seven scattered hits. Petty, matching his left arm against Rixey, conceded only two more, but his mates played raggedly, five errors being chalked against them.

Butler and DeBerry made mistakes in the first inning encouraging Hendricks then to score twice. In the third Roland Cruz who has been in fine fettle during the series, tripled with two runners on.

Brooklyn was let in for a tally in the fourth when Herman hit over the right field wall for a homer. Another Robin run came in the last half of the ninth, Herman scoring on Butler's fly to Walker after he had singled and taken third on Cruz's one-bagger.

Cincinnati scored another in the sixth and added a victorious touch in the eighth with two more. Clabaugh went to left field for Brooklyn and immediately muffed a long one off Zitzmann's bat, putting the batter on third. Cincinnati worked a squeeze play, with Rosen beating out a grounder [illegible] Walker scoring. Roush stole second and I scored on Pipp's single.

Today's win was the seventh straight for Cincinnati. It concluded the Reds appearance against the Robins for the season which has seen Brooklyn bow eighteen times and win only four times from Hendricks' men. Score:

BRAVES BLAST PENNANT HOPES OF CHICAGO CUBS

BOSTON, Sept. 15—(AP)—The Boston Braves blasted any pennant hopes of the Chicago Cubs by taking a double-header 1 to 0 and 3 to 1 here today. Joe Genewich pitched air-tight ball in the opener, allowing but four scattered hits, three of which were gathered by Jimmy Cooney, Chicago shortstop. Wm. Foster Edwards, former Dartmouth pitching ace, went the distance in the second. He held the visitors to six hits. Cooney, Adams and Grimm completed the 160th double play for the Cubs this season in the second game, bettering the total just three below the league record.

CARDS TOOK FIRST GAME FROM PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their six-game series with the Phillies today by winning, 9-2. The Cards clinched the game by heavy hitting in the fourth and eighth innings, in each of which they scored four runs. Shortstop Tommy Thevenow delivered two timely singles that drove in three runs and he also scored a pair of his own. Haines was hit hard but was invincible with men on base. Score:

THIRTY-SIX TAKEN FROM BIG HARVARD SQUAD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Arnold Horween, Harvard's new head coach of football, wasted no time separating the sheep from the goats in the first practice session of the year today. Thirty six of the 120 men to report survived the operations. They included seven ends, six tackles, six guards, four centers, four quarterbacks and nine backs, who are now classed as the first squad. The rest of the men will practice in a separate enclosure until the final cut is made. Two daily practice sessions are in order from now until the opening of college.

Slaughter Not a Pro

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 15—(AP)—Edliff (Butch) Slaughter, former Michigan star, today announced he had written Ralph Scott, coach of the New York Giants, professional football team, declining an offer to join the team. He will remain as assistant football coach at the University of Wisconsin.

YOUNGSTERS CAUSE SEVERAL UPSETS IN NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF TOURNEY

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 15—(AP)—Thirty-two golf stars grappled for the national amateur championship today in two heart-breaking rounds of golf which felled thee former title holders and threatened to dethrone mighty Bobby Jones.

It was a gripping struggle which found great players fighting gamely against a sweeping attack by young challengers who had marched upon Baltusrol to displace the men who have held sway over the fairways for almost a decade. But when the hail of shots had echoed their last note of conflict from the flanking mountain ranges, the ranks of the favorites showed only a few gaps, with Jones, the defending king, Watts Gunn, Atlanta chum, Francis Ouimet, of Boston, George Von Elm, of Los Angeles, and Chick Evans, of Chicago, among those to gain the round before the semi-finals.

Surviving with them the gruelling test, which marked the first attempt in recent years of the U. S. G. A. to bring off two rounds of match play in a single day were two young aspirants from the middle west, Eddie Held, of St. Louis and George Dawson, of Chicago. By their victories, Dawson and Held qualified to meet tomorrow in the 36-hole third round, while Evans will face Bobby Jones, Von Elm will engage Gunn, and Ouimet will look with young Frederick J. Wright, Jr., of Boston, the Massachusetts state champion.

Out of the 24 nerve-wracking matches today, ten carried the galleries in breathless suspense to the home green, and six to the seventh and three to the 16th. Bobby himself was among the farriers who found themselves on the verge of defeat, and only by holding a birdie four on the 18th was he able to beat back the determined thrust of a Jones from the north—Richard A., Jr., of New York city.

Safely past the New York Jones at 1 up, the two-time champion romped through a second round match with William Reekie of Montclair, N. J., to score the only decisive triumph of the round in five and four. It marked his second successive verdict over the veteran Jersey man, for Reekie went down before the 24-year old Georgia master a year ago at Oakmont by a one-sided first round score.

Sensational putting saved the former champions, Ouimet and Evans. After dropping two long ones to save his first round match against Roy M. Moe, of Portland Ore., one up, the bespectacled bubman scored to such brilliant heights on the greens against Eustace Storey of England that consistently sound golf could not save the former British Walker cup player. Ouimet at no point was able to relax in his brilliant playing, however, for Storey clung to his task tenaciously before going down, 2 and 1.

Evans scored both his triumphs on the 17th green, nosing out William C. Fownes of Pittsburgh in the first round and then bathing through a nip-and-tuck duel with the 50-year old Boston veteran, Parker W. Whittemore. Three long putts at the 12th, 13th and 17th saved the match for Chick.

Balancing the triumphs on Evans and Ouimet, Jesse Guilford, champion of 1923 and Max Marston, winner of the 1923 tournament were swept to defeat with the 1925 titleholder, Fownes.

Beside them also fell Roland MacKenzie, of Washington, D. C., medalist of the 1925 tournament, Rudy Knepper of Chicago, second in the qualification test yesterday and Dexter Cummings of Chicago, former intercollegiate champion.

Marston passed out of the picture in the longest battle of the morning round. Making a sensational uphill fight from the turn, where he stood two down, the Philadelphian finally squarred the match only to be beaten on the 22nd green by 19-year old Maurice McCarthy of New York, one up. Here the Quaker player's iron shot from the tee fell in a sand pit and he was unable to expel the pellet close enough to the pin to stave off defeat.

Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., the New Jersey junior champion, stuck to Guilford for 18 holes in the first round before he was finally subdued, 3 and 2, but another young star accomplished in the second round what Homans had failed to do in the first. Eddie Held, former public links champion, set out at a smashing clip to overthrow the Boston siege gun, shooting the first nine in even par to lead at the turn by four up. Guilford tried nobly to overtake his mid-western rival, but Held stuck grimly to his tack to pull out the match by 4 and 3.

After conquering Jack Westland, of Seattle, Wash., in the opening round, Gunn went to the home green to settle an exciting struggle with Rudy Knepper. The Chicago player, who already had fought out one match at the 18th to defeat Dexter Cummings in the morning at 1 up, held the Georgia Tech youth even for 15 holes. The nine faltered. His drives began to hook and slice, his iron clubs to misbehave. But he managed to reach the 18th tee only one down.

Here his drive twisted into the rough. His second fell among a clump of trees on the left below the green, while his third was several feet short of the green. Gunn, trapped on his second, pitched out nicely to take the hole in par five to Knepper's six.

Gameness under terrific strain was reflected in no more abundant quantities than in two victories of Dawson, the surprise of the tournament. It was not until several hours after he had accomplished a morning victory over M. L. Massinghill, of Fort Worth, Texas, in the first round, that the official score board recorded the match as the third extra hole match of the initial round. He then fought his way through a gripping duel with J. Wood Platt of Philadelphia to win his place in the quarter-finals, 2 and 1.

Wright also had to go almost the full length of the course for both his victories. In the morning he took the measure of Lauren Upson, of Englewood, the former Pacific coast youth, 1 up. He then eliminated M. B. Stevinson, of Crevy Chase, Md., 3 and 1, in the afternoon.

Dick Jones looked threatening all the way against the champion, who found in the New York youth one of the most stubborn foes he has faced since his rise to the golfing pinnacle. Bobby frequently was in trouble. So was Dick. But the latter was recovering so remarkably that Bobby had to make an uphill fight of it from the very first green.

Coming to the 18th tee with a margin of only 1 up, Jones laced a terrific drive down the center and was on with his brassie. Dick was short, but he chipped up dead, and Bobby was compelled to drop a birdie four to halve the hole and save the match.

FOOTBALL SEASON AT YALE BEGAN WEDNESDAY

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The football season opened at Yale today when a squad of more than 50 men reported to Captain Phil Bunnell and Head Coach Jones for the first practice. The afternoon was devoted to fundamentals, kicking, passing, falling on the ball, running back punts and tackling the dummy.

The linemen worked under Myron Fuller, who later will be assisted by Edwin Blair. Charles Comerford had charge of the ends, and Mal Stevens worked with the kickers. Lovejoy instructed the centers.

Bill Kline, veteran of last year's team, reported with a bad ankle, and K. D. Stone, who won his letter in the Harvard game last year, has an injured back.

Fishwick, last year's quarterback, reported with the rest today as did Scott, who played in the Harvard game.

Other ends were Bingham and Cole of last year's freshman team. Coleman, Mallory and Thomas (Bingham is the brother of William Bingham, the Harvard athletic director.

Vandergrift, Richards and Boston, all letter men, were among the tackles. Among the guards were Sturhahn, Wortham, Webster and Fosberry with varsity experience and Charnesworth of last year's freshman team.

Harvey, who played in some of the games last year and Phillips of the freshman team, are out for center.

Bunnell leads the candidates for quarterback with a host of others in close distance from Dreese and Swift, of the freshman team.

In addition to Stone, the backs who were out were Caldwell, Kline, Noble and Wadsworth, letter men. Ordway of two years ago, Brandenburg, Garvey, Hoben, Hubbard, Loud and Miller, of the freshman squad, and McGonigle who played on the freshman team three years ago.

NOTHING DEVELOPED IN DEMPSEY CASE WEDNESDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Probably the largest gathering of federal referees and [illegible] ever gathered together in Pennsylvania was set around the ring when Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney met in the semi-[illegible] at the Sesqui-centennial stadium, Sept. [illegible].

They will [illegible] the referee of the Dempsey-[illegible] battle next year. Not until the [illegible] to the two boxers and the referee and the two judges be summoned for duty. Their identity remains secret.

Other details of the bout were completed before Tex Rickard left for New York. The compensation to be given the officials, [illegible] and other employes concerned were also agreed upon.

The time of the bout will be anywhere between [illegible] and 1 p. m., daylight saving time. Whatever preliminaries have been disposed of by that will precede the main bout at 1 [illegible].

Tex Rickard and [illegible] conferred on this and [illegible] the [illegible] as to whether the [illegible] Dempsey would [illegible] to step [illegible] Tunney. No [illegible] was heard today with the exception [illegible] against Dempsey in the Indiana court Monday night.

Mayor Kendrick said today that the sesqui-centennial [illegible] would adopt a "hands off" policy in case legal action [illegible] Philadelphia, as the [illegible] [illegible] Dempsey [illegible]. It is understood that Rickard is [illegible] to meet any action taken to stop the bout.

TUNNEY SLOWS UP HIS WORK DUE TO WEIGHT

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Discovery that he was on the very verge of his [illegible] weight caused Gene Tunney to [illegible] today when he [illegible] to spend a busy afternoon [illegible]. It was understood that Tunney weighed only 187 pounds when he [illegible] four miles of road work today. As he expects to enter the ring [illegible] pounds when he [illegible] he would not [illegible].

A big crowd had been [illegible] and the announcement that there would be no boxing did not [illegible] at least [illegible] prospective spectators [illegible] depart. The [illegible] change in program [illegible] why Tunney and Gibson [illegible] charged to see the [illegible] Gibson explained that Tunney is [illegible] himself for a [illegible] bout and knows quite well [illegible] should not work [illegible] the "gate" to influence [illegible].

DEMPSEY HAD LIGHT WORKOUT ON WEDNESDAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 15—(AP)—In the presence of a [illegible] more newspaper [illegible] and camera men huddled around the ringside, Jack Dempsey today engaged in his first semi-private workout.

The day was dull and so chilly that the ring was covered on two sides with a canvas wall to protect the world's champion from the chilling blasts sweeping off the ocean. Dempsey worked in full length green tights and a jersey.

Although free to cut loose with his heaviest artillery, without consideration for spectators, he took things rather easily. He boxed the usual five rounds in addition to a round apiece on the light and heavy bags and a round of shadow boxing before calling it a day. He appeared to be off in timing his punches and his work lacked the dash and fire that characterized previous sessions.

The champion's showing, however, was sufficiently impressive to meet the approval of qualified experts. Among them was Jack McAuliffe and Benny Leonard, both undefeated and retired lightweight champions of the world; Tommy Gibbons, Harry Ertle, the referee; Jack Skelly, an old time lightweight and Att Hinkle, a noted boxer and sportsman of Cleveland.

Instead of barring the newspaper correspondents from all workouts after tomorrow, Dempsey decided today to admit them except on next Tuesday. He probably intends to step the [illegible] distance of ten rounds on [illegible] day and wants to try himself out in street privacy.

Attention Red Tops.

Sports Editor: An article appeared on Wednesday's paper stating that the Norwich Red Tops claim the junior championship of eastern Connecticut, also stating that no team has taken a three game series from them.

Manager Pettier forgets that the Athletic Cubs took a three game series from them by the score of 3-2, 5-1 and won [illegible] by the score of 1-0 at Jewett City.

To [illegible] them in a three game series the Athletic Cubs claim the junior championship of eastern Connecticut.

Yours in clean sports,

WARRIORS VS. BEARCATS AT DUWELL FIELD SUNDAY

The Warriors and Bearcats are scheduled to meet at Duwell field on Sunday afternoon in the final game of their three game series. The Bearcats won the first game played several weeks ago while the Warriors took the second game, which was very fast and interesting, so that this deciding game should be very fast and interesting.

P. Finn or Dudek will probably pitch for the Bearcats with Lamory catch while Couture will probably pitch for the Warriors with Burns or Hamil catch.

A large crowd is expected to attend as this game will practically decide the city amateur championship for the 1926 season.

WESTERLY

MISS ELIZABETH S. WHELLER BRIDE OF R. B. MEIKLE

(Special to the Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Sept. 15—In front of a bower of dahlias and palms and under a large white wedding bell, at the home of the bride's parents, 34 Cross street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock, Miss Elizabeth Stewart Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick N. Wheeler, was united in marriage with Robert Burns Meikle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Meikle, of 43 Highland avenue.

The bride entered the room when the flower girl, little Miss Jean McLaren, cousin of the groom, was strewing flowers in her path She was given in marriage by her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lewis A. Walker, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Westerly. At the piano was Miss Minnie Francis and during the ceremony Martin H. Spellman sang "O Promise Me." and "I Love You Truly."

The gown of the bride was of white georgette and her bridal veil was caught with orange blossoms She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by Miss Marion A. Young of Haverhill, R. I., as maid of honor, whose dress was of watermelon pink georgette and who carried a mixed bouquet of garden flowers. The flower girl had a pink georgette frock and carried tea roses.

J. Harvey Meikle, brother of the groom, was best man. There was an attendance of about 75 relatives and friends. The ushers were Morgan Stewart and Byron Newton. Many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen, china and money were received. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Meikle left for a two weeks' wedding trip to the White Mountains and Canada. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a white gold bracelet. The best man received a Rockwell knife from the groom and the flower girl a white gold [illegible].

Mr. Meikle, who was born in Fall River, Mass., is an electrician, and associated with his father in the Clyde Mills on Main street and the bride has been [illegible] the employ of the South County Power & Light company. Westerly. Following their return from the White Mountains they will be at home at 43 Highland avenue after September [illegible].

"Princeton Dinner, No. 2", an exceptionally long and large lunch cart drawn by a Mack truck, rolled through Pawcatuck streets shortly after 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night into Westerly. A short stop was made near the Holdredge store on West Broad street and then the truck with its tow passed through Dixon square, to park for over an hour on Broad street between the Westerly town hall and the Episcopal church. The cart was proceeding from New Rochelle, N. Y., to its destination just beyond Providence. It was about 40 feet long and nearly 10 feet wide. On the ends were an entrance door while the main entrance was on one side in the middle with seven large windows on either side. In the interior was the counter with two rows of stools. At [illegible] was the service door with two or three small windows. The exterior of the wagon was brightly painted sheet metal and it was mounted on two trucks with solid rubber tires. When the outfit with four men aboard left at 10:30 p. m. it proceeded up Granite street and in turning the traffic signal the rear end of the high [illegible] vehicle just cleared while the front end was opposite the Broad Street Christian church. The route over Nooseneck hill was taken, it being estimated that at the 7 mile per hour rate at which they proceeded 8 hours would be required to reach their destination. The rear of the lumber truck was filled with gear which could be used should the car get off the road.

About twenty interested residents of Greenman avenue gathered, Tuesday evening in the council chamber of the Westerly town hall for the public hearing given by the Westerly Highway commission relative to the 1,100 foot walk section extending from Beach street westerly to Greenman Heights being taken over by the town of Westerly as a public highway. There were present Chairman Charles F. Berry and Harvey C. Perry of the commission together with Highway Engineer Adolf L. Leon, who had blueprints and plans of the proposed addition to the streets of the town.

In answer to inquiries of several of the residents of Greenman avenue, assurance was given that the surface would be put into usable condition where the installation of sewers had left an uneven surface. They were told that some six months would be required for the backfill in the trenches, which went to a 15 foot depth, to become permanently settled. As to the matter of street grade or care for surface water a catch basin or pocket would be necessary. No objection was made and the street was declared by Chairman Berry taken over into the town system.

Favorable weather Wednesday evening resulted in a large attendance at the seventh open air band concert at the bandstand in Wilcox park. The Westerly band, Charles O. Gavitt, director, had its membership enlarged by 20 musicians, from the Shannock band, making an ensemble of 45 players.

The following program was finely given:

March, Waldmere, Losey; overture, Light Cavalry, Suppe; selection from The Mikado, Sullivan; popular airs: a. Hi Ho! The Merrio, Remick; b. Baby Face, Remick; Scotch medley, Beauties of Scotland, Newton; Morceau. A Southern Reverie, Bendix; popular airs: a. When the Red Red Robin, Berlin; b. Bye Bye Blackbird, Remick; American Fantasia, Gems of Stephen Foster, Toban; descriptive selection, Home Sweet Home the World Over, Lampe; popular air, Gimme a Little Kiss, Berlin; march, Second Connecticut, Reeves, finale, The Star Spangled Banner.

Recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk are the following transfers: Sept. 15. Joseph E. Phillips of Clearwater, Fla., to Michael D. G. Papalia of Westerly, land with buildings and improvements on the south side of Atlantic avenue, Pleasant View beach, located west of the property of Hattie M. Greene.

Charlotte P. Stanton to Harry A. Peckham, land with building and improvements on the south side of Granite street, extending from Chester avenue to Summer street.

MRS. BENJ. F. SISSON LEAVES DAUGHTER IN NORWICH

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Sept. 15.—The death of Mrs. Rosie E. Sisson, 71, widow of Benjamin F. Sisson, occurred this morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Manuel T. Levy, Newton place, where she had made her home for the past three months. Besides her daughter in Westerly she is survived by a second daughter, Mrs. John Bray, residing at 138 Chestnut street, Norwich.

NEW PLEASANT VIEW BEACH FIRE APPARATUS ARRIVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Sept. 15.—The new LaFrance pumper marked "Pleasant View Beach Fire District," "Engine No. 1," in charge of George Phelps, arrived in Westerly on Wednesday noon from Boston. This piece of fire-fighting apparatus was purchased at the last annual meeting of the Pleasant View fire district meeting, at which time sufficient appropriation was made to build a fire-proof fire station for the housing of the apparatus. It is thought the new building will be ready for the pumper in a week or ten days. In the meantime the pump will probably be kept in a Westerly garage. The machine is a three combination—pump, booster tank and hose truck. The pump has a 750 gallon capacity, the booster tank has about 200 feet of small hose and the hose wagon has a capacity for 1,500 feet of standard fire hose. Other equipment, such as ladders, nozzles, tools, etc., are included with the apparatus. It is planned to have a demonstration of the motorized pumper in Westerly before it is taken to the beach.

The Women's Christian Temperance union held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allen C. Whitford, 14 Park avenue. The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Louise Babcock; vice president at large, Mrs. Jennie Parker; recording secretary, Mrs. Fannie Richmond; assistant recording secretary, Miss Lizzie Martin; corresponding secretary, Miss Lula Clark; treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Nichols.

Two representatives, Mrs. Jennie Nichols and Miss Lula Clark, were appointed to attend the Kingston fair and distribute literature. Appointment of delegates to the state convention and election of additional vice presidents and department superintendents was put off until the next meeting. The treasurer's report showed that nearly $300 had been raised during the year by the Westerly union. Much of this went to the work of the state organization. Mrs. Jennie Parker gave a short memorial talk in which she paid tribute to Mrs. Anne Nash, a former president of the Westerly union, whose death occurred Aug. 8.

Vital statistics for August as filed in the office of Westerly town clerk, shows 25 births, 5 marriages and 15 deaths. August, 1925, the record was 29 births, 4 marriages and 8 deaths.

The births recorded were:

Aug. 1.—Mary Therese, daughter of George J. and Eugenia M. Slattery Sullivan, of Framingham, Mass., at Pleasant View Beach; Rosario Guisseppe, son of Tomerica and Emmuella Nigrelli.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

"Good eating!" exclaimed Reddy. "Now that you mention it, I'm hungry"

Mr. and Mrs. Oyster Crab

Who would be an Oyster Crab?
Few like's secure, but, oh, so drab!
—Reddy Fox.

"If that is Mrs. Crab, where is Mr. Oyster Crab?" inquired Reddy Fox, as he looked down at the tiny, helpless little Crab which Graywing the Gull had said lived with an Oyster inside the latter's shell.

"Goodness knows," replied Graywing. "He may be almost anywhere in the water."

"Oh," exclaimed Reddy, "doesn't he live with an Oyster, too?"

"No," replied Graywing. "He is small—he is even smaller than little Mrs. Oyster Crab; but he is a hard-shell. Yes, sir, he may be little, but he is a hard-shelled person, just the same. He believes in having a good time and seeing the world."

"Am I to understand that little Mrs. Oyster Crab doesn't have a hard shell?" inquired Reddy.

"If that is your understanding, it is correct," replied Graywing. "She has only a sort of skin in place of a shell, and that is what makes her such good eating."

"Good eating!" exclaimed Reddy. "Now that you mention it, I'm hungry. I should like to know what a little Crab like that tastes like."

Before Reddy could move Graywing had swooped down and little Mrs. Oyster Crab had disappeared at one gulp. "I hope sometime you may find out," said Graywing, and chuckled. "You know, we don't often have a taste of Oyster Crabs because it isn't often that one is found. They never leave the Oysters with which they are living and it is only when an Oyster is opened by someone that there is a chance to get [illegible]."

"Look at that baby Crab down there!" cried Reddy. "That's the smallest Crab I ever did see."

Graywing looked. Just disappearing under some seaweed in the water was a mite of a Crab, but he was a sure-enough regular Crab. Little as he was, Reddy could see that he had two big [illegible] claws, just like [illegible], and there was nothing weak about those [illegible] had been [illegible] case with Mrs. Oyster Crab. He was traveling sidewise, just as any Crab would.

"Well, you are lucky!" exclaimed Graywing. "It isn't every one has a chance to see little Mr. Oyster Crab. That is who you were looking at. He isn't seen very often. He knows enough to keep out of sight. He has a shell, and all that, like a regular Crab, but he is such a tiny fellow that his shell isn't very hard and there are always hungry fish looking for him. That is why he scuttled out of sight so quickly. But, little as he is, he is a regular fellow, for he would rather take his chance and see something of the great world than live as little Mrs. Oyster Crab lives—secure and safe, but with nothing more exciting happening than the opening and closing of an oyster shell. The most important thing in life is said to be safety. Mrs. Oyster Crab has it. She certainly has it. But, as for me, I prefer a little less safety and a lot more excitement."

"The same here," replied Reddy. "It's not a hunter with a terrible gun heading this way along the beach."

"I believe it is. I just remember that I have a fishing date," replied Graywing, and, spreading his wings, flew away.

As for Reddy, he disappeared swiftly over the sand-dunes.

I Am My Own Hair Dresser

By Edna Wallace Hopper

That curl, that fluff, that sheen in my hair are due to no expert care. I never go to a hairdresser, never have a Marcel wave. My work on the stage allows no time for that.

I simply apply twice weekly a hair dress which great experts made for me. I call it my Wave and Sheen. To that my curly, abundant, glossy hair is due.

It will be a joy to you—I promise that. My guarantee comes with each bottle. Unless your hair beauty is doubled in an hour, I'll return the cost.

All toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen at 75c per bottle. Go try it now.

THREE WEDDINGS IN NEW LONDON ARE ATTENDED BY MANY GUESTS

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 15—Robert D. Burns, Jr., of Waterbury, formerly of New London, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Burns of Saybrook, and Miss Mary Harrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Harrigan, 44 Lincoln avenue, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. Raymond J. O'Callahan, a large assemblage of relatives and friends filling the church. Stephen Sullivan, of Waterbury, was best man and Mrs. George Garvey was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Burns, of Saybrook, sister of the groom and Miss Mary Scully of New Haven. Mr. and Mrs. Burns left on a wedding trip at noon and upon its conclusion will reside in Waterbury, where Mr. Burns is employed as accountant by the Southern New England Telephone company.

Robert S. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Skinner, of Baltimore, and Miss Charlotte L. Woodruff, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Albert C. Woodruff, 51 Fremont street, were married at 6 o'clock last night at St. James' Episcopal church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge.

The bride wore white satin embroidered with pearls, her veil being of princess lace fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Marion Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Bowen of Post Hill place, as maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Olive Arndt of Easton, Pa., Miss Lorraine Durand of Vineland, N. J., Mrs. Ward Gedney of Trenton, N. J., all classmates of the bride at Maryland college, and Mrs. P. C. Woodruff, sister-in-law of the bride. The maid of honor was dressed in green georgette and carried lavender asters while the other attendants were in lavender georgette with bouquets of pink asters. Maurice E. Skinner, Jr., twin brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Percival C. Woodruff and Albert C. Woodruff, brothers of the bride; William Skinner, brother of the groom; Randolph Norwood, August Denhard and Robert Owings of Baltimore. Mrs. Skinner is a graduate of Maryland college. Mr. Skinner is a graduate of Johns Hopkins and is at present with the Century Trust Co. of Baltimore, in which city they will make their home.

Assistant Postmaster Edward T. Corcoran, son of Mrs. Ellen Corcoran, 662 Bank street, and Miss Mary E. Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, of 95 Hempstead street, were married at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. Michael Keagan. Edward Quarrie was best man and Miss Helen Sullivan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran left during the morning on a wedding journey, making the trip by automobile.

LIGHT IN MRS. CHAPPELL'S SUGGESTED BURGLAR

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 15—Mrs. Robert B. Chappell, formerly of Norwich, who has a smart shop on Meridian street, communicated with the police last night, stating that she had been informed that a light was burning in her store, which was supposed to be dark, indicating the presence of a thief there. Patrolman George Labous was sent to the store and being provided with a key, the officer made a thorough search of the premises, but did not find any trace of crooks having been there. It is believed that the light was not turned off by the last employe to leave the store.

Charles J. Trainor, a sailor on U. S. cam[illegible], will regret that he did not appear in the police court Tuesday and answer to a charge of breach of the peace, when the navy department and the police lay hands on him. He was in a row with the stage management of the Lyceum theatre Monday evening when a burlesque show occupied the stage and Martin Collier, a sailor on the Camden, in an intoxicated condition sought to get to the girls who were disporting on the stage. Collier was arrested charged with breach of the peace and has since been in jail awaiting trial, which was deferred because of the absence of Trainor. Trainor was sent to the court by the commander of the ship, but instead of going there he deserted and has not been seen since. The row was a disgraceful one in which both sailors participated.

Sam Kalmonowitz, a Chesterfield fish peddler, was fined $100 for reckless operation of an auto and for passing a trolley car that was discharging passengers, on the 25th of July. The accused man was going so fast that he ran down a girl as she alighted from the trolley car. She was injured so that she was in the hospital several weeks. Kalmonowitz has been without his license since the time of the accident. He left it at the police station supposing it had been taken from him. It is believed that an action in damages will now be brought against him.

E. X. Callahan was presented for violation of the rules of the road in failing to reduce the speed of his auto in passing intersecting streets and was fined $10. Callahan hit up a speed of about 40 miles and was taken into custody by Policeman Martin.

Harry Gordon was charged with the same offense but the complaint was nolled. The execution of judgment in the Callahan case was suspended.

William Wicks was charged with being very drunk yesterday. He admitted his guilt Judge Crandall fined him $10 and then suspended execution of judgment, that Wicks might refrain from his habits in the future.

Mrs. Peter Cashio, of 327 Jefferson avenue, requested the aid of the police in locating her son, Joseph, 9, who was missing. The woman stated that the boy went to school in the afternoon, but at 8:30 o'clock he had not returned. A half hour after reporting her son missing, Mrs. Cashio informed the police that the boy had returned.

Mrs. John Peterson and infant daughter, of 7 Morse avenue, Groton; Charles Dow, 16 Culver street; Ercole [illegible], 8 Chelsea street and Master [illegible] Ryan, 301 Huntington street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Arthur Iverson, colored, employed on one of the dining cars of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was injured last night when he suffered a laceration of the back by being thrown to the floor of the dining car. He is now a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. Iverson was a member of the crew of the dining car that was attached to the Gilt Edge express which arrived in New London from New York at 8:08 o'clock. The dining car was taken from the train here and switched to a siding in the Union station yard. When the switch engine attached itself to the diner the bump was so sudden that Iverson was thrown against some of the kitchen equipment and then to the floor, receiving two cuts of considerable depth on the upper portion of his back. A physician was summoned, but because of the nature of the wounds, Iverson was ordered removed to the hospital.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered suspended the drivers' licenses of Alton F. Pinkham, 58 Lewis street; Joseph A. Baton, United States Coast Guard, state pier, and William Gordon, 204 Pequot avenue.

City Manager William A. Holt was presented a handsome basket of flowers this noon at the municipal building by employes of the building, in recognition of Mr. Holt's third anniversary as head of the city's business affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. William Donovan, recently married, have returned from their wedding trip. Mr. Donovan is employed in New London as inspector by the Connecticut company.

CANDIDATE SHEA'S CLAIM TO BE HEARD BY JUDGE AVERY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 15.—Attorney Frank S. Shea, candidate for office of member of city council will probably be among the candidates seeking the office at the election to be held the 27th inst. Today Judge Christopher L. Avery, of the superior court, granted Mr. Shea's petition for a hearing that a recount may be ordered. Judge Avery heard the claim of Mr. Shea which was that the count of votes cast in the third ward for him, was an error and that by the return filed with City Clerk Moran by General Moderator Winder E. Reed, the candidate is not given credit for 100 votes which he claims to have received and his claim is substantiated by counters employed at the ward. The hearing will take place at the county court house tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock (daylight saving time), when Judge Avery will hear all the facts relating to the alleged error in the count. If the court orders the ballot box reopened and the ballots counted again, this task will be started either Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. The count as filed by General Moderator Reed shows that Mr. Shea received but 177 votes and in his own ward, while the candidate and the counters aver that the count showed Mr. Shea to have received 277 votes. If the recount should show that the error occurred, Mr. Shea will be a candidate for the office at the final election, but if no error is found, Jeremiah J. Lyons, former alderman, who received about 85 more votes than did Mr. Shea, according to the present figures, will be one of the four candidates and not Mr. Shea.

The other candidates are Robert P. Chappell, Michael O'Connell and Edward L. Streeter, Jr., the latter seeking re-election.

An automobile owned by Dabe Gorra, 93 Union street, was parked in front of his home last night and today it was stripped of its tires as Gorra did not consider the auto of further value and had decided to sell it for junk after the tires had been removed that they might be used on another auto. When he returned home this evening he discovered the automobile missing and reported to the police that it had been stolen. In the meantime Sergeant John Cavanaugh had observed the car parked in the highway all day and caused it to be removed to the garage of the Mohegan Wrecking company. When Gorra was informed of the act of the police he was somewhat surprised. He, however, was advised to go to the garage and claim his property, but he will have to bear the expense of its removal from the highway.

A fellow, about middle aged, who has been conspicuous about the city several days, was arrested by Patrolman William Manice this morning charged with vagrancy and begging. He was locked up and will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning. The fellow, who claims to reside in New Haven is of the type of professional panhandler. He was persistent in his solicitation of alms as to become annoying for he would approach people in conversation, or go to the running board of automobiles in which men and women were seated and in a rambling way ask for funds. He was seen to indulge in this latter practice by Officer Manice, who followed him to a restaurant and there placed him under arrest.

Breed Theater

Said to be one of the most remarkable photoplay productions of the current screen season, Shipwrecked, a new Metropolitan picture, will be displayed at the Breed theater for two days beginning Friday. Seena Owen and Joseph Schildkraut are featured in the leading roles. Many of the scenes were photographed aboard a clipper ship caught in a hurricane off the California coast and for a time the production unit was in imminent danger until rescue came. The story is dramatic, thrilling and the action swift.

Ella Cinders, starring Colleen Moore, will have its first showing at the Breed theater, commencing Sunday. The supporting cast includes Lloyd Hughes, Vera Lewis, Doris Baker, Emily Gerdes, Mike Donlin, Jed Prouty, Jack Duffy, Harry Allen, D'Arcy Corrigan and Alfred E. Green.

Flower Show in New London

The New London Horticultural society is going to hold its annual dahlia, gladioli, flower and vegetable show in the state armory on Friday September 17th, and is planning to have the largest and best show that the society has ever had.

Already at this early date reservations for space to exhibit by the professionals, amateurs and the public growers will more than fill the armory and all those who are going to exhibit will have their flowers at the armory and arranged for the judges before 11 o'clock a. m.

A large space is devoted to the latest table decorations which is always quite a drawing attraction and a feature of the flower shows, the public are also invited to decorate a table and any and all who wish to do so will please confer with Miss Helen K. Whitton, of 836 Pequot avenue, New London, or call 213 for a table reservation.

Palace Theater

Sam Ash, famous star of Rose Marie, Honeydew, Music Box Review and other musical comedy successes, well known to thousands through his phonographic records opens a three days engagement at the Palace today. Through the efforts of the management and at great expense this noted artist has been secured so that Norwich may see and hear him in person. The ladies will be interested in learning that Sam was picked as the handsomest American by Henri Matisse, famous sculptor, but he's a man's man, hails from Kentucky and packs a wallop heavy enough to floor a mule and has a voice that many have said compares favorably with John McCormack's. Mr. Ash should pack the Palace at every performance alone and unaided but sharing honors with him the screen will display Florence Vidor, the orchid lady in her newest production You Never Know Women supported by Lowell Sherman and a large cast, a picture that scored a tremendous hit at the Rivoli, New York. Ben Turpin and his eyes in When a Man's a Prince, Gene Tunney in the second thrilling chapter of The Fighting Marine, his amazing adventure story, the Palace Topical Events and Walter Lang and his musicians, completing an entertainment that for quantity and quality, it would be hard to equal anywhere and one that should provide Palace patrons a rare treat.

Broadway Theater

Keith-Albee vaudeville will be on the stage of the Broadway theater for the three days starting today, when five splendid big time acts make their first local appearance.

What Chadwick Pictures Corporation promises to be the most sensational railroad drama ever filmed, The Transcontinental Limited, will be the feature attraction at the Broadway theater starting today. This production is the answer of its producers to the ever increasing demand for virile melodramas, sensationally and picturesquely filmed.

A big theme, interpreted and produced in a big way. The Transcontinental Limited offers a wide range of action and atmosphere that is sure to please anyone who wants the best in motion pictures. From the life of the soldier, as portrayed by Johnnie Walker, the story moves rapidly to the romantic struggle of the aged engineer of the Transcontinental Limited, a mile-a-minute flyer. Although lightened by sparkling comedy, the drama is tense throughout with a thrilling suspense that will hold your interest to the final scenes.

Nat Ross, who directed the production for Chadwick Pictures Corporation, has selected a cast of several well known favorites, whose names are assurances of splendid performances. Johnnie Walker, as the soldier boy, heads the cast. His sweetheart, Virginia Gilbert, the daughter of the engineer, has a fine role which will add further to the laurels that are already hers. Alec B. Francis will be seen as the engineer, and Edwin B. Yorke, one of the screen's sweetest mothers, plays his wife. Bruce Gordon, a much hated villain, plays another important

Conversation With a Straw Hat

Goodby, Straw Hat, the winds are growing gusty;
Autumnal colors streak the wooded hills.
If you are put away, will you be musty
When springtime babbles from the happy rills?

Suppose you're packed securely in the attic,
What chance have I to find you there next June
Among old batteries killed by too much static
And tubes of glass once used in making moon?

Goodby! We've had a lot of fun together;
You know some things I hope you'll never tell.
You were a good friend in the summer weather,
But now the time has come to say farewell.

Your brim is rather floppy, and your color,
That once was beautiful in all man's sight,
Has grown, these last few weeks, a good deal duller,
What with the rain and staying out all night.

To me you are a symbol and a token,
Although to most men you are just a hat
With dust upon your band, and edges broken . . .
I think I'll give you one good kick—like that!
—From "The Percolator" in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Ballade of a Moon-lit Garden

There's a garden of lilac and thyme,
There's a spot where the daffodils bloom
Where the fountain-sprays gurgle and climb
To the soft, slanting rays of the moon;
Here on greensward in shimmering spring,
Tripping fairies their silver lutes play,
Tinkling bells of the lily cups ring,
When the lilacs are budding in May.

'Neath the oak by the fountain they dance,
Where the violets peep from the earth,
Lifting heads that are shy in their glance,
As the fairy feet patter with mirth;
Oh, the joy in the feeling of spring,
When the stars whisper softly and say,
"Join the fairies' enchanting, charm'd ring,
When the lilacs are budding in May!"
—Parthea Phemister in Boston Transcript.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Teacher—Use the word coral in a sentence.

Pupil—Me and Johnny had a coral and Johnny hit me.—American Speech.

Motorist (angrily) — Don't stand there. Go and fetch the village doctor, you fool.

Village Idiot—Can't, sir. You've run over him.—Canadian Magazine.

A druggist read this note the other day—My baby has eat his father's parish plaster. Send an anecdote quick by the enclosed girl, also send a bottle of O Dick alone, as I am a little hysterical.—Toronto Telegram.

My little boy knows more about the radio than I do.

Mine knows more about it than the manufacturer.—Spur.

Photographer—Mounted or otherwise?

Man—Well, I'll take it mounted, but I don't know what my wife will say. She's never seen me on a horse.—Abe's Photographic Weekly.

Diner—I'll have some pork chops with fried potatoes and I'll have the pork chops lean.

Waiter—Yes, sir. Which way?—Leatherneck.

Hoodlums are said to be disappearing but we need not worry, they'll be back again next year.—Niagara Falls Review.

As a sporting proposition, we suggest that Europe send us the channel in lieu of her war debts.—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

It is generally admitted that there are too many banks in Japan for the needs of the country. The policy of the government in encouraging the formation of mergers and the extension of branch banking has been effective. From the end of June 1923, to the end of December, 1924, the number of banks operating in Japan was reduced from 1,563 to 1,359; the number at the end of March, 1926 was only 1,670.

Queen Marie of Roumania has turned cotton-planter. With some American cotton seeds she has been carrying on with great success a series of experiments in cotton culture at her farm near Bucharest. The queen rises early each morning and gives two hours' personal attention to care of plants. She has reported results of these tests to the ministry of agriculture and authorities hope that Roumania will soon be producing its own cotton. They have found American cotton seeds much more adaptable than the Egyptian or Indian.

Time was when Mrs. Jennie Litchfield of Wiscasset, Me., was content with the distinction of being the oldest woman in Maine to hold a driver's license. Then along came a plane one day and Mrs. Litchfield, nearly 80, decided to fly and she did. And when it was announced that the submarine O-2 would help Wiscasset celebrate the fourth, Mrs. Litchfield said she was going down in the undersea craft if they'd let her. They did, and she regards her career complete. "I have been 1,000 feet in the air and 50 feet under water," she said.

"There's no place like home," the peasants of the village Lugansk, in the timber district of northern Russia, told the state timber trust which wanted to take over the village for its work and proposed to build the peasants new and more comfortable houses in a locality a few miles away. The only condition on which they consented to move at all was that the new houses should be exact duplicates of the old with few and small windows and dark, smoky interiors. They watched the architects closely at their work; and one old peasant woman raised such a disturbance when she found that the ceiling in the new house would be higher than it was in the old that the engineers had to raise the floor, at great trouble and expense, in order to still her outcries.

IN MEMORIAM

Today recalls the memories
Of a loved one gone to rest.
And those who thank of her today,
Are those who loved her best.
Some may think she is forgotten,
Though on earth she is no more,
But in memory she is with us,
As she always was before.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks heavy; Nickel Plate soars 7 points to record high.

Bonds steady, foreign issues active.

Foreign exchanges mixed, Italian lire advance.

Cotton easy; favorable weather.

Sugar lower; Cuban selling.

Coffee easier; buying by trade interests.

Chicago

Wheat barely steady, increased northwest receipts.

Corn lower, more favorable crop advices.

Cattle firm, demand good.

Hogs active, mostly 10c lower; medium weights weak.

BREAK IN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Wall street had another "money scare" today and as a result stock prices broke sharply after an extended period of strength. Bear traders took full advantage of the weekly recurrence of rumors of increase in the Boston or New York reserve bank rediscount rate to depress stocks down in all sections of the list but concentrating on those specialties in which pools have been active during the past few days.

The day's trade news was again construction in character. It included the announcement that freight traffic for the week ended Sept. 4 broke all records and a flood of optimistic reports of business conditions from all sections of the country, with steel production and railroad earnings leading. Reports of the latest railroad earnings showed that net income for July was the largest in the history of the roads, when a lowering of the rate was looked for in many quarters and actually received fears of a reduction at the present rate.

In addition to the fact that steel mill operations were being maintained at capacity and a rate 25 per cent of capacity and a shortage in cars tendency was noted in many sections, U. S. Steel common was rather readily to pressure, falling 3-4 points lower at 147 1-8 after having touched 149 1-2 earlier in the day.

Trading was augmented to seven million shares by the forenoon hour, when the market appeared to be in a position to withstand any selling pressure. Call money renewed at 5 per cent, but the supply was ample to meet the demand from the industrials.

Public common soared over 4 points to a new record high at 189 1-2 and Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Texas Corporation and Delaware & Hudson registered a net gain of more than 3 points at 96 3-4.

The principal commodity markets lost ground. Wheat declined a fraction of a cent a bushel, with profit taking quite well absorbed. Cotton dropped about 5 points on expectations of a favorable government crop report. Raw sugar was marked down 1-32 of a cent a pound and the futures market was easier. Coffee closed 7 points to 5 points higher.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. Demand sterling was slightly easier, just under $4.85, cable. French francs held around 3.96 cents. Italian lire rallied 11 points to around 3.65 cents. Belgian francs were steadier at 13.90 cents. German marks remained about 3 years, but were firmer.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The principal tropical storm is apparently central about latitude 35 degrees north and longitude 71 degrees west and moving slowly northeastward.

Storm warnings are displayed from Cape Hatteras to Nantucket, Mass.

The tropical disturbance that was central south of Nashau this morning apparently has continued to move northeastward and pressure remains high over the north Atlantic states.

The indications are for considerable cloudiness over northern sections east of the Mississippi river during the next two days and showers are probable in the north Atlantic states. The temperature will not change materially.

Winds

Noon of Sandy Hook: Gentle to moderate west or southeast over ocean portion and increasing easterly over south portion and mostly overcast weather Thursday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Increasing northeast over north portion and northeast and east over south portion, strong and probably [illegible] Thursday; overcast weather [illegible].

Forecast

[illegible] New England: Increasing [illegible] Thursday; following [illegible] night and Friday; little change in temperature.

Peeling the Skin is Better Than Bleaching

Ever since the discovery that ordinary unresolidized wax would absorb and remove a discolored or blemished complexion, freckled tanned skin as a substitute for bleaching, creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficent cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying high prices for "special bleach" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercolized wax outranks them all. It can be obtained at all druggists', who have it in the original, one-ounce package. The favorite way of using is to apply it like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

WANTS NORWICH FACTORIES TO PAINT CITY'S NAME ON ROOFS

The hilly condition of Norwich, in which it is like the rest of New England, is one of the handicaps which it shares with New England cities in the location of landing fields for airplanes, said P. H. Spencer, president of the New England Aircraft company, who was the speaker at the noon pottery luncheon and regular meeting at the Wauregan hotel on Wednesday. He also advised that Norwich factories have the name of the city painted on their roofs as a guide to aviators who might be flying over.

President Edwin A. Harris was in charge of the meeting with Albert Van Wagenen as song leader and Henry La Fontaine was at the piano.

Grosvenor Ely who was in charge of the program introduced Mr. Spencer as the speaker of the day upon "Aviation and Its Possibilities." Mr. Ely predicted a great future for aviation in this country, although at present we are far behind European countries in the use of airplanes for passenger service.

Referring to New England Mr. Spencer said that at present there are two passenger air lines here, the New England air line with a field in Hartford and the Colonial air line between New York and Boston. In the coming spring it is the intention of the air authorities to open fields in the smaller cities through New England and then the service will take on passengers and light freight and then without a doubt aviation will advance by leaps and bounds in this part of the country.

It is with regret, continued Mr. Spencer, that I find that Norwich is one of the few large cities [illegible] need any fields but will be able to hop off and land in the streets, which is a very serious mistake, because no matter how rapidly aviation advances, the planes will always require fields to safely take off from and land.

Through an accident in Hartford when two young men were killed while attempting to leave after landing on a golf course, that city was stirred to action, said Mr. Spencer, and now Hartford has fields which will house 22 planes and has spent $118,000 to develop fields and squadrons.

One thing which is of great assistance to commercial aviation, continued Mr. Spencer, is the land marks which assist the aviator many times when conditions are such that they become lost. In the west many of the old tanks have the names of the cities painted on them, or arrows pointing in direction where certain cities are located. Many of the factories in Hartford are marked in this manner and it would be a great thing if a few of the factories in Norwich followed this example by having the name Norwich painted on their roof.

In two years between twenty and thirty million dollars have been spent in the country on commercial aviation and at the present some of the country's leading men are working hard to boost aviation throughout the country. Mr. Spencer closed by stating that he hoped that in the near future Norwich would take its place in the aviation world by having a landing field.

Manager Charles A. Saxton of the Rotary baseball team announced that the baseball team, which practices at the N. F. A. campus Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

The meeting closed in the usual manner with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

GAVE 3,296 CATTLE TEST FOR TUBERCULOSIS

The report of the domestic animal department issued by J. M. Whittemore, commissioner, shows that 212 herds of cattle, comprising 3,296 animals were given the tuberculin test during August. Of this number, 325 were condemned. Private tests were given on 251 head and two were killed.

The report shows that 1,760 head of cattle were imported into the state for dairy and breeding purposes and of these 700 were retested and two put in quarantine. Seventy-five permits were issued for dairy and breeding and 401 head were imported for immediate slaughter. Two reacted to the test but none were killed. Twenty-four permits were issued to export cattle for immediate slaughter.

Forty-five certificates were issued for all others, comprising a herd of cattle. Sixty-one certificates were issued showing the cattle comprising 1,270 head were tuberculin tested and reactors removed while 10 herds, comprising 1,369 cattle, were given certificates that they had been tuberculin tested within 60 days.

Twenty permits were issued for the importation of swine. Thirteen [illegible] were imported, and [illegible] were retested.

The report shows that 1,307 single treatments and 144 double treatments were given for hog cholera and 60 treatments for mange, sarcoptes. These were to affected herds found. Forty-nine permits were issued for the importation of swine and 1,363 swine were imported.

Thirteen permits were issued for the importation of 50 sheep. Three permits were issued for poultry importation and 70 fowl were imported.

EAGLES ARE TO MEET JIBBOOMS IN PINOCHLE

The Hampton Eagles pinochle team has received the first challenge of the season from the Jibboom club, No. 1 of New London.

The committee from Hampton club was present at the Eagles lodge Tuesday evening to make arrangements for the series.

The tournament is to be played on six evenings as follows: New London Oct. 6, Norwich Oct. 11, New London Oct. 20, Norwich Oct. 25, New London Nov. 1 and Norwich Nov. 8. Dances are to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Prizes will be awarded for high score on each team after every eight games. A banquet is to be served in Norwich on the last night the series is played.

Those representing the Jibboom club No. 1, were Gene Bacon, George Muse and C. F. Peterson and the Eagles were represented by E. J. Mullins, W. R. Haskell and H. Marcus.

Considerable interest is expected in this series as the Jibboom's entire team members are full of desire to revenge for the trimming they received from the Eagles two years ago.

RESTORATION IS FIRST AIM OF COMPENSATION LAWS

Dr. J. J. Donohue of this city, compensation commissioner for this district, delivered an address upon "Compensation Defects and Near-psychic Conditions" at the Wednesday afternoon session at Hartford of the thirteenth annual meeting of the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions.

Dr. Donohue spoke as follows:

In discussing the subject which I have chosen, my remarks will have to be more of a general than a technical nature.

Organic defects ordinarily, are of such a definite character that there remains little room for dispute, but those of certain organic defects in which there is a combination of real defect and functional disturbance, the types which produce the difficulties for the medical examiner, the specialist as well as the [illegible]

For want of a better term I have classed this type as the "near-psychic condition," and in that group I have placed the litigation hysteria, the pension hysteria and the simulators and exaggerators, the hypochondriacs, the malingerers, the psychoneurotics, the manners and feigners of [illegible] sensations.

In litigation or compensation hysteria with which we are confronted, is [illegible] I neither of fright nor trauma. A claimed injury is simply an excuse for producing this condition and it exists every form of treatment. The [illegible] medical examinations, the [illegible] pronounced will be the hysteria and [illegible] symptoms. They will [illegible] that previous to the accident they were entirely well. This seems to be the [illegible] expression which comes to them automatically. The hero of money and the desire for a verdict are the all-important factors entering into this class of cases.

Of course, there is always a preexisting neuro-degeneracy and a susceptibility to morbid suggestion among persons [illegible] with self-assertiveness of material gain for injury (actual or imagined), impending [illegible] inquiry, or litigation.

With the possibilities of gain and [illegible] reward eliminated, symptoms soon subside. Windshield, [illegible] upon this subject, has said that "when there is no claim, there is no traumatic neurosis," and this has been to a very considerable extent. Discussion of a patient's symptoms by sympathizing friends, and unwise or designing doctors, as well as lawyers, always lays the groundwork for claims made by this character of individuals.

The human factors important in producing the neuro-psychic are the doctor, the lawyer, and the commissioner, the former through ignorance or intent or desire of his fee, the lawyer for reasons not dissimilar, and the latter, the commissioner, through his desire to be humane and err on the side of liberality if he must err, also because of his being influenced by poor, but well-meaning, medical advice.

The greatest asset the workman and the employer and the commissioner can have, in dealing out justice in cases of this type, is the most skilled medical attention which can be found. The greatest good will accrue from the employment of the most medical services that can be secured.

If you can get co-operation from the claimant, much can be done in the way of effecting a cure. If all your efforts fail [illegible] and you have a [illegible] diagnosis, then other [illegible] attempted. The use of strong and stern methods [illegible] is absolutely necessary, and in many cases it will be found to have effected the desired cure, although you will engender the hostility of the patient at first, but subsequently it will redound to his advantage in making a useful citizen of him, where the payment of small amounts of compensation would have made him nothing but a charge upon the community.

The weekly compensation stipend is nothing more nor less than a crutch for this type to lean upon. They don't need it, but that they don't need it. Inject the strongest possible mental stimulus into them, and the crutch quickly becomes discarded and they walk away without it.

In this class of conditions we have to deal with the bonafide and real, also with conditions which are a combination of the real and the unreal, and finally with conditions which are wholly unreal, which show no definite organic lesions; in other words, with conditions of a psychic rather than a physical nature. The treatment of the real is generally simple and definite; the treatment of the combination of the real and the unreal is one of the most difficult problems with which we are confronted.

In handling compensation cases the first and important duty is to see that a proper diagnosis is made, which means that the best possible medical advice must be obtained.

The first and foremost object to be attained under compensation laws is the restoration of injured workmen to useful employment. How the cure can be most quickly and effectively brought about is our greatest consideration. The payment of compensation to the unworthy is a mistake, not alone because of penalizing industry unjustly, but, more important than that, because it is prone to make useless citizens out of individuals who should be contributing a productive part to society, and also contributing to their own health, well-being and usefulness. The payment of compensation is a great mistake also when the individual should be rehabilitated and returned to usefulness in industrial employment.

LISTS 26 NAMES OF SUSPENDED AUTO DRIVERS

The weekly list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in this state have been suspended for one year for having violated the [illegible] degree of liquor was sent Wednesday at the state [illegible] department as a part of the effort to [illegible] highway menace. There are twenty-six names on the list. Two cases are appealed, [illegible] Connecticut operators [illegible] people to notify the department or the police [illegible] the suspension [illegible] served. [illegible]

BUS RIDE, GOLF, DINNER FOR NORWICH MEDICAL MEN

Members of the Norwich Medical association are to combine a motor bus ride, golf and a dinner at their fall outing today (Thursday) when they will start out about 11 o'clock from the bus terminal for a tour in the eastern part of the state, which will end at the Stonington Manor inn. Here they will play golf until the dinner call is sounded.

About 25 to 30 are expected to participate in the outing which is under the direction of a committee consisting of Drs. E. A. Brophy, I. S. Wilcox and H. B. Campbell. Members of the outing, the officers of the members of the association will be [illegible] for the day.

THROUGH ADVICE OF NEIGHBOR

Woman Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"A neighbor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which she said helped her so much. So I bought a few bottles and tried it out. It sure helped me wonderfully. I felt much better. My work is no longer a dread to me. If I hear of any one who is troubled the way I was, I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to them and I will answer any letters in regard to the same."—Mrs. Bertha Meachan, 910 Center St., Lansing, Mich.

"I had been sickly every since I was fifteen years old. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I got so I could do all my housework and I am in good health."—Mrs. Marie K. Williams, Ketchikan, Alaska.

From Michigan to Alaska, from Maine to Oregon and from Connecticut to California letters are continually being written by grateful women recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Compound is made from roots and herbs and has been in use for over fifty years.

AMERICAN MURDERED BY MEXICAN BANDIT CAPTORS

Jacob Rosenthal Slain in Wild Country Less Than Forty Miles From Mexico City When the Federal Troops Closed in on the Bandits—Ransom Had Been Demanded and It Was Planned to Trap the Bandits by Pretending to Send the Money.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16—(AP)—Jacob Rosenthal, an American was murdered by bandit captors on Wednesday [illegible] when the troops closed in upon them, [illegible] failed to receive the $10,000 ransom demanded and being hampered in their flight by the weak old man, the bandits killed him rather than let him be retaken alive by the federal troops with whom they were engaged [illegible] occurred in a wild country [illegible] miles from Mexico [illegible] federal troops had tracked the bandits and had killed two of them when the pursuit was halted [illegible] discovery of the body of the [illegible] Later the pursuit was resumed [illegible]

[illegible] of the American was found [illegible] bearing many stab [illegible] It was taken to Cuernavaca [illegible] Ruff and Mr. and [illegible]

[illegible] troops have been ordered to redouble efforts to exterminate the [illegible] The American officials are [illegible] that the Mexican government [illegible] every effort possible to rescue [illegible] and capture the outlaws. [illegible] Lane American embassy secretary, narrowly escaped the outlaws. [illegible] Cuernavaca five minutes before the [illegible] party which was attacked. [illegible] was warned to turn back by Edward Black, an American who had just run the gauntlet of the bandits. Lane was later escorted to Mexico City by a detachment of troops.

Yesterday morning a letter was received from Rosenthal addressed to Capt. Ruff. It was delivered at Mr. Ruff's office and was immediately turned over by him to the American embassy.

Rosenthal's letter said he was held prisoner in the woods not far from the highway between Mexico City and Cuernavaca where the automobile party had a picnic Sunday before the bandit attack.

The embassy turned the letter over to General Roberto Cruz, chief of staff of the federal district. Cruz gave [illegible] soldiers in civilian dress [illegible] and proceed as messengers, but carrying a sack with pieces of iron instead of gold.

The instructions of General Cruz were issued in the presence of Arthur Lane, secretary of the embassy and included: "Take necessary measures upon finding the bandits," which meant, kill them on the spot.

Just how the plan miscarried is not yet explained, but the embassy today received a message from the headquarters of General Cruz merly saying that the federal troops, closely pursuing the bandits, had killed two of them; whereupon the other bandits stabbed and killed Rosenthal and escaped.

Jacob Rosenthal of Woodmere, L. I., a retired business man who was in Mexico on a pleasure trip was captured by a bandit gang on Sunday. His party was robbed of money and jewels and the outlaws disappeared into the brush with Rosenthal as a captive.

When the outrage was reported in Mexico City the government immediately dispatched troops to the scene and a vigorous pursuit was maintained until the end.

SEC'Y KELLOGG DEMANDS PUNISHMENT OF SLAYERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg tonight instructed Charge Schoenfield at Mexico City to make representatives to the Calles government to leave no stone unturned in apprehending and punishing the slayers of Jacob Rosenthal of New York.

The secretary's action came shortly after the receipt of news from Mexico telling of the death of the American at the hands of the brigands.

It shows that the state department is prepared to exert every effort to establish responsibility for the killing and to take a firm hand in demanding the punishment of those guilty.

While the text of the instructions was not made public, the brief announcement clearly shows the Washington government feels such an offense against its nationals warrants prompt action by the Mexican authorities.

Pending further developments, state department officials refused to forecast what additional steps might be necessary, but it was made clear that officials here believe the Calles government has shown good faith in its attempt to capture the brigands who were holding Rosenthal for ransom.

PLEA FOR A NEW TRIAL FOR SACCO AND VANZETTI

DEDHAM, Mass., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A plea for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti [illegible] a matter of simple justice today [illegible] nearly two days of argument [illegible] William G. Thompson, chief of the defense counsel, who have sought to [illegible] the confessed radicals, convicted of murder. Basing his argument [illegible] the closing 20 minutes on the refusal of the federal government to [illegible] evidence requested, he abandoned [illegible] declaration of the confession of Celestino M. Madeiros, a murderer awaiting electrocution, who exonerated the [illegible]

He likewise omitted mention, at the [illegible] the alleged implication of the Morelli gang of Providence in the [illegible] robbery and the murder of [illegible] paymaster and his guard, for [illegible] Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted. As long as the federal government declined to turn over evidence asked, he declared, Sacco and Vanzetti should receive a new trial.

Fred G. Thompson stressed the affidavits of Lawrence Leatherman and [illegible] Weygand, former department of justice agents, whose affidavits declared that the department was actively interested in the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti for murder.

"If the execution goes through it will be heard from one end of the world to the other that a man cannot have a fair trial unless he believes in private property," Attorney Thompson [illegible] concluding his argument. "It will be the declaration of these agents of the department of justice that since they worked sufficient evidence to defend these two men they co-operated with the state in convicting them of murder. The state cannot afford to [illegible] men after a trial by this [illegible] if it were infinitely better that [illegible] two men, even if they were [illegible] liberated and deported."

YOUTH PLEADED GUILTY OF STEALING AUTOMOBILE

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Influenced to come to Bridgeport, he said, by one of the sinister suggestion of [illegible] father that there is a lot of money in robberies, Joseph Bonito, 18 years old, of New York city, pleaded guilty before Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin in criminal superior court this afternoon to stealing an automobile owned by the Somstock-Willett Motor Co.

Bonito, an automobile mechanic [illegible] bungling novice in automobile [illegible] He invited the suspicions of a resident of Yale street by going to his home and asking for the loan of a screw driver. Then, for all the neighborhood to see, he set about removing Connecticut license plates from the car to substitute New York state plates. Later action was reported [illegible] and Bonito was arrested as he was driving through Westport, last [illegible]

Judge Marvin deferred passing the sentence.

PERJURY CHARGES FOR HALL-MILLS MURDER WITNESSES

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 16—(AP)—Prosecutor Bergen tonight directed Sheriff Tunison to assemble the April grand jury on Monday, the last day of its term.

The instructions were issued shortly after Special Prosecutor Simpson announced that he had requested Prosecutor Bergen to recall the jury for reconsideration of perjury evidence against three or four Hall-Mills murder witnesses.

BRIDGEPORT POLICE BALL TEAM "GAY" TRAVELERS

MERIDEN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—When police ball player meets police ball player traffic regulations are likely to be overlooked during the warm exchange of felicitations. So it was today when Traffic Sergeant Kurcon from his motorcycle ordered to a stop three motor buses, which were filled to capacity by a group of rather boisterous grown up boys, and which were reported to be hitting it up through the city.

A ticket seemed likely until Sergeant Kurcon noted a collection of balls and gloves in one of the machines, and his sympathetic curiosity was aroused. The passengers waited as long as they dared, then confessed that they were the Bridgeport police baseball team, on the way to Hartford to engage the capital's guardians of the peace.

Immediately followed greetings and best wishes between Park City police and city officials and the Meriden police right fielder, and the journey toward Hartford was resumed. Sergeant Kurcon decided that he must have been in error to suspect that anything had been wrong with the operation of the busses.

SERIOUSLY BURRNED BY ACID WHEN TROLLEY HIT HIS TRUCK

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 16—(AP)—George Martin, 19, of Oxford, employed by a trucking company with headquarters in Waterbury, was badly burned by acid, when the truck he was driving was struck by a trolley in Woodland tonight. He was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital where his condition was reported serious.

Martin was driving a ton truck containing six carboys of acid to a paper mill here. As he was turning into a driveway to make a delivery, his truck was struck by a Manchester-Hartford trolley. The force of the impact threw him from the truck and broke the carboys. About 100 gallons of acid flowed over his body, burning the left side from head to foot.

Harold Birde, conductor of the trolley, who removed Martin from the wreckage, was also severely scalded by the acid and required hospital attention.

SEARCH BEING MADE FOR PAROLED LIFE CONVICT

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Search was being made here today for Edward F. Cole, paroled life convict of the Maine state prison, who left Detroit August 1 in an automobile with John Miley, 16 year old son of Rev. H. G. Miley of that city, who had taken Cole into his household. A warrant charging Cole with committing a felony, is held by Detroit police, according to Thomas J. Wilson, inspector of Detroit detectives. A $500 reward for information leading to the finding of the boy has been offered by his father. Watch is being kept of seaports, as Cole may ship as a seaman.

YANKEE WON N. Y. YACHT CLUB FLAG OFFICERS' CUP

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 16.—(AP)—C. A. Welch's Yankee today won the New York Yacht club flag officers' cup for a special series of point races for R class sloops off this port. Victories in both morning and afternoon runs gave the Yankee a grand total of 42 points in thre days of racing. Her nearest rival was C. H. W. Foster's Mary with 33 points.

COOLIDGE HEARS OF N. Y. POLITICAL CONDITIONS

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., Sept. 16—(AP)—Conditions in New York state with special reference to the 38th congressional district were outlined to President Coolidge today by James E. Cuff, republican candidate for congress in that district, and a delegation of republican leaders from Monroe county and Rochester who were received at the executive offices.

The call was described as one of respects and as having no special significance insofar as the policy or the president toward state fights was concerned but the delegation afterward commented warmly upon their "cordial reception" and left saying the issue in the 38th district would be the Coolidge administration, the tariff and prosperity.

For Mr. Cuff it was said the visit would help him greatly in his contest against Representative Jacobstein, democrat, who won two years ago by over $6,000 and for the president it was said he was glad to receive for a call of respects of a republican candidate from a neighboring county.

Word that Mr. Coolidge plans to leave the Adirondacks Saturday has spread far and wide with the result that many invitations are being received at the executive offices for him to stop at stations along the route, especially as he crossed New York state in daylight. Residents of this vicinity also are planning to be out in force to bid him farewell from here.

The president spent the morning at the executive offices but in the afternoon spent much of his time at White Pine camp, as furniture and office supplies were being packed at the offices for shipping to Washington. A heavy downpour of rain continued here all day.

Newspaper correspondents who have accompanied the president to the Adirondacks were the guests of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid for luncheon at her camp on Upper St. Regis lake.

AGAINST MODIFICATION OF THE VOLSTEAD ACT

WESTFIELD, Mass., Sept. 16—(AP)—Any move to repeal the 18th amendment or modify the Volstead act is strongly condemned by western Massachusetts Baptists.

Meeting in Westfield today, the Westfield Baptist association, representing Westfield, Springfield, Holyoke and suburban territory, passed resolutions heartily indorsing the non-intervention stand taken by President Coolidge in the Mexican religious controversy, and urging all churches to aid in the enforcement of prohibition and fight any movement to nullify it.

At the same time, the Berkshire Baptist association, holding its 99th session in Becket, enthusiastically resolutions opposing any change in the prohibition law.

TO MAKE CHANGE IN JURY SYSTEM OF ITALY

ROME, Sept. 16—(AP)—In addition to restoring the death penalty for certain crimes, parliament, it is understood, will make a radical change in the jury system.

Under the proposed law a jury will consist mostly of magistrates aided by a few citizens called "assessors" drawn from severely restricted classes. They must be graduates or colleges or law schools or field officers in the army and navy. Men of lower rank may be nominated if decorated or valor.

N. Y. DEM. LEADERS CONFER WITH GOVERNOR SMITH

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 16—(AP)—Democratic leaders of New York assembled in Albany tonight for the second "secret" conference with Governor Smith within a few days.

It was expected final details would be decided upon with reference to the democratic state ticket and the party platform to be presented to the state convention a week from next Monday.

MIDSHIPMAN ZIRKIE TO REMAIN IN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—The navy department announced today that Midshipman Earl Blair Zirkie, of Kansas, who declined to accept his commission recently, has changed his mind and Secretary Wilbur has directed the superintendent of the naval academy at Annapolis to swear him in as an ensign.

ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO AIR MAIL PLANE IS OVERDUE

CICAGO, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The St. Louis-Chicago air mail plane due here at 7.30 o'clock tonight had not arrived four hours later and three other planes carrying air mail were forced down by weather conditions. None of the air mail planes due here tonight completed their trips.

Evangelist Aimee M'Pherson Arrested

With Her Mother and Three Others, is Charged With Conspiracy to Defeat Justice.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 16—(AP)—Arrest of Aimee Semple McPherson, Angelus temple evangelist, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother; Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator; John Doe Martin and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff was ordered late today by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Complaints charging the five persons with conspiracy to defeat justice were formally ordered by the district attorney. Deputy District Attorneys E. J. Dennison, Harold L. Davis, E. J. Likely were instructed to draw the complaints.

Orders for the five arrests grew out of a third official investigation into the strange case of the disappearance of the evangelist May 18 at Ocean park, near here, and her reappearance June 23 at Douglas, Ariz., with a story of having been kidnapped.

Elements of this third investigation were revelations by Mrs. Wiseman Sielaff that she had been furnished money from Angelus temple in efforts to produce a woman to be identified as occupant of a cottage at Carmel, Calif., immediately after the disappearance, to show that it was not Mrs. McPherson who occupied the cottage and revelations by Miss Bernice Morris that money had been paid from the temple in an apparent effort to manufacture evidence to support the kidnapping story.

Counsel for Angelus temple informed the district attorney that Mrs. McPherson and her mother, would be surrendered as soon as the warrant for their arrest was prepared.

Ormiston, who has been sought by officials for several months, will turn state's evidence, it was declared today by his attorney, S. S. Hahn.

Investigation developed some time ago that the radio operator rented the cottage at Carmel, four days before Mrs. McPherson disappeared and reached it at 3 o'clock in the morning, with a begoggled woman, 13 hours after the evangelist dropped from sight at Ocean park last May. The woman spent ten days at the cottage.

Mrs. Mrs. McPherson broadcast an appeal to Ormiston who was then in hiding, to clear her name in connection with reports that she was his companion, at the cottage, a Chicago attorney forwarded an affidavit by the radio operator declaring that the woman was not Mrs. McPherson but a mysterious "Miss X."

DAUGHERTY-MILLER CASE IS MOVING TOWARD CRISIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—The trial of Harry Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller moved toward a crisis today.

For seven days the government has fed into the record oral and documentary evidence admitted subjection to connection. Today, the seventh day of the trial, additions were made to the mass of exhibits that brought the total up to 90, with some of the exhibits containing hundreds of typewritten pages. Checks, railroad vouchers, hotel registers, letters and hotel register sheets are included in the exhibits.

Twenty witnesses, a number of them from distant cities, have testified. Eight gave testimony today. Aside from specific objections, the testimony of virtually all the witnesses has been admitted subject to proof of connection.

Either tomorrow or Monday, government attorneys indicated, the attempt will be made to contest the testimony already given, to show that Daugherty and Miller conspired with the late Jesse T. Smith, former aide to the former attorney general and John T. King, late republican committeeman from Connecticut, to defraud the government of "intelligent and unbiased services."

Daugherty and Miller, the government alleges, participated in a conspiracy to fraudulently pay to the Societe Suisse Pour Valeuds de Metaux $7,000,000 of the impounded shares of the American Metal company which were seized during the war under the trading with enemy act. Richard Merton, German metal magnate, previously testified he paid King a total of $441,000 as commissions for aiding him in obtaining refund of the impounded shares.

SARATOGA OFFICIALS ARE ACCUSED OF MISCONDUCT

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—District Attorney Charles M. Andrus and Sheriff Arthur G. Wilmot of Saratoga county, accused by Supreme Court Justice Christopher J. Heffernan of misconduct in office, intend to fight the charges. Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, commissioner of public safety of this city, also accused by the jurist, resigned today.

Within 24 hours after he had received Judge Heffernan's report to Gov. Smith of an investigation into the gambling situation here, Commissioner Leonard tendered his designation to the city council, by which no action was necessary to make it effective.

Both the district attorney and the sheriff made it clear, however, they not only intend to remain in office, at least for the present, but that they might appear personally before Gov. Smith to answer to the charges.

EXAMINATIONS FOR WEST POINT IN HARTFORD IN NOV.

HARTFORD, Sept. 16—(AP)—Connecticut National Guard candidates for appointment to West Point for the year 1927, have been advised by the adjutant general's office that a preliminary examination will be held here between November 1 and 15, 1926. The Connecticut National Guard is allowed two yearly appointments. The regular entrance examination will be held March 1, 1927.

SESQUI TO BE OPEN SUNDAY PENDING AN APPEAL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16—(AP)—The sesqui-centennial exposition was today ordered by the Dauphin county court to close on Sundays, but Mayor Kendrick announced it would remain open pending an appeal.

The court held that the exposition is "worldly employment," that it is not work of necessity or charity and that the amusements and recreations within the grounds are clearly in violation of the Sunday blue laws of 1794.

Italian Steamer Sinks With All Hands

The Ellinia Went Down in Fine Weather Off the British Coast—Several Vessels Nearby.

LONDON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Lloyds reports the Italian steamer Ellinia, (from Norfolk Sept. 1), sunk with all hands this afternoon off the British coast. The steamer Homeric, which was nearby, rushed at full speed to the rescue.

The time of the disaster is given in the dispatch as 4:12 p. m. and the position of the Ellenia at the time as latitude 50 north, longitude 11:50 west.

(The Ellenia was of 2,798 tons registered).

The Homeric was five miles from the Ellenia when the distressed vessel sank. Twenty-five minutes later she was over the spot where the ship disappeared.

There was considerable wreckage, but no member of the crew was seen.

A wireless message from the Homeric by way of Valencia to Lloyds says: "Numerous sail and fishing craft and one stea mtrawler were in sight. The weather was fine, with a slight sea. Presume crew abandoned ship and were picked up."

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and two wounded, one of them probably fatally, in a shooting affray here tonight.

The dead are:

Pasquale Bartolomew, 55 years old.

Ralph Taste, a boarder in Bartolomew's house.

The wounded were Anthony Martolomew, a son of Pasquale and Louise, a 15 year old daughter.

According to surviving members of the family, Pasquale Bartolomew, crazed from drink, ran amuck with an army rifle.

He first shot Taste, who was sitting on the porch of his home and killed him instantly. Then turning on the members of his own family, Bartolomew shot 18 year old Anthony at close range, the bullet entering the youth's abdomen. The girl, Louise, was wounded in the right arm by another shot. Two other members of the family escaped.

Alone in the house, Bartolomew barricaded the doors and threatened the police who were called. He held the officers at bay, for nearly an hour, and then cried out he was going to kill himself.

There was another shot. Cautiously approaching the window, police saw Bartolomew stretched out on the floor dead. He had held the muzzle of the rifle against his breast and in some undetermined manner pushed the trigger.

MEXICAN INFANTRY DEFEATED BY INDIANS

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dispatches to the Herald today from Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, confirmed reports that a battalion of Mexican infantry had suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of Yaqui Indians south of Vienna.

The Yaquis, the dispatches said, ambushed the battalion and killing the larger part, put the remainder to flight.

The military is advancing on the Sierra De Bacetete, Yaqui Mountain stronghold, in small bodies, setting out from stations along the main line of the Southern Pacific of Mexico railroad.

General Francisco Manzo, Sonora corps area commander, is said to be leading a body of 4,000 soldiers from Vicam, with scouting parties numbering more than 500 men, executing a flank movement.

MAN FATALLY INJURED BY FALL FROM TREE

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Michael O'Connell, 51, was fatally injured this afternoon when he fell from a tree 35 feet to the pavement. He died at St. Vincent's hospital less than an hour after he had been admitted from a fractured skull, broken ribs and internal injuries, according to Medical Examiner, S. R. De Luca, who view the body.

O'Connell was helping Walter Marshall, 55 Ridgewood place, remove a tree in the front yard of his house, and had climbed the tree with a safety belt and spurs, but at the time that he fell he did not have the belt fastened.

He stepped on a slender branch which gave way under his weight and he plunged head foremost to the pavement.

SLOW MOTION PICTURES OF DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Slow motion pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight to be held in Philadelphia Sept. 23 will be taken by Phelpsfilms, local motion picture producers, with a new motor-driven, combination camera. The new machine is the result of several years experimental work and was perfected by L. G. Phelps to take slow motion pictures of the Yale football teams that coaches might analyze the different plays.

The action can be slowed down six times with this camera. The lowest average speed of the films passing back of the lens is 360 feet a minute with 16 pictures to the foot which gives a total or about 6,000 pictures per minute. There are two cameras, each motor driven, and so arranged continuous action may be taken.

GIANT HYDRO-ELECTRIC PROJECT FOR THE UKRAINE

MOSCOW, Sept. 16—(AP)—A sixty-million dollar concession for hydro-electric development on the Dneiper river to serve the Ukraine was offered today to an American group.

Hugh Cooper of New York, representing American capitalists told Alexis I Rykoff, president of the council of commissars, with whom he had a three hour conference, that the plans providing for the expenditure of sixty million dollars were acceptable if the soviet government would make an initial appropriation of five million dollars for the purchase of American machinery and equipment.

The Americans who were asked to undertake the construction and financing of this immense project rejected plans involving an additional outlay of eleven million dollars.

MORRIS AND WATERS STAND ON DRIPPING WET PLATFORM

Democrats in State Convention Nominated Charles G. Morris For Governor and Milo R. Waters For Lieutenant Governor—James J. Walsh of Meriden Was Reelected State Chairman—Aside From Calling For the Repeal of the Volstead Act and the 18th Amendment the Democrats Let National Matters Alone.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 16—(AP)—Accepting a platform which had but two issues in it—decentralization and repeal of the Volstead act and 18th amendment—the democratic state convention today quickly selected a ticket for the November election to stand upon that declaration of principles.

The delegates accepted amid much cheering and hand clapping the plank which was described as "dripping wet" and howled down a delegate who tried to oppose it by saying that he believed in the 18th amendment.

Aside from prohibition the Connecticut democrats let national matters alone and made their declaration one related almost entirely to state affairs.

After adopting the platform the following ticket was named:

For United States senator—Rollin U. Tyler, of Haddam.

For governor—Charles G. Morris, of Newtown.

For lieutenant governor—Milo R. Waters of Norwich.

For secretary of state—David Rhiman, of New Haven.

For state treasurer—Peter M. Kennedy of Waterbury.

For comptroller—Joseph F. Brown of Enfield.

For attorney general—Frederick M. McCarthy of Ansonia.

The second day of the convention was quiet when most delegates had expected a repetition of verbal fireworks which marked its opening last night when an old dispute between the so-called McAdoo men and the Governor Smith men in the state delegation to the last national convention broke out. Today Dr. E. G. Dolan, of Manchester, who led the Smith men in that famous convention and since had led the insurgents against the state organization, was deposed from membership on the state committee by his own district. He accepted the situation and merely asked that all democrats turn to and aid in a democratic victory in November.

After this another dispute was ended, and there was nothing more left for the delegates to do other than to make their platform and ticket.

James J. Walsh of Meriden, was re-elected state chairman, and arrangements were made to begin campaigning without delay.

HIGH RECORD LAST WEEK IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

HARTFORD, Sept. 16—(AP)—More automobile accidents occurred in the state of Connecticut during the week of September 5 to 11, than in any similar period during the summer, according to a report issued today by the motor vehicle department.

The total number of accidents in the state during the week was 600, of which 346 occurred in fourteen cities. The greatest number of accidents in any one city occurred in Hartford where there were 70 during the week. There were 62 in New Haven and 57 in Bridgeport.

Nine of the accidents were fatal, one person being killed in each one. This was the fourth largest number of fatalities of any week during the summer. The places where the fatal accidents occurred and the persons killed were as follows:

Tolland, John Dillinger; Windsor, Frank Ciarniankas; Hamden, John Felix Ciarniankas; Hamden, John Kopjanski; South Windham, Philip Severin; New Haven, Joseph Corelli; Hartford, Mrs. Bridget Connell; Bristol, Mrs. Stella Bassett; Bridgeport, Anthony Conte; Milleville, Adam Schnazewski.

Accidents reported in the various cities totalled as follows: Bridgeport, 57; Danbury, 11; Greenwich, 14; Hartford, 70; Meriden, 18; Middletown, 6; New Britain, 23; New Haven, 62; New London, 5; Norwalk, 5; Norwich, 14; Stamford, 19; Waterbury, 40; Winsted, 3; city total, 346.

TO ASCERTAIN THE VALUE OF AUTOMOBILES FOR TAXATION

HARTFORD, Sept. 16—(AP)—Ways and means of ascertaining more exact valuations of motor vehicles and insuring sure that all owners use these motor vehicles for taxation were discussed today at a conference between the special committee of tax assessors appointed to study the subject and representatives of motor vehicle department.

No conclusions were reached in regard to the subjects which were discussed. It was pointed out that some new means must be found for taxing motor vehicles subject to taxation under the present system. It is difficult for the tax assessors of the individual towns to make an accurate list because as there are many owners of motor vehicles who have no other taxable property. The suggestion had previously been made that a plan might be devised whereby the tax assessor and motor vehicle department might work in conjunction with the possibility of the latter collecting the taxes on motor vehicles for the town.

STRUCK WHILE CROSSING STREET IN SOUTHINGTON

MERIDEN, Sept. 16—(AP)—Sylvester Humes an employe of David Mongillo, coal dealer of Southington, is on the danger list in the Meriden hospital suffering with a fractured skull, received when he was struck at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon while crossing South Main street Southington, by an automobile driven by George H. Mallett, of 220 Park street, New Haven.

According to the Southington police, Mallett was driving slowly, and the accident was unavoidable on the part of the driver, who brought his car to a standstill within ten feet. He was not held by the police.

FOUR MEN WERE INJURED WHEN TRUCK LEFT ROAD

NORTH COVENTRY, Conn., Sept. 16—(AP)—A truck driven by Rex Fitzpatrick of Hartford left the road here tonight, causing injury to the driver and three other men riding with him. Those injured were Robert Wilson, Hartford; John Iver, Providence, R. I., and Patrick Grady, Providence. All three were brought to the Manchester Memorial hospital for treatment. Fitzpatrick, although said to have sustained a broken shoulder, remained with the truck until help arrived and the machine was replaced on the highway.

RAINFALL CONTINUES IN INDIANA AND ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Continuation in Indiana, Illinois and other middle western states, last night and today of the rainfall which has been a daily phenomenon in many localities since September 1, brought the Mississippi more than ten feet above flood stage at Quincy, took one of its tributaries on an excusion over hundreds of acres of lowlands near Burlington, Iowa, and threatened Beardstown, Ills., with inundation by the Illinois river.

COUNCIL OF THE L. OF N. ENLARGED TO 14 MEMBERS

GENEVA, Sept. 16—(AP)—The new council of the League of Nations, enlarged today to 14 members by election in the assembly, and having present Dr. Gustav Stresemann as the representative of the German republic began its proceedings with an act of homage to Woodrow Wilson as founder of the league.

This homage took the form of accepting in advance a bust of the ex-president which will be presented to the league by Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Caldwell of New York. It will be executed by Bryan Baker, the American sculptor, and it is understood will receive the approval of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson before being placed in the palace of the League of Nations.

The states chosen for the non-permanent seats in the council are Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Belgium Colombia, Chile, Salvador, Holland and China. Though the Irish Free State had announced its candidacy for a seat to represent the British dominions in the council, it received only ten votes Colombia received 46 out of a total of 49.

President Edouard Benes pleaded for concord, and collaboration in the furtherance of the high aims of the league. After extending a warm welcome to Germany, whose adhesion, he said, meant so much to the future destiny of Europe, Dr. Benes declared that there were no plans, no entrenched camps or opposing factions in the council, but only men whose pulse must ever beat to the fulfillment of the high aim of putting into practice the fundamental principles of the covenant of the league.

LARGE DIVIDENDS FROM THE STATE SCHOOL FUND

HARTFORD, Sept. 16—(AP)—Dividends received by the state school fund during the fiscal year which closed June 30 were the largest recorded in the past three years while the principal has been increased to an amount which is greater than any time in seventy-seven years according to the annual report of the condition of the school fund which was published today. The report is made by State Treasurer Ernest E. Rogers, who is treasurer ex-officio of the school fund. George W. Sisson is clerk of the school fund.

The school fund principal on June 30, was [illegible],427.79 according to the report. The only time that this amount was ever exceeded in the 129 years that the fund has been in existence, was in the period between 1845 and 1849.

PREMIER MEIGHEN OF CANADA IS TO RESIGN

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 16—(AP)—Premier Meighen, whose conservative party failed to obtain a majority in the general elections, has announced his intention to resign with the members of his cabinet on Monday.

The statement issued from the prime minister's office late this afternoon says:

"As soon as the final returns were received Mr. Meighen dispatched a telegram to each of the ministers, asking them to come to Ottawa. A cabinet meeting will be held Monday, the earliest date upon which the members of the government will, of course, immediately tender its resignation."

A TOLLAND MAN WAS FOUND DEAD IN HIGHWAY

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Sept. 16—(AP)—Carlton Newman, 32, of Tolland was found dead on the Rockville-Tolland state highway here tonight by Steven Staffen of Rockville. Medical Examiner Thomas F. O'Loughlin said that death was due to a double fracture of the skull. He was of the opinion that Newman had been struck by an automobile and left in the road. There was a deep gash over one eye and the skull was fractured. A second fracture at the back of the skull was evidently caused when the man was knocked to the ground. State police from the Stafford barracks started an investigation.

NEW YORK-PARIS FLIGHT POSTPONED TILL TODAY

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 16—(AP)—Definite postponement until after tomorrow of the projected New York to Paris flight of the Sikorsky biplane S-35 was announced this afternoon.

Officials making plans for the flight also said it was unlikely that the hop off could be made Saturday. Reports from the bureau of aeronautics at Washington, telling of continued bad weather over the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, caused the postponement this afternoon.

CORONER TO HOLD BELAIR INQUEST TODAY

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 16—Coroner Arthur G Bill of Danielson notified Police Captain Frank McLean this morning that he would be at police headquarters here Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to hold an inquest into the death of Henry Belair who was killed late Tuesday night when he fell from one of the George E. Dewey company trucks and was crushed beneath the right rear wheel. John McKernan of 53 Chestnut street, the driver of the truck was the only witness to Belair's fall from the cab of the machine. He noted that the truck jarred as the wheel passed over Belair's body. Two other Hartford men, Patrick O'Toole and George Ulm were sleeping in the rear of the machine and knew nothing of the accident until the truck had been brought to a stop and they were awakened by McKernan. Belair and O'Toole were helpers on the truck. Ulm was just taking a ride. The party were on their way to Cape Cod for a load of furniture. The trip was continued several hours after the accident. McKernan is held under $5,000 bonds on a charge of manslaughter. It is expected that the witnesses will reassert previous statements that Belair was intoxicated when he fell out of the cab.

JEWETT CITY

ASHLAND CLUB MEMBERS NOTE SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 16.—Ashland club observed its sixth anniversary at the club house last evening with one hundred enthusiastic members present. The committee of arrangements Misses Almira Perry, Odna and Arline Dugas, Claire Sullivan and Natalie Harpin spared no pains to make the celebration as enjoyable as possible, and the verdict was the "best ever." A chicken pie supper was served in the club house, having been prepared by Mrs. H. E. Paul. There was delicious chicken pie, mashed potato, rolls, celery, olives, cake, cookies and coffee. Songs led by P. W. Chase enlivened the supper hour. After the supper, President Gingras called upon Grosvenor Ely, president and secretary of Ashland Cotton Co., to speak. President Ely reported the interest shown by the women members of the board of directors. In behalf of the company he presented the five who were the committee for the anniversary five dollar gold pieces. L. M. Carpenter spoke to the assembly, as did Supt. Walter Fleet.

Later, the meeting was called to order by President Gingras. The annual reports for the year were read by Secretary Eli Nichols and Treasurer C. D. Cornell. These showed that the club had passed the most successful year in its history, and the treasury is in good condition. Welfare Supervisor Chase gave his report for the year, noting the increased daily attendance, touching on a few of the high lights in last year's work, and outlining future plans.

The nominating committee presented the names of the board of directors, including five overseers, L. M. Gingras, C. D. Cornell, William Duggan, R. F. Cheney and Harold Tomlinson. Five men employes, Eli Nichols, Theodore Raill, Thomas Grenier, Uldric Gilbert and G. H. Thornton and five women employes, Odna and Arline Dugas, Natalie Harpin, Almira Perry and Nellie Mislasek. Officers elected were L. M. Gingras, president; Odna Dugas, vice president; Eli Nichols, secretary and C. D. Cornell, treasurer. The reelection of these officers testifies to their ability in the past, the president having held that office since the organization of the club and Mr. Nichols serving his third year as secretary. The meeting adjourned, and the remainder of the evening was passed in the casino, where dances, new and old, were enjoyed by members and invited friends. Music was furnished by D'Artri's Wauregan hotel orchestra, President Gingras and John O'Shea acting as prompters. Guests of honor included Mrs. Grosvenor Ely and Mrs. L. M. Carpenter.

Pachaug Fair jitney from F. O. Square today and Sat.—adv.

Just at noon Thursday, Miss Gladys Jeffers was asked by Mr. Stanton of the Glasgo Finishing company, to deliver a note to Mrs. Meehan at the 'Hotel Glasgo'. Upon arriving there she was invited in to await an answer. While waiting, her five office associates arrived there also, much to the surprise of Miss Jeffers. She was then escorted to the dining room to celebrate her birthday which falls on the 17th of this month. A fine dinner was served, the girls by Mrs. John Meehan and consisted of chicken soup, roast chicken, mashed potato, turnip, cauliflower, celery and cake.

The table was adorned in the center by a large birthday cake with candles, also there were candles at each end, the color scheme being pink and white. There was much merriment at the table about the note which Miss Jeffers delivered which read as follows:

"The bearer, Miss Gladys Jeffers, is (?) years old tomorrow, and I understand that you are having a little banquet in honor of this occasion. Please see that she leaves in a condition to work this afternoon, as well as the rest of the party."

There was also much fun over the number (?) of candles that decorated the cake, also the number that were left on the cake after Miss Jeffers had blown at them once.

Miss Ruszenas proposed a very apt toast and Miss Jeffers was presented a beautiful atomizer and bottle of perfume.

The other members of the party were Miss Josephine Ruszenas, Marion Jeffers, Evelyn Clark and Clara Adams and Mrs. Josephine Clark.

for the Quaker's picture when buying oats.

That means richer flavor

WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing.

Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quickly won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quaker."

The flavor is uniquely different; toasty, rich and creamy. Quaker Oats alone has it. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Thus protein, carbohydrates and vitamines and "bulk" combine in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Walter Dietz announces his purchase of a large bakery . . . to bake the famous DIETZ BREAD

MR. WALTER DIETZ has bought the Dolly Madison bakery.

He wishes to announce that this bakery is now under his own personal control and management.

For some months he has been reorganizing the plant and equipping it to supply the homes of Springfield and the neighboring towns with the fine bread which has so long been associated with the Dietz name. He believes that only the independent, locally owned and locally managed bakery can supply the housewives of New England with the fine quality bread their particular tastes demand.

This new loaf is better than ever

THEREFORE he takes pleasure in announcing that the new Dietz Bread is ready—the best bread he has ever baked. He used to consider his old loaf perfect—with the perfection only years of experience, the finest ingredients and a wonderful recipe could bring.

But new experience has brought him even further skill, taught him the secret of new improvements. These Mr. Dietz has used in making the new Dietz Bread. He is glad to assure the women of New England that he believes this bread is even better than the bread which, a few years ago, seemed perfect.

He has installed in the Dolly Madison bakery a wonderful new type of oven. It insures a new uniformity and dependability in baking which gives added tenderness to the firm loaves, greater crispness to the evenly browned crust. With this new oven two bakings a day are possible, so that the delicious loaves reach your grocer twice a day—fresher than ever before!

Your own choice of ingredients

DIETZ BREAD is made of the same fine ingredients you would use in your own kitchen. But the flavor has a richer wheatiness because instead of just the one kind of flour you use at home, several fine flours are blended to give unvarying gluten strength and richness.

The ingredients are constantly tested—they must measure up to an inflexible standard of quality and purity. They are so skilfully mixed the bread has a new finer texture—firm, yet so soft and fresh it melts deliciously in the mouth.

Ask today for Dietz Bread. Your grocer has it. Its red and green wrapper with the homey farmhouse and New England maples is an invitation to enjoy Mr. Walter Dietz's marvelous baking skill in the best bread he ever made. Dolly Madison Baking Corporation, Springfield, Mass.

A delicately browned, crisp crusted loaf that slices smooth and even—is softer, fresher, tastes better.

DANIELSON

ATT. E. L. DARBIE CANDIDATE FOR SENATORIAL NOMINATION

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 16—Attorney E. L. Darbie will be a candidate for the republican nomination for senator in this, the Twenty-eighth senatorial district, comprising the towns of Killingly, Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Eastford and Ashford. Attorney Darbie said today that his name will be presented to the district senatorial convention, which likely will be held in Putnam the last week in September. As pointed out in this column Thursday, Killingly has not been represented in the state senate since 1912, when Postmaster E. H. Keach of Danielson filled the office. It would appear at present that Attorney Darbie will have no opposition for the nomination in the larger towns of the senatorial district and his friends are seeking to bring about this unanimous nomination. At the last session of the legislature Attorney Darbie was speaker of the house, as a member from Killingly, and made an impressive record in that important place. He has taken this week's defeat for the nomination for attorney general in the republican state convention with his usual good grace and is out in support of Judge W. Benjamin Aillen, the successful candidate in the Hartford convention.

TOTAL OF TOWN'S BUDGET IS GIVEN OUT AS $160,758

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 16—An estimate of money needed for meeting the expenses of the town during the present fiscal year has been prepared by the selectmen. It shows a total of $160,758.

Items that enter into the making of this budget include: Outside poor, $8,000; state hospitals, $2,700; Mansfield Training school, $600; burials of poor, $200, a total of $11,500 for the care of the poor and unfortunate.

It is estimated that repairs of town highways will cost $14,000 during the present fiscal year, that $4,000 additional will be needed for oiling streets and roads, $1,500 for cutting brush, $3,000 for railings and $1,000 for snow removal. The selectmen and transportation account is estimated at $1,700. For the assessors $600 will be required and $600 to meet election expenses. Selectmen's office account, clerk and supplies, will be $1,000, personal tax enrollment $450, town clerk and treasurer $600.

The property tax collector's fees will be $700 and the personal tax collector's $200. Fixed appropriations include $500 for the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam, $400 for the Danielson library, $225 for Memorial day and $175 for Armistice day. An item for tools in the budget is $5,500.

A big item this year is Killingly's apportionment of the county tax—a matter of $7,200. Interest on notes and bonds of the town will require $12,000 and money for payment on bonds of 1916 and 1923 will amount to another $7,000. The town court cost, net, is estimated at $1,200.

Against the estimated costs are estimated credits as follows: Town farm produce $3,000; interest on overdue taxes, $650; personal taxes, $7,000; dog money from state, $1,000; pool, peddler and junk licenses, $50; town hall building income, $2,200; street oiling assessments, $700; bank stock tax—state, $2,000.

At All Hallows church in Moosup Thursday morning there was a solemn mass of requiem at the funeral of Mrs. Angeline Tetreault. Many relatives and friends attended the services. The officers of the mass were Rev. Oscar Normand, Rv. Father Lavallee and Rev. Fr. Caron. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery at Wauregan. The bearers were Frank Stone, Felix Lavallee, Alex Lavallee, Frank Dore, Alphonse Laparle and George Blanchette. Louis E Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

The Cloud Digger can do no worse in the way of prognosticating in his semi-annual weather report now due than has been done by Herbert Janorin Browne of Washington, D. C., who at Wellesley Hills, Mass., has said that 1927 will be a year without a summer and that the coming winter will be the most severe in years. Browne says frost and snow for next June, ice on July 4 and a cold August. What the world is waiting for—and possibly the Cloud Digger will do it—is a long weather forecast that will appeal. Something along the lines of so hot in January "I couldn't sleep;" baseball weather and rose festivals for February in New England and the opening of summer cottages in March. This stuff should be just as easy to do as the frightful forecasts, would give some pleasure and likely would be no more untrue. If a snow storm did happen to come on a January date that had been selected for a lawn party, about everyone would by that time have forgotten about the September prediction anyway.

At their meeting this week the Danielson Girls' club had a more than ordinarily good time, including a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Kathryn Brennan, who received many beautiful and useful gifts. Forty-five members were at the meeting, at which five new members were admitted. As five new members a month means a supper, it was voted to have a supper and birthday party on October 26. Mrs. Leona Prisqu is chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements. Thirteen members of the club have birthdays during September and October.

At this week's meeting was on the birthday of the vice-president of the club, Miss Helen Heath, she was presented a birthday cake adorned with lighted candles. Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Jean Vetter of Norwich, a past president of the club, Mrs. H. H. Heath and Miss Mabel Carragher, Washington, D. C.

Writes Harold S. Atwood from Nova Scotia: "I never expected to experience such wonderful fly fishing for trout, yet the natives up here tell us that the fishing is very poor and the fish running small just now. Caught 87 in two hours, between 11 and 1 o'clock, and threw back all under 11 inches in length." Mr. and Mrs. Atwood have been away about a fortnight.

Mrs. Charles Hale, who has been grevlously ill at the home of her mother in West Haven, is showing some improvement. Mr. Hale said Thursday, and appears to be gaining strength.

Delegations that have been at New Haven from towns in this section attending the democratic state convention returned here Thursday night.

There will be general interest hereabouts in the announcement that preparations are being made for the resumption of evening classes at the State Trade school in Putnam.

Members of headquarters company of Putnam will be at the Service battery rifle range south of here on Sunday for practice.

It has occurred to numbers of republicans here that it will be better for them to keep out of the democratic battle over selectmen in the coming town election, lest by lending aid, as the situation is, they defeat one of the republican candidates, a thing very liable to happen.

PUTNAM

PYTKO GIRL, MOTHER AT 17, TELLS OF BABY'S MURDER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 16.—Agnes Pytko, who will be 18 years old in December, went on the witness stand this afternoon, in the action of the state against Raymond Wetherbee, charged with murder in the first degree, and told her story of the birth and death of her child. It was a detailed account of what has already appeared in The Bulletin.

She declared that Wetherbee was the father of the child, that he was with her when it was born on the morning of June 30, that she knew it was alive when born; immediately after its birth, he tied a rope around the body of the child, attached a heavy stone to the other end, and that five minutes later she heard a splash in the water. He came back a minute later and said that he had drowned the baby.

"There'll be trouble about it" she testified that she had told him, but he went away without making any answer.

His relations with her began, she said, in September, 1925, but she had told him nothing of her condition until the day before the child came. She had written and posted him a letter about Sept. 10 in which she asked him to come to the house the next Sunday, that she had something to tell him that would surprise him. This letter was not produced. Officer Stremas of the state police, who arrested Wetherbee, saw nothing of it, but said that it might have been among some papers which were in his pocket and which he had sealed and at Wetherbee's request had delivered to his attorneys.

When court adjourned yesterday only 11 jurors had been secured. Of the first 12 examined six were accepted but of the remaining 22 of the venire only five were chosen. Then 20 more were called and none accepted. The third one who was examined this morning was Lester E. Williams, of Brooklyn. He said that he had formed no opinions about the case and that he had no conscientious scruples against capital punishment, and he was sworn in as the 12th man. The remainder of the morning session was spent in the exhibition of maps showing the location of the home of Alex Kelowitcz, Miss Pytko's brother-in-law, with whom she had lived for a year and a half before this affair, and photographs of the home and the site of the alleged crime.

Miss Pytko was called shortly before the noon recess and her direct examination continued until after 4 o'clock. Cross examination was begun by Samuel B. Harvey, one of Wetherbee's attorneys, but he had not proceeded very far until time for adjournment came. The hearing will be resumed next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock (standard time) in this city.

PILL-SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought natural relief in a few weeks

A remarkable, convincing tribute is paid Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminsen, of Seattle:

"I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night, but since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN it works fine. I would not be without it. I was so deathly sick of taking pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. AMINSEN.
Kennyhole, Seattle, Washington.

You can get permanent relief from constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN if eaten regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it because it is ALL BRAN. It does a job only ALL-BRAN can do. Part-bran products may not do any good at all.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream. Use it in cooking. Try the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Served by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by grocers.

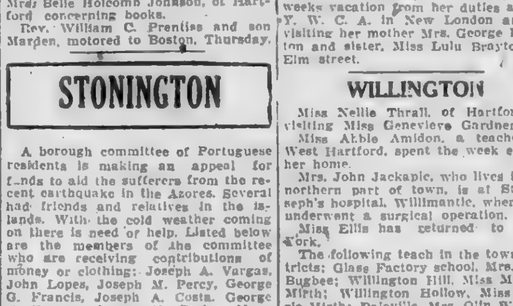
Mrs. L. E. Combie and Mrs. Ernest Combie and daughter, of Somerville, Mass., are visiting at Maple Corner.

Mrs. Marcia Hughes of Westford has been the guest of Mrs. Nellie White and Mrs. Julia Clark the past week.

Relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett at Woodstock, parents of Postmaster Allen Bennett of West Willington, Labor day, for a clambake. Seventy three sat down to a dinner of baked clams, fish, sausages, potatoes, onions, sweet corn, clam chowder, clam fritters, rolls, squash pie, cake, lemonade and soft drinks. Those present from Willington were Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Converse, Miss Jessie Converse, Postmaster Allen Bennett, Miss Jessie Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dorman.

Free Foot Comfort DEMONSTRATION

September 21st and 22nd



Seven persons out of every ten have some form of foot trouble. It may be weak or broken-down arches, weak ankles, corns, callouses or bunions or probably a case of tired, aching, painful feet.

Regardless of what may be the nature of your foot suffering, you will find quick and lasting relief at our store during this special demonstration.

Foot Comfort Expert from Personal Staff of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl

At considerable expense this store has arranged for the services of one of Dr. Scholl's most skilled foot comfort experts. He will be pleased to see, on the above date, all persons suffering from any form of foot troubles. His services are absolutely free.

Free Pedo-graph Prints of Your Feet

In a few seconds' time, without removing the hose, he can make a perfect impression of your foot that positively shows if you do have foot troubles and to what stage the trouble has progressed.

Come in and get a sample of Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads for corns. They remove the cause—friction and pressure. Sure, safe, instant relief.

The Church Co.

DANIELSON, CONN.

SOUTH WINDHAM

The Windham Community Men's club held its September meeting in Guilord Smith hall, Monday evening with an attendance of over 60. Supper was served by the ladies of the Good Will circle of the local church, with Herbert Card, Joseph Smith, Jr., Charles Huntington, Carl Josephson, Timothy Mara and Keenie Lathrop in general charge and acting as waiters. The menu consisted of roast beef, boiled potatoes, gravy, creamed carrots, plum preserve, pickles, rolls, cake and coffee. The meeting opened by all singing the Star Spangled Banner, Grace was said by Rev. Joseph F. Cobb, President Donald McDonald presided. A number of songs were sung, accompanied by John Ericson at the piano, Herbert Card, violin, Vantine Anderson, Eden Cook, Everett Beckwith, banjos. Three new members were received and welcomed. The guests of the evening were Dixon Van Zandt and Judge Otto Robinson, of Willimantic.

The following committees were appointed by President McDonald: Publicity, Rev. J. G. Graham and Arthur State. Membership, Guy Richmond, Keeney Lathrop, Jack Thompson, Timothy Colbert, Rev. Joseph F. Cobb and Josh Erickson. Song leader, Everett Beckwith. Music committee, Vantine Anderson, Herbert Card, John Ericson, J. Scribner, Eden Cook, Jack Thompson, Everett Beckwith Boys' work, Ralph Scribner, Rev. J. G. Graham, Eden C. Cook, Jack Thompson, Harry Avery.

The committee selected for the October meeting consists of Charles Sabiski, Harold Leffingwell, Russell E. Jacobs, John Holden, Lester Eaton and Myron Hadfield.

Solos were sung by Everett Beckwith, to the delight of the members. Dixon Van Zandt of Willimantic delighted his hearers with a talk on his experiences on the sea, going around Cape Horn and his services on the government vessel, The Bear, in Alaska. A rising vote of thanks was extended Mr. Van Zandt. The meeting closed with singing America.

Through the efforts of James M. Larkham, chief of the South Windham fire department, the property owners and citizens of South Windham have secured a portable pump and 500 feet of new hose to be added to the equipment of the fire department. The pump will be carried on the chemical and hose auto. The department is now well equipped to cope with fire, should there be any call.

GOSHEN

The mission of the church and the requirements of its members was the theme of the sermon by Rev. Stanley Selleck Sunday afternoon.

The committee for the Community club Wednesday evening was the subject for the program. Those taking part included Miss McChll, with an original paper, Miss Gillette, who read a poem and Miss Annie Gillette who gave an account of the D. A. R. trip to the Wolf Deen. Mrs. Kenyon gave some special musical numbers and Miss Olive Cox sang a solo. A. B. Keayes gave an account of his trip to the recent county fair.

A pleasant evening favored the Christian Endeavor social held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Randall Friday evening. There was a good attendance and the time was occupied with radio, victrola and games. Cake, sandwiches, cocoa and coffee were served. The amount pledged by the society for country and state work has now been secured.

Andrew Lathrop who has been spending his vacation at his home here has returned to Boston university for a second year of study.

Arthur Lathrop of the Travelers Insurance company of Hartford spent the week end here. He spent his vacation in an enjoyable trip to the White mountains.

The sawmill in operation on the Shaida place gives employment to a number of men and is turning out a good amount of lumber. But few lots of good timber remain and a good price is paid for such trees.

A number of farmers have begun cutting up corn and silo filling. I. M. Jones, with tractor power and a new improved cutter from Wisconsin handles the fodder as fast as teams can draw it. A test was made of the machine on a recent day when one large dump ca load of corn was reduced to ensilage in three minutes.

Farmers report an uneven yield of potatoes. One man states that he planted 7 bushel of certified seed and there as a heavy growth of vines and he dug out only ten bushel or spuds.

Mrs. Maria Waite of Stafford Springs aunt of Mrs. Clarence Thomas, has been a guest at the home of the latter.

SAFETY WEEK

Possibly you haven't realized it but this is Safety week, a period which is being observed, or supposed to be, throughout the country for the purpose of giving greater emphasis to the need of safety observance.

That there is good reason for this is effectively illustrated by the many automobile and other accidents which form such a conspicuous part of each day's news. There are accidents which may be unavoidable but there is a large number of them that are easily preventable. The prevention means the exercise of greater care and better judgment on the part of individuals, the drivers of motor vehicles and the pedestrians using the highways, but no one will question the desirability of such conduct in checking the appalling number of deaths and serious injuries.

No one will ever know just how much effect a Safety week has upon the people of the country or how many deaths and injuries it prevents. In fact no one knows exactly what preventive work does in other directions but it is known that the results are worth striving for and it is quite as important that there should be a prevention of fatalities as that there should be prevention of disease which may cause death in other ways, as of fire that destroys lives as well as property in great volume.

It is through presentation of the purposes of Safety week to as large a number of people as possible that the best results are going to be obtained. That is the idea in having a fixed period for trying to get the concentration of the public mind upon safety and the protection that lies therein for each and every individual.

There is no telling when the reckless, careless user of the highways, whether the driver of a motor vehicle or the pedestrian, is going to figure in an accident. Even those who take care are sometimes numbered with the victim of the carelessness of others. The need is for a thorough appreciation of the part that each one should contribute to moral safety and if Safety week can help to accomplish that it will be doing what is expected of it.

INDIANA'S GAS TAX

An interesting test of the gasoline tax promises to be made in Indiana where the law is somewhat different than in other states and where some resistance is being offered to the tax by the users of gasoline bringing it from other states.

According to the Indiana law a three-cent tax per gallon is imposed "on the use of all gasoline used in this state for any purpose whatever." The test case, a threatened by an auto owner who had bought gasoline in another state in order to avoid the tax and who upon being arrested refused to pay the tax and threatens to carry the case to the highest courts to determine the constitutionality of the law.

There are only a few states that do not levy a gasoline tax but probably there are not many of them that impose such a tax upon the use of gasoline for any and all purposes. Under the Indiana law 85 per cent of the tax goes to highway purposes, the remainder to be over $1,000,000 a year which goes for miscellaneous purposes with those who run autos contributing to these general purposes for which others pay, while those who use gasoline for tractors, stationary engines, cleaning clothes, operating boats are taxed to build and maintain highways which they may or may not use.

The Indiana gasoline tax law differs from such a law in many other states. It is possible that it is constitutional but it doesn't appear that there is justification for levying it in that manner. However the Indiana may do something to prevent the so-called evasion to escape it by buying in states where no tax is levied. It is only just to the user of motor vehicles that the tax should go for road building purposes. Just why the users of gasoline for other purposes should be taxed any more than a kerosene user is hard to understand, while the 15 per cent. of the tax which goes for general purposes seems unjust to all to be obliged to pay general taxes.

The test of the Indiana gasoline law will be followed with much interest over the country as well as inside that state.

BOOTLEGGING ALIENS

How easy it is to separate those who want to get into this country, and realize it is impossible through the regular channels, from their money is illustrated by the report which comes from Canada concerning the landing of 165 Sicilians about 50 miles from Halifax under the claim that that city was within easy walking distance and was in the United States.

These persons paid the captain of the vessel from Algiers and were going to Italy after he had made a trip to the American coast. He concludes his ingenious story by declaring that the mooring they saw the United States he could not restrain them and in order to prevent a mutiny he permitted them to go ashore. The story sounds and probably is fishy. The Sicilians claim to have paid 2,000 to 10,000 lire to be landed in this country and there is no doubt that they are telling the truth.

They sought to be smuggled into the country, or believed that the captain of the ship was able by some method unknown to them to get them into this country and they willingly gave up their money for such a service.

They have, of course been swindled and while the captain did not attempt to set them ashore on United States territory he was nevertheless getting as near to it as he dared and cared nothing as to what might happen to his passenger list so long as he got rid of it.

The situation is one with which Canada must deal. The dominion has plenty of opportunity for making use of such immigrants if it desires but it will naturally be interested in calling the captain of the ship to account for the part which he has played in the affair. He has demonstrated that he was not only willing to defy the immigration laws of any country but that he was ready and anxious to defraud those upon whom he was depending for business as a smuggler. He was double crossing everyone and has gotten himself into an unpleasant predicament. No doubt the Sicilians could now stage a real mutiny.

SCHOOLHOUSE SIGNS

"Schoolhouse Ahead. Drive Slowly." Signs of a similar character are erected on most every highway a short distance before a schoolhouse. The laudable purpose is to inform the auto drivers that children may be expected in the highway and that they should proceed with caution.

Throughout the summer these signs have meant nothing. It has generally been recognized that school was not in session and little attention has been paid to the warning. But the summer has gone, the long vacation is over and the schools are now in session. That means that the signs not only mean what they say but should get all the attention that is due them.

Many are the instances when serious accidents are to have been prevented had it been known a bit in advance just about what conditions could have been expected. Children are frequently the cause of their own injuries, but most drivers not only welcome the signs directing attention to schoolhouses and curves but they pay proper respect to them and make sure that their cars are under due control so that they are prepared to meet any emergency.

The instinct of children to play in the roads not to rush out into the streets without looking to see what is coming, not to push others into the street is necessary and valuable in connection with the warnings to the motorist and it is through giving heed to such advice that many accidents can be prevented.

It is therefore time to remember that schools are in session again and the schoolhouse signs should be heeded.

NEW YORK TO PARIS BY AIR

Crossing the ocean always has a fascination and particularly so when the trip is to be made in the air and the hope is to accomplish it without a stop.

It is expected that Rene Fonck, the leading French ace, will leave Long Island with the big Sikorski plane today for what is hoped to be not only the first crossing from New York to Paris but the longest non-stop flight ever made. Preparations to such an end have been under way for many months and large outlays are involved.

The idea is to skirt the southern New England coast, cross Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and then heading directly across the Atlantic fly over the southern tip of Ireland, England and land at Paris a distance of 3600 miles.

There have been crossings of the Atlantic in the air but by the flight which is expected, to start today new honors are expected in various directions. Not only is it expected to capture the prize of $25,000 which has been offered but it is expected that there will be an effective demonstration of long distance flying for commercial purposes.

With the past few year, numerous air mail routes have been established in this country. In Europe commercial flying is much further advanced. Who would dare to predict when ocean crossings will be made in the air with as much security as crossings of the English channel are now made every day between London and Paris? Each year sees marked advancement in aviation. Last year the round the world flight was a masteric accomplishment. The New York to Paris flight will be one of the achievements that will stand out prominently alongside of the flight around the pole.

TALKING SHOP

Mr. Graham came home to find Mrs. Graham tugging the big chair in the living room into a new corner.

"You know," he said, "I like it near that lamp."

"Yes, I know," replied Mrs. Graham, giving the chair a last vicious kick, "you like it in that corner next to the umidor where you and your man friends can get off together and talk shop while we women sit over at the other end of the room and try to pretend we're interested in our own company. The Humbolds are coming over tonight, and I've just made up my mind that for once the conversation is going to have some variety to it."

"I never talk shop," declared Mr. Graham. "When I leave my desk I shut my business affairs up in it. Why did you invite the Humbolds over tonight, anyway? I never can think of a single thing to say to Mary Humbold."

"That's just it," said Mrs. Graham, excitedly; "we're talked out—talked out at our age! Think of all the things there are to talk about. The new plays and—and the situation in Europe, and the—the—"

Mr. Graham looked thoughtful. He did want to talk over with Humbold that matter of the Van Nuys' contract; Humbold's advice on such affairs was always enlightening.

"It's got so that we never have any intellectual or impersonal conversation any more," went on Mrs. Graham; "it's downright narrowing, that's what, this talk of office and ideals and the market, night after night after night."

"We might play bridge," suggested Mr. Graham, with the air of one who offers a compromise.

"No," replied his spouse vehemently. "For once we are going to discover something of our guests' personalities and exhibit something of our own, if we have any. We are going to sit by the fire, and we are going to lead the conversation into channels which will improve our minds. You used to be such a brilliant conversationalist, John."

"Well, it might be worth trying," said Mr. Graham resignedly. "Perhaps our ideas about things are getting a bit dusty. Let's brush 'em off tonight and see how they look."

"The Locarno pact," said Mrs. Graham, passing the bon-bons, "ought to be a model for future generations."

"I'm sure you will agree with me, George," said Mr. Graham, balancing on heels and toes before the fireplace, "that it is a masterpiece of diplomacy."

"Unquestionably," said George.

"It means so much," sighed Mrs. Humbold.

They sat in silence, meditating on the future of Europe, while the blazing logs crackled comfortably.

"Have you seen The Miracle?" asked Mrs. Graham bravely. "Such a beautiful spectacle, don't you think?"

"We're going next Wednesday," said Mrs. Humbold. "Don't tell me about it, Bertha, I hate to hear about plays in advance."

"I hear it cost a fortune to produce," said Mr. Humbold.

"Yes," said Mr. Graham, shaking his head reflectively, and then there was another lapse.

Bertha Graham valiantly tried to lead the conversation from the perils of fascism to the plight of the Iowa farmers, from the fall of the franc to the gag rule in the senate. The conversation picked up hopefully when the Will-Langlen match was discussed and slumped again over the Great Lakes waterway project.

Then it died altogether. The flames crackled even louder.

"Little Rudolph was so ill today," said Mrs. Humbold, breaking the silence suddenly. "Just think, Bertha, only 7 months old, and he snatched a piece of cake from me when he saw me eating it. You see, he thought it was toast. I always give him toast, dear; the doctor told me to, on account of his teething, you know. Do you a prove of toast or bones?"

"By all means toast, Mary," said Mrs. Graham with the feeling of deep conviction. "They choke on bones. I had a terrible time with Annie. I always fed Annie carrots. What are you paying for carrots this week?"

"Eight cents; isn't it scandalous, the price of vegetables!" replied Mrs. Humbold, "and as for shoes! Have you been to any of the shoe sales this month? I got the loveliest pair of satin pumps, only $7.75, reduced from $15!"

"I never have any luck at sales," replied Mrs. Graham. "I have such ordinary sized feet. Of course with clothes it's different. I'm able to buy most of my clothes ready made. Shall I show you my new hand-blocked silk? I know you'll love it."

Oh ladies vanished. Somehow Mr. Graham found himself near the humidor. So did Mr. Humbold.

"Draw up that chair, George," said Mr. Graham. "I want your advice about a contract * * *"

"We had such a lovely evening," cooed Mrs. Humbold two hours later. "Conversation with understanding friends is so much more stimulating than bridge."—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

The Care of Children's Eyes.

By Aaron S. Green, M. D., San Francisco Member Gorgas Memorial Institute.

The importance of sight to the welfare and happiness of the individual is so self-evident that it needs no elaboration. To conserve the sight a beginning must be made not only in early infancy but very frequently before the child is born. Certain eye diseases as well as blindness may be transmitted by one or both parents afflicted with a blood disease such as syphilis, that has not been properly treated.

Less than 50 years ago the greatest single cause of blindness in this country was the result of an infection of the eyes acquired from the mother during the birth of the child. This disease was responsible for over one-third of the total blindness.

But through preventive medicine the disease has become very rare and now only occurs when there is a lack of proper medical attention at the time of the birth of the child. It would be considered criminal negligence on the part of the attending physician were he not to use the proper medicine in the eyes of the child at this time.

It is between the ages of two and four that most cases of squint or cross eyes appear. Very rarely are the eyes crossed at birth. By early attention it is frequently possible to straighten the eyes with glasses, without operation. But this means that it must be done before the age of six. A competent oculist will be able to determine what method of treatment to follow to remove a cosmetic deformity and give a more serviceable pair of eyes.

Eye strain in children is the cause of a train of symptoms that may manifest themselves in numerous ways. Of headache it is safe to say that by far the largest proportion of cases is caused by eye strain. Other common symptoms are pain in the eyes, nervousness, styes, redness of the eyeball, inattention and backwardness in school.

An altogether too frequent cause of eye injury and blindness comes from carelessness with sharp objects, such as toys, pencils, pins, knives, scissors, etc. A young child should never be permitted to play or run around with such things.

Many cases of poor vision or blindness in later life can be traced back to negligence during childhood.

Make the Most of Books

By James Hosmer Penniman, Litt. D.

Books Intensify Thought

Books stereotype and petrify language so that while the spoken word is valuable and changeable we find in books the very words in which we took delight years ago. We may cause to pass through our minds the same thoughts in absolutely the same language that interested Dr. Johnson or Milton; we may even follow out the mental processes of Plato or Aristotle and see what they enjoyed and note what they thought.

Books intensify thought; a book is better than conversation in that it may be brooded over, revised, extended, polished and continued from time to time, but it cannot answer questions except those anticipated by its author. A writer will put into a book thoughts that he would not or could not express in conversation, and through his books we may know intimately a man who was known only superficially by his most familiar contemporaries.

What Other Cities Are Doing.

Los Angeles is to have a new city hall 24 stories high.

Portland, Ore., proposes to change its street numbering system to the 100 numbers to the block plan.

Philadelphia and Paris have concluded arrangements for the exchange of ideas and working data between the public works departments of the two cities.

Cleveland is the first American city to own and operate a complete system for the collection and disposal of garbage. Something like 150,000 tons a year are collected and treated in the municipal reduction plant.

Forty health agencies in San Francisco, including the city board of health and local medical societies have joined in organizing a permanent health council that will be charged with safeguarding and promoting the public health.

With the completion of its new city planning projects, Kenosha, Wis., will have a wide boulevard around the outer edge of the city; while in the centre will be a community centre consisting of a spacious plaza bordered by a group of handsome public buildings.

Stories That Recall Others

Tit For Tat.

A father was trying to make some confidential remarks to a visiting friend. His little son was playing near.

"If we could be alone," said the father to his visitor, "I would tell you something." The little boy did not move.

"No one must hear," continued the father. The boy sat still.

"Jimmy," said the father, "can't you take the hint that we want you to go away?"

"Yes, daddy," replied the boy, "but can't you take the hint that I want to stay?"

Nothing to Worry About

"Oh, mamma," excitedly exclaimed a conscience-stricken little girl just after she entered the gates at the fair ground, "that man asked me my age and I told him I was six and I am seven, mamma."

"Oh, don't worry about that," said the child's mother, "you will do a whole lot worst things than that before you die," and the mother and child went on her way rejoicing.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Bishop Thomas F. Gailor of Tennessee, who celebrates his 70th birthday anniversary today, is one of the most widely known prelates of the Episcopal denomination and several years ago served as presiding head of the church. He is a native of Jackson, Miss., and began his career as professor of ecclesiastical history in the University of the South. In 1890 he became vice chancellor of the university, a position he continued to fill until his election as coadjutor bishop of Tennessee in 1893. In 1898 he became bishop. Bishop Gailor is the author of a long list of books on ecclesiastical subjects. In 1920, when the general convention of the church decided to create a new executive council of 24 members Bishop Gailor was chosen to head the body and he continued as its presiding officer for three years.

REVISED

Let me live in a house at the end of the road,
Where never a soul goes by!
I'm sick of this public-front abode
Where the world spins past on high
I'm sick of the honk of the raucous horn
And the scream of the sudden brake
And the all-night crowd with its lordly scorn
Of whether I sleep or wake.

O, I am a friend to my eager friend
And no foe to my fellow man;
In my humble hut at the dirt road's end
I'll be sociable as I can.
But why should I live by the side of the street
Where the dust and the gas fumes fly,
Or mow my lawn for the flivvers fleet
As the whole dumb world goes by?

If you love me, you'll turn down my way
Though it leads to no other spot;
A road's end's sweet, when the twilight's gray,
And the heartfire boils the pot,
Where the crowds don't go be my gods bestowed
To avoid the tourist-clan—
Let me live in a house at the end of the road
Where I don't have to chum with Man!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Conditions That Need to be Righted

Mr. Editor: Now that the Thames Valley barbecue has been postponed and the county fair is over and we are settling down to our fall and winter work in the interests of better civic conditions why not look to our municipal affairs and make some effort to right them?

When the city men call to collect my garbage and ashes they also collect the garbage and ashes of my neighbor at the same time and when his house gets on fire the city fire department comes just as fast to put out the fire as it would if my house was burning up and my neighbor can look over his back fence and laugh at me because he has all the city conveniences I have and only pays one tax, while I am paying two. Will some one tell us just why this should be, just because the city line runs between him and me?

Why would it not be a good thing for the chamber of commerce to take up by making a new line taking in all districts served with city water, gas and electric lights and our municipal fire department and let them assume the just responsibilities for the municipal conveniences they have the benefits of. It does not seem to be just or right for me to be liable to the extent of my property and my neighbor go free.

From what I have been told the charter of the Norwich water works says the people on the line of the main water pipe from the city reservoir to the city line may have the benefit of the city water by paying a 2 mill tax and the regular water department rates. If this is true how do they do it?

If the chamber of commerce would take this matter up and give us reasonable people their findings in a few months' time it would be a good move towards justice and fair play.

FAIR PLAY

Some Observations

Mr. Editor: We read in the papers that an anonymous letter recently DAR has been largely circulated through the country, condemning the Jefferson Memorial association for inviting Governor Smith to deliver an address on Americanism at Monticello, this last Independence day. On behalf of freedom of speech, we see no reason for any one finding fault with the governor speaking on that occasion nor on the other hand, would we object to a speech. The governor is a jolly, good fellow, as we always sing of an honored friend at a banquet, but nominations for office are another story. Like some others, who would not vote for him, we would not have any objection whatever, to his nomination for president, if his friends wish him to run.

That Al nor Mussolini continues to keep himself in the fierce light that beats upon a throne, only it happens in his case, to be the chair occupied by him as premier, and some half dozen other offices, which he apparently thinks he can fill better than anyone else he can find. We have been in the old habit of thinking that Italy ranks among the nations, rather on a par with Spain, but this gentleman has caused us to sit up and take notice. Russia could hardly beat him in suppressing newspapers and speeches, which criticize him. His idea of a tumbler of oil being poured down the throat of a critic, and the critic turned over to his friends to laugh at, as soon as he felt able, is not only original, but is a mark of genius. As the signor says himself, with a smile, "Very good, eh?" We think that while we have to hand it to him, as the saying is, that he is riding for a fall. We thank him for allowing his photographs to come to us, without that fierce expression, perhaps copied from his late imperial majesty of Germany,

Oh! What A Relief

Stomach Sufferers Cannot Help But Recommend Pepsinic Seltzer.

People who have used Pepsinic Seltzer claim that it is the most wonderful remedy for relief of Gas, Acid conditions, Indigestion and Nausea that they have ever used and simply cannot help but recommend it to their friends. If you have pains around your heart, in your side or in your back, you may think you have heart trouble, Appendicitis or Kidney trouble but it's often gas that causes distress, or if you have Nervous indigestion from strain of responsibility, nervous or temperamental nature. Pepsinic Seltzer is a most remarkable remedy and can be obtained in Drug Stores. Absolutely safe for children.

conscience-stricken little girl just after she entered the gates at the fair ground, "that man asked me my age and I told him I was six and I am seven, mamma."

"Oh, don't worry about that," said the child's mother, "you will do a whole lot worst things than that before you die," and the mother and child went on her way rejoicing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Conditions That Need to be Righted

Mr. Editor: Now that the Thames Valley barbecue has been postponed and the county fair is over and we are settling down to our fall and winter work in the interests of better civic conditions why not look to our municipal affairs and make some effort to right them?

When the city men call to collect my garbage and ashes they also collect the garbage and ashes of my neighbor at the same time and when his house gets on fire the city fire department comes just as fast to put out the fire as it would if my house was burning up and my neighbor can look over his back fence and laugh at me because he has all the city conveniences I have and only pays one tax, while I am paying two. Will some one tell us just why this should be, just because the city line runs between him and me?

Why would it not be a good thing for the chamber of commerce to take up by making a new line taking in all districts served with city water, gas and electric lights and our municipal fire department and let them assume the just responsibilities for the municipal conveniences they have the benefits of. It does not seem to be just or right for me to be liable to the extent of my property and my neighbor go free.

From what I have been told the charter of the Norwich water works says the people on the line of the main water pipe from the city reservoir to the city line may have the benefit of the city water by paying a 2 mill tax and the regular water department rates. If this is true how do they do it?

If the chamber of commerce would take this matter up and give us reasonable people their findings in a few months' time it would be a good move towards justice and fair play.

FAIR PLAY

Some Observations

Mr. Editor: We read in the papers that an anonymous letter recently DAR has been largely circulated through the country, condemning the Jefferson Memorial association for inviting Governor Smith to deliver an address on Americanism at Monticello, this last Independence day. On behalf of freedom of speech, we see no reason for any one finding fault with the governor speaking on that occasion nor on the other hand, would we object to a speech. The governor is a jolly, good fellow, as we always sing of an honored friend at a banquet, but nominations for office are another story. Like some others, who would not vote for him, we would not have any objection whatever, to his nomination for president, if his friends wish him to run.

IN DAY'S NEWS

MALMEDY AND EUPEN

Belgium considers selling to Germany, according to cable reports, the two border cantons of Malmedy and Eupen.

"If cabled facts in the transaction are correct, this deal in international real estate equals any flights of fancy prices in America," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"Belgium has been the owner of Eupen and Malmedy for six years. They are both hill towns. The first has 14,000, and the second 4,000 inhabitants, and the whole 383 square miles of territory contains not more. tryside offers no such rich agriculture than 60,000 people. The wooded countal perspective as the fertile Belgian plain further west. The hills contain no minerals of importance. Yet the tentative price is reported to be 1,000,000,000 gold marks. At current rates of exchange this is equal to approximately $40,000,000, which is a six-year profit any American realtor can appreciate.

"No one of the present generation can forget Liege, so it is easy to locate Eupen and Malmedy by fixing the former 25 miles east, and the latter 25 miles southeast, of that martyred Belgian town. Eupen can almost claim to b suburb of Aix-la-Chapelle, or Aachen, as the Germans call it. From Eupen the Germans stepped across the border on August 6, 1914. Malmedy is farther south along the German-Belgium frontier, which is only 40 miles long. Directly across the line from Malmedy is Spa. Not a spa, but the Spa, whose health springs attracted crowned heads of Europe during the first part of the 19th century.

"At Versailles, in 1918, Belgium wanted 14 cantons in the socalled Eifel district of Germany adjoining the Belgian border. She claimed them as lost Walloon territory taken by Prussia by the Treaty of Vienna in 1815. Belgium is half Walloon and half Flemish. The Walloon half in the forested uplands nearest France. Walloon speech resembles French and the religion is Catholic. Flemings, on the other hand, live in the fertile plan, are Protestants, and speak a Dutch language. At one time, Walloon families may have outnumbered all others in 'beyond the border' cantons but the Germans changed that. Indeed, Eupen, a wool weaving center, is said to be German now but Malmedy, isolated in the hills, is still Walloon.

"Neighbor to Malmedy and Eupen is Moresnet which is a freak of border barter. In neutral Moresnet live 500 men, women and children without a country.

"The town sits over a zinc mine which has been worked for hundreds of years. When it came to laying a border line neither Belgium nor Germany would consent to the other owning Moresnet and its mine. They compromised to create neutral Moresnet. It is not a state, yet it belongs to no one. Moresnet is measured in acres instead of square miles, 1,400 acres according to one authority, and 800 according to another. One year it has a German burgomaster, the next a Belgian burgomaster. Customs revenue is collected by German agents and divided between the two countries.

"Moresnet came near to being overcrowded shortly before the World war because its inhabitants, being citizens of no country, did not have to serve in the army. Belgians and Germans wishing to escape military service flocked to Moresnet until the two godparent countries put a stop to that. A glimmer into Moresnet's economic life is afforded by its taxation policy. Funds to run this taxation poll-country are obtained through subsidy from the mining company and a license on draught dogs."

Historic Hotel Site

NILES, Michigan, Sept. 16 (AP)—Days when the imperial banners of rival nations flew in succession above the lonely stockade of Fort St. Joseph have been commemorated in the name of the Four Flags hotel, just opened here.

The fort, which stood on the present site of Niles, dated back to the period of La Salle, who sailed up the St. Lawrence in 1679. More than a century, later the Fleur de Lis gave way to the Union Jack of Great Britain, and this in turn to the jagged red crosses of Spain. Finally the Stars and Stripes of the new American republic were hoisted above the crude stockade.

A locomotive 152 feet long, now in use in this country, had to be built in three sections, so that it could make turns easily.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

GRANDMOTHER IN NORWICH GIVEN CUSTODY OF BOY

(Special to the Bulletin)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16—Custody of 11-year-old Charles Henry Osgood, heir to a fortune was given to his grandmother, Mrs. Maude Hoyt of Norwich, Conn., by Judge Chapman in the superior court here this week. The divorced parents of the boy, Dr. Charles Osgood of Wareham, and Loretta M. Osgood of Wareham, sought full custody in separate petitions filed in the court a year ago. Mrs. Osgood withdrew her petition for alimony, the original amount decreed with divorce eight years ago being $100 monthly. Dr. Osgood opposed increase and asked for a decrease in the amount.

Judge Chapman orders that alimony remain at the same figure and that $100 a month be paid by Dr. Osgood to the grandmother for support of the child. The parents will be permitted to visit and entertain the boy at stated intervals.

PASTOR INSTALLED AT SALEM LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. Anders J. Anderson, who accepted the call to Salem Lutheran Evangelical church on Hickory street last June and has been serving this church and the one at Wilimantic since then, was installed as pastor at services held at the church Thursday evening before a congregation that filled the edifice.

Rev. Dr. S. J. Haglund of Boston, president of the Providence district conference, preached the installation sermon and performed the ceremony of installation and Rev. Carl R. Sandberg of Auburn, R. I., gave the communion address. The choir of the church rendered two selections.

Rev. Mr. Anderson, who was born in Sweden, came to this country when quite a small boy and studied for the ministry in Philadelphia where he was ordained last June, this being his first pastorate.

During Wednesday and Thursday meetings of the Providence district of the Augustana Lutheran synod have been held at the church. On Wednesday evening a religious service was held and on Thursday morning a business meeting. Pastors and delegates have been in attendance from the churches in Willimantic, Centerville, R. I. Pontiac, Natick, East Greenwich, Auburn, Providence, Newport, Millville, New Bedford, Woonsocket, Attleboro, and Pawtucket.

$10,600 SETTLEMENT FOR R. R. DEATH AT KINGSTON

The New Haven railroads compromise offer of $10,600 to settle a claim brought by the estate of Andrew Bennett of New Haven, fireman, who died on July 1, as the result of a train wreck near Kingston, R. I., has been authorized accepted by Annie Coyle of Litchfield, administratrix, by Judge John L. Gilson of probate court in New Haven.

The sum represents one of the largest settlements to come before the probate court in several months. It will be turned over to the administratrix for Joseph William Bennett, two years old, the only son of the deceased. He has been in St. Agnes home in Hartford since the death of his mother, Mollie Coyle Bennett, 11 months ago.

DRIVER PINNED UNDER BUS AT ASHLAND CAUSEWAY

Leo Farland of Wauregan, Conn., bus driver for the Providence-Norwich line, owned by Abe Wiener and Agnes Arrighi of Providence, was seriously injured Wednesday morning when his bus crashed through a fence at the west end of the Ashland causeway in Rhode Island, turned turtle and pinned him beneath. No one else was in the car.

William Williams, a passing motorist, took Farland to the home of the nearest physician, Dr. C. C. Arnold of North Scituate, three miles away. Dr. Arnold administered treatment for a nine-inch cut in the abdomen and drove the injured man home.

Farland claimed the accident was caused by the bursting of a tire.

The bus was almost totally wrecked

NORWICH RETAIL MERCHANTS MAKE PLANS FOR FALL OPENING DAYS

The Norwich Retail Merchants association held its regular monthly meeting at the Wauregan hotel Thursday night which was attended by 40 members. The principal matter acted upon was the making of plans for the fall openings which will be held September 23, 24, 25. The new fall styles will be shown to the public during these days. Every merchant has been requested to give his full cooperation in giving the public the latest styles, good quality, priced at fair prices. The local merchants, through their New York and Boston connections, are in a position to offer the public the best of merchandise.

H. Helson Street, secretary of the retail merchants association of Providence, made a most interesting address on the necessity of cooperation and the movement that is current in all the larger cities of giving good merchandise values at justifiable prices. He also touched on the value of a credit rating bureau to the business and professional men of the community. The Norwich Credit Rating bureau has approximately 15,000 local accounts on file in its office. Miss Isabel Drohan is the manager of the bureau.

The merchants voted their cooperation to the proposed plans for R. O Fletcher post of the American Legion in the celebration of Armistice day which will be held on November 11th; also to assist the chamber of commerce in the pilgrimage to the new Fort Shantok State park on Columbus day, October 12th.

President Abner Schwartz presided at the meeting and Secretary John M. Lee officiated in that duty.

EXEMPTIONS UNDER NEW TAX LAW ARE EXPLAINED

The Norwich board of assessors, A. R. Manning, John B. Oat and Fred G. Brothers, have received from the office of Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett the blank forms to be filled out by corporations claiming exemptions from taxes in this city. The listings are prepared in accordance with the new state statute, passed by the 1925 general assembly and will be sent out by the assessors within the next few days.

Must File Lists Annually

The new law, which was passed at the last session of the general assembly and which is known as Chapter 243, Public Acts of 1926, makes a decided change in regard to tax exemptions. Chief among these, according to the pamphlet, is the requirement that scientific, educational, literary, benevolent, agricultural and cemetery organizations are hereafter required to file a list and statement annually with each local board of assessors of towns in which any of its property is situated. Such lists need not be filed for other tax-exempt property by whomsoever owned, the pamphlet says, also pointing out that the law makes few changes in regard to this second group. It is especially noted that Yale university, Wesleyan university, Trinity college and Sheffield scientific school are not included in the group which is affected by the changes.

Forfeiture for Failure

Failure to comply with the provisions of the new law and file the report annually with the assessors before the stipulated date will result in forfeiture of exemption privileges for the year. In 15 of the towns, cities and boroughs of the state the last day that lists can be filed is November 1. In New Britain the lists must be filed on or before October 15 and in Norwalk, November 4. Because of the fact that the assessment days in nine of the towns came on or before October 1 the law will not go into effect for them this year and consequently no lists need be filed until 1927. Hartford is included under the classification and others are Ansonia, Bridgeport, Fairfield, Greenwich, New Haven, Stratford, Wallingford and Waterbury.

Purposes of New Law

The pamphlet points out that the obvious purpose of the law is to stop the continuing growth in the number of tax exemptions by confining exemptions strictly to property certainly used for the purposes named. When the reports have been filed, showing property owned, the assessors will determine in each case and in respect to each parcel of property mentioned whether the same is or is not exempt.

Basic conditions which organizations must satisfy in order to gain exemption are that, except for certain charitable organizations they must be incorporated under the laws of the state of Connecticut, assets must be held in such a way that they will be permanently kept for and devoted to the purpose for which the organization is organized and stockholders must not receive profit.

Questions of Repeal

Some question is raised, according to the pamphlet, by section 3 of the new law which repeals all former acts exempting property, unless "such property is now or may hereafter be used as in this act provided, and all or parts of acts, public or private, inconsistent with this act." Laterally this means, it is explained, that any organization in the group of organizations named, will not be able to make use of a provision in its charter granting a tax exemption. It is pointed out that besides chapter 169, public acts of 1921, the direct antecedent of the new law, there are about 30 other sections dealing with tax exemptions. "It is unlikely that it was the intent of the general assembly to repeal all the public acts insofar as any institution, corporation or society is concerned," the pamphlet says. Further on the opinion is given that those of these public statutes dealing with tax exemptions are repealed that do not touch the subjects taken up in chapter 243."

An interesting feature of the new law is that while restricting the number of organizations which will hereafter be entitled to the benefits of exemption, it has widened the scope of the exemption to the institutions which are exempt. It is pointed out that formerly only buildings and land were exempt while now the entire property of the tax exempt organization is freed from taxes.

THREE NORWICH MEN TAKEN TO WETHERSFIELD

Three Norwich men who were given state prison sentences in the recent session of the superior court in this city were taken to Wethersfield Thursday by Sheriff Sidney A. Brown from the New London jail.

They were Jerry Tempesta, not less than three nor more than five years on a charge of statutory rape, Stanley N. Faulkner, one to six years for theft and Carmine Viehlarme, one to two years for statutory rape.

PACHAUG GRANGE FAIR EXHIBITS DRAW CROWD

(Special to the Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 16—Pachaug Grange Fair association, Inc., opened its sixth annual fair on Wednesday. There are two new houses, one for cattle and the other for poultry, giving more room for exhibits than before. The exhibits do not bear the names of the exhibitors until after they are judged. In most cases, this year. The flower house is most attractive for every conceivable variety of blossoms is to be seen arranged most attractively. In this house Norwich grange has a wonderful exhibit of vegetables, fruits, flowers and cookery.

The vegetable house has its usual fine exhibit carefully arranged. Edward Rousseau has an exhibit of various electric apparatus in action, as well as a radio which keeps the crowd interested. Max Moskowitz, has an exhibit of his grain business. Various makes of automobiles were on exhibition.

There are not as many antiques exhibited in the domestic manufacture building this year, but noticeable among these were ancient newspaper copies of The Norwich Weekly News of 1814 and 1844, Norwich Aurora 1842 and 44, Norwich Courier 1843, Second Town 1841. The New Monthly Messenger 1842 and an almanac dated 1836, just one hundred years old. The Northern New London county Council of Boy Scouts have a fine exhibit of their work showing mounted wild flowers, all kinds of woods, fine making sets, cotton and leather twisted cords and other handiwork. There is a collection of handwoven articles from The Flanders Shop in New York A most interesting exhibit is a collection of arrow heads picked up on a Preston farm, mounted and in a frame made by John Peckham of Voluntown. Nearly 140 jars of canned vegetables, fruits and jellies are in this house, with all kinds of baked goods. The junior exhibit of flowers, canned goods and cooked food is here and a beautiful display of needlework occupies one side of the building. The Jewett City Hardware Store displays its wares and W. P. Holmes was here with his yearly exhibit of farm machinery.

Fowls of every description are in the poultry house. Here can be seen the comprehensive exhibit of the Reliable Grain Co., with grains and flour of all varieties and a stereopticon to show the whole story, under the direction of Seomon Wechsler and his son Jacob. It is a novel and instructive exhibit.

The cattle sheds are filled with thoroughbred animals of all breeds. A new candy booth has been built and Whalom Lodge house and the clam fritter booth do a rushing business. The lighting of the grounds and buildings is done by a generator purchased recently and is very powerful, five times as many lights having been installed. The telephone connection went on a strike and the cause could not be located, until it was found by the troublemen located in a house in Glasgo, where a tomato can sat under the receiver, all unconscious of the mischief it was doing.

A number of concessions, and a merry-go-round were being set up Wednesday evening. There were no sports on Thursday. There was free dancing in the evening with the Ideal Radio orchestra furnishing music.

In the ticket office are George Palmer, Lucy Miner, Susan Terry, Walter Hyde and Frank Morgan. Jimalri Karjala and William Miner are at the gate. Alvin Douglass is caretaker of the grounds day and night. Superintendent of grounds, Harry L. Hall and his assistant, F. H. Gilbert were busy men all day Wednesday. They have the able support of the officers, who have worked valiantly for a week getting things into shape. These officers are: President, Willis C. Terry; vice presidents, Walter C. Tanner, Harold Geer, Fred L. Kanahan; secretary, Margaret M. Brewster; treasurer, George D. Palmer; directors, Fred H. Gilbert, Mrs. Walter Whiting, Mrs. Marion Briggs, Mrs. Blanch Montgomery, Elmer Miller, Ransom Young, Charles Armstrong, F. C. Whiting, Alvin Douglas, Sterry Kinne; auditors, Merton Bartlett, Willis Morgan; superintendents of exhibition buildings, F. L. Kanahan, Mrs. Whiting, Byron Kinne, F. C. Whiting, Susie L. Morgan.

WELCOME HOME PLANNED FOR WESTERLY PRIEST

Rev. J. P. Cassagne M. S. of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, in Westerly and pastor of St. Mary's Mission church, Carolina, and St. Joseph's at Hope Valley, is due to arrive in New York from France Saturday. He sailed from Brest on the 11th. John W. Cassidy and Charles Edmonds are to motor to New York to meet him on his arrival.

Father Cassagne has been passing a month or more visiting his aged mother and other relatives and the scenes and friends of his early life. It was his first visit in 18 years and the second since his coming to America 30 years ago.

Father Cassagne expects to officiate at the morning services in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches next Sunday. A reception will be given him at the Horse Shoe Inn Monday evening which is public for all his friends.

TO BUILD UNDERPASS AT JOHNSON'S CROSSING

HARTFORD, Sept. 16—(AP)—The public utilities commission at Hartford Thursday granted the petition of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to eliminate a grade crossing in Lisbon by constructing an underpass beneath the trucks. The crossing will be closed and the main line highway between Versailles and Jewett City connected by the new road. The coast of the work will be approximately $1,000, to be paid by the railroad.

This is the crossing where Carl Hoffman and his daughter were killed by a train which struck his automobile over a year ago. It is known as Johnson's crossing.

GREAT PYTHIAN EVENT PLANNED FOR MYSTIC

Wauregan lodge, No. 6, Knights of Pythias held their first fall meeting Monday evening, at Castle hall, with the newly elected Chancellor Commander Samuel Ableman presiding. The meeting was made very interesting by several Pythian messages of importance delivered by six visiting guests from neighboring lodges, consisting of Chancellor Commander Nicholas Duerr, William Noyes, C. Clendenen, Moses Craig, all of Mystic and W. M. Bosworth, James Loseno of New London. Mr. Bosworth told the Norwich knights about a movement to purchase a 2,200 acre farm near Lyme to be used as a Pythian home. He urged Norwich lodge to support the movement by subscribing to shares in the enterprise. Mr. Duerr spoke about the Pythian Booster's club recently formed in the domain of Connecticut, which consists of picked members appointed by individual lodges whose scope is to boost the objects and aims of Pythianism. He invited Wauregan lodge No. 6 to appoint a committee of four to represent Norwich Pythians in the Booster's club. The membership of the newly formed club numbers over 400.

The most interesting message of the evening was delivered by Mr. Clendenen, who outlined the first monster activity to be staged by the Booster's club, at Mystic, on Saturday, September 25, at which it is expected that about 10,000 Pythian Knights and Sisters will participate. The functions will begin with a grand parade, which will form about 2:30 p. m. and will leave Baptist church, Mystic at 3 p. m. All the officers taking part in the parade will wear their robes of office and regalia and the Knights of Kharasis will wear their uniforms. The Pythian Sisters will parade in uniforms and on several beautiful floats designed for the occasion. The parade will march to the athletic field where Pythian Knights of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island will compete in tug of war; dash 100, 300, 500, and 700 yards; relay races; shot put; three-legged races; running high jump; running broad jump; standing broad jump. For ladies, ball throwing contest; standing tug-of-war; style contest; relays; dashes; archery contest and beauty contest for a beautiful silver loving cup and title Pythian Queen of New England. The tournaments will last until 7 p. m. In the evening a dance will be held at Granze hall Mystic, in which prize dances, Charleston contests and exhibition dances will be featured.

A committee of four consisting of Max Hanover, chairman; Dr. S. M. Goldberg, Louis M. Crandall and George Schiller was appointed to arrange for a hundred per cent participation by the Norwich knights and the committee promises that Norwich will surely make a good showing at Mystic. The committee was also appointed to represent Wauregan lodge, No. 6 in the Booster's club.

PEDESTRIANS ARE SLOW TO USE SAFETY LANES

An accident at the Broadway and Main street corner Wednesday afternoon where two women were struck by an automobile as they were crossing from Shannon's corner to the Norwich Savings society corner in the diagonal line of travel that pedestrians have been accustomed to for many years before and since automobiles arrived, led a traffic policeman Thursday to call attention to the white lines that the police commissioners have had painted at this corner to serve as safety lanes for those who cross the street here.

These safety lanes run from the Shannon corner across Shetucket street to the Woolworth corner and from there cross Main street to the Norwich Savings society corner. It is stated that it was the intention to make crossings made between these lines instead of by the old diagonal crossing practice, where there are now no white lines painted, leaving this clear space where automobile drivers do not expect to see pedestrians, when the green light gives the driver the signal to come ahead. The driver of the machine which hit the two women Wednesday was proceeding towards the West Side and had come past the flashing beacon when the green light was showing, it is stated, but was blinded by the rays of the sun which at that time of the day was shining squarely from the west through Main street against his windshield.

Many Norwich pedestrians have not yet succeeded in solving the meaning of the red and green lights on the flashing beacon. These mean just the opposite for the automobile driver and the pedestrian. When the driver can see the red light, he is to stop. When the pedestrian sees the red light, he can cross against it. When the driver sees the green light, it is the signal for him to come on, but if the pedestrian sees the green light it is the signal for him to wait.

The traffic officers at Shannon corner are having considerable difficulty in getting pedestrians to give up the diagonal crossing and use the traffic lanes instead.

COMFORT CIRCLE VISITS NEW SHELTERING ARMS

A delegation of members from Comfort circle of the King's Daughters, Mrs. Albert T. Utley, leader, paid their annual visit to the Sheltering Arms Thursday afternoon. It was the first visit to the new building, where the members of the household, 21 women and one man, assembled in the community room on the upper floor. There were readings by Mrs. E. PHILLIES SMOTHERED BY CARDINALS AS EIGHT THOUSAND FANS JEERED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took two games from the Phillies today and went into a tie with Cincinnati in the hot National league pennant race.

The Cards smothered the Phils in the first game, 23 to 3, and took the second game in easy fashion by the score of 10 to 2. St. Louis' 23 runs is the season's record in the senior league. The previous record for the season was made by Cincinnati, 21 runs, also against the Philadelphia team, on August 11.

The first game was poorly played and the second was little better. The only pleasure the fans appeared to get out of the doubleheader was a dispute between members of the Philadelphia team and Umpire Klem in the sixth inning of the second game. Catcher Wilson was put out of the game for making a protest to Klem, and in the argument that followed Manager Fletcher was also sent from the bench.

Then a yellow sign bearing the words "Catfish Klem" was hung from a window of the clubhouse and Umpire Klem held up the game until it was removed. Who hung the sign there could not be learned by the umpire.

There was an attendance of about 8,000 and many in the crowd jeered as the Philly pitchers were sent from the mound one after another in the first game. Six hurlers were used in the first game. It became a rout in the third inning when the pennant chasing Cardinals scored 12 runs. Knight, Keen, Baecht and Pierce were batted from the box. Rambo retired the side finally and stuck it out until the sixth inning when Taber went in and finished the game. He yielded two runs in the ninth inning.

Rhem pitched for the Cardinals and was relieved in the fifth only because his team was well in front and because Manager Hornsby deemed it wise to save his star twirler. Herman Bell who replaced him, gave up only one hit, a single by Huber, who pinched in the ninth. The Cards made 22 hits and the Phillies used 22 men.

The second game was listless. Clarence Mitchell held the victors fairly well for five innings, but was knocked out in the sixth when Pierce finished the game. Reinhart held the Phils safe all the way while the St. Louisans were piling up their ten runs.

REDS RUN WINNING STREAK TO EIGHT GAMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds kept in the van in the race for the pennant today by stretching their winning streak to eight in a row in a shutout of the New York Giants, 3 to 0. The game was a brilliant pitching duel in which Pete Donohue, Red hurler, conceded only four hits while his mates nicked Virgil Barnes for six scattered ones.

Cincinnati's leadership in the league was shared with the St. Louis Cardinals who took two in a doubleheader from Philadelphia. It was the Reds' first win against the Giants at the Polo grounds this year.

Hendricks' men performed in impeccable style, committing no errors, but the Giant mistakes, one in the first and another in the fourth inning, accounted for scores.

Cincinnati started it in the first when Christensen rolled a slow one down the third base line. Lindstrom threw high to Kelly and Christensen went to second. He scored on a single by Walker.

Frisch of the Giants held up the game in the fourth when he was knocked out in a collision with Terry Dresen's long one. He recovered and returned to his post after Dresen had taken two bases. Critz and Hargrave were given free passage by Barnes, filling the bases. Ford then poked a single into left, driving in Dressen and Critz, for the final tallies of the game.

ROBINS BEAT PIRATES TO END LOSING STREAK

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins defeated Pittsburgh 2 to 1 today, after their loss of five straight games to Cincinnati. The game was a duel all the way, decided by two timely clouts of Marriott, Brooklyn third-sacker.

The Pirates made their one and only bid for honors in the first inning when Cuyler stole second after forcing Waner, reached third on a wild throw by O'Neilan and crossed on Wright's single.

Brooklyn tied it in the fourth on Marriott's triple driving in Herman. The winning tally was scored in the eighth when Marriott again hit, driving Felix.

Jess Barnes kept Pittsburgh's six hits scattered. Meadows went the full distance for the Pirates. The score:

YANKS LEAD DOWN TO FOUR AND ONE HALF GAMES

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16—(AP)—Cleveland cut New York's lead to 4 1-2 games today by downing the Yankees in a double bill 2 to 1 and 7 to 0. In the first game Levsen outpitched Reuther and won his own game with a single in the ninth inning.

Buckeye held New York to two hits in the second game, and although he passed ten batters and hit another he was effective with men on bases. New York having 12 men left. Ruth was passed twice in the first game and four times in the second. Although Levsen and Ruether each passed five men in the first game, each was sufficiently effective to neutralize his lack of control Levsen in fact allowed but two hits and the only score off him was the result of a wild throw by Spurgeon to the Cleveland dugout in an effort to complete a double play. That was in the sixth inning of the first game when Gehrig doubled and Ruth walked with one out and Gehrig scored on the error when Meusel forced Ruth.

Cleveland scored its first run on a pass to Summa and a double by Lutzke in the second inning. With the score tied in the last half of the ninth, Autry, catching for Cleveland because L. Sewell, the regular receiver, got a damaged hand, led off with a single. Lutzke sacrificed and Myatt, running for Autry scored when Levsen proceeded to win his own game with a single to center.

In the second game Pennock allowed but one Indian to reach first in the first six innings but in the seventh round, the Indians bunched hits off him and drove him from the box. Spurgeon led off with a single. Speaker followed with a double. A wild pitch scored Spurgeon and sent Speaker to third, when he scored on Burns' single to center. Burns took second on a passed ball and scored on J. Sewell's single to right. Summa sacrificed and Autry passed. Pennock threw wide to third in an effort to head off Sewell and the latter scored. In came Myles Thomas to replace Pennock. Lutzke greeted the relief hurler with a double and Autry scored. The score:

BRAVES ADD ANOTHER VICTORY TO THEIR STRING

BOSTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Boston stretched its winning streak to five straight games today by defeating Chicago 4 to 1. In a smoothly played game, Bobby Smith pitched well for the Braves and until the final inning was in little danger. A fast double play killed off a threatened rally by the visitors. The Cubs raised their double play total to 170. The league record is 172, made by Philadelphia two years ago. The score:

ATHLETICS GET EVEN BREAK WITH ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—Philadelphia and St. Louis divided a doubleheader here today, the Browns taking the first 1 to 0 and the Athletics the second 5 to 1.

The Browns got only four hits in the first contest, but Sisler's triple in the sixth followed by Schang's single gave them one run which was enough to win.

The Athletics pounded Ballou for 12 hits in the first eight innings of the second game. Poole hit a homer with one on in the sixth, Philadelphia made a triple play in the first inning, Gray to Wamby to Poole. The score:

VELVETMEN TO PLAY VALLEY FALLS ON SUNDAY

The attraction at the J. B. Martin grounds on Sunday will be the fast Valley Falls nine of Rhode Island. This will be their second appearance at the J. B. Martin grounds this season the velvetmen losing by the score of 5 to 3. This club has defeated some of the teams in Rhode Island and Massachusetts including the New England Oil of Fall River, New Bedford Eagles, Fall River Collegians, Oysterville Cape team, and in fact have only lost three games this season. The Velvetmen have been put through a stiff workout and confidence exists among the boys that the local club will be on the large end of the score Sunday.

TILDEN ELIMINATED BY COCHET IN EXCITING BATTLE AT FOREST HILLS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—William Tatem Tilden II., king of American tennis for six straight years, was toppled from his throne today by a stripling from France in as sensational a struggle as any national championship tournament has ever witnessed.

Henri Cochet, 24-year old French star, who was not considered formidable enough to play for his country in the Davis' cup singles, accomplished the downfall of the famous title-holder in five sets after a spectacular, pulse-stirring battle that was in doubt until its closing moments. The scores were 6-8, 6-1, 6-3, 1-6, 8-6.

A crowd of more than 10,000 spectators in the big West Side club's stadium had hardly recovered from the shock of Tilden's defeat when another flashing French racquet stepped to the fore to eliminate William M. Johnston, the veteran little Californian who has been the champion's foremost rival and his partner in Davis' cup triumphs, over seven straight sets.

Jean Borotra, the colorful "bounding basque" and holder of the Wimbledon championship, brought about the day's closing upset with a smashing rally that carried him to victory over the tiring Johnston in five sets, decided by scores of 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Altogether it was as dark and gloomy a day as American tennis has ever known for Rene LaCoste, third of the major French threats, forged his way to the semi-finals by overcoming the U. S. Davis cup captain, Richard Norris Williams, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-3, 8-6.

Vincent Richards, youngest of America's "big four", was the only one of the quartet to escape defeat in the French onslaught and now stands out as Uncle Sam's sole hope of keeping the national tennis title on home shores. The convincing manner in which Richards disposed of Jacques Brugnon, however, at 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, convinced observers that the blonde-haired New Yorker is at the top of his brilliant game for the fight against the French invasion.

Tomorrow Richards faces Borotra, Johnston's conqueror, in one semi-final while Lacoste and Cochet battle to determine the other finalist.

Only once before, in 1903, when it was captured by the British ones, Hugh Doherty, has America's premier tennis crown passed to foreign hands.

Tilden, on the top wave of a brilliant rally in the final set, seemed a certain winner when he led at 6-5 in games on his own service but desperately as he fought he was unable to check the suddenly brilliant surge that carried Cochet to triumph in the first match he has ever played with the American champion.

Throughout the tense fight for points in the last three games the Frenchman played inspired tennis, turning the champion's most furious drives into placements and smothering his rival's usually powerful service.

Tilden's downfall was the climax, not only of the most disastrous season as he experienced since reaching the heights, but was a final touch to the decline begun last Saturday, when he twisted a knee during the Davis cup match he lost to Rene LaCoste.

The necessity of favoring his knee affected Tilden's game throughout the early rounds of the tournament but it played little if any part in his defeat today. None of his old dash or acility was missing when it came to the pinch and to critics there, it was no doubt that Cochet's marvellous stroking, his clever mixture of shots and unfailing steadiness at critical moments decided the battle.

Today's was Tilden's eighth defeat of 1926, four each coming at the hands of American and French rivals. Richards, with three, and LaCoste with two victories, top the list, with one each to the credit of Cochet, Borotra and A. H. Chaplin, Jr.

Johnston's defeat marked the first time he has ever lost to a French opponent.

PERSONS OF WORCESTER WINS E. C. CHAMPIONSHIP

F. S. Harwood of Norwich fought Alex Persons of Worcester, three hard sets before going down to defeat in the Eastern Connecticut singles tennis championships at the Norwich Golf club, in the delayed finals of the Labor Day play.

Harwood started strong in the first match having Persons 5-3 and lacking but one point of game and set when the Worcester man speeded up his play and evened things up, winning in extra games, 9 to 7. The second set went to Persons 6-2 but in the third and final set Harwood again gave him stiff opposition before defeat 6 to 4.

By his victory over Harwood, Persons gained a leg on the Willowbrook trophy of the club, an honor gained in 1924 by Ralph Powers of New London and in 1925 by Melvin H. Partridge of Springfield, Mass. Persons prize for the championship was a beautiful Martelle design silver Thermos pitcher, engraved, while Harwood received a silver cup.

In the semi finals John Williams of Norwich lost to Alex Persons of Worcester 6-1, 6-0, 4-2, in sets which were contested harder than the figures show. P. S. Harwood of Norwich and Paul Kaufman of Washington, D. C. in the semi-finals gave one of the finest demonstrations of tennis in the tournament. Harwood finally winning out 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 and 7-5.

The net play and ability to smash played a large part in Persons victory, his style keeping his opponents in the back court throughout the play.

SPEEDBOY TRYOUTS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at Slaters park the Jewett City Speedboy's football team will hold their initial practice of the season. All candidates are requested to report at 2 p. m. for tryouts. The following men are expected out, Eichelberg, Raille, Joe Gill, Bill Bakanowski, Barry, Marshall, Robertson, Red Walsh, Davis, Skaradopski, Sawicki, Cobb, Kolbus, and Capt. Cub Parkhurst. Hoss Gallup, West, Allard, Sam Smith and Zook Tyler the upstate quintet will not report until a later date. Negotiations are underway to secure the Majestics of Westerly for the first game possibly to be played in Jewett City, Sept. 26th.

Any one from Norwich or vicinity desiring a tryout please report Saturday. As the above named men have been going through unofficial practice the past two weeks and are in excellent condition it is likely that a short scrimmage will be on the program. As the schedule for the season is being rapidly filled all teams in the vicinity desiring games should write immediately to C. J. Parkhurst, box 1373, Jewett City, Conn.

FINNEGAN WON THE DECISION FROM CHAPMAN

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dick Honeyboy Finnegan of Dorchester won the decision over Red Chapman of Chelsea in a 10 round bout at Braves field tonight. Both are aspirants for the featherweight title.

TAFTVILLE-RIVERVIEW SERIES THIS WEEK END

Taftville and Riverview will fight out their series this week end with a Saturday game at Taftville and the Sunday contest at the Hospital diamond. Both teams are out to win in the final games, as one more win for Taftville will clinch the series, while Riverview must take both games to emerge the victor.

Managers of both teams have signed new materials for the final games of the series, Taftville bringing Frankie Farrell, Hartford Eastern leaguer into the battle for both days, placing him in left field. Maier of Deep River, Middlesex league, will be seen at second and Joe Faber, York Pa., will probably arrive in Norwich in time to be seen at short for Taftville. The pitching honors will fall to Fisher or Jarvis on Saturday and to Jacobs of the Eastern league on Sunday. The remainder of the lineup comprises Yerrington, Dona, L. Jarvis, Cardie and Eccleston.

The Hospital team has pinned its faith on Saturday in West or Dugas and has not announced the pitcher of Sunday. Blair will do the backstop work Saturday and the remainder of the team is composed of Liberty at third, Moone in center field, G. Farrell at first, Clabby in left field, Kelly at second, Dowd in right field, Normandi at short. The hurling staff for the final game on Sunday will be announced Saturday and Riverview expects to clinch the series with that game.

Murphy is to umpire at the plate for the Saturday game and Roy will judge the play at the bases.

MOOSUP SIGNS NEOS OF FALL RIVER FOR SUNDAY

Moosup on Sunday will be the scene of battle between Henry Loughran's newly organized Moosup team and the well known Neo team of Fall River holders of the championship of Fall River and New Bedford for four successive seasons and the only team able to defeat Loughran's team last season.

Loughran has signed Big Tim Kennedy for the pitching honors in the game and the Neos will pin their faith on Rifalis, Bissillon or Mullowney, former Boston college star. Moosup's second pitcher will be Lefty Fenney of Colby, 1924. Fenney has pitched and won 31 out of 34 games this season in semi-pro games in and around Portland, Maine with strikeouts averaging 11 to 17 a game.

The lineups of the teams will be announced in Saturday's Bulletin.

TUNNEY GIVEN FAST WORKOUT BY DELANEY

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 16—(AP)—Jimmy Delaney, a first class fighting man featured today's boxing program for Gene Tunney. The St. Paul light heavyweight, who has met Tunney twice in real bouts, made his debut in Stroudsburg by giving the contender one of the best workouts he has had since he started training for his bid at the championship.

Delaney dashed in at the outset and never let up until his two rounds were concluded. Delaney proved in the two periods he was engaged that he knows something about fighting close up and this, in the opinion of some of the experts, is just what Tunney needs for one class in his boxing school.

Delaney popped one right to the face that the challenger only partially avoided and the St. Paul lad took some harder punches then Tunney has been tossing about the training ring.

The hard working Billy Vidabeck also stepped out in his two rounds and altogether Tunney got four rounds of real boxing. He was on edge for his work after a two-day lay-off. He had planned earlier in the week to have a holiday tomorrow but as he was idle yesterday he announced he expected to box tomorrow.

Tommy Gibbons, once a great light heavyweight and Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight champion, were at the ringside in the guise of newspaper reporters. As they were present incognito they gave no opinions as boxers. Leonard suggested it was a bit early for a forecast while Gibbons, who met both champion and challenger, said he had not seen enough of the contestants to venture a guess as to their respective chances at the championship fight.

"Billy" McCabe, New York prison authority and friend of Tunney over a period of many years, saw the boxing. Mr. McCabe was one of the few to recognize championship possibilities in the marine entry while he was boxing in France.

Dr. Robert Shea, New York surgeon, was a visitor today but in a personal rather than professional capacity he declared that the challenger's lip is causing him no worry.

DEMPSEY'S REMODELED NOSE IS ABLE TO BLEED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 16—(AP)—Jack Dempsey's remodeled nose in which he invested $10,000 went the way of all pugilistic noses today. It lost blood for the first time, but it proved it's shock absorbing strength.

It bled like any ordinary proboscis and although there was only a slight trickle, the situation caused a buzzing among the newspaper correspondents before whom the world's heavyweight champion worked out this afternoon.

Dempsey was stepping through a lively first round with Tommy Loughran when the Philadelphia 175-pounder, firing away with tantalizing lefts suddenly crossed a right. Loughran's gloved fist crashed squarely on Dempsey's nose. Within a few seconds, blood began to trickle down the champion's lip.

Dempsey continued boxing, however going another round with Loughran and two with Martin Burke. He started off with a round against Frankie Carpenter, making his usual five rounds. The smash on the nose did not affect his breathing.

While taking a rubdown in his dressing room, the champion took the nose bleeding incident lightly.

JONES FACES OUIMET IN NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF SEMI-FINALS TODAY

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Bobby Jones carried on today through another bitterly fought duel to triumph over Chick Evans of Chicago in the drive toward his third successive national amateur golf championship.

For a time during the 34 hole struggle between the veteran of many links campaigns and the 24-year old master from Atlanta, Bobby's crown swayed uncertainly. For hole after hole a rejuvenated Evans played such superb golf that it seemed the champion of ten years ago was about to effect one of the most sensational upsets in links history. But in the end, youth, power and confidence triumphed to give Bobby a great victory at 3 and 2.

Jones and Evans finished their gripping battle just behind another bitterly fought match in which the fortunes of links war smiled kindly upon another veteran—Francis Ouimet of Boston. With a sensational finish after he had been held all square in the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole contest, Ouimet finally shook off the pursuit of Frederick J. Wright, Jr., Massachusetts state champion, to win at 3 and 2.

The verdict brought the bespectacled Boston star abreast of Jones, and tomorrow Bobby will oppose another hero of bygone days in his push to enter the final round.

The other match of the semi-finals tomorrow will bring together George Von Elm of Los Angeles, finalist two years ago against Jones, and George Dawson of Chicago, former Illinois university star. Von Elm today overwhelmed Bobby's Atlanta pal, Watts Gunn, 8 and 7, while Dawson triumphed in a gruelling battle against Eddie Held of St. Louis, 2 and 1.

Jones never relinquished the hairline lead he obtained in the morning, but it seemed early in the afternoon that he was about to give way under the determined fight of the veteran. For three successive holes he hammered his drives wildly into the rough and became uncertain with his irons. Dropping both the 24th and 25th, the champion was lucky to halve the 26th, and they stepped to the ninth tee with Bobby only one hole ahead.

Here was Evans' big chance for the 27th, called for a long mid-iron shot and it appeared as if the mid-west star might overtake the champion to square the match, for Evans had been playing his irons with amazing skill all day. Yet it was at this very hole that Chick cracked. His shot was short and he had to pitch across two bunkers to reach the green. Bobby's tee shot dropped 30 feet from the pin and he was down in par three to Evans' four. This proved the turning point of the battle. At the 32nd, Jones ripped off a sensational birdie three as the result of a 25-foot putt. They then halved the remaining holes to end the struggle.

Gunn was never in the running against Von Elm, who dashed off at the start with a whirlwind rush and never once let down. With a string of pars and birdies, the Pacific coast player romped through the morning round in 73, only one stroke over par for the difficult New Jersey course to become six up.

There was a different story to tell in the Ouimet-Wright and Dawson-Held battles.

The youthful Wright shared away at his veteran antagonist with an even three on the first 4 par four on the second and a birdie three on the third to shoot out in front with a three and lead at the very outset.

Seasoned campaigner though Ouimet is, this hurricane assault was enough to upset the mightiest of matched wielders. Not the veteran, rallying nobly came right back with a counter spurt timed to meet a lapse on the part of his young opponent. Then began a see-saw battle, with first and then the other in front, ending on the home green with the two Hubmen locked.

Ouimet, who had posted a consistently good 75 in the morning, where out with a brilliant spurt in the afternoon to round the ninth in par 36 while Wright was straying frequently off teh line. Wright vaulted into an early afternoon lead of one hole at the second, but it was of brief duration for Ouimet rallied to take five straight holes before they had reached the turn, stacking up a lead which Wright thereafter was unable to pull down.

The Dawson-Held contest produced very little good golf but the Chicago athlete had enough to spare to stage a second round rally on the part of Held.

The former public links champion, failing to get command of his putter, took 85 strokes to struggle through the morning round in 85 and found himself five down to Dawson as they stepped off the 18th green.

It was Dawson's turn to vary in his stroking in the afternoon. Held recovering from his slump to play the first nine in par 36, squared the match at the turn. Then began a ding-dong fight which carried the Chicago youth to the 17th green before the battle was finally decided.

WESTERLY

MRS. SUSAN MORGAN HICKS SUICIDES WITH POISON

(Special to the Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Sept. 16—Mrs. Susan Morgan Hicks, 50, a resident of Westerly for many years and wife of F. C. Hicks, law librarian and associate professor of legal bibliography at Columbia university, was found dead in her bed in her home, 530 West 123rd street, New York, yesterday morning. A note clasped in her right hand indicated she had poisoned herself because of ill health.

She had been under treatment by a doctor for a nervous disorder. Professor Hicks entered his wife's room at 6 o'clock in the morning and found the body. Besides the note Mrs. Hicks held a copy of Stevenson's "Treasure Island" in her right hand and close beside her lay a small framed portrait of herself. The note read:

"I am suffering the greatest of pain. I can't stand it any longer and I will not permit my body to suffer any longer."

The note was unsigned. Professor Hicks telephoned to Dr. R. McCastline of 540 Rivers ide Drive, who pronounced her dead. Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas Gonzales was then summoned. The indications were that she had died of an overdose of some drug, probably luminol. She had been taking small quantities of this medicine as a part of her treatment for insomnia. The drug is fatal if taken in large quantities. To establish the cause of death beyond a doubt, the body was removed to the morgue where an autopsy was performed.

Professor Hicks said he and his wife returned to their home on Tuesday evening from a two-day trip which included a visit to his wife's sister, Mrs. Helen Morgan Richards and son, who since moving from Montpelier, Vt., live in Baltimore and the sesquicentennial exposition in Philadelphia. He said his wife had complained of being extremely tired before retiring to her room, at 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

Susan A. Morgan, eldest daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. Howard Morgan, for many years medical examiner in Westerly, was born in 1876 in New York city. Moving to Westerly, she attended the public schools and was graduated from Westerly high school in 1894. She attended Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., and for a short time was assistant instructor in drawing in Westerly high school.

Mrs. Hicks' first husband was Arthur E. Vars of Bradford, R. I., whom she married in Westerly Dec. 26, 1899 Rev. W. J. Scholar, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church performing the ceremony.

She later removed to New York where she married Professor Hicks.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Helen St. Clair Morgan Richards, librarian at the Sheppard and Enoch Pratt hospital, Towson, Md.

Burial is to be in Westerly.

Rev. Oliver H. Monroe, who is to occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church next Sunday morning is a candidate for the pastorate of Pawcatuck Congregational church. Rev. Mr. Monroe is a young man who comes highly recommended and who has had valuable educational advantges. He was an instructor in a private school for boys in Connecticut the year following. He entered Yale Divinity school in 1921 and completed the three years course in 1924, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

During the past two years he has been pastor of a Congregational church in Phillips, Me.

Recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk is the following transfer: Sept. 15, Elizabeth R. Chester to Abbondio Gomena, land on the easterly side of York avenue, lot No. 9, on the plat of building sites of Albert L. Chester.

Gov. Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island has issued a proclamation urging the observance of today (Friday) as Constitution day, the 139th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States.

In the proclamation Governor Pothier declares that it is fitting that we set aside this day "to do honor and to acquaint ourselves better with the provisions the Constitution contains."

Constitution day will also be observed in the schools of Westerly in response to a request to the teachers by Commissioner of Education Walter E. Ranger that attention of pupils be focused on the significance of th great American document.

The Seventh-day Baptist Missionary society held its annual meeting Wednesday at the Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church, Westerly. The following officers were elected:

Mrs. Alfred King spent a day in Hartford this week.

Hamcar Bracci celebrated his 20th birthday by giving a party to some of his friends, Wednesday evening. Members of the Mag's basketball team of last year were present, as Mr. Bracci was a member. They talked over having a team this year if the hall can be rented. Games were played and dancing was enjoyed during the evening to music by Jake Brothers' orchestra. Huberi Ellis gave a Charleston exhibition which proved a success. Elihu Rathbun played a violin solo while Keith Ebbets ticked the piano. Refreshments were served. A birthday cake had 20 candles and each candle was blown out by Harry Robertson. He received many gifts.

Some of the people of the village attended the opening day of the Kingston fair Wednesday, many going to watch the horse races.

Neil Robertson has left for a visit in Voluntown for a few days.

Edward Mahoney has returned from Kingston, R. I.

Boat C. W. Morse, after repairs and painting was launched at Rathbun ways Wednesday morning and in the afternoon with Capt. Henry Langworth at the wheel, sailed out of the harbor under its own power. The craft is on its way to the fishing grounds around George's Banks, for a two weeks' fishing trip after tuna fish. The skipper put aboard 30 ton of ice and supplies at the north dock.

A work house on the property of Neil Neilson which was sold to a party in town is being remodeled into a house with four rooms, with a garage on the same building. The house is finished and now the painters will doll it up. It is built right on the water front that overlooks Mystic island and a full view of the sound.

Thomas Carey has gone to Edgartown for the rest of the week.

Miss Annie Burke of Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the village for a visit with relatives.

E. Linnott of Hartford is spending his vacation of two weeks at his cottage at Groton Long Point.

William Banks is ill at his home on Front street.

Mrs. J. H. Webster has returned from a visit of a few days with Norwich relatives.

Arthur Bocard of New Bedford, Mass., is in the village for a few days.

After school was dismissed Wednesday afternoon, two school girls, Bula Clark and Betty Brown had a bicycle race from the waiting room to the ice house and return. Neil Morrison was starter and the distance was three-quarters of a mile.. Miss Clark won by one minute, but the school children cheered both riders as they crossed the finish line. The judges were George Deveau, Charles Ellis and Eugene Butson. Clark time, 9 minutes; Brown time, 10 minutes.

Coast guard patrol boat Naugatuck steamed into the harbor from Massachusetts and docked at the shipyard. She will be hauled out at the north dock to be repaired.

Mrs. Grace Heyward of New Jersey is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Eccleston of Brook street.

Mrs. Annie Wagner has returned from a few days' visit with relatives at Buzzards bay.

Gordon Butler, who has been spending several days at his home in New Bedford, has returned to the village.

Mrs. Henry Hoffman and two sons who have been spending the summer in Noank, have returned home.

WILSONVILLE

A young dog that Mrs. Sobosik had owned only a few days was struck by a Webster motorist and died shortly after.

Miss Christine Ryan of Webster spent Wednesday of last week with local friends.

Mrs. Sobosik and daughter Helen were in Webster Wednesday.

L. Keegan was in Putnam for the week end.

A Queer Partnership

Reasons that do not appear
Make some partnerships seem queer.
—Old Mother Nature.

There are many of these queer partnerships among the little people of the Great Out-of-Doors. Some of them are most surprising. The Oyster and little Mrs. Oyster Crab form one of these queer partnerships, as Reddy Fox had explained to him by Graywing the Gull. But there are others quite as curious. Reddy discovered one of these in one of the little pools among the rocks on the beach. He discovered it without knowing that he had discovered it. That is, he didn't know what he had discovered.

Reddy was looking down in the water to see if he could see one of those queer fellows called Squid. You will remember he was one who made the water all black with ink one time. He didn't see the ink maker, but he saw something else that surprised him quite as much. He saw one of those so-called "flowers-of-the-ocean" the Sea Anemone, which he had learned was not a flower at all, but belonged to the animal world. But the surprising thing was that this one was moving rapidly, while all those he had seen before had appeared unable to travel about.

"Huh!" said Reddy. "If I was that Crab I'd get rid of that fellow in a hurry."

"Now, what do you know about that?" exclaimed Reddy. "Am I seeing things, or not?"

His friend Graywing the Gull was near enough to overhear him. "Now, what is it?" he asked.

"Come look down into this pool," replied Reddy, "and tell me whether or not that Anemone down there is moving."

Graywing looked down and chuckled. "No," said he, "it isn't moving. It is being moved."

"What do you mean by that?" demanded Reddy.

"Just what I say," replied Graywing. "Look a little closer and you will see for yourself."

Reddy looked a little closer. Then he discovered that that Sea Anemone was on the back of a Crab. Yes, sir, it was so! The Crab was carrying the Sea Anemone about. "Huh!" said Reddy. "If I were that Crab I'd soon get rid of that fellow."

"No, you wouldn't," replied Graywing. "Those two fellows are partners. That Crab likes to have the Sea Anemone on his back, and the Sea Anemone likes to be there. So there you are!"

"I don't see it yet," said Reddy. "I can understand why the Sea Anemone should like to be carried about but I don't understand why the Crab should like to carry him."

"All you saw when you first looked was that Sea Anemone. You didn't see the Crab at all, did you?" asked Graywing.

"No," said Reddy, "I didn't."

"Well, there's your answer," replied Graywing. "Crabs have enemies, just as other people have. With that Sea Anemone pretty well covering him that Crab isn't likely to be seen by his enemies. The Sea Anemone likes to be carried about, because it is easier to get plenty to eat in that way. Having to stay in one place and trust to luck that enough food will come her way isn't always satisfactory. So the Crab and the Sea Anemone have formed a partnership, and it works out pretty well for both. It may seem queer, but it isn't as queer as it seems."

Reddy rubbed his nose thoughtfully. "Live and learn," said he. "I'm getting where I don't dare call anything queer."

"It is a good place to get to," replied Graywing.

The next story: "Reddy's Mistake."

LEGHORNS ARE LEADERS IN STORRS CONTEST

Production continues to show a downward trend in the Storrs contest flock, and during the forty-fifth week the lay was 3954 eggs, or slightly over forty per cent. This is 113 eggs less than the score for the previous week and four eggs less than the lay for the corresponding week a year ago. The total production to last Saturday was 207452 eggs, or an average of 148 eggs for each of the 1400 pullets entered in the competition.

For the fourth consecutive week the White Leghorn entry of George B. Ferris from Grand Rapids, Mich., led the honor roll. His score this week was fifty-six eggs, one better than the production a week ago. Second and third positions were taken by the pens holding them last week. Second was the entry of Hanson's Leghorn farm from Corvallis, Ore., with a score of fifty-three eggs and third was another Leghorn pen entered by Adam Glass from Mobile, Ala., with a production of forty-nine eggs. Four pens were tied for fourth place, each with a score of forty-six eggs. They were the Barred Rocks owned by Merritt M. Clark from Brookfield Center, Ct.; the Rhode Island Reds entered by J. Z. LaBelle from Ballouville, Conn.; and the White Leghorns owned by Mountain View Farm from West Rutland, Vt.; and R. W. Colman from Medina, N. Y.

LaBelle's Reds, which headed all pens in the competition from the eighth through the thirty-fifth week, are apparently attempting a "comeback." These ten pullets laid enough eggs to appear on the week's honor roll and on the whole their production has shown a marked increase. They went by the 200 egg mark this week and show indications of continuing their good production of the present time.

Another pen that passed the 200 egg mark was the entry of Hanson's Leghorn farm, which with a score of 2003 eggs, stands fifth among all pens in the competition. This is another entry appearing consistently on the honor roll, and they stand a good enough chance of bettering their position at their present rate of production.

With only six more weeks to go, the keenness of competition is such as to make it impossible to predict which of the leading pens will make the best record and win the contest. The Toivonen Leghorn Farm entry from Girard, Pa., present leader, has an advantage of only twenty-six eggs over the second-high pen which is owned by R. W. Colman. The latter pen outlaid Toivonen by five eggs this week which means with anything like the same production for the remaining six weeks of the contest, any margin existing will be by a very few eggs. Then there is the possibility of some "dark horse" becoming an important factor in these last few weeks if one or both of the high entries go into a decided slump, which does not seem likely at the present time.

BLAME RESTS WITH THE FARMERS

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

Two or three times during the past summer, I've relaxed in the western acrobatics of Buckhart, scenically central in Iowa. We eastern farmers are, of necessity deeply interested in it, though we don't quite understand it. I've twice at least quoted western comment which threw some light on the mystery, but how any sane American community could possibly fall, not once but twice, for the rantings and ravings of a discredited political chean Jack like Brookhart has passed and still passes our comprehension.

I know that some of you have grown a little fearful and a good deal disgusted about it. Some of you have expressed the wonder whether the disease was "catchin'", and we of the east were in any danger of contracting it.

Well, here's another illustrative and explanatory comment, right from the heart of Iowa itself. The Fairfield, Iowa, Daily Ledger says, editorially, in a recent issue:—

"The trouble with Iowa is too much bellyache. Iowans have been told so often that everything under the sun is wrong with the state that we have come to believe it, and are dwelling so much upon our woes that we are overlooking the bounteous blessings that are ours.

"What ails Iowa is so little a matter in comparison with what the state has that we ought to be ashamed of vaunting it.

"Without a doubt there are matters in Iowa that could be bettered. Anyone without half trying can find enough imperfections in people and possessions in a half hour to make him unhappy for a week. All that is necessary is to dwell upon the faults and overlook the good qualities.

"Iowa has confirmed herself in that habit until she thinks she is "put upon" by fate. Her political doctors have encouraged it to her so as to be sure always of a paying patient. But Iowa is not fatally stricken. She merely has magnified the bellyache into a malady."

Another paper, not so far west but far enough to see things better than we of Connecticut can, The Toledo, O., Blade, sums its understanding of the matter up by saying that apparently Iowa, "Instead of patiently waiting for the ripened fruits of prosperity has been eating the little green apples of discontent."

Most of us, at one time or another of our lives, have chanked little green apples. We've been too greedy to wait and see whether they'd ripen into Pippins or into cider-apples. And those of us who survived, even though it was long, long ago and our thin hairs may now be grey, remember vividly how sorry we were, an hour or two later, when the things had fairly got in their work.

It was then that quite a number of us discovered the great natural truth that the victim of a "green-apple-bellyache" has to go through with it,—or, rather, to let it go through him,—all by himself. No one can do much to help him; no one can share any of the gripes; 'mighty few even sympathize with him. "Serves him right," is the usual verdict; "P'raps he'll know better, next time," the common comment.

If that really is the trouble with Iowa, as stated, there's nothing for any of the rest of us to say. Though that doesn't prevent us from wondering why the state, in its self-induced or self-imagined state of distress, persists in going to political quack doctors for its pills. It certainly seems somewhat asinine for grown-up men to make themselves sick with green apples. It is even more idiotic for them to refuse the ministrations of trained, intelligent and competent physicians, and bellow for the dope of charlatans and ignoramuses.

"Not even the government," recently remarked one of the newspaper "colyumists," "can make a good farmer out of a poor one." That is a terse yet perfectly comprehensible statement of a fact which, probably, lies at the bottom of the "unrest" which is so widely reported from the west.

It is still the custom, in some parts of the country, to send the bright boys into medicine or law or the ministry, and keep "the fool or the family" as a farmer. It is still the belief of a lot of city men, who have failed in the feverish competition of the big town, that they could succeed as farmers.

In the old days, when almost any soil, anywhere, would respond with liberal harvest to the crudest tillage, so rich was it in the accumulated fertility of millions of farrow years,—in those old days there may have been some sort or basis for this idea that farming was easy for even the simple-minded. But those days have passed.

To make a real success at farming now, the farmer needs to be something of a scientist, something of an artist, something of an expert, something of a mechanician, something of an athlete, and something of a trader. As he is a prophet of weather and markets, a strategist and tactician, a hard worker,—and a keen-witted gambler.

That there are mighty few eminently successful farmers is directly due to the fact that there are so few in business equipped with all these characteristics and qualities. It is inarguably true that no government or other human instrumentality can implant all or any of these characteristics and qualities to the man who is wholly without them.

Not all the laws of all the congresses and all the legislatures and all the parliaments of all the world can make another Edison out of Tom Snooks, or another Henry Ford out of Sam Blokes, or another Coolidge out of Bill Brookhart. No more can they legislate time and industry into Peter Tumbledown, or Hank, the "hired man" of Podunk flats, or any other half-wit.

The man who thinks they can thereby demonstrates his own folly. Yet there seem to be enough of that sort in Iowa, at least, to control the primaries of a great political party.

It is the action of just such fool majorities that renders possible soviet tyranny in Russia and makes Mussolinian dictatorship seem desirable to Italy. It is an ill omen for a world whose fondest hope has been in the righteous workings of democratic self-government.

It is just as clear as the nose on a hippo's face that the vast majority of farmers are not getting their full share of the general prosperity. But the reason they're not getting it lies in themselves, not in any government action or inaction. In spite of all their handicaps, there are some farmers who are succeeding. "You can't keep a good man down." These few are succeeding because, instead of sitting down and snivveling for congress to bring them their pie on a tray, they wrastle the world for it and win it in the tussle.

Because a man likes pie and wants pie affords no assurance that he will have pie.—unless he has the knowledge and the will to get that pie for himself. The world "owes" no man a living; whether of pie or of potatoes. It owes him only what he actually earns. And his earning power, depends upon his native ability, his industry, his thrift, and his capacity, not only to take advantage of every possibility, but to create possibilities if they aren't at hand; readymade.

Even if government could go into the business of supplying pie to those too incapable or too lazy to get their own, it would have to take that pie literally out of the mouths of those who have earned it and have the right to it. For government has no doles to give other than those it first collects from its industries and earning subjects. It must take from A some part of his property, before it can have any to pass over to B. And that taking, for that purpose, is plain confiscation and nothing else but.

The whimperers who demand such governmental coddling, whether in Iowa or anywhere else, are not good farmers. They are poor farmers who want some outsider to purvey them the same sized pieces of pie good farmers have earned for themselves. And that is neither good farming, nor good politics, nor good morals.

This doesn't mean that we farmers are getting a fair deal or an even show from "big business." It doesn't in the least contravene the contention that we have a just claim for bigger returns from our productive labor. But that is a question between us and "big business."

All we can reasonably ask of government is what the trapper attacked by the bear asked of Providence. "Oh Lord, if you can't help me, don't help the bear!"

So far as my experience and reading inform me, that's all the good farmer asks. In Iowa or elsewhere.

THE FARMER.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Lee & Osgood and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

During the month of August, 90 new cases were enrolled in the Public health nursing department, and 1,231 calls were made by the nurses; 731 visits were made to the well baby and Rock Nook conferences and clinic at No. 9 Washington street, Taftville, Occum and Yantic. There were 37 chest examinations at the tuberculosis clinic at No. 9 Washington street.

Members of the nursing staff have each had their vacation and Miss McKenzie, the superintendent of nurses, is now having the month of September.

On Labor day a better baby contest was held at the county fair under the supervision of Dr. A. Elisabeth Ingraham, director of child hygiene of the state department of health. In spite of the rainy day, 26 babies were weighed and measured. Several Norwich women assisted the local and state doctors and public health nurses to weigh, measure and make records during the day. They were Mrs. Albert H. Chase, Mrs C. C. Gildersleeve Mrs. J. Burns, Miss Edith Young, Miss Alif Stephens, Miss Mary Richards, Miss Marion Briggs and Miss Wilcox. The equipment for the work was kindly loaned by the Porteous & Mitchell Co. and by the Gilbert Furniture Co.

The WENTWORTH By-the-Sea, Portsmouth, N. H.

Did You Ever Drive Up Here?

ONE of the finest of New England's shore resorts, as thousands know, is THE WENTWORTH. It is located in a private park of 125 acres on an island in the harbor of Portsmouth, N.H. On this island, in 1669, Samuel Wentworth opened the first inn in this section. Here occurred the first overt act of the American Revolution.

This splendid hotel became world famous when the Russo-Japanese Peace Treaty was signed here at the instigation of President Roosevelt. Now hundreds of people find here their ideal summer playground.

Driving up in the morning to this porte-cochere is something one never forgets. Every outlook breathes a welcome. Breakfast is ready—and such a breakfast. The coffee they serve here is La Touraine. Thousands of people from all over the country have here first gained their introduction to this exquisite coffee.

When you can't be at THE WENTWORTH you can still enjoy its coffee. All the year around you can serve it on your table if you will. It will bring you delights your home never can know till you do this. You have never tasted a coffee blend to compare with La Touraine (Extra).

Interesting facts about La Touraine (Extra) Coffee

It is the largest-selling coffee in New England, the birthplace of fine coffees in America. In this home of exacting coffee critics, it is considered the supreme result of 237 years of coffee development.

It is the coffee served in many dining places famous for their coffees. In all Statler Hotels, for instance. In the magnificent Shoreland of Chicago. In countless country homes which study fine hospitality.

The blend combines the four finest coffees that grow. Each comes from a different country, each is the pride of a nation. Each derives its excellent flavor from one of the rarest soils of the earth.

Three of the coffees combined in this blend cost 50% more than ordinary coffee, and 25% more than Sao Paulo, the prize coffee of Brazil. One is so rare that only 30,000 bags are grown yearly.

The formula for this blend is a secret, carefully preserved. Coffee experts spent twenty years in perfecting it. No other blend has been made to resemble it. Those who find here their ideal flavor can find it nowhere else.

Mr. E. J. Butler, the noted coffee expert, personally tests, tastes and selects all coffees used in this blend. His duty is to maintain, without regard to cost, this premier coffee flavor. He pays any price necessary to combine in La Touraine (Extra) the maximum delights.

La Touraine (Extra) is sold direct to retail grocers. This to save middlemen's profits. It is sold in double sealed cartons, not in cans. These and other economies—about 11 cents per pound—pay for the extra quality. Thus users get this matchless coffee without a fancy price.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Sam Ash, star of Rose Marie, Honeydew, The Music Box Review, and many other musical comedy hits, charmed large audiences at the Palace yesterday. His marvelous voice which many have said compares favorably with John McCormack's did full justice to Rose Marie, Mother Machree, and Cherie I Love You. These popular numbers brought thunders of sincere applause from the audience and Mr. Ash has surely won warm place in the hearts of Norwich amusement seekers. He will appear at today's matinee and evening performances and also on Saturday. The motion picture programme is also a most worthy one headed by Florence Vidor, one of the screen's most beautiful stars, in her latest success, "You Never Know Women," supported by Lowell Sherman and a distinguished cast of players, a photo play that made a tremendous hit at the Rivoli theatre, New York. The comedy is supplied by the inimitable Ben Turpin in his new riot of laughter, "When a Mans a Prince," that convulsed the audience with merriment. Then there is Gene Tunney, idol of the A. E. F., in the second chapter of his thrilling adventure serial, "The Fighting Marine," in which the challenger of Dempsey proves that he is a good actor as well as a good boxer. The Topical Events, with the news of the world and showing the beauty parade at Atlantic City, and close ups of Miss Tulsa, the winner, is most interesting, and Walter Lang and his Palace Concert orchestra contributed largely to the enjoyment of the programme which is big time in every sense of the word.

Broadway Theatre

Delightful just describes the program that opened at the Broadway theatre yesterday and which remains until Saturday.

The Keith-Albee five act vaudeville bill is a revelation in the art of variety.

The Cirillo Bros. opened the stage offering with a variety of dances of the eccentric kind and we can see the reason for their huge success everywhere.

Jean Moore just bubbles over with personality and pep and is justly termed the versatile girl. She is ably assisted by David Sodelle at the piano and their 12 minutes of harmony left nothing lacking.

A human document has been adapted to the stage by Howard Anderson and Reau Graves. In this their latest effort called "Out of Work," these well known comedians again have something worth while—something that brought laugh after laugh. Their stage setting is not to be overlooked either. Bob Brandies calls himself "The Black Rhapsody"; whatever a black rhapsody may be Bob Brandies is fun in his long suit and every word in his patter is a laugh.

Young and pretty are the Sulletta Sisters who offer something away from the usual.

The photoplay is a roaring story of the rails. "The Transcontintal Limited" with a fine cast.

Bread Theatres.

Few experiences of motion picture people in trying circumstances can compare with those endured by members of the "Shipwrecked" company during the filming of the remarkable storm scenes shown in that production. Adrift for many hours in a hurricane-tossed sea the cast, director, technical and camera staff were in the gravest danger.

Seena Owen, Joseph Schildkraut, Clarence Burton, Matthew Betz and other players, under direction of Joseph Henaberry, worked bravely even when the ship upon which they were passengers threatened to founder. These remarkable storm scenes are finely shown in "Shipwrecked," which will be on view at the Bread theatre today and Saturday. From every standpoint "Shipwrecked" is a remarkable screen achievement.

"Ella Cinders," starring Colleen Moore and released by First National, begins an engagement at the Bread theatre Sunday, with the guarantee that there will be much laughter with and at the heroine and not a little audible commiseration when fate deals unkindly with her.

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

The coming of No, No, Nanette, to the Capitol theater, Willimantic on Thursday evening, Sept. 23, will be admittedly the high spot of the theatrical season. With blase New York still in a rush for seats for this extraordinarily successful and popular musical play, whose fame has swept around the world. With a solid year in Chicago to its credit, and with a two-year run predicted for London where it is still the rage after many months, No, No, Nanette, stands unrivalled in all the long history of the English-speaking stage. That this city will give this new Frazee hit a memorable welcome is evidenced by the overwhelming demand for seats. Mail orders have broken all records and the advance sale has been unprecedented. So it is the part of wisdom to go to the box office early or risk disappointment.

Not in many seasons, we are told, is a musical comedy so fully satisfied all requirements. The book, by Frank Mandel and Otto Harbach, is said to be the most legitimately humorous work of its kind in a generation, because it tells a definite and substantial story, with scene after scene of unbounded hilarity, developing not merely from the antics of clever actors but through the laughable complications and situations that arise naturally from its plot. To this, and the really fine lyrics of Irving Ceasar, is fitted a score by that brilliant young composer, Vincent Youmans, with Sammy Lee to direct the dances and ensembles, while all has been done under the watchful and discriminating eye of Mr. Frazee himself. Every number has its two, three or more encores, among them such outstanding hits as Tea for Two and I Want To Be Happy.

WARRENVILLE

This community feels keenly the death of Mrs. Lena James, wife of Ernest E. James. Until the removal of the family to Brooklyn about two years ago, she was for many years an active factor in the life here, and with tremendous energy and good will she advanced whatever she took an interest in. She was first of all a devoted wife and mother, and gave her life to the care and training of hre children She was a charter member of Ashford grange, also active in the Christian Endeavor and Ladies' Aid societies. After her children went out into the world for themselves, she turned her energies and talent to business activities, especially as in the sale of useful articles to the homes of the community. About two years ago the family took up their residence on the state highway in Brooklyn, Conn., and there established a wayside station for travelers, and she was the genial and efficient hostess. Hers was a busy, helpful life in all its relations, and she will be greatly missed by a wide circle.

NEW LONDON BOOTLEGGER'S BAG AROUSED SUSPICION OF SERGEANT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 16—Joe Logioco, familiarly known as "Joe, the Jug," and long reputed by the police to be a bootlegger, but who was never caught plying his alleged trade, was arrested this morning by Sergeant John Cavanaugh charged with transporting. He furnished a surety on his bond of $1200 for his presentation in the police court tomorrow morning.

Logioco was observed by Sergeant Cavanaugh to drive his car to a point on Bank street, near Truman street and to alight from the automobile with a large burlap bag in his hand and from the way Logioco walked the object he carried appeared weighty. Being a considerable distance away from Logioco, the officer was unable to overtake Logioco until the latter had entered a yard off Belden court where, it is claimed, he left the bag and its contents. Logioco was seen to emerge from the yard and go toward Bank street. Sergeant Cavanaugh went to the yard and found the bag and its contents, a five gallon can of alcohol. This was taken as evidence against Logioco, and he was found on Bank street and arrested. Logioco denies having had possession of the alcohol and declares that he had no knowledge of its having been placed in the yard where it was found.

ATTORNEY SHEA'S 100 VOTES ADMITTED BY JUDGE AVERY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 16—Attorney Frank S. Shea, who was a candidate at the city election held last Monday for the office of member of council and who, by the record of the general moderator, Winder E. Reed, declared eliminated from the running for office at the election to be held the 27th inst. will be a candidate at the next election. A hearing was held at the county court house this morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Christopher L. Avery on the bench, as a result of Attorney Shea having petitioned the court for a recount, on the grounds that he had been deprived of 100 votes through an error of the general moderator's report. Judge Avery certified Mr. Shea's name being placed on the ballot in place of Jeremiah J. Lyons. Judge Avery heard the statement of the witnesses, the several counters on last Monday's election and it was upon their statements that Judge Avery permitted Mr. Shea's name being substituted to the ballot and not compelling a recount to be made. All of the witnesses testified that Mr. Shea received 207 votes in the third ward, his own ward and stated that it was so announced at the conclusion of the count. The record of the general moderator credits Mr. Shea with having received but 107 votes. By being allowed the added 100 votes Mr. Shea's lead over Mr. Lyons is about 15 and disqualifies the latter from running for office the 27th inst.

There seemed to be something in the air that led sailors into trouble here last night. The early evening showed a practically clear police station, as the night wore on the cells began to fill.

John Hannen, a rotund sailor from the base, was on State street late in the evening with liquor fairly flowing from the bilges. He was singing loud and could do a hornpipe every time he attempted to cross the sidewalk. Then he became noisy and needed the width of the walk that other sailors required. So he was put into the cooler. Hannen said he only had two drinks but they certainly were the kind that took him off his feet. He was fined $10.

Frank Smith admitted that he was drunk when he had that chance and "I'll not do more. I'll was just drunk," were the words that brought him a fine of $10. Policeman Foley was called upon these cases.

William P. Collins, also a sailor, said he just came here to see friends and got drunk. He was noisy and abusive, so his case was a little more than ordinarily aggravated. He was fined.

Adam Butre, a Jack Tar, was in the vicinity of 62 Colt street when he observed a young girl as a clerk. He went in and engaged her in conversation. The clerk was the daughter of the proprietor of the store.

William Johnson and the latter objected to the familiarity of the sailor. He told Adam so, and the latter responded by using his Christian name as a verb to be. He also expressed a desire to engage with Mr. Johnson in fisticuffs and took off his coat to go to it. Johnson and his daughter knew a better scheme than that and they locked Adam in the store and called for a policeman by a telephone. In a minute Adam was in the custody of the law. He had broken a plate glass window, though, before his arrest was accomplished. Adam had a $15 fine attaching to him when the case had been heard.

Philip Ramsey, wearing the blue of the navy, was fined $25 for taking liberties with the automobile of Mrs. Harry Clements. Ramsey was on John street in front of No. 16 when he saw the unoccupied Ford coupe of Mrs. Clements at the curb. Phil got in, but in doing so he slammed the door of the car so that the attention of Mrs. Clements and a party of other colored women engaged at a game of whist was attracted. They rushed to the window and saw a sailor in the car. They ordered him to shove off, but he was slow about releasing his painter, so the women called on the police to assist them in recovering possession of the car. In the meantime the sailor had fled, but the women and Policeman Feeley pursued and found Ramsey on State street with a comfortable jag on. He was arrested. In court he resorted to an old defense by saying that the women called to him from a window. This the women denied and Ramsey was in bad. Ramsey was in a restaurant when the officer found him.

Gordon Crossley was fined $3 for operating a car without having a registration to do so in his possession. Crossley had his Ford under repair and used another vehicle to travel around in. His license was in his own car when he was ordered to show his authority to operate a machine.

John Foley was sent to jail to stay thirty days as a drunken bummer who was stopping pedestrians in the street to solicit from them. He was presented twice last week.

Daniel M. Buckley has sold a house and lot, corner of Lincoln avenue and Clover court, to Fedosia Sleight.

Timothy J. and Bridget Driscoll have sold to Regina A. Glenisa and Mary S. Gagnon a house and lot on West street.

Herbert B. Prentice has sold a house and lot on Mohegan avenue to Dorothea Martin.

Mrs. Mary M. Hinkley, about 65, widow of Julian Hinkley, formerly of Waterford, died last night at Lawrence Memorial hospital, where she had been a patient only a short time. She is survived by several children.

Mrs. Fannie A. McNear, 73, widow of Thomas McNear, died this morning at the residence of her son-in-law, Thomas Fitch, 222 Connecticut avenue. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Fitch and by a brother, Charles Lyons of this city. Mrs. McNear was born in New London, where she had always resided.

Josephine, infant twin daughter of Patrolman and Mrs. George Laboue, Jefferson avenue, died at Home Memorial hospital last night. The funeral was held this afternoon at the residence of the parents and burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

SEARCHED IN MONTVILLE FOR MAN WHO SWINDLED GIRL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 16—The police received information yesterday concerning John Zaleski of Worcester, Mass., who swindled Miss Josephine Franka, 91 Winthrop street of her saving of $3030 on the day that they were to be married. He persuaded Miss Zaleski to withdraw the money from the Savings Bank of New London in order to purchase furniture, etc., saying that he would reimburse her as soon as he went to Webster, where he claimed to have $8500 in a bank in reality he had but $5 on deposit there. The tip came that he was in hiding in a house in Montville. The police requested the state police to go to Montville and make a search for Zaleski which they did, but he was not located. It is not believed that Zaleski remained in or around New London after he received the money, but that he departed for a city many miles from here.

An automobile driven by Attorney Philip Z. Hankey, 891 Montauk avenue and a Connecticut company trolley car collided on Bank street between Pearl and Golden streets, this evening. The automobile was damaged, but not bad. Mr. Hankey was driving in a northerly direction and just after passing Pearl street the trolley car, southbound and in charge of Motorman A. Chesebro, approached. Just as the automobile and trolley car were about to pass the automobile had overtaken a cyclist and to avoid hitting the rider, Mr. Hankey guided his automobile slightly toward the tracks of the Connecticut company. It was just enough to bring about the collision for the trolley car crashed against the left mudguard and the fender.

Edward Keefe, 62 Fair Harbor place complained to the police this evening that a spare tire was stolen from his automobile last night while the auto was parked in front of his residence.

The carpenter shop of Frank Bracci Noank, was entered by thieves last night and valuable plunder obtained. This evening the New London police were requested to be on the lookout for the crooks, especially if any of the plunder was sold or pawned in this city. Included among the articles taken was an electric drill, New Haven make; corrugated steel plane, a Yankee screw driver and one and one-quarter inch chisel, a hammer and a spike shaver.

Edward C. Borden, a United States Coast guardsman stationed at the state pier, has been discharged from the federal service for the good of the service. Borden was given a bad conduct discharge, according to advices received by the police this afternoon from Lieut. Com. Barren, in charge of the local section base. It is understood that Borden left New London a short time after receiving his discharge.

The ferryboat John F. Collins, built at the yard of the New London Ship & Engine company, work on which was concluded this week, cleared from the harbor at 11 o'clock this morning and started for her destination, Miami, Fla. She will be used between Miami harbor and the causeway terminals. The boat is in charge of Captain William Roberts with Capt. Thomas Inglis as pilot. The Collins carries a huge finback, designed to throw off the waves. She is 150 feet in length and is propelled by Diesel engines.

Robert C. Rice, for several years in charge of the city's playgrounds and recreation beaches, tendered his resignation, at the September meeting of the recreation council of the Community Chest, yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. The resignation was accepted. Lieut. P. L. Mather, submarine base, was elected to fill the vacancy. Rowland W. Mansfield gave an interesting report of the work of the children at the B. F. Learned mission of which he is superintendent. Miss Sadie Harrison reported on the services for the negro workers. Miss Della Marooney reported having conducted three hikes and summer classes through the Diocesan bureau.

Fred Barber, 39 Twelfth street; Antonio Scrivani, Niantic; Mrs. Harold Gott, 32 Walbert avenue; Miss Ruth Pinchette, 71 Pequot avenue and Mrs. Charles Dittmer and infant daughter, 56 Nathan Hale street, patients at the Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

The annual picnic of the employes of the city hall, planned to be held at Red Top Saturday, has been called off. The abandonment of the plans of the picnic, which had been once postponed, is the result of several heads of departments of the city being unable to attend and the same is the case of several other employes.

Lieut. LeRoy W. Busbey, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C., and Miss Frances L. Hearne, Lubec, Me., both former residents of New London, were married yesterday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Charles A. Gallup, in the office of Waller, Waller, Avery & Gallup. Philip Grove and Miss Helen Austin were the attendants of the couple. Lieut. and Mrs. Busbey will make their future home at Portsmouth, N. H. Lieut. Busbey is a member of the crew of the U. S. S. V-2 and during the war was stationed at the submarine base. His bride was a yeomanette at the base during the war and afterwards was a school teacher at Jordan village.

Because of the fact that New London will use voting machines at the state elections to be held in November, City Manager William A. Holt, Registrars Andrew J. Collins and Almarin T. Hale, City Clerk Julian D. Moran and Harold Peters, mechanic in the employ of the water and sewer department, went to Norwich this afternoon and witnessed a demonstration of the voting machines used in that city, so as to familiarize themselves with the operation of the machine when they are put into service here as many demonstrations will have to be made by City Clark Moran and workers at the polls.

Upsala university, Sweden, where Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus was once a student and where his two oldest sons are enrolled, is now preparing to celebrate next year its 450th anniversary. Founded in 1477, it is the oldest university in northern Europe, and has been called the cradle of culture in Sweden.

Leaves and petals of roses and other flowers are copied in rubber directly from the blossom itself by a recently devised process, according to Popular Mechanics. The rubber is in jelly form and is combined with a sheet of other material, then pressed into the useful thinness and stamped with the pattern of a real rose petal. Leaves are made in the same way and then attached to a rubber stem.

Oranges now rank first in value among the crops grown in California. For many years hay had been the most valuable product. Now it has dropped back into second place. The relaping crops follow: Oranges, $79,200,000; hay, $75,796,000; barley, $34,180,000; raisin grapes, $23,850,000; wine grapes, $22,910,000; beans, $18,727,000; lemons, $18,000,000; wheat, $16,950,000; prunes, $15,950,000; cotton, $14,580,000.

The electric shock treatment for hurrying crops along has failed, say officials of the department of agriculture, and they are not going to continue experimentation along this line. A charged wire network was placed over the ground, high enough so that it would not interfere with cultivation, and for hours at a time, over a period of three months, the electricity was turned on. The power used was about 50,000 volts, and the plants received more than 650 hours of electric treatment, but no decided advantage was found.

Norwich Produce Market

Thursday, Sept. 16, 1926
(Furnished by the Commissioner of Agriculture of Connecticut.)

Apples are plenty but with better quality the tendency is toward slightly higher prices. McIntosh are now offered quite freely and fancy stock sells for $1.25-$1.50 per 14 quart basket. The supply of native peaches is limited and the quality might be better. Barlett pears have almost entirely taken the place of Clapp's and are being offered in moderate quantities. Native musk melons sell freely at 5c per lb or $2.50 per crate.

String beans, shell beans and limas are all offered in moderate quantities and meet ready sales. The supplies of celery are excellent but not abundant and sell quickly. Sweet corn and tomatoes continue to be plenty and cheap and spinach is again offered freely, while good lettuce is scarce.

Eggs and butter continue firm and poultry steady. Beef is firm and other dressed meats steady.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks heavy; packing shares strong.
Bonds irregular; French 8s at year's high price.
Foreign exchanges mixed; franc and lira decline.
Cotton higher; large exports.
Sugar featureless.
Coffee lower; easier Brazilian market.

Chicago

Wheat firm; continued bad weather in Canada.
Corn higher; sympathy with wheat.
Cattle quiet.
Hogs higher.

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Extreme uneasiness characterized the trading in today's stock market, with final quotations disclosing marked irregularity. Fears of an increase in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate, which again proved to be unfounded, undoubtedly accounted for some of the early selling, but when the call money rate was lowered from 5 to 4 1-2 per cent in the early afternoon, a number of venturesome pools started bidding up their favorites, but failed to carry the rest of the market with them.

While the opinion is widely held in business and banking circles that commercial expansion, as reflected in the volume of re-discounts, has not yet reached the stage where a higher bank rate is necessary, it is felt that the recent increase in broker's loans may provide sufficient justification for a higher rate in the near future on the theory that it would act as a brake on extravagant speculation in securities. The fact that previous increases in the rate have invariably been followed by sharp reactions in securities prices accounts for the widespread speculative attention given to the reserve bank's action.

General Motors regained the leadership of the market with buying influenced by unconfirmed rumors of another liberal extra cash disbursement on the stock at the next meeting. At its top price of 153 1-2, the stock was 4 points above yesterday's final quotation and allowing for the recent 50 per cent stock dividend, at a new record high future, most of the other issues were heavy. Mack Trucks and Hudson each falling over 2 points to 112 3-8 and 19 1-4 respectively, and hen rallying slightly, while Studebaker, Willys Overland, White and Pierce Arrow lost about a point each.

Dupont, which has large General Motors holding, touched a new record high for all time at 315 1-2. Packing shares moved upward under the leadership of Cudahy Packing, Wilson A and Wilson Co. preferred, all at new peak prices. Thompson's Restaurants responded to reports of large current earnings by touching 80 1-2 and was followed into new high ground by Adams Express, Union Tank Car, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Granby Copper, and Certain-teed. Allied Chemical was another strong spot, moving up over 3 points, but Atlantic Refining, Bayuk Cigars, Coca Cola, Threshing Machine, Christie Brown, Eastman Kodak, National Dairy Products A, Warner Pictures A and Woolworth were conspicuously heavy.

Industrial shares continued to offer better resistance to selling pressure than the industrials, but most of the rails issues closed slightly lower on the day. Trading in these issues has been restricted pending publication of the August earnings statements, the first of which are expected to make their appearance next week.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were easy, demand sterling ruling just below $4.85 and French francs between 2.30 and 2.31 cents. Japanese yen touched another high at 48 3-16 cents.

Commodity prices were again mixed. Active wheat futures rallied about a cent a bushel on reports of poor crop weather in the northwest. On the other hand, favorable crop weather in the south caused some liquidation of cotton, but the market rallied later and closed 6 to 13 points higher. Coffee prices ranged 16 to 21 points. Raw sugar was unchanged.

RAIN, COOLER TODAY; FAIR TOMORROW

Norwich Bulletin

NORWICH, CONN., FRIDAY, SEPT. 17, 1926

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Friday, Sept. 17, 1926

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

The tropical storm that was some distance off Cape Hatteras Wednesday night is now central about latitude 39 north and longitude 71 degrees 30 minutes west and apparently is recurving toward the north-northeast. It still is attended by wind of hurricane force near its center.

High pressure prevails over the north Atlantic states and eastern Canada.

There is a light snow falling in portions of Manitoba and north central Montana.

There will be rain in the north Atlantic states Friday.

The temperature will not change materially.

Storm warnings are displayed from Bridgeport, Conn., to Eastport, Maine.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Increasing east and northeast reaching gale force, and overcast thick weather with rain Friday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh shifting, mostly north and north east except shifting gales near storm center; mostly overcast weather Friday; local rains over north portion.

Forecast

For southern New England: Rain and slightly cooler Friday, Saturday fair.

Observations.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Thursday:

	Temp.	Bar.
7 a. m.	60	30.70
12 m.	74	30.60
6 p. m.	70	30.55

Highest 74, lowest 60

TAFTVILLE

ARTICLES OF MISSING MAN ARE ALSO MISSING

Although nothing further has come to light in the attempt to locate John Handsel, who is believed to be the owner of the Boston bag and suit of blood stained clothing discovered on the morning of September 9, 1926 in a lonely lane leading west from Occum road just north of the village, it became known this week that neither the bag nor the suit are in possession of the state police as had been at first supposed. The articles, which were found in the lane by a traveling salesman and his wife, who notified the authorities disappeared from the scene before the arrival of the state officers, only two neckties, a pair of socks and the blood spattered paper and ground remained when the investigators arrived.

Whether Handsel had re-appeared and carried away his belongings or whether they were removed by someone who chanced into the lane after the salesman and his wife left the place and before the arrival of the police, is the problem now unsolved. Many still believe that there has been foul play, owing to the quantity of blood found at the scene. Others are inclined to scoff at this theory and believe that Handsel returned for the clothing, but are unable to explain why he should leave the socks and neckties.

No one has appeared to claim the overalls, towel and whisk broom found neatly tied in a package on a doorstep of a house on South A street on September 7. These were believed to have some connection with the bag and the suit found in the lane. Where John Handsel went to and where the bag and clothing have gone to is still a mystery.

Smith-Krauss

Don C. Smith of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Margaret Krauss, daughter of John Krauss of Germania avenue, were quietly married Wednesday evening by Rev. Edwin Gordon Crowdis, pastor of the Taftville Congregational church, at his home, 28 North Third avenue. The bride has always lived in Taftville and is a member of the local church. The groom is a receiving teller in a large bank in Chicago. During the World war, he served in the U. S. navy. The newly married couple have left for Chicago, where they are to occupy a newly furnished apartment.

The regular weekly conclave of Castle Pelloux, No. 3747, K. O. K. A. was held in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church Wednesday evening, Byron Kloss presided as king, Curtis Hedler was seneschal, Frank Moore herald and Edwin Troeger sentinel. Plans were discussed for a ceremonial to be held in October, and one new member was elected to the castle, his initiation to take place later. A council of knights and esquires is to be held in two weeks.

Miss Betty Archibald of Norwich has been a recent guest of Miss Selena Adams of North Third avenue.

Seraphim Tomboni has resigned his position with the local mills.

A meeting of Troop 2, Boy Scouts was held Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church, with Scoutmaster Victor H. Davis presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Lucier have taken a house on South B street.

Repairs and redecorating have been completed at the Taftville Congregational church. The walls in many of the rooms have been tinted, and the floors have been re-finished. The chancel furniture is now being refinished.

Mrs. Walter W. Kellner and children William and Virginia of Preston are guests of Mrs. Kellner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg and family of North Third avenue.

Edmund Mathewson who has recovered from illness, is able to be out.

St. Vincent's Guild Met

The St. Vincent's Guild of acolytes of Christ Episcopal church had a most interesting meeting at the rectory on Wednesday evening. It was largely attended by the young men of the parish and after a specially business meeting a delightful social time was enjoyed. The arrangements were completed for the guild supper and service next Thursday. All other reports by officers and the rector, Rev. J. Montgomery Budlong were most pleasing to the guild and with many new ideas for the coming seasons the evening closed.

TELLS LIONS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IS NEEDED BY THAMES VALLEY

With President William A. Anderson presiding the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Norwich Lions club was held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel. Dr. Charles Solomon was the song leader and there were the usual group and club song numbers. Louis M. Crandall was unanimously elected to fill a vacancy as director on the board of directors. The club adopted a motion assuring the American Legion their hearty co-operation in the Legion's plans for the Armistice day celebration.

Abner Schwartz chairman of the entertainment committee presented Max Hanover as the five minute speaker. Herbert R. Branche was introduced as the speaker of the day and he delivered a very interesting address on The Rise and Fall of New England Industries. In part Mr. Branche spoke as follows:

Our Sesqui-Centennial being held at Philadelphia, brings vividly to our minds one of the mile stones of life, in the year 1875 Philadelphia celebrated the 100 anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and those of us who were old enough, at that time to have attended that great event, or to have read of its wonderful presentation of the great achievements wrought during the life of our nation, will take great interest in visiting the Sesqui-Centennial, which adds another 50 years of achievement by the United States and the world at large, along industrial, civic, mercantile, commercial and scientific lines.

As a boy, I well remember the great interest taken in the centennial by every community in the U. S. A. One of the great and interesting features of the exhibit, was the monster stationary engine which supplied all power to drive the machinery in all buildings on the grounds. This was one of the largest engines ever built up to that time and was constructed in the works of the Corliss Steam Engine Co. at Providence, R. I. At that time Providence was noted as the home of stationary engine manufacturing plants, viz: Corliss Steam Eng. Works, Harris-Corliss Steam Eng. Works, Armington and Simons Steam Eng. Works, Providence Steam Eng. Works and the big plant of the Rhode Island Locomotive Works. Said as it is to relate, not one of the above plants is in existence today. In 1888, 13 years from the time the centennial closed its gates, as general yard master of the N. Y. and N. E. R. R. at Providence station, it was my privilege to handle the engine above spoken of, it being returned to the parent company for such disposition as seemed available under the circumstances, and it was junked. As a matter of passing moment, it required 28 of the largest flat cars to transport the engine, seven of which was required for the fly wheel alone, it being cast in segments. I cite these facts for a purpose.

Governors Issue Warning

One year ago, the coming month, the governors of New England, sent out a hurried call to all industrial, commercial mercantile, agricultural and civic bodies, to attend a meeting in Worcester, Mass., in order that some action might be taken to save to New England her industries. You know the action that was taken. Committees were appointed and a permanent organization established, a plan outlined for said, very creditable purpose. Had the initiative been taken 50 years ago, or at the time the centennial was being held in Philadelphia, how much more would have been accomplished. "A stitch in time saves nine," now applicable is the old saying in this case. From steam engines to cotton mills—Let us for a moment take up the history of the rise and fall of the cotton industry of New England. With upwards of two independent cotton industries in Fall River, as many more in New Bedford, Mass. With the Merrimack river harnessed with textile machinery as no other stream in New England. With the Blackstone river a close second and the Thames valley with its Shetucket, Quinebaug and Yantic rivers well developed in textile industries New England capital sought new fields to industrialize. New England capital poured into southern states. About the year 1888, when the Corliss Steam Engine Co., was proceeding to junk the huge centennial engine, pioneer cotton mills began springing up in southern states. The Knowles and Crompton Loom Works of Worcester and Providence were making their first shipments of cotton looms over the rails of the New England and Pennsylvania roads. The largest Star Union Yarn then in existence were being requisitioned to carry shipments of cotton machinery into Texas, Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and the Carolinas, and until the advent of the World war this condition existed. Do you pause to wonder why New England has stood the strain of the hardest type of competition in existence? viz: Cheaper labor less stringent labor laws, nearer the base of raw material, and a liberal supply of cheap water power, all of which the south has in a greater or less degree. Bear in mind, friends, that preceeding the shipments of cotton looms and spinning frames, in most instances, went New England capital to finance the proposition.

West Lures Youth

In amplifying further the causes that have led up to New England's industrial depression, among the fore front, has been the lack of interest taken in the young men of New England by local capitalists. The west and middle west has drawn on our reserve until it has long been common knowledge, that our sons and daughters too, can do much better, when leaving college, in the middle and western states. Our young men, with textile education have found positions awaiting them and a hearty welcome in these same southern states, where the largest types of textile industries have sprung up during the past 25 years, with the result that many of our New England cotton mills are bearing the "For Sale" sign and can be purchased at a modicum of the replacement value today. I will cite an industry near at home that has just passed through such an experience viz: the plants of the Attawaugan company at Attawaugan and Baltouville. With new blood this organization will revive what has been practically a dead one since the close of the World war. The changing of the goods manufactured from the dead to the live list of textiles is the thing that will dispense ray rolls and so bring about a marked commercial awakening in a part of Windham County.

The plant of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. at Voluntown, has been in the same family for 50 or 75 years with the result that demand for the same old style of goods made in the Civil war period are no longer marketable and with the same old organization operating the plant, they have come to the end of the road and closed down indefinitely what was for years one of Norwich's best mercantile feeders. Another lack of red, young blood, sadly needed to put new ideas and fresh energy, into a New England textile plant, that has closed its doors and ceased dispensing its weekly payroll to the loss of the merchants and traveling men of Norwich and vicinity as well. Another thought, when the merchants and traveling men are hard hit by these factory closings, how about the agricultural interests and farm values adjacent there to?

Internal Weakness The Cause.

Isn't it a fact that in many instances, the causes leading up to the loss of our New England industries is caused by dry rot? Internal instead of external weakness? To my mind and from my power of observation I believe this to be the cause. Just another thought in connection with our textile decay. Textile organizations that maintain their own selling force and are in direct connection with the trade are finding it much easier than are those whose output is sold through the medium of the commission house or broker. This is reasonable to understand by anyone whose mental processes function in a normal way and who have had an opportunity to understand and study human nature. In speaking with a practical cotton mill man recently, he referred to the factories who depend upon the commission house to sell their line as being the lazy man's way of handling their output.

Referring back to the sale of the Attafaugan Cois factories, the press called attention to the fact that the purchasers maintained their own selling organization not alone in the U. S. A., but Canada as well, that they had an abundance of orders on hand and that they would start the mills just purchased on full time as soon as a few minor changes could be made. The Attawaugan Co. made a class of goods that after being processed, went into shade roller curtains, necessarily a very cheap grade of cotton cloth, whereas the owners make a class of goods that are known as window draperies, sateette, silk finished cottons and new rayons, up-to-date ideas, good demand for goods, and a 100 per cent. payroll. Couple this with their own selling organization and I'll bet a cookey these mills will be among the live ones of New England. It is natural for the commission merchant to sell the line that sells easiest and today most commission houses have more lines to sell than just one. That's that!

Help By Organizations.

This brings us down to the civic organizations of Norwich and the Thames Valley and what we can do as such to help along the industrial come-back and co-operate with the New England organization formed for that purpose.

The Lions club, Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce and lastly the Thames Valley council of the United Commercial Travelers of America, all offer unusual opportunities for assisting in the big problem before us. These organizations are composed of the best intellect in the community, composed of memberships representative of men who control the public thought of the community and of industry, commercialism, mercantile and those things that foster and encourage the steady growth of a community viz: health, education and religious freedom.

In the organization of the Thames Valley citizens' committee it is our belief that we have an organization that offers a clearing house for all associations functioning in eastern Connecticut. As it's name implies, it is a Citizens' Committee. A committee of citizens made up of the leading active execs in all organizations. A committee of interested men whose one purpose is to advance the industrial and commercial interests of this part of Connecticut.

As with merchants so with communities. When a merchant has a thing to sell he immediately starts an advertising campaign, for the purpose of letting the public in general know he has the goods and that he wishes to dispose of them at a price that would be considered advantageous to the person in need of such goods. Now, that is just what is needed in the Thames Valley. An advertising campaign, one style of advertising the fact that the Thames Valley is the big cheese that is going to be cut this fall or next spring but a steady flow of boosting, pushing selling, yelling, selling the Thames Valley by your organization, by my organization and by each and every one of us today, tomorrow and all the time.

The Thames Valley citizens' committee have under way a programme for immediate accomplishment that calls for the publishing of a Brochure compiled along broad lines, dealing with a general write up of our many and varied assets. The second accomplishment is to be a huge barbecue to be held on the shores of the Thames river early in the summer of 1927. Committees are well along in preparing for the details of the big event. These mentioned, accomplishments are but forms of publicity, for the Thames Valley. Another form of publicity and one we feel would justify the attempt would be to have a radio broadcasting station in the Thames Valley at Montville, operated by the Thames Valley citizens' committee and backed by the cities of Norwich and New London. This would give a most excellent opportunity for eastern Connecticut to be heard on the air and proclaim to the world that the Thames Valley is on the map and has everything to offer prospective and progressive industrial organizations of sufficient size to appreciate our many real advantages including cheap electric railroad and deep water shipping facilities.

Mr. Branche is chairman of the U. C. T. Thames Valley Civic committee and secretary of the Thames Valley Citizens committee.

The speakers were extended the hearty thanks and appreciation of the club for their entertainment by Chairman Abner Schwartz and the meeting closed in the usual manner with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

SAYS HE WAS PEEPER IN THAMESVILLE SECTION

On a charge of peeping into windows of houses in the Thamesville section of the city, Anthony Petrowsky, 27, was presented in the city court Thursday morning. He was sent to the Norwich state hospital for observation as to his mental condition. It is understood that Petrowsky has confessed to being the man who terrorized women in the Thamesville section for the past year by peeping into windows. It is also said that he is the man guilty of indecent exposure on Union street some time ago. Petrowsky was before the city court recently on a charge of non-support of his wife and three children. He was caught on the peeping charge by the local police when they found several articles belonging to him and which he left at one of the houses he visited by stealth recently.

Petrowsky's activity in the Thamesville district has cost the city several hundred dollars for a special policeman who was stationed there for several months in the effort to catch him. For a time at the height of the scare given to women residents by the peeper, police dogs were talked of as the favorite household pets and many homes supplied themselves with firearms, while residents of that part of the city petitioned for better police protection.

PLANNING TO SECURE NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

The matter of securing a new physical director at the Y. M. C. A. to take the place of E. J. Fritz, who has gone to the association in Holyoke has been placed in the hands of the physical department committee, of which John M. Swahn is chairman, with President J. C. Macpherson and General Secretary Edwin Hill.

This action was taken at a meeting of the board of directors which was held Wednesday evening at the association building. The national council and the state officers will be communicated with in the effort to seek out a suitable man for the place and it is hoped by the officials that some definite announcement can be made within a few weeks. Meanwhile it will be possible for the physical department work to go along, when the active season opens, through co-operation between Boys' Secretary E. H. Davis and several capable leaders who were developed under Mr. Fritz.

MISSION CIRCLE HEARS LETTER FROM PHILIPPINES

The Woman's Home and Foreign Mission circle of the First Baptist church, met at the home of Mrs. Emma Tyler, West Main street, Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting opened with singing of a gospel hymn, and scripture reading from the first chapter of John. Prayer was offered by the president of the circle followed by a short talk upon Evangelism.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Herbert Wilcy, the subject being, Our Baptist Work in the Philippine Islands. Papers were read by Mrs. F. P. Church, Mrs L. A. Wheeler and Mrs. George Rathbun, which were very interesting, showing the great progress that has been made in a few years.

A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Frances Rose who are teachers in the Central Philippine college, which was of more than usual interest. Mr. Rose was well known to all and formerly lived in this vicinity. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

ROADSTER CAUGHT BETWEEN TRUCK AND TROLLEY

Charles King of 46 Spring street, driving a Ford roadster with Rhode Island registration, tried to pass between a trolley car and a gas and electric department truck on Laurel Hill avenue about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon but the space was too small and the three vehicles became wedged together.

The roadster was taken out of the tangle by the William C. Noyes garage and taken to the garage yard. The machine had right front wheel and left rear wheel smashed, tire torn off the left front wheel and front axle and steering gear bent and twisted. Besides the windshield smashed.

The accident happened about at the top of the hill near the old school house.

NORWICH TOWN

When returning from a vacation of two weeks spent in a motor trip to Montreal and in New York state, covering in all 1345 miles, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jull Grenley and the latter's mother, Mrs. Harriet E. Brainerd, of Mystic, were callers on Mrs Brainerd's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb of Norwich Town.

The tourists left Mystic Sunday morning, August 29th and motored 235 miles to Wilton, N. Y. They started the next morning for Montreal, a distance of 240 miles, arriving there that evening, (Monday), where they were met by Clarence N. Brainerd, at whose home they visited for a week. During their stay the party, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd, went up Mount Royal in a cab, as no automobiles or busses are allowed on the mountain. From the summit one can look over all the city, a beautiful view. The party also took a ride up in the Lawrention mountains, and had a fine dinner at Wayside Inn. On a visit to Dominion park, about ten miles from the city, which has all kinds of amusements, they also visited a number of the public buildings, also several parks and theaters.

One especially interesting sight, was watching the large steamers and freighters go through the locks of the Lachine canal. This canal is between the ocean and the St. Lawrence river. It was very interesting to see them open and close the locks.

After a delightful visit with Mrs. Grembley's brother, the Mystic party left Montreal, Monday morning, September 6th, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd, who went as far as Ogdensburg, N. Y., returning to Montreal by train. After leaving them the tourists continued to Alexandria Bay, at the Thousand Islands. The next morning they took a motor boat ride among the islands. It was a large boat carrying 105 passengers and the sail took two and one-half hours. This proved very enjoyable and a view of these islands was one never to be forgotten.

After leaving the Thousand Islands the party went to Watertown, Schenectady and Albany. At Albany, they visited Mr and Mrs. Carroll Blanchard, friends of a number of years.

The last part of the journey was through Pittsfield and Springfield, Mass., stopping en route at Norwich Town to call on Dr. and Mrs. Lamb, who entertained the visitors at dinner. They arrived home Friday night September 10th.

Clarence N. Brainerd is assistant manager of a large automobile concern in Montreal, having been located there for fourteen years. He was a Mystic boy, and with his wife visited his home town last year.

This is the second trip Mr Brainerd's relatives have taken to Montreal within the past two years.

The meeting of the executive committee held at the home of Walter T. Camp, president of the Rural association Monday, September 13th, voted to call an open meeting of the association Wednesday night, September 22nd, in the chapel on the Norwich Town Green.

At that meeting the decision of the judges of the garden contests will be rendered and the prize ribbons awarded the winners.

It was voted to request Miss Amy L. Cogswell, formerly principal of Lowthorpe School of Gardening and Landscape Architecture, to give a talk on "Old Fashioned New England Gardens," at this meeting. It was voted to extend a general invitation to all garden lovers to attend this meeting, which is open to all who are interested.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE HAS CONCLUDED HIS VACATION

Early This Morning, by Special Train, the President and Mrs. Coolidge Will Leave White Pine Camp For Washington —Mr Coolidge Has Been Refreshed and Invigorated by Ten and a Half Weeks of Outdoor Life—Whether the Chief Executive Will Take Any Part in the Fall Political Campaign Has Not Been Definitely Indicated.

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Sept. 17—(AP)—He rested and invigorated by ten and a half weeks of outdoor life in the northern Adirondacks, President Coolidge concluded his summer vacation at White Pine camp tonight and prepared to leave with Mrs. Coolidge early tomorrow by special train for Washington.

Last minute details in preparation for getting occupied the president today as guests of final house guests he and Mrs. Coolidge had at the Camp Irvine Bacon, the writer, and Mrs. Bacon, of New York city, who will accompany them on the train tomorrow.

Eager to resume his life at the White House with a strenuous winter and a session of congress in prospect, Mr. Coolidge nevertheless leaves this region with manifest regret, as the vacation has been one of the most pleasant in his experience.

He came here at the suggestion of Frank R. Kirkwood, publisher of the Kansas City Star and owner of White Pine camp. The region was new to him and it is not because of any disappointment but because he wishes every summer to go to some place where he will have a complete change that he will not return to the Adirondacks next summer.

Life in the open and the exhilarating air at this altitude of 1600 feet have benefited him greatly while Mrs. Coolidge has obtained a complete rest at the camp, whose seclusion she seldom left from week to week except when on Sundays she accompanied the president to church.

The president attended to government business through daily visits to the executive offices. The volume of matter from departments in Washington and by mail was larger than usual for a summer and was disposed of with the assistance of a white house staff under the direction of Edward T. Clark as secretary of the president after illness had forced the retirement of Secretary Everett Sanders.

On the recreation side, Mr. Coolidge has found a keen zest for fishing, the sport in which he ever has shown personal interest. Undertaken first experimentally, in the opinion of many observers, the sport soon fascinated him and he spent many hours along the streams, sometimes wading in his boots and at other times going out in boats on the many lakes of the region. While he landed some good bass and pickerel, the brook trout claimed his chief attention and that species he sought until darkness put a stop to the fishing for the day.

Mrs. Coolidge, while developing no personal taste for fishing, enjoyed life about Lake Osgood, on which White Pine camp is situated, and often was seen in a launch or a boat on its quiet waters. She also took much pleasure in tramping about the woods of the camp preserve in company with the two white house collies, Rob Roy and Prudence Prim.

Few automobile rides were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge during their stay here, although every Sunday they went to Saranac lake, 12 miles away, for services at the First Presbyterian church and once they drove to Malone, over 30 miles to the north. Twice the president made public trips to the surrounding region, first to Plattsburgh, 70 miles away, to review the citizens military training camp, and then to Tupper Lake and beyond, a round trip of 100 miles, to inspect veterans hospitals and camps. And in early August he left for six days for a visit at his boyhood home in Plymouth, Vt.

Many visitors, however, came to white pine camp to be house guests, while yet more were received by the president at the executive offices. They included many members of the cabinet, diplomats, senators and congressmen. Representatives of the farmers, and business men representing many fields of industry and finance. All the views they set forth to Mr. Coolidge they presented across section of public opinion on a wide range of current questions. Most of them emphasized the economic and business condition of the country, painting a picture of prosperity that was said to be quite pleasing to the president and presenting conditions so forcibly that administration leaders have more and more emphasized prosperity as the issue for the republican party in the fall election campaign.

Mr. Coolidge, at the same time, maintained silence on politics while he refrained from intervening in any of the state primary or convention fights. Even in this state, he left his hands off, although efforts were made by many republican state leaders to see him and urge a course of action upon him in New York. Whether with the primary contests disposed of, the president will take any part in the fall political campaign he has not been definitely indicated. At present he has no engagements even of a tentative character for speeches or for any trips away from Washington before election day in November.

CIGARETTE IV WINNER OF COLUMBIA YACHT CLUB RACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Skimming the water at a speed of 54.77 miles an hour, Cigarette IV, owned and piloted by L. Gordon Hamersley, of the Columbia Yacht club, New York, easily won the first heat for the president's $5,000 gold cup in the First National regatta held today on the Potomac.

Leaping ahead at the start of the race like a greyhound, the Duralumin speed boat, the first of her kind, gradually increased her advantage as she raced five times around the three mile course and won out by nearly a mile over Miss Syndicate, which placed second.

Cigarette IV's was 16 minutes and 25 1-4 seconds.

Horace E. Dodge, Jr., drove Miss Syndicate and was given a close race by Greenwich Folly, owned and driven by George H. Townsend, of the Indian Harbor Yacht club, which won the gold cup, most bitterly contested prize in motorboat racing, at Manhasset Bay, Long Island, last month.

The two final heats for the President's cup which is of 14 karet and donated by the Corinthian Yacht club which is sponsoring the national regatta, will be run tomorrow over the same course and with the same entries. In the first heat today Mrs. Delphine Dodge, daughter of the late Horace E. Dodge drove Miss Nuisance, which finished last in the field of eight.

Another woman, Mrs. W. J. Connors, wife of the Buffol newspaper publisher drove an racer in another event of the day, the free-for-all championship of the Potomac. This race was won by Horace, owned by Mrs. Hugh Dillman, widow of the late Horace E. Dodge and piloted by her son, Horace E. Dodge, Jr.

HAD RACE WITH DEATH YESTERDAY AND LOST

BOSTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Ralph T. Miller superintendent of two Boston hospitals and widely known in New England as a follower of the horse had a race with death today and lost.

Told that he had only a limited time to live, Mr. Miller, who had been under treatment at Saranac Lake, N. Y. expressed the desire to have his family by his deathbed. In carrying out his wishes a private car was engaged to make the journey to Boston. The trip was started this morning, but Mr. Miller died while the train was passing through Hinsdale, Mass. His father, Dr. Charles S. Miller, was attending him on the journey.

Mr Miller had been superintendent of the Bay State and Codman Square hospitals in Boston for 10 years. He was secretary of the Brockton fair whose racing meets for 20 years and also served as secretary of the Grand Circuit racing at Readville. He was at one time connected with the Rockingham fair at Salem, N. H.

SIX MEMBERS OF "CRY BABY" GANG CONVICTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Six members of the "Cry Baby" gang were convicted tonight of grand larceny, robbery and assault in connection with the theft of a payroll in the office of the William Keppey company, July 16. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

Five of the gang have been convicted of robbery in the Bronx and are serving sentences of 17 1-2 to 35 years in Sing Sing.

SHIPWRECKED CREW RESCUED BY CREW OF PATROL BOAT 241

NANTUCKET, Mass., Sept. 17—(AP)—A tale of a double rescue at sea in the teeth of a southeast gale was told here today when the Coast Guard patrol boat 241 brought to port the crew of the schooner Rebecca R. Douglass. The vessel had been cut in two in collision with the steamer Eastern Crown at the mouth of Pollock Rip Slough in the early morning.

So high were the seas that the patrol boat could not be brought alongside the waterlogged vessel. She made fast to the stern of the Douglass, and one by one the crew of the schooner leaped overboard, with lines looped under their arm pits and were dragged on board the patrol boat. On her return trip to her base here, the C. G. 241 had to rescue seven men from the steamer Cornucopia who had put out in a lifeboat in a vain attempt to save the Douglass crew.

Only one member of the Douglass' crew of seven men was injured. Henry Good of Mechias, Me., was taken to the Nantucket Cottage hospital suffering from cuts and immersion. Tonight he was reported out of danger.

Captain J. W. Gay said the Eastern Crown, Norfolk to Boston with a cargo of coal, struck his vessel about 1:30 o'clock this morning in a fog, shearing away the bow of the schooner. The vessel immediately filled but the cargo of lathe enabled it to remain afloat, and the crew remained on deck until the arrival of the rescue boat. The Douglass, a vessel of 475 tons, was bound from Machiesport to New York.

Coast Guard vessels which spent the day searching for the wreck of the schooner reported here tonight that it probably had sunk.

AUTHORITIES PUZZLED BY ROWBOAT ADRIFT

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 17—(AP)—A rowboat adrift with two coats, two pairs of shoes, a shirt, and a gallon jug half filled with wine, found three miles out on the sound this afternoon, puzzled police tonight. Later it was learned that the former occupants of the boat were safe. The boat had been hired Thursday from a pavilion at Mansfield Grove East Haven and had drifted with the wind and tide until it reached the sound waters off Bridgeport where it was discovered by Captain Malamback of the lighthouse tender "Ellen."

Police learned tonight that on Thursday two Italians, Buononentura Carrano, 242 Stalfonstal avenue, East Haven, with a companion, named Balsandro, hired the boat at the Charles Bartlett pavilion at Mansfield Grove and had started out on a fishing trip. They returned ashore and gave a man whose identity is not known fifty cent to mind the boat, they leaving with the intention of returning. When they did the man had disappeared whom they had given the money to and the boat.

HURRICANE SWEPT AWAY TURKS ISLAND WHARFS

HALIFAX, Sept. 17—(AP)—The hurricane that swept Turks Island yesterday carried away all shipping wharves, demolished many houses and changed the entire sea front, according to a report reaching the Halifax and Bermuda Cable company this evening. The wind reached a velocity of 130 miles an hour. No loss of life is reported.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BRUSSELS, Sept. 17—(AP)—The Belgian government seemingly has decided upon a campaign to induce France to ratify her debt agreement with the United States.

LONDON, Sept. 17—(AP)—A despatch to the Daily Press from Shanghai says that 70 foreign women and 60 children who had been isolated at Kikungshun, in the province of Honan, were rescued by British naval tugs and have arrived in Hankow in a pitiful condition. Their clothes were in tatters and they were without shoes.

PEKING, Sept. 17—(AP)—Authoritative foreign dispatches from Hankow say that the American gunboat Pigeon was fired on by Cantonese batteries on the afternoon of the 14th at Chenglingki, above Hankow on the Yangtse river. The Pigeon replied with machine guns. There were no American casualties.

FRENCH POLITICAL LEADERS OPPOSE ECONOMIC MEASURES

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The government today took the initiative in what is expected to develop into another struggle between the cabinet and parliament when the latter body meets next month.

The cabinet decided its campaign against sinecures in the government service must continue, despite protests by political leaders who threaten interpellations before parliament. It has formally rejected requests from deputies that the application of the decrees reducing the number of government functionaries be postponed until the chamber convenes.

It was announced after today's cabinet meeting that the ministers decided that the entire program of economies, as forecast in the bill which gave the government power to proceed to reduce governmental expenses by decree, must be put into effect immediately, without awaiting for parliament to meet. Every department of the government has been scrutinized in the campaign to meliminate useless officers and the work will be continued. It was decided, notwithstanding threats by deputies to attack the government.

Suppression of the offices of 106 sub-prefects which are deemed unnecessary is the measure which provokes hot resentment among political leaders. These sub-prefects heretofore have had nothing to do except mend the political defenses of their friends in the provinces. Premier Poincare aims to completely eliminate the political missions of these officials and also find more useful duties for those retained, thus opening the way for reductions in other departments.

The government also has decided to put the question squarely up to parliament by posing the question of confidence regarding the full application of the economy decrees. It will refuse to discuss any interpellations until parliament has either approved or disapproved the decrees.

MABEL NORMAND WEDS PICTURE ACTOR, LEW CODY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Lew Cody, motion picture actor, surprised the film colony this morning by returning from a midnight ride to Ventura, with Mabel Normand, screen actress, as his bride.

The affair developed with all the suddenness of a feature movie, his friends were informed. Last night, according to his secretary, he dined with Miss Normand, proposed after dinner, was accepted, and the couple left immediately for Ventura, some 60 miles north of there. They obtained a license at 2 o'clock this morning and were married by the county recorder an hour later.

It was the first venture in matrimony for Mabel Normand, whose life in motion pictures has been an active one. She was an important figure in the sensational murder case of William Desmond Taylor, director, here in February 1922. She was the last one known to have been with the director, who was shot to death in his Hollywood apartment a short time after Miss Normand left on the night of February 2. No solution of the murder ever became public. Cody is the former husband of Dorothy Dalton.

In the early days of motion picture comedy, Mabel Normand was under the directorship of Mack Sennett, who elevated her to a high position in public esteem as comedienne.

FATALLY BURNED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

MERIDEN, Sept. 17—(AP)—Alfred Mason, 18, of Whitney avenue, Mt. Carmel, died at the Meriden hospital tonight at 11 o'clock as the result of second degree burns which completely covered his head, neck, back and one arm, received when an automobile in which he was riding on the Cheshire-Milldale road, burst into flames after being struck by a motorcycle at 9:15 o'clock.

Edward Cappail, of 83 Blake street, New Haven, operator of the motorcycle is in the hospital suffering with bad burns on both legs, and an injured knee. Ralph Milan, of Mt. Carmel, who was riding in the automobile, was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises about the hands and wrists and a slight burn on his neck. Donald Clark, of Mt. Carmel, driver of the automobile, and Americo Schari, also of Mt. Carmel, who was a passenger in the automobile, escaped injury.

The occupants of the automobile say the motorcycle came up behind them, as they were riding toward Milldale, and crashed into the rear of the car, which immediately burst into flames. Cappail said he was riding along unaware of the proximity of the car ahead of him, as no tail light was visible, and he sighted the car too late to avoid hitting it.

MRS. BUDLONG RESUMES FIGHT FOR HER SONS

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong today opened a new phase of her fight for the guardianship of her minor sons, John and Milton. She filed a probate court notice of an appeal to the superior court from the decision of Judge Walter Curry who on Monday dismissed her petition for guardianship.

Judge Curry in his decision said it would be impossible for him to set aside the decree of the superior court which had given custody of the children to their father, Milton J. Budlong of New York and Newport.

LIVED 84 DAYS VIRTUALLY WITHOUT NOURISHMENT

ATTICA, N. Y., Sept. 17—(AP)—After living 84 days virtually without nourishment, Mrs. Juliet Davis Mattison died here last night. She was 83 years old.

Mrs. Mattison was stricken with apoplexy on June 31st and her enforced fast began five days later.

Pleas of ... Guilty in ...-Mills Case

Bail of Mrs. Hall, Widow, Was Ordered Increased From $15,000 to $40,000.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The four defendants indicted for the murders four years ago of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, pleaded not guilty late today at their arraignment before Supreme Court Justice Parker.

The bail of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow, who has been at liberty in $15,000 securities, was ordered increased to $40,000 and she was released when that was furnished by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Trust company of Baltimore.

Henry and Willie Stevens, her brothers, and Henry De La B. Carpender, her cousin, were remanded to jail without bail. Setting of the date for the hearing of the trial of the accused was postponed until after next Thursday, when Special Prosecutor Simpson will petition the supreme court in Trenton for authority to summon a jury from another county.

That the state considered the status of Mrs. Hall different from that of the other defendants was revealed at Mr. Simpson at the conclusion of the hearing, when the question of the woman's bail was brought up.

The prosecutor told the court that the state has evidence not disclosed to the grand jury which placed Mrs. Hall in a position different from that of the other defendants, and suggested $25,000 on each indictment.

On protest of defense counsel, Justice Parker fixed bail to $20,000 on each of the two counts.

RIVER FLOOD THREATENS VILLAGE OF BEARDSTOWN, ILLS.

BEARDSTOWN, Ills., Sept. 17.—(AP)—A thin line of sandbags stood tonight between Beardstown's seven thousand residents and the rising waters of the Illinois river. More than a hundred men, some of whom have labored without sleep since Wednesday, worked along the mile long levee which protects the city from the river's waters, staunching the weak spots in the wall of sandbags.

Women found a share, too, in the battle against the river's churning currents. They drove trucks filled with sand to the edges of the levee and put the sand in bags with which the dike is being bolstered, while other groups served coffee to the workmen.

Tonight the river stood less than four inches below the top of the dike, with the flood's crest slowly swelling as the Sangamon river emptied into the Illinois nine miles above the fifty the burden of a Wednesday freshet.

Only if the weather remains fair without further rain or wind, will the barrier hold back the flood waters, according to C. O. Miller, in charge of the levee workers.

The northeast section of the city is deserted, with flood waters ebbing near the second floor windows of residences. In the south section of town near the levee, families are moving their household goods to higher points. It is believed the crest of the Sangamon's contribution to the high waters will pass by morning.

AMPLIFIERS TO SPREAD NATHAN HALE EXERCISES

HARTFORD, Sept. 17—(AP)—Amplifiers on the east side of the First Congregational church, of South Coventry, will enable a large overflow audience to hear the official state exercises in observance of Nathan Hale day, Wednesday, according to an announcement made by N. Searle Light, director of rural education. It is expected that people from all over the state will be present to attend the exercises, which will include an address by Governor Trumbull, his reading of a message from President Coolidge and an oration by Senator Hiram Bingham. The program will be broadcast over the radio.

Plans have been completed for the disposition of the large crowd which is expected to attend, according to the announcement made by Mr. Light. Admission to the exercises will be by ticket only until 6:30 p. m., standard time. At that time the doors will be thrown open and as many people will be admitted as the seating accommodations will permit. The church will hold approximately 650 persons. The doors will be closed again at exactly 7 p. m., in order that the exercises may begin. The overflow crowd will hear the speeches through the amplifiers.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR EVANGELIST M'PHERSON

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15—(AP)—Warrants for the arrest of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, and four associates involved in her recent disappearance case were formally issued today when Municipal Judge Samuel Blake, in the presence of District Attorney Keyes signed the papers calling for the five arrests. The warrants were handed to Ben. Cohn, chief of the district attorney's detectives who left the courtroom at once.

Learning Things

Children aren't taught words by syllables any more, but by their meanings. They learn it's the use of a word that counts—not merely its pleasing sound.

When you buy you know it's the use of a product that counts, not merely its pleasing sound. You can learn its uses and all it means—before you buy. If you read The Bulletin's advertisements you know definitely how a certain refrigerator will act in your own kitchen; how that furniture polish will improve your own chairs. What is advertised has to do what it's advertised to do.

Advertisements are honest. They invite too many thousands of testers not to be honest. Their continued advertising proves them honest! You take advertised facts on faith—as you take the dictionary on faith. You know that the perfume, hosiery, canned goods they describe are widely enjoyed. You read advertisements to know the true meaning of things before you invest in their use.

Read The Bulletin advertisements today and every day.

THE FRENCH AND GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTERS PICNIC

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The foreign ministers of France and Germany went on a motor picnic today and tonight M. Briand and Dr Stresemann are reported to have achieved much progress in laying down a basis for accord between the two countries not only on all problems existing between them directly but on all problems wherein they may be mutually interested.

M. Briand would not reveal what questions were discussed at the meeting but it is understood that gradual reduction of French forces of occupation was canvassed and also a possible pooling of economical and financial interests.

According to information from unofficial French sources the two statesmen in their four-hour conference also discussed the interallied debts and Europe's debt to the United States.

The official communique issued by both sides is couched in identical terms. It says the two statesmen examined all problems "susceptible of interest to the two countries and they that sought the best common means of solving such questions" in the spirit of the treaties already signed by them."

The official statement concludes: "The two statesmen succeeded in harmonizing their viewpoints on the general solution of these questions, each reserving the right to refer matters to their respective governments. If their viewpoints are approved by their governments they will resume their collaboration in order to achieve desirable results."

"I am perfectly satisfied," M. Briand said, "at the result of today's meeting. We want to remove all possible causes of friction between France and Germany and if our government's give us encouragement we will continue the negotiations. If our governments follow the road we desire to follow I think we will attain the desired end. I hope so. It is in the interests of European peace."

FATE OF SACCO AND VANZETTI HELD UNDER ADVISEMENT

DEDHAM, Mass., Sept. 17—(AP)—Judge Webster Thayer tonight had under advisement the motion of a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, which their counsel had argued was justified by suppression of evidence by the government and the co-operation of the federal government in a case where they lacked jurisdiction.

Judge Thayer indicated that it would be several weeks before he reached his decision.

The electrocution of Celestino Madeiros, whose confession that he and not Sacco and Vanzetti were involved in the double murder in South Braintree in 1920 of which the latter two were convicted, led to the filing of the motion, was respited to the middle of November and it was indicated today Sacco and Vanzetti would know their fate before that time.

Although both sides devoted most of the five day hearing to testimony and arguments based on the Madeiros confession, the defense in striving to show it was possible and probable that Madeiros took part in the crime as a member of the Morelli gang of Providence and the state in contending he was not to be believed and the accusations against the Morellis was without substance, the real clash ignored this matter.

DROPPED DEAD ON GOLF LINKS AT SYRACUSE, N. Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17—(AP)—Albert John Will, 60 years old, president and general manager of the Will and Baumec Candle Company, Inc., of this city dropped dead on the Belleyue Country club golf links today, four years to a day after his brother, Anthony Will, died on the Onondaga Golf and Country club course. Death was due to heart disease, it was said.

Storms Delay New York-Paris Flight

Impossible to Consider Starting the Flight Before Monday at the Earliest.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Storms in the S-35's pathway to Paris again have postponed the hop off of the giant Sikorsky plane.

Today's advices from the weather bureau in Washington showed a storm center of hurricane force moving northeast from a point about 150 miles southeast of Nantucket lightship. If this disturbance continues on its present course it will lie in the route of the S-35 as it approaches the banks of New Foundland.

Captain Fonck, in command of the proposed non-stop New York to Paris flight, said that stormy conditions were present so generally that it would be impossible to consider starting the flight until Monday at the earliest, and very possibly not until Tuesday.

The plane covered with tarpaulins, remains in position on the runway, under guard of a detachment of marines.

FEDERAL SOLDIERS KILL TEN MEXICAN BANDITS

The Outlaws Were Suspected of Implication in the Slaying of Jacob Rosenthal, the American Who Had Been Kidnapped—All Armed Men Are Being Stopped and Questioned by the Searching Troops—Mexican Authorities Have Assured the U. S. Embassy That Everything Possible Will Be Done to Punish the Murderers.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Ten suspected bandits have already been killed as a result of the Rosenthal outrage, Mexican troops are still searching the district where the crime was committed for bandits.

Today seven suspected outlaws were killed by federal soldiers in a clash near Hutzilac where Jacob Rosenthal, the American, was kidnapped last Sunday. Three suspects were killed the night before in the same district.

All armed men are being stopped and interrogated by the searching troops as under the recent law the carrying of arms is forbidden.

Three prisoners were brought to this city today who had been captured near the scene of the outrage. They were picked out by Joseph Ruff, Rosenthal's son-in-law, whom a line up of 50 prisoners and identified by him as a part of the gang that rushed his party on Sunday and kidnapped his elderly relative, who was later killed by his captors when a rescue was imminent. It is believed the three prisoners will be executed promptly.

Dr. F. E. Presley, an American physician resident in Mexico City, was sent to Cernavavaca by the United States embassy to hold a post mortem on the body of the murdered American. He reports three great knife wounds were found on the body. One was in the small of the back, another clear across the abdomen, and another across the back of the neck. There also was a bullet hole in the forehead the shot apparently being fired after Rosenthal was dead.

It would appear that Rosenthal was never removed far from the place where he was kidnapped. The bandits holding him captive circled about in a densely wooded country and finally murdered their victim when the federal troops sought to capture him by a ruse.

The United States embassy today sent another formal not to the foreign office asking the Mexican government to apprehend and punish the bandits who Wednesday night murdered their elderly American captive, Jacob Rosenthal, as troops closed in upon them. The embassy received official assurance that the Mexican authorities have been doing and will continue to do everything possible to punish the murderers.

AN UNUSUAL PROBLEM FACES MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Through an unusual turn of political circumstances the democratic party in Massachusetts tonight lacked a candidate for lieutenant governor in the approaching state elections. Harry J. Dooley of Boston who won the party nomination in this week's primaries after he had announced his retirement in favor of Joseph B. Ely of Westfield, withdrew his candidacy late today. Tonight Mr. Ely reiterated his previous declaration that he would not be a candidate under any conditions.

After the ballots had been printed for the primaries Mr. Dooley announced that he had retired in favor of Mr. Ely and advised his friends to vote for the Westfield candidate.

Returns from the polls on Tuesday indicated his nomination over Mr. Ely. Placing the blame for the situation on Chairman Charles H. McGlue of the democratic state committee, Mr. Dooley said he would withdraw his name if Mr. McGlue would resign the chairmanship. Shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon, however, he went to the state house and filed his withdrawal.

About the same time Mr. McGlue, who was nominated in the ninth congressional district to oppose Congressman Charles L. Underhill, filed his withdrawal from that contest. The party has until Tuesday next to name candidates for the two vacancies.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

DANBURY, Sept. 17—(AP)—Mrs. R. W. Robinson, of Worcester, Mass., was elected president of the Women's Missionary society of New England, at the 80th annual joint convention of the New England Christian Missionary society and the Women's Missionary society, here today. The convention is being held in the Church of Christ and delegates are present from all parts of New England. Sessions will be held tomorrow and Sunday.

Other officers elected by the Women's Missionary society are:

Vice president, Mrs. Albert Fullerton, Boston; recording secretary, Mrs. Stanley Rogers, Springfield, Mass.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. L. Burnham, Worcester, Mass.; treasurer, Mrs James Warnock, Swampscott, Mass.; junior superintendent, Mrs. A. McLean, Worcester, Mass.; director for Massachusetts, Mrs. L. C. Cummings, Lynn, Mass.; director for Vermont, Mrs. W. S. Flower, West Rupert, Vt.

Dr. Charles W. Bruningham, of Worcester, gave the president's address at the session tonight and this was followed by a pageant entitled "Two Masters."

MAN'S LEGS CUT OFF BY TROLLEY IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 17.—(AP)—His legs severed from his body an unidentified man about 48 years old and believed to be a laborer, died at New Haven hospital tonight about 15 minutes after being struck and run over by a Dixwell avenue trolley car in the viaduct between Chapel and Crown streets. The trolley crew, Harold Burns, of West Haven, motorman, and John Eckert, together with another witness will appear before Coroner Eli Mix tomorrow.

Two versions of the accident were given tonight, one by August May and the other by Motorman Burns. May claims that as the trolley car was about to pass the man, the latter appeared to fall directly across the tracks.

Burns claimed he was unaware of the presence of anyone in the viaduct until he saw the man's legs lying across the tracks in front of the car.

Burns brought his car to a stop but not before the two wheels of the front truck had passed over the man's body just below the abdomen.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WOMAN IN HARTFORD SYNOGOGUE

HARTFORD, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Mendelson, 63, of 25 Blake street, died suddenly early tonight in the synogogue of the Congregation Israel of Koreth while awaiting the commencement of the Kol Nedra service, sacred in Jewish ritual for the commemoratoin of Yom Kipper, the "day of atonement."

Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Mendelson had arrived early at the synogogue at 26 Suffield street to be sure of a seat. Shortly before the service began she complained of feeling faint and arose. She walked as far as the vestry where she collapsed. Medical aid reached her too late to be of service. Assistant Medical Examiner George Kane pronounced death due to chronic heart trouble.

DISMISSED AS INSPECTOR NOROTON SOLDIERS' HOME

HARTFORD, Sept. 17.—(AP)—By an unanimous vote the soldiers' hospital board today approved the dismissal of Major Henry E. Babcock as adjutant and inspector of the soldiers' home in Noroton, in a short meeting held in the executive chamber of the state capitol. Major Babcock will be relieved of his duties immediately.

The action of the board followed a recent suspension of the adjutant by Colonel Henry J. Seely, superintendent of the home, which was coupled with a request to the governor that Major Babcock be removed because of "incompetency."

It was stated today following the meeting that the chief reason for Major Babcock's dismissal was his age. He is 80 years old. It was said that this made him unable to carry out the duties of his office. No opposition was registered to the dismissal and the vote was taken following a brief discussion it was said.

Major Babcock has held the position of adjutant and inspector since July, 1921. He had previously been assistant postmaster of Hartford for 29 years, retiring on Aug. 20, 1920, after reaching the age limit. He had been in the postal service nearly a half century. He served in the Civil war in the Eight Massachusetts regiment.

No consideration was given by the board to the matter of choosing a new incumbent for the position. It was stated. Major Arthur C. Bennett, of Bridgeport, has been carrying out Major Babcock's duties for the past month and it is regarded as quite possible that he may be recommended for the vacancy after a few months of service. It was said by a board member tonight. Major Bennett is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars. He has been endorsed for the position by the United Spanish War Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Bridgeport.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE DAUGHERTY-MILLER CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.— (AP) —The parade of prosecution witnesses continued their march today across the trampled arena of the Daugherty-Miller fraud trial.

Under continual protection of Max D. Steuer, counsel for Harry M. Daughtery, attorney general of the Harding regime, and of William S. Rand, counsel for Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian at the same time, a score of minor and major government officials were questioned.

Objections of counsel for the defendants, who are charged with defrauding the government of their best services in permitting release of $7,000,000 realized from the sale of assets of the American Metal company impounded during the war, were based on assertions that the prosecution was "buying" the case under a mass of irrelevant testimony.

Hardly a witness took the stand today without Steuer rising to repeat his objection and without Rand calling out that his "blanket objection" was still operative. Especially was objection taken by the defense to the swearing of government employes for the purpose of identifying documents such as checks and travel vouchers.

"We are willing to admit the validity of any government papers," Mr. Steuer repeatedly announced.

To each objection government attorneys responded that all was subject to connection and would all tend to prove the guilt of the defendants. At a rule Judge Back overruled the objections and permitted the questioning of witnesses and entering of documents to proceed, but occasionally he held that the concessions of defense counsel rendered testimony unnecessary.

MIAMI IS PREPARED FOR TROPICAL STORM

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 17—(AP)—With a barometric drop expected in a few hours, Miami and Miami beach, were fortified tonight against a tropical storm of hurricane proportions that was reported sweeping out of the Caribbean sea with its center Nassau in the Bahamas Islands.

TAXES OF O. S. PECK, NORWICH START SOMETHING AT ANDOVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 17—Developments from the case of Omstead S. Peck, formerly of Andover, but of Glastonbury for the past year, who was charged with neglecting to pay his taxes on the list of 1924, in the Andover town court last May, have led to a replevin suit brought by Daniel M. Peck, of Norwich, against Deputy Sheriff Allison L. Frink of Andover. Daniel Peck claims ownership of a mowing machine valued at $35 and a wagon valued at $75, which the town of Andover, through First Selectman William Palmer and Tax Collector Willard Fuller assert are, or have been, the property of Omstead S. Peck. The latter was accused last May before Justice of the Peace Mrs. A. H. Benton of not paying his taxes on a horse, two cows and an automobile. The total tax amounted to about five dollars. Peck refused to pay and his tax was modified to about two dollars. He still refused to pay and being found guilty of this negligence by the court, he appealed to the Tolland county superior court. No settlement having been made the selectmen issued recent orders to Deputy Sheriff Frink to seize taxable property of Peck, including a mowing machine on the property of William White and a wagon at the blacksmith shop of Edward Merritt, in Andover. The articles were advertised for sale on the town sign post. Thursday morning when Sheriff Frink started to call for bids, Deputy Sheriff Albert E. Harmon of South Coventry stepped into the ring and placed a replevin attachment on the articles. The writ alleges that Daniel H. Peck is the owner of the goods. Deputy Sheriff Frink is cited to appear before the court of common pleas at Norwich on the first Tuesday in October. The town of Andover now has a bill of $42 against Omstead S. Peck.

CORONER HEARS TESTIMONY IN J. H. BLAIR FATALITY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 17—Coroner Arthur G. Bill was in this city Friday to conduct an inquest on the death of Joseph Henry Blais, previously known as Belair, of Hartford, who was killed late Tuesday night. The man fell from the cab of a three-ton van owned by George E. Dewey, of 335 Trumbull street, Hartford, and was crushed beneath the right rear wheel. John McKernan, of 53 Chestnut street, Hartford, driver of the truck, Patrick O'Toole, a helper, of 43 Carpenter avenue, Mansfield, Mass., and George Ulm of Hartford were the witnesses heard.

McKernan told of taking the trip from Hartford. The truck was being driven to Cape Cod, to return with a load of furniture. O'Toole and Ulm were sleeping in the body of the truck. From Hartford to Manchester Blais sat on the floor of the cab with his feet on the step. Leaving Manchester he turned around with his back towards the cab door and his feet on the floor. His head was resting against the seat and he appeared to be sleeping. Opposite the Dolly Stanton gasoline station on West Main street, leading into this city, McKernan felt a sudden kick against his right leg and looking down saw Blais fall backwards out of the cab. He made a grab for the man but missed and then the truck jolted as it passed over Blais' body. Witness brought the machine to a sudden stop and with O'Toole and Ulm placed the man in the truck and speeded into the city to locate the hospital. While coming down Main street police officers were called and accompanied the party to the hospital. Blais died as he was being taken into the institution.

O'Toole and Ulm told of being awakened by McKernan and of finding the injured man in the road. Coroner Bill stated that he would render his decision within a few days.

NORTH COVENTRY SLIDE A THRILLER FOR FOUR

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 17—The accident in North Coventry about 8:30 o'clock last night in which a truck was damaged and four men injured as told in today's issue of The Bulletin under a North Coventry date line, was one of the most spectacular in that section in some time. The truck, a two ton GMC owned by the Crane company branch office at Hartford and driven by Roy Fitzgerald, of Hartford, was loaded with crated lavatory supplies including heavy basins. Robert Wilson, of Hartford, was sitting in the cab with the driver. Sitting on the crates in the open body of the vehicle were John Iver and Patrick Grady, both of Providence, R. I., who had just boarded the truck. The machine started down the steep hill at the north end of Lake Wangumbaug and as near as the drivers could determine something went wrong with the steering apparatus. The truck edged to one side and then started completely around, the velocity of the sudden turn sending the metal lassies and the two Providence men skating down the road from out of the truck for about 100 feet, where all came to a stop against the state fence. Meanwhile the truck broke through part of the fence and came to a stop headed in its original direction, with a broken rear axle. Iver and Grady were taken on to the Manchester Memorial hospital, accompanied by Wilson who had been cut by broken glass from the windshield. Fitzgerald was bumped against the steering wheel but did not require medical attention.

Willimantic Country club held a highly successful lawn fete Thursday afternoon and evening being favored with good weather. The fete was in connection with a tourney between Willimantic, Stafford Springs and Putnam golfers. Concert and dance music was by Gibson's orchestra.

In the golf tournament, William MacGregor Clark of this city and R. H. Pinney of Stafford registered the lowest gross combination score, 161. Joseph M. Berard of this city and Ronald Mitchell of Stafford with a score of 176, took second honors. Individual prizes to out-of-town guests went to Ronald Mitchell, first, and R. H. Pinney, second. The lowest individual gross score for the afternoon was recorded by William Clark, with a 77.

At cards Miss Helen Cotter was first at whist; Mrs. George M. Graves first at bridge and Mrs. William E. Hendry, second; and Mrs. Nason first at 500. Fifty awards were presented at the closing feature of the fete.

The republican congressional delegates from the second district, including 61 towns in New London, Middlesex, Tolland and Windham counties, are to meet in convention at the town hall here this (Saturday) afternoon, to nominate a candidate to represent the district in congress. Charles A. Gates of Windham, chairman of the second congressional district committee, will call the convention to order. Up to Friday night but one candidate had appeared in the field of candidates for congress, the present incumbent, Richard P. Freeman of New London. Congressman Freeman has served six consecutive terms, or a total of 12 years. He was nominated by acclamation two years ago, when out of a total of 193 delegates scheduled to attend, there were but six absentees.

Joseph Henry Blais 37, who was killed by being crushed beneath a truck here late Tuesday night, leaves, in addition to relatives mentioned, two sisters, Mrs. Rose LaFlamme of this city and Mrs. Emma Deselle of Nashua, N. H., and three brothers, Hector Lawrence of Manchester, N. H., Nelson Lawrence of this city and Arthur Blais of Boston. He has been known by the name of Belair.

The three trunk highways leading into Willimantic, which have been broken up by construction during the summer, are being rapidly whipped back into condition. The Norwich-Willimantic road offers practically no further cause for delay and the new stretch of concrete is accepted with pleased comments. Columbia avenue, the entrance into the city from Hartford, remains one-way for over a mile. Sharp curves are being eliminated and the grade crossing approaches remedied. Traffic to Hartford from this city is detoured through the North Coventry road which is in perfect condition and offers slightly less mileage than the regular route.

The new layout of the road in North Windham from the village toward this city is rapidly taking form. Concrete has been laid on the east side to a distance of about three hundred feet west of the Natchaug bridge, at the city line. Beginning at North Windham, workmen have already started to lay concrete on the west side, having gone about three-quarters of a mile to date. Practically all the detouring is via North Windham, Windham Center and Brick Top, into this city.

The case of John McKernan of 53 Chestnut street, Hartford, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph Henry Blais, also of Hartford, who was killed by a truck operated by McKernan on West Main street here last Tuesday night, was taken up in police court Friday morning and continued to Thursday, September 23, at the request of the counsel for the accused.

Selectmen Ernest P. Chesebro, Charles Larrabee and David F. Ahern, and Town Clerk Frank E. Fenton will meet men and women on the list of "to be made voters" to admit them to the electors' oath, in the town building today (Saturday). The list numbers 117, 65 men and 52 women.

Joseph Lucas, 18, of Quercus avenue, this city, was fined $10 and costs for failure to give the right of way at an intersection when presented in the Hartford police court Thursday. Lucas's car figured in an accident with one driven by Robert C. Reynolds of 434 Main street, Glastonbury. Charges of reckless driving held against both drivers were nolled.

Pachaug Fair Jitney from P. O. Square today.—Adv.

Rev. G. F. Bailey of Norwich Town is to preach at Newent church Sunday in exchange with Rev. W. J. Reynolds.

Rev. Mr. Reumann of New Haven was expected to preach as a candidate at the Congregational church Sunday but he has accepted another position. Rev. St. Paul Rodell of New Haven will preach as a candidate.

Miss Ellen Faust has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

Pachaug grange fair is a credit to the town. This is only its sixth year and the advance it has made in the work on the houses, exhibits and conveniences speaks well for the promoters. Jewett City people are particularly interested in Mrs. Walter Richardson's exhibit of flowers and fancy work and Mrs. F. H. Gilbert's flowers and cooked food. Both have taken a large number of prizes. Jewett City ladies took four prizes. In talking with Frank Mix, who has a stand where he does head work, he showed the reporter a photograph of his niece, Tom Mix's daughter. The men are cousins. He said the little girl played with her father in the movie, My Own Pal. That picture happens to be advertised for Saturday night at Finn's theatre.

The town nurse report for August shows 128 Metropolitan adult visits and 32 baby calls, a total of 160. Other adult visits, 23, baby 3, total 31. Deliveries 3. Bill to Metropolitan $93. Amount collected $12, a total of $110.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Opening

The Hynds Bros. Tire company which is owned by Thomas A. Hynds and James E. Hynds, have recently leased from the Callahan Oil company, the modern Gasoline Filling Station, located at 115 North Main street, city.

In the new location, they are equipped to give first class service. The building is nicely arranged, with rest rooms for gentlemen and ladies. A concrete pit for crankcase service is also located very conveniently for draining of oil and greasing cars.

At this station the Hynds Bros. will handle Socony gasoline and oils and also, the well known Mobiloils.

They will also sell the Goodrich tires and tubes.

They extend a cordial invitation to all of their friends to inspect their new home. It is to be formally opened Saturday, Sept. 17th.

Palace Theatre

Sam Ash, whose truly wonderful voice in the singing of Rose Marie, Cherie, I Love You and Mother Machree, has delighted large audiences at the Palace will be heard for the last times at the matinee and evening performances today and the thousands who know him only by his phonographic records will have their final chance to hear this noted artist in person, the picture program is also well worth seeing for itself. The particular star is Florence Vidor in her new picture, You Never Know Women, and Ben Turpin in a corking comedy, the Palace Topical Events and a charming musical program by Walter Lang and his concert orchestra. Sunday the Palace management will start a new policy of a special program for Sunday evening only with a complete new show starting Monday. For tomorrow night the feature of the bill will be The Rainmaker, a powerfully dramatic story, filled with romance and action, with one of the greatest race track scenes ever shown in pictures as its climax. Ernest Torrence, William Collier, and Georgia Hale are the leading players supported by a large cast. A snappy comedy, What Price Orphans, the Topical Events and a novelty film with good music completes a fine entertainment. Monday an entirely new bill will be presented, the feature picture being Rex Beach's great Cosmopolitan Magazine story Padlocked one of the truly big pictures of the year, with Lois Moran, Noah Beery and Louise Dresser in the featured roles. Alice Day in Alice Be Good an Aesops Fable and the Palace News. The stage presentation will be furnished by Marguerite White and Louis Scheerer of Roxy's Famous Radio Gang direct from the Capitol theater, New York. These talented young ladies have won a national reputation as entertainers and are acknowledged one of the finest acts giving the picture palaces of the large cities. They have been secured for Norwich at large expense and their performance is in keeping with the standard of excellence set by the Palace shows.

Broadway Theatre

The current vogue for mystery plays is passing from the stage to the screen and what is promised as one of the most mysterious of thrillers is the new Gotham Production, "The Shadow on the Wall," which comes to the Broadway theatre Sunday, the first feature on a double program.

"The Shadow on the Wall," however, goes most of the stage plays one better by virtue of the greater latitude allowed in screen production and the fact that there are no tedious waits which tend to lessen the suspense.

Creighton Hale is once more in his element as the central figure of a mystery and he is ably assisted by such sterling players as Eileen Percy, Dale Fuller the clever character actress, Wm. V. Mong, Jack Curtis, Sally Rand and Hardee Kirkland.

Bounding Dick Talmadge as a two-fisted cop who wades triumphantly through some of the most exciting incidents ever devised for a screen story, is heading again toward the screen of Broadway theatre in his latest F. B. O. comedy melodrama "The Night Patrol." Dick and his company will arrive on Sunday when the production will be shown for the first time, as the second feature.

"The Night Patrol" is a rollicking tale of love and adventure with Talmadge indulging in his favorite pastime of stunts and sundry agile antics in which he is in a class by himself. In his role of the swagger young policeman, devoted to his duty and his sweetheart, he serves up a character absolutely new in its adroit development, with emphasis on the side of comedy of course. There is a strong bit of melodrama, however, in his race to save the brother of his girl from the shock of the "chair" in the state penitentiary.

A new program of vaudeville and pictures will be offered for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Strand Theatre

Roaring like a simoon rushing across the desert, Bob Custer swirls across the screen again in his latest Western feature, "No Man's Law," which comes to the Strand theatre on Sunday. Custer, a Texas college boy, whose ascent to stardom in motion pictures has been incredibly swift, rises to even greater heights in his newest production, a story of brother love into which is delightfully interspersed some of the most enjoyable comedy ever seen in this type of narrative.

Embellished with all the gymnastic gyrations and thick and lofty tumbling of Daring Dick Talmadge, "The Night Patrol," a thrilling crook melodrama of the underworld, comes to the Strand theatre Sunday as the second feature. The story differs materially from many of the previous Talmadge vehicles, and provides the star with a colorful role in which he is seen as the heroic policeman. Frank Howard Clark wrote both the original and the continuity, while Mason Nivel directed the production. Gladys Hulette gives Mr. Talmadge fine support in the part of Louise Hollister, whose ne'er-do-well brother is sentenced to the electric chair and finally rescued from the clutches of death by the redoubtable Richard. The rest of the cast, which includes Mary Carr, Grace Darmond, Victor Dillingham and others, is excellent.

A comedy of merit will complete the program. This is another of the Strand's famous double feature Sunday programs, don't miss it.

Breed Theatre

The greatest pantomimic opportunities of her career are said to be offered Colleen Moore by her latest screen vehicle, "Ella Cinders," a John McCormick picturization of the newspaper comic strip, which will be presented at the Breed theatre Sunday under First National auspices.

Humor is promised as one of the most pervading ingredients of the new production, with the thrill of novelty as added measure, for "Ella Cinders" is a chronicle of a country girl's efforts to get a foothold in the movies, and the plot is said to teem with so-called off-stage glimpses of studio life.

Surrounding Miss Moore is a cast headed by Lloyd Hughes, who has often been seen as her leading man, but apparently never often enough, judging by his great and growing popularity.

Alfred E. Green, who directed the star in her highly successful screen version of "Irene," likewise directed this latest ambitious vehicle.

Facts About Tea

Tea heats the body in winter and cools it in summer. It serves not only as a tonic, but has a stimulative and bracing effect upon the whole nervous organization. Unlike other stimulants, no bad effects or depression follow its use.

These are facts which are generally well-known in England, Canada, and Australia, and which American tea drinkers should know, but do not. They are based upon diligent and painstaking inquiries by experts and medical authorities, and are beyond question. The reason that Americans have been slow in acquiring the tea habit is because of the lack of education regarding the real benefits of tea, and the erroneous reports circulated in certain propaganda alleging the injurious effect upon the nerves. Nothing could be more erroneous than the statement that tea properly prepared is injurious. Of course, if it is prepared improperly or allowed to steep indefinitely, bitterness results, because a considerable amount of tanic acid is developed. This acid, however, is entirely avoidable by making the tea properly.

Of course, it is essential, first of all to have good tea, in other words a standardized package tea, which ensures that it will be absolutely pure when opened. This is especially true of Salada tea which is put up in aluminum packages, sealed air-tight.

Tea should always be infused, never boiled. Scald out an earthern or china teapot, and while it is warm in a level teaspoonful of tea for every cup. Pour on freshly boiling water (making sure it is bubbling boiling,) and allow it to steep for five minutes. Above all, don't indulge in that common habit of adding a few fresh tea leaves to the ones already used, thus making a second service.

Al-Pierre Tabarin, Willimantic

The Al-Pierre Tabarin at Willimantic has its grand opening tonight. The dance music will be by Fred Thumms' Hill Top Casino orchestra. This duo announcement is one which is awaited eagerly each year for the Al-Pierre Tabarin has for several seasons past been recognized as the most popular gathering place of terpsichorean artists and music lovers in this section. And there are reasons for the tremendous popularity of the Al-Pierre Tab. In naming a few it is found that the beauty of the hall, excellent floor, courteous management, catering service and among innumerable factors which have contributed to making the Tab a leading dance hall. The owners, Messrs. Albert J. Pinche and P. J. Lamoree have everything in trim for the opening. They stated that the many unusual musical treats offered last season would not only be duplicated in calibre but improved upon if possible, this year.

"Be a sport—show your dog." That's what the members of the Windham County Kennel club say in an advertisement in this issue today relative to entries for the dog show to be held at the Windham County fair in Brooklyn next Wednesday. The point out that the dog stays on exhibition only one day, and that no great hardship is involved in taking the dog over in the morning and bringing it back at night. And there is the added suggestion that a dog that may be regarded as a wonderful animal around home, and more or less of a pet, might win a blue ribbon if entered for exhibition and prove to possess more class than an owner ever suspected was being harbored around his place. Every man loves his dog and tells you the unusually interesting things he does. Maybe he is really better than "the other fellow's dog." There is a chance to determine this by puttin ghim (or her) in the dog show at Brooklyn next week.

Dempsey and Tunney fade temporarily into the background as sporting propositions as the Buddies and Nail Drivers of the Danielson Twilight league, tied for the leadership at the end of the season of scheduled games, prepare to face each other at Connecticut Mills field Sunday afternoon. This contest is what sport writers on big dailies with no restrictions as to words call a crucial game. It is just that. It will decide whether the Buddies, recruited from the ranks of ex-service men in town, or the Nail Drivers, who are carpenters by trade and good ballplayers incidentally, shall be crowned as champs of a local baseball league that has stirred up more interest in the national pastime than Danielson has known in years. Weeks ago in this column there was a forecast of these teams being likely to meet each other in a final decision. The Buddies got away like a whirlwind at the opening of the season and had a big lead. The Nail Drivers came along more slowly but none the less irresistibly. At the end of the season, having triumphed over four other league teams, they are tied for the lead with 11 games won and 4 lost in each case. There'll be an overflow crowd at Connecticut Mills field Sunday afternoon to see the playoff, if the weather is right, and the teams are going so good that the game will be well worth every fan seeing.

Lagace will do the pitching and Gasiorek will be on the receiving end for the Buddies, while the boxman for the Nail Drivers will Alec LaBelle, with Chartier behind the bat. Fans who have followed the league closely will tell you that's it's a toss-up as to which team wins the game.

At Old Trinity church, Church street, Brooklyn, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, funeral services for Miss Annie E. Day were conducted by Rev. Leonard R. Richards, rector of St. Alban's church. There were numbers of friends in attendance. The bearers were Walter E. Kies, E. H. Keach, Alfred L. Reed, Herbert Chase, F. O. Armington and Sidney P. Marland. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Ruth W. Lewis, wife of John F. Lewis, died during Thursday night at their home on Reynolds street. Mrs. Lewis had been in failing health for a long time and seriously ill the past twelve weeks. She was born in Bristol, R. I., August 17, 1849, a daughter of Otis and Sarah Lawton Parker. Mrs. Lewis had been a resident here for a considerable term of years.

JOHN B. BYRNE ON THE WAY TO LOS ANGELES CONVENTION

(Special to the Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 17—John B. Byrne of this city, bank commissioner of Connecticut, is a member of a party of prominent bank executives who sailed yesterday on the Panama Pacific line steamer Finland, for a voyage to San Diego via Havanna and the Panama canal, en route to Los Angeles to attend the fifty-first convention of the American Bankers' association which is to open October 4.

Many Putnam people were interest- ed to lear of the engagement of Edward Champion Acheson, Jr., to Miss Amy Lewis Rupert of Wilmington, Del. The announcement was made at a tea given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Rupert, parents of Miss Rupert at their home, Sedgley, at Wilmington. Miss Rupert is a graduate of Bryn Mawr college. Mr. Acheson, who is the son of Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Edward Campion Acheson was a member of the class of 1924 at Williams college, is employed by the Curtis Publishing company at Philadelphia, is now traveling in the south. The date for the wedding has not been set. Rt. Rev. Edward C. Acheson is suffragan bishop of the diocese of Connecticut.

Betty Putnam chapter, Order of the Eastern Star at Woodstock, received the first visit of inspection of the Worthy Grand Matron and her official family Friday night. The officers with Worthy Grand Matron Grace E. Childsey of New Haven were the same as visited Putnam lodge the night before with the addition of the former worthy grand matron, Mrs. Gallup of Moosup. There were a number of visitors from Putnam, Danielson, Moosup, and several from outside the state. Betty Putnam chapter is the baby lodge of the state, having been instituted just a year ago. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

At the annual meeting of trustees of the Methodist church, held at the church the following were elected: George Pratt, G. Stanley Shaw, A. R. Saunders, L. J. Tripp, Thomas Bell and J. R. McCormick. This is the same board of trustees that served last year.

The services at the Second Congre- gational church Sunday morning will be in honor of the young people of the church who are leaving for schools and colleges.

The members of Rho Delta class of the Methodist church were entertained Friday evening by Mrs. Albert Hall at her home on Farrow street. There was a large attendance.

The outing at Alexander's lake Fri- day afternoon under the auspices of the Men's club of the Second Congregational church was a great success. The program was carried out as planned and there were about fifty in attendance. The club is planning a series of entertainments for the winter.

The Sunnyside Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Earl B. Thompson on Grove street. Miss Florence Pitkin was in charge of the games. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Olive Whitney.

Headquarters company of the 43rd division is discussing a number of activities for the coming winter. The following committee has been appointed to take charge: Child. J. Valade, O. Valade, Mayotte, Green, Gardner and Murphy.

Mrs. George Gilpatric has returned to her home on Fremont street after having spent the summer with her son, Walter Gilpatric and family at their summer home at Mt. Desert, Me. Her sister, Miss Etta Hodges of Somerville arrived Friday and will spend the winter with Mrs. Gilpatric.

Stuart Pease of Syracuse, N. Y., who has been visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Pease returned on Saturday morning to his home. Miss Edith Pease, who goes to Oberlin college, O., will return with him for a visit of a few days before resuming her school work.

Misses Bertha and Edith Cadd returned today (Saturday) to their studies at Simmons college, Boston. Miss Bertha to begin her senior year and Miss Edith her sophomore year.

Miss Sarah Barbery has returned to New London for her senior year at Connecticut college for women.

Mrs. Palmer Prescott and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan of Webster were Putnam visitors Friday.

Miss Edith Pease has been entertaining Miss Doris Hope of Wauregan at her home on Fremont street.

Mrs. George F. Payne of this city with her daughter, Miss Ella Payne of Warwick, R. I., have been guests of friends at Oak Bluffs, Mass.

Miss Helen Wheaton of this city and Miss Mildred Hattin of Pomfret have returned from a visit with Cape Cod friends.

The Woman's Guild of St. Philip's church held a food sale at the community rooms of the Putnam Savings bank Friday afternoon and netted a very good sum for their treasury.

SECOND DAY OF PACHAUG FAIR FEATURES BABY SHOW

(Special to the Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 17—The second day of Pachaug Grange fair found the exhibits in place, and the judges at work. This fair is not second to any in its fine exhibits. The floral exhibit is unusually attractive, as well as the vegetable, fruits, grains and the domestic products house holds splendid articles.

The baby show was the main attraction Friday as eighteen babies were present to be weighed and measured. Dr. G. H. Jennings, Mrs. F. W. Chase, R. N. and Miss Alice Brennan, R. N. were in charge of the five girl and thirteen boy babies The first prize for girls went to Malvina Menard, second to Natalie Browning and third to Louise Podusky. The first prize for boys went to Stanton Brown, second to Charles Harrington, Jr., and the third was a tie, between David Geer and Russel Gomes. The prizes were silver spoons.

A bag scrap on a slippery wooden horse made lots of fun for everybody except the man who fell off. Byron Kinnie won first in this event and John Bromley second. Frank Mix is here again with his stand. He is a cousin of Tom Mix, and is his twin in resemblance. He is with the Keith vaudeville circuit in the winter since he left the movies and holds the world championship for bronco riding and roping. It is a coincidence that he has a photograph of Tom Mix's baby daughter who is to appear with her father in the movie "My Own Pal."

BIRCH BARK STRIPS ON ROOF UNDER SHINGLES 130 YEARS

(Special to the Bulletin)

LISBON, Sept. 17—The front roof of the parsonage is being shingled and much repairing on the old shingles. Scott Goode who is doing the work, found that all of the spaces between the boards were covered with strips of birch bark, nailed on securely that [illegible] have not been torn off in any previous shingling. It is evident that the birch bark was put on when the house was built, 130 years ago.

Mrs. Ira Wheeler of Leffingwell, with her niece, and family of Norwich Town were callers in the northern part of the town Sunday afternoon.

Several campers from this town attended preston grange meeting Tuesday evening.

BEFORE HER BABY CAME

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adkins, Texas.—"Before my baby came I was so weak I had to stay in bed most of the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother-in-law, who is a midwife, told me it was all foolishness for me to stay in bed. She told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it would help me. She handed me one of your little books and I read it and was interested in it. I went to a drug store that night and got a bottle of your wonderful medicine. I took it until the baby was born and was able to be up and do my work. Baby is 4½ months old now and weighs 14 pounds. I have plenty of milk for her and she gains steadily. I recommend it. I am willing to answer letters and will do anything I can for any woman, for I know how I suffered."—Mrs. A. H. TSCHIRHART, R. No. 2, Box 39, Adkins, Texas.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use by women for over fifty years. It is a vegetable tonic made from roots and herbs and is sold by all druggists.

Rinso
I used to send the washing out occasionally, especially when it was very heavy. But some months ago my grocer urged me to try Rinso and I must say it has made washing so easy for me that I pity any woman who hasn't tried it yet. Why, it just soaks the dirt right out of the clothes so that you don't have any scrubbing to do. And the clothes turn out so sweet and white — much whiter than with other laundry soaps. Besides, washing with Rinso is safe for the clothes and the hands, too.
MRS. OSCAR BJORK,
66 Elizabeth St.,
Norwich, Conn
Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.

Grocer Recommended it, Norwich woman says:

For a whiter wash without scrubbing

-just try this granulated soap

GROCERS all over town—women, too—are telling about this new way of washing.

They like to recommend this amazing new kind of soap that soaks out dirt and stains—that gets the week's wash spotless without a bit of hard rubbing!

Try it and see! Just soak the whole week's wash in creamy Rinso suds. No scrubbing. No boiling. You don't need to touch a washboard. Just soak, rinse—and dirt and stains float off.

Millions of women do the wash this "no work" way every week. Millions of women say "Rinso" to the grocer—because they know the quick Rinso way gives them a whiter, brighter wash than ever.

Saves hands and clothes

Rinso, the granulated laundry soap, is all you need on washday—no bar soaps, chips or powders. It is absolutely safe for hands and clothes; contains no acids, bleaches or harmful chemicals.

No more scrubbing clothes threadbare. Now, even the most soiled parts need only a gentle rub or two between the fingers.

No boiling needed!

Say goodbye to hot, steamy kitchens, for now you don't need to boil the wash unless you like to. Rinso soaking whitens without boiling. Sterilizes, too!

Try Rinso just once—that's all we ask. You'll never go back to washboard scrubbing again! Get it today. For economy and best results, follow easy directions on package.

Fine in washing machines

Rinso is so fine in washers that the makers of 28 leading washing machines recommend it. Quick and safe—and gets white clothes whiter, colored clothes brighter, than ever.

LITTERED STREETS

In the city of Philadelphia an additional outlay of $800,000 a year is advocated and will be considered by the city council for the purpose of removing the litter which now accumulates in the streets. That city gathers its ashes once a week and garbage about three times a week, they being kept in separate receptacles and moved by the householder to the street. Under this arrangement much litter exists in the streets and it is hoped to prevent it by having the city take the material from within the building lines.

Philadelphia is wrestling with litter in streets, apparently the kind that could from the material that is intended for the dump being blown about or spread about the street while waiting for collection. Whether it will obtain the desired relief after the city collectors begin distributing the rubbish along the walks and leaving it in the street when it fails during the loading is another question. Except possibly Philadelphia doesn't tolerate any such slipshod methods of removal.

But there is in addition to the litter which comes from the backyards much that is deliberately thrown into the streets by the passersby. That is a condition which is characteristic in too many cities. The street, or gutter, seems to be looked upon as the common dumping ground for all kinds of material when a person has no further use for it and the array of papers, tins, boxes and other litter is distressing to those who know the value of good looking streets and are anxious to have their city look a lot better than some others they have seen.

There is much of this material that the individual is responsible for and what is done by a few invariably stands as an example for others. Whether the Quaker city would overcome its litter problem through the extension of its collection activities is a question. Certain problems might be solved but a different sort of a campaign seems possible of those who litter the gutters whatever the spirit prompts are going to be reached.

TOLL ROADS AGAIN

Kinds of suggestions have been offered in the way of road construction for the purpose of relieving congestion on some of the much used highways, especially where roads are found not only to be the result of the normal expansion of motor vehicle traffic but where it is being required to handle much of the business that was formerly taken care of by railroads and the trolley lines now or were heads of war.

There is the widening of present highways which is being done in much expense with special boulevards being constructed, in some instances involving the tearing out of the old road, even when of cement construction, and there is the construction of new routes and auxiliary roads for the purpose of diverting traffic.

Under such conditions with the rapid increase in the number of autos, the desire to get to a destination speedily and the various handicaps encountered in the highways, it is not surprising that a new, modern highway is being advocated across New Jersey from Camden to Atlantic City as a toll highway.

This may seem like going backward to other days when roads were built by private capital and those using them were required to pay as they passed. It is the same as is done with some bridges at the present time, and in the case of bridges states are even sharing toll for the purpose of meeting the expense of construction and maintenance, and in view of the accommodations which they afford there can be no serious objection.

The New Jersey toll road proposition hasn't reached the stage where any decision has been made. That it would offer a speedier way than the public highway seems probable. Perhaps it would even be restricted to certain type of vehicles so as to overcome some of the conditions on the much congested roads at the present time. It is without question one of the plans which is bound to come up in providing a solution for the highway problem which has to do with crowded conditions, vans, trucks and horse drawn vehicles.

CANADA'S ELECTION

Canada is taking stock as the result of its election and the indications are that while the victory has not been quite as clear cut as might have been desired it shows possibilities which portend the direction of affairs by the liberal party, even though the liberals lack an actual majority.

There has been ended the situation under which the conservatives were put in control. Mr. Meighen has been beaten not only through the defeat of needed support in parliament but he failed of election himself. The Meighen government must, therefore give way to what promises to be the King government for it is not by any means out of the question that there should be an alignment between the liberals and the progressive liberals, by which more than a majority vote would be obtained. The desire was for a straight liberal government upon the part of Mackenzie King. He got within five votes of that necessary 123 and it is quite natural that the eight progressive liberals should be willing to contribute their aid in providing the needed votes for a majority.

The ending of the Meighen government and the establishment of the King leadership would mean a different attitude relative to this country and the tariff. Where the conservatives have been supporting a high tariff for the protection of Canadian industries the liberals have given recognition to the fact that Canada must give consideration to its agricultural interests and place them first and not build up a tariff wall that would be more detrimental than good to the people of the dominion.

From the vote it would appear that the people of Canada were much disposed to getting back to the two party system rather than fostering a lot of irresponsible parties and making it difficult to agree upon policies or to accomplish anything constructive. The strong support given to the liberals indicates if it shows anything that the people of Canada are desirous that there be less elections and that one party be put into power and kept there in the interest of better government.

THE SARATOGA DISCLOSURE

Regardless of the efforts to overcome bad conditions in New York state through legislation it was evident that little attention was being paid to it at Saratoga. It was openly claimed that the authorities were winking at them and it became necessary for an investigation. Supreme Court Justice Heffernan was named to get at the facts. He has succeeded in obtaining enough evidence to recommend the removal of the district attorney, the sheriff and the commissioner of public safety. That creates the impression that the conditions were found to be not only as bad as pictured but that those who were supposed to prevent them were not doing their duty.

The situation is one that calls for a clean up. The governor has asked the three men referred to what they have to say in regard to the charge and the result has been thus far that two of them have resigned. The state commissioner, a close friend of the governor, in forwarding his resignation set forth that there was more reported in administering the office than he could personally attend to.

From the present view of the situation it would appear that a different attitude will be manifested by the authorities toward the gambling situation in Saratoga in the future than has been in the past. Because the safety commissioner failed to do what was expected of him disrespect for the law was tolerated. By his action in neither upholding the law nor in resigning his office he, and the others, were sanctioning the gambling conditions and the acceptance of a resignation now after the recommendation of removal seems to be mild treatment under the circumstances.

PAYING THE DEBTS

Regardless of the efforts that are being put forth on the other side of the water, and by some of this side, there is no swelling sentiment in behalf of debt cancellation among the people of this country. There still and never has been a hard hearted attitude taken by the United States in regard to the war debts. We recognized the need of furnishing the funds. We expected that they would be repaid, but we didn't hesitate in discussing the money much there could be assurances that every cent would be paid with interest, but turned it over for the use of the European countries whether it could be repaid or not.

In negotiations for adjustment of the debts stress has been laid upon the capacity of the debtor nations to pay and those including the arrangements for payments have been given upon that understanding. It is simply a straightforward businesslike arrangement, with large concessions in certain instances, and in the negotiations the consideration has been given to the effect which such agreements was bound to have upon the people of the respective nations.

This country has been told that it would gain more in the end by cancellation. It isn't plain it would more in the end than it is entitled to or than the other nations can pay. With the passing of time it may be that the amounts to pay has been overestimated. If that is the case it will be time to consider when the day arrives.

In the interest of good business and in the interest of peace the payment of the war debts is only what each debtor nation should be desirous of completing. The funds can be put to much better use in that manner than by being poured into the channels which have for centuries done nothing but encourage more wars.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

That character is influenced by environment admits of no possible doubt. Let anyone, however good the stock he come from, be put into a bad moral atmosphere, and he will soon reflect his moral surroundings, in every fiber of his being. But close observers tell us that even topography and climate have something to do in the production of personality. It is certainly true that rough, mountainous countries rear men not only of physical brawn, but mental and moral ruggedness. Soft climates are the paradise of soft peoples; not those who discover continents, or build up vast business enterprises. The hard, raw climate of New England produces white oak trees and white oak men. Mountains particularly are associated with loftiness of mind and soul. Scotland, Switzerland and New England are remarkable for "mountain majesties" and for men and women of the highest rank. No race of men have ever surpassed the descendants of the Pilgrim fathers.

As one goes about and listens to the conversation or different groups of men here and there he is appalled at the frequency with which God's name is profaned. To insult the Deity or to say, "I don't mean anything by it; it is only a thoughtless habit." We cannot get into the habit of doing some things with impunity. If you should knock a man down, would you plead as an excuse that it was only a "thoughtless habit?" How would the judge and jury in any court treat such an excuse? And yet every time you swear you virtually strike your Maker in the face, and do you think you are going to get away with it? What does your reason tell you? Suppose you get into the habit of traducing your country, will you get away with that?

The identity of man with the natural world expresses itself forcibly in this season of the year. If this statement needed any proof all one has to do is to point to the exodus at this time of people from the seashore and mountains back to their homes. Why is it that country resorts make a specialty of "Cascades," "Roaring Brooks," "Mountain Glens," "Ice Caves" and the spots where the early settlers were scalped by the Indians? It is simply because such places appeal strongly to man's instinctive love of nature. It is refreshing to cast aside for the time being the exacting conventions of our social order and go back to the primitive modes of life. The scant attire demanded by life in the woods and fields and lakes shows us that some trace of the caveman still lingers in our blood. If human society is to continue virile it must not get beyond the touch of Mother Earth.

A well-known Scotch divine touring in this country is reported to have said that "things worth having always lie beneath the surface." It may be that this assertion would need to be modified to meet isolated cases, but it is so true as to provoke our thinking. Most of the enjoyable things of life are the fruit of individual exertion. Nothing vitally important comes to us, not even sunlight and air, apart from diligent searching. Generally the more important a thing is the harder it is to get. We can pick up cobble stones almost anywhere, but not diamonds. I once asked a quarryman why they went down 400 feet after marble when it was cropping above the surface. His answer was, "The deeper we go the better the marble." Isn't that true of all our endeavor? The deeper we go into education the more valuable it is to us.

Sometime ago a very striking editorial appeared in the Boston Transcript in regard to the convention of the Boy Scouts that was held at that time in London. All England was amazed over the showing of the American lads in the efficiency tests. It was very easy to see that they were younger brothers of the doughboys who astonished the world in the part they played in driving the invader back from the Meuse. The blood relationship was frequently commented upon as the lads went through their stunts, and the great metropolitan press with singular unanimity lauded the safety of our country with such boys to defend its national honor in the future. It will be many long years before any American treaty will be torn into shreds because it is only "a scrap of paper." General Sir Baden-Powell has done notable service along many lines, but he will be best remembered as the originator of the Boy Scouts organization.

There is a growing tendency in all great religious conventions to utilize all available material. There is the psychological effect in introducing features, that do not conform to the supposed: the heavy thoughtful addresses. It is very tiresome to listen for two or three hours to solid sermons, however instructive and interesting they may be. One convention recently introduced a junior choir of children ten years old and younger and when one little ones sang Precious Jewels it was the dramatic climax of a notable gathering. Very much like this was a pageant given in a large Boston church bringing out some of the phases of the life of the Pilgrims. There is no better way in which history can be taught to children than by pageants. It makes the past a living thing to them.

It is not at all strange that during the past summer some parts of our great land were visited by electrical storms of very great severity. In number and fury possibly they have not been above the average, and yet the toll of precious human lives has been great taken in the aggregate, while the destruction of property has been almost phenominal. There is one feature of an electrical storm that is generally overlooked because it baffles tabluation and that it is the shock it gives to the nervous system. Some people are perfectly indifferent to a heavy crash of thunder; others are upset by it. They suffer from fear when the atmosphere is surcharged with electricity, not from cowardice, but from the effect the storm has upon their nervous organization, and this is largely beyond their control. When we have a larger knowledge of this mysterious force we shall find that there are no freaks in lightning. There is a scientific reason why lightning strikes when and where it does. We have learned that one great attraction for lightning is an unventilated and heated attic. By all means says science have a current of fresh air flowing through all rooms in summer.

The question is sometimes asked why it is that lawns in this country hardly compare with the same in Great Britain? Of course climate has most to do with it. Our lawns are often ragged and uneaven because the frost unheaves them and the sun scorches them. Only by the use of a heavy roller, copious waterings and top dressings can we make them like those in some other countries. There may be some of us who would be perfectly willing to see lawns less disposed to be velvety, and lawn mowers less required for vigorous action for quite a number of months to come.

An appeal for "moral and financial assistance" for 2,500 striking employes of the American Thread company at Willimantic, Conn., was made at the convention of the United Textile Workers of America in New York.

SESQUICENTENNIAL OF HALE'S SACRIFICE.

The sesquicentennial of Nathan Hale's sacrifice falls on Sept. 22 and there will be a fitting observance of it at South Coventry, Hales birthplace.

The following is a selection from a sketch of the life and fate of Captain Hale, by George Dudley Seymour:

Nathan Hale was born at Coventry, Connecticut, June 6, 1755, the fourth son and sixth child of the 12 children of Deacon Richard Hale, an energetic farmer, a man of strudy character and public spirit. On both sides the inheritance was of the best old New England stock. He was prepared for college by the village minister and entered Yale in 1769 with the class of 1773. It is plain from the evidence at hand that he was one of the foremost figures in his class. His engaging personality, serious-mindedness, skill as an athlete, and his ardent temperament, made him a marked man in the college world of his time. He was one of the chief supporters and a strong partisan of Linonia and the primemover, in building up its library. We have no more interesting and attractive picture of fraternity life at Yale than we get through the reading minutes of the Linonia society now preserved in the college archives, and partly written in Hale's own clear and even elegant hand.

After graduation in 1773, he taught school in East Haddam for a few months, leaving there in March, 1774, to become the preceptor of the Union Grammar school in New London, where he was teaching when the war broke out. Ardently patriotic, he enlisted and served as first lieutenant in a Connecticut regiment throughout the siege of Boston. In March, 1775, he went with his regiment to New York and served there until his untimely end, meanwhile having been commissioned a captain in the Continental army.

In responding to Washington's call in September, 1776, for information of the enemy's strength and position, he seems to have been fully conscious of the danger of his undertaking, from which his friend and comrade-in-arms Captain William Hull (Yale 1772) of Derby tried in vain to dissuade him. He started on his hazardous mission about September 12, crossing the sound at Norwalk. Nothing is known of his experiences in the enemy's lines, and no satisfactory account of the place and mode of his capture has yet appeared. He was executed in New York on Sunday morning, September 22, 1776, 150 years ago. It is hard for us now to realize that he was only in his 22nd year, having passed his 21st birthday on the 6th of the previous June. Recent researches place his execution at about the intersection of Third avenue and 65th or 66th streets.

Hull's account of Hale, as given in his Memoirs, is in part as follows:

"Sir William Howe, without the form of a trial, gave orders for his execution the following morning. He was placed in the custody of the provost marshal, who was a refugee, hardened to human suffering and every softening sentiment of the heart. Capt. Hale, alone, without sympathy or support, saw that from above, on the near approach of death asked for a clergyman to attend him. It was refused. He then requested a Bible; that, too, was refused by his inhuman jailer.

"On the morning of his execution, continued the officer, "my station was near the fatal spot, and I requested the provost marshal to permit the prisoner to sit in my marquee while he was making the necessary preparations. Capt. Hale entered; he was calm, and bore himself with gentle dignity in the consciousness of rectitude and high intentions. He asked for writing materials, which I furnished him; he wrote two letters, one to his mother and one to a brother officer. He was shortly after summoned to the gallows. But a few persons were around him, yet his characteristic dying words were remembered. He said, I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

The most detailed account of Hale's personal appearance that has come down to us is that contained in the pungent reminiscences written by Lieut. Elisha Bostwick, of New Milford, on his commission (signed by John Hancock,) now on file in the War Pension Archives at Washington. It was the writer's good fortune to rediscover this document at Washington some years ago. C. Hale Bostwick writes con amore:

I will now make some observations upon the amiable and unfortunate Capt. Nathan Hale whose fate is so well known; for I was with him in the same Regt. both at Boston & New York & until the day of his tragical death; & although of inferior grade in office was always in the habits of friendship & intimacy with him; & no remembrance of his person, manners & manner of dress is so perfect that I feel inclined to make some remarks upon them. I can now in imagination see the person & hear his voice—his person should say was a little above the common stature in height, his shoulders of a moderate breadth, his limbs straight & very plump; regular features—very fair skin—blue eyes—flaxen or very light hair which was always kept short—his eyebrows a shade darker than his hair and his voice rather sharp and piercing—his bodily agility was remarkable. I have seen him follow a football & kick it over the tops of the trees in the Bowery at New York (an exercise which he was fond of)—His mental powers seemed to be above the common sort—his mind of a sedate and sober cast, & he was undoubtedly Pious; for it was remarked that when any of the soldiers of his company were sick he always visited them & usually prayed for & with them on their sickness.

"A little anecdote I will relate; on day he accidentally came across some of his men in a bye place playing cards—he spoke—what are you doing—this won't do—give me your cards, they did so & he chopd them to pieces, & it was done in such a manner that the men were rather leased than otherwise—his activity on all occasions was wonderful—he would make a pen the quickest, & the best of any man—One more reflection I will make—why is it that the delicious Capt. Hale should be left & lost in an unknown Grave & forgotten"!

Hale had many friends in the Continental army, and a wide general and college acquaintance. The neglect of his memory by those who should have cherished it and paid tribute to him, as well as by the federal government, is one of the strange passages in our history. It is not satisfactorily explained by the ignomity that attached to the mode of his death, since Andre, also hanged, was widely mourned on both sides of the Atlantic, while the sacrifice of Hale passed almost unnoticed and was soon almost forgotten and never widely mourned as was that of Andre, for whom England raised a splendid memorial in Westminster Abbey. Today, barring the living of Nathan Hale is probably the best known American, after Washington, Lincoln, and Roosevelt, a striking statement but a reasonable one, for it would be hard to find, throughout the length and breadth of our land, a schoolboy or schoolgirl unacquainted with the memorable last words of this youthful patriot, who, so long ago, "resigned his life a sacrifice to his country's liberty." Hale has not yet been admitted to the official Hall of Fame, which may be thought to need the luster of his name more than his fame needs anything that the Hall of Fame could bring to it. It is a cause for thankfulness that after comparative neglect for a century he should now have definitely taken his place as our youthful national hero and our matchless symbol of patriotism. In his youth, in his personal beauty and athletic prowess, in his simplicity and straightforwardness of character, in his supreme sacrifice and early death, he has an unfading brightness which must forever endear him to all who are quick to feel a modest and manly spirit.

Sunday Morning Talk

SCIENCE

Science turns man's environment into a shop, art into song, literature into a library, society into a brotherhood, but religion lifts it into a temple of worship that not only stands for the eternal without, but for the undying principle within man, which corresponds to it.

It is remarkable that man has used the religious gateway, standing as it does between the deepest within him and the highest without him, more than any of the other, through which he holds commerce with the universe.

Nothing in history is more wonderful than the everlasting cry which goes up from the deep, burdened heart of the race for companionship and peace, with the great Being of whose presence, in every age, it has had a conviction that nothing could destroy. That there is an eternal and universal reality in the borderless, outlying spaces corresponding to the spiritual nature of man in the glad truth for religion to interpret.

It is the work of science to give us the environment as it can serve us in this world: it is the province of religion to give us the environment as it can serve us in the next.

Science, by its kindly ministrations, lets life down gently to the grave, religion points it to a realm where no tomb shall stand as a reminder of its mortality.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

James A. Reed, who has announced his intention to retire from the United States senate at the expiration of his present term in 1929, has been one of the representatives of Missouri in the upper house since 1911. From the very commencement of his senatorial career Senator Reed attracted attention by the vigor, tenacity, and self-reliant character of his conduct, and by his disposition to act independently of caucus or executive influence. Much of his later fame is the result of his bitter satirical attacks on important legislation. Since he took his seat 15 years ago he has fought woman suffrage, prohibition, the maternity bill, the Panama free tolls repeal, the war time food control act, the Three and Four Power treaties, the Federal Reserve Bill, and the league of nations. Senator Reed is a lawyer by profession and first gained prominence as a "reform mayor" of Kansas City.

TRAFFIC

By the Albert Russel Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research University of California, Los Angeles

Parking Must be Controlled Traffic will be Relieved Business Benefitted

Every city should enforce rules which will insure that the parking of vehicles is carried on in such a manner as to afford an equal opportunity for all drivers, and as little obstruction as possible to traffic movement. Where there are more who desire to park than there are spaces available, time limits should be placed upon parking.

The amount of time that should be permitted can be determined by a simple survey of parking practice, which will reveal the length of time that cars are usually left by shoppers. In the business districts of most cities this will range from thirty minutes to one hour. It is unfair to the public to permit curb space to be used by a few early comers for all-day parking. Business will be benefitted by reasonable limits for it will make stores more accessible to customers.

Parking of cars at an angle to the curb should rarely be permitted, except upon streets of great width, as this method of storage takes up too much of the roadway space and interferes with moving traffic. It should especially be avoided where street cars operate. The local ordinance should require drivers to place their cars with both right wheels within one foot of the curbing. This rule can be facilitated by the painting of a parking line a little more than an average car width out from the curbing.

Parking should of course be entirely prohibited for any length of time in alleys and in streets which are too narrow for the passage of two lines of vehicles in addition to the parked cars in order that traffic may move with ease parking should be restricted at certain other places on the streets. For example where there are fountains or other obstructions in the streets, which narrow the roadways and tend to form bottle-necks, no cars should be permitted to stand. Likewise parking should be entirely prohibited at curb spaces opposite street car loading zones. These zones serve to limit the street space at the points where they are located. When parking takes place opposite them congestion almost inevitably results.

No parking should be permitted within fifteen feet of property lines at street intersections at any place within the city. A car parked near the corner, makes the turning of traffic difficult and also creates dangers by making it impossible for drivers to see cars approaching from side streets.

Restrictions should be placed upon the parking of automobiles within 15 feet of fire hydrants. In many cities parking is permitted to so interfere with the operations of the fire department as to create a great public danger. As another public safety measure no cars should be parked in alleys or other places near the exits of theatres.

Planet Temperatures

The latest authoritative study on the temperature of the planets gives as the most reliable values of the surface temperatures: Venus, 45 degrees C.; Mars, 15 degress C.; Jupiter and Saturn, 80 degrees C.; the value for Venus being somewhat doubtful, but the others much more trustworthy.

YOUR HEALTH

Bacteria, Friends and Foes!

By JAMES A. DURRANT, M. D.
Snohomish, Wash.
Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

Did you ever stop to realize that the air, the soil, everything we handle or touch, all the food that we eat, in fact everything in the world is covered with millions and millions of tiny living beings called bacteria?

These minute bits of life are invisible to the naked eye unless there are hundreds of them grouped together. Under a microscope these tiny bits of living matter can be easily seen and studied. They vary greatly in shape and size, and multiply rapidly in moist dark places, generally by simple division of the old cell.

Many are quite harmless. If this were not the case we should be ill much of the time, for with everything we eat, we take into our bodies millions of bacteria. These organisms cause the decay of animal and vegetable matter. If animals and plants after death did not decay, there would be scarcely room for us to live in this world. The making of butter, cheese, wines, cider, even the curdling of milk, is due to the action of various types of bacteria.

But there are other types of bacteria that are harmful and dangerous to life and are the cause of disease. We have but to think of small-pox diphtheria, tonsilitis, tuberculosis, influenza and a host of other diseases. Very fortunately these forms of bacteria do not thrive outside the human body. Extreme conditions such as boiling will kill them readily. Freezing however is not so effective and bacteria have been found in ice, and in ice cream that has been frozen for some time.

The bacteria which cause diseases do not float about in the air at random. We obtain diseases from other people by coming into direct contact with them, or getting into our mouth, eyes or nose those bacteria which they have left on towels, drinking glasses, books, pencils, etc.

Never put anything in your mouth but pure wholesome food and drink and your own tooth brush. Keep your fingers and all articles away from your mouth, eyes and nose. Be always on guard. Make sure that your drinking water and milk is pure. Bacteria will not thrive in clean places. Bacteria are for us, or they are against us; but always they are with us.

Make the Most of Books

By James Hosmer Penniman, Litt. D.

Books Give Permanency to Thought

Books not only acquaint us with the thoughts of the great men of the past but they enable us to make permanent our own thoughts, so that if our ideas are worthy of being perpetuated those who live centuries hence may be as familiar with our minds as we are with the minds of Milton or Dante. A book enables the thought of one man to reach all other inquiring men in ages to come. Men of whom their world was not worthy have gained late recognition through their books; men whose minds were far in advance of their time have handed down their thoughts in books which have at last found appreciative readers.

The printing press has multiplied enormously our means of giving currency to ideas, but thought is no more powerful now than in the time of Plato or Aristotle. Men like these wrote books before the time of Christ which are still consulted on the subjects of which they treat. Many of the problems of life and death are as mysterious to us as they were to them.

YOM KIPPUR MESSAGE TO JEWS FROM HEAD RABBI

Disrespect for religious as well as statutory laws is attributed largely to the enactment of prohibition by Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein of New York, president of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, in a message addressed to the rabbis of 200 congregations in the United States and Canada. The message is to be read in synagogue Saturday next, on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. It reads:

"In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did that which was right in his own eye.—Judges, 21: 25.

"We have reverted in this time and land to the condition that prevailed in Israel when the foregoing passage in the Bible was inspired.

"On every side there is a disrespect for law, the laws of men no less than the laws of God. Our solemn prohibition statute flagrantly violated on every hand by the great and small, the religious and the irreligious has given a disregard for all laws and for all authority that is having manifest in the synagogue and is serving to bring about a demoralization of our forms of religious observance as and down in the Torah, with the inevitable sequence of a lowering of the standards of morality and the disrupting of Jewish family life.

"The situation is so serious as to call for drastic action and merits the earnest consideration at this time and during the solemn period of our religious year, of all Orthodox Jews, for those who set themselves above the rules of our faith and would amend them to suit their own standards of individual preference are disloyal Jews. The Jewish religion is a religion of laws, not of men. No rabbi, no trustee, no member of a congregation is above the law of the Torah, with the inevitable consequence that he is doing himself and his family an irreparable injury.

"Many congregations today [illegible] a rather serious time seeking to [illegible] the element of Jewish tradition which provides for the separation of the sexes during religious services. This tradition is as essential to the preservation of our faith as any other. It is intended not to place woman in a position inferior to man, but is aimed primarily at the man, rather than the woman.

"That as it is now sought to bring about a commingling of the sexes during worship, the entering wedge for other departures from the basic law, so we find many of our rabbis, instead of expounding the law as it is written, subservient to the will and sentiment of pressure of the trustees and members of their congregations and preaching a stereotyped form of religion which, while highly palatable to their members, administers no remedy for the evils of the day and is false to the faith itself.

"Commercialism, too, is creeping into our religious life. We find this cankerin the non-observance of our Sabbath and holy days, in our dietary laws and the methods of conducting them and even in the rites for our dead, which instead of being performed by the Chevra Kadisha (the pious), are too often undertaken by the profligate and contrary to the tenets of our faith.

"We also find that in order to attract congregations to our synagogues we resort to the theatrical exploitation of our cantors rather than stressing our faith and its benefits, another form of rank commercialism.

"Not so many years ago it required a great deal of courage to live an irreligious life; today on the other hand, it is the rare man who has the backbone to act as his father did, attend synagogue regularly, observe the Sabbath scrupulously and participate actively in ward and creed.

"I therefore urge that at this time earnest consideration be given to these matters and that they be brought forcibly before our congregations. There is only one Jewish faith for the old and for the young, that is the faith of our fathers."

Acheson-Rupert Engagement

At a tea given Tuesday afternoon at their home, Sedgwick, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Rupert of Wilmington, Del., announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Amy Lewis Rupert, to Edward Campion Acheson, Jr., son of the Rt Rev and Mrs. Edward Campion Acheson of Middletown. Miss Rupert, who has visited in Hartford and Middletown, attended Bryn Mawr college. Mr. Acheson was a member of the class of 1924 at Williams college and is now in the employ of the Curtis Publishing company of Philadelphia, at present traveling in the south.

OBITUARY

Miss Mary C. Backus

Miss Mary C. Backus passed away early Friday morning at her home, No. 25 Otis street. She had been an invalid for several years and for the last few months a great sufferer. She had long been a resident of Norwich and for many years a consistent active member of the Second Congregational church, and at her death a member of the United Congregational church. She loved her home and her church and the duties and responsibilities borne thereof. She was of a sweet, loving disposition and made many warm friends who will long cherish her memory. She is survived by her sister, Miss Kate L. Backus of this city.

Louis Robichaud

Word was received in New London Friday by Mrs. James B. Getchell of 618 Williams street of the sudden death in Philadelphia of her brother-in-law, Louis Robichaud, 47, formerly of Quaker Hill, Waterford. Death was reported due to heart disease.

Mr. Robichaud resided in Quaker Hill for a number of years. He removed to Philadelphia nearly 15 years ago and had since made that home there. He spent the winters in Florida. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Rogers Robichaud, sister of Mrs. Getchell and a sister who resides in Philadelphia.

WEDDING

Frank A. Hazeltine of Uncasville and Miss Fannie H. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brown of No. 85 Baker avenue, Groton, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the First Congregational church, Norwich Town, Rev. Gordon H. Bailey, Aug. 27th. Announcement of the marriage was made Friday.

Miss Brown, who for the past seven years has been engaged as a teacher in the Groton Heights school, is well known in New London and Groton social circles. Mr. Hazeltine, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Hazeltine of Bradford, was formerly New England representative of the Federal Paper Board Co. of New Jersey and now is affiliated with the Robert Gair Co., at Uncasville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazeltine visited in Providence and Boston on their wedding trip, and after Nov. 1, they will be at home to their friends at their residence in Uncasville.

Connelly—Boden.

Thomas Joseph Connelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Connelly of Oak street, and Miss Margaret Rose Boden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Boden of Springfield, Mass., were married there last Tuesday morning in Holy Name church, Rev. Thomas A. McGovern performing the ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna McCauley of Springfield and the best man was Jerry Downing of this city. The flower girl was Ittie Marguerite Dessureau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dessureau of New Haven, formerly of this city. Edward T. Connelly of this city, brother of the groom, sang "Ave Maria" and several other solos.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony, 75 guests attending, these including the parents of the groom, Edward T. Connelly and family of Central avenue, J. J. Sullivan and family of Kinsley avenue, this city, and E. A. Dessureau and family of New Haven.

The bridal couple left on a honeymoon trip to Canada and the White Mountains by motor, and on their return will live at 55 Bryant street, Springfield.

Mrs. Connelly was born in Springfield and graduated from the High School of Commerce. She has been employed at the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company. Mr. Connelly was born in Norwich and graduated from the Norwich Free Academy. He is employed in the purchasing department of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company in Springfield and was formerly for many years in charge of the fruit department of the Mohican store here.

GEER AND LATHROP HUMANE SOCIETY AGENTS

The board of directors of the Connecticut Humane society met in the office of President Charles A. Goodwin in Hartford this week. A vacancy on the board was filled by the election of Robbins B. Stoeckel commissioner of motor vehicles, as a director of the society.

Mrs. Katherine N. Simondetti, Stamford; Miss Mary E. Collins, Hartford; John H. Hill, Norwalk; W. B. Williams, Hartford; Wilmot C. Oquist, New Britain, Herbert Potter, Ansonia, were designated local agents of the society, and E. Hart Geer, Lyme; Lewis R. Thomas, Orange; Ernest W. Sherman, Trumbull; M. W. Barston, Ridgefield, and Harry R. Lathrop, Brooklyn, were reappointed resident agents for a term of three years.

A resolution was adopted expressing the regret of the board on the death of Daniel T. O'Dell, who was one of the older local agents of the society and for a number of years previous to his death in July, chief of police in Derby.

A duplicate of the gold, silver and bronze medals awarded to the prize winners in the 1926 humane poster contest conducted in the elementary schools in Connecticut will be presented Librarian George S. Godard to complete the medals on exhibition at the state library.

STATE COMMANDER VISITS NORWICH LEGION POST

State Commander Harry C. Jackson of New Britain visited R. O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, Friday evening at the semi-monthly business meeting of the post at the Legion rooms on Shetucket street. Other visiting officers were W. A. Hyde, chairman of the state recreation committee of North Haven, F. J. Pitchard, district vice commander, of Rockville, and Colonel Dorsey of New London.

The meeting had a large attendance and was presided over by Commander E. C. Dunbar. Remarks were made by State Commander Jackson and visiting officers. The meeting voted to stage a play this fall and it was also voted that the services of a coach be secured to coach it, Miss Meredith Lee is chairman of the play committee and the names of the other committee men will be announced in the near future.

The Armistice day celebration came up for considerable discussion and the consensus was that this year's celebration will eclipse the celebrations of former years. Charles Cobb, chairman of the Armistice day committee, Mr. Cobb asked Friday night what the committee's plans are, said that he is not ready to announce the plans in view, but that he will be ready to announce the personnel of the committee within a short time.

Considerable interest is being shown by local Legion men in the Detroit convention to be held in Philadelphia and it is probable that half a hundred local former service men will make the trip to Pennsylvania. The post has received information and dozens of three special tours to the convention city.

REPRESENTING NORWICH Y AMONG GROUP LEADERS

Boys' Secretary Emory H. Davis, Rev. J. Harlow Graham and four of the older boys of the Norwich Y. M. C. A. will be the association's representatives to the Connecticut Older Boys' group leaders conference which opened Friday at Camp Hazen, Chester, and will continue through Sunday.

In the programme Friday evening J. Edwin Hall, Windham county secretary, was in charge of the social programme and there was an address by Glenn Jackson, national secretary for Hi-Y school boys.

This (Saturday) morning features of the programme will be a chapel talk at breakfast by E. L. Saxton, Pacific coast secretary, and demonstrations and discussion groups of Friendly Indians. In the evening there will be a Junior achievement talk and demonstration by F. W. Barber, state specialist and L. Edwin Hall will conduct amateur night.

For Sunday morning there will be discussion periods, and a church service with Fred Dawless, New Haven, as the speaker. A consecration service at 2:15 with Glenn Jackson in charge, closes the conference.

GAVE PRETTY PARTY FOR DAUGHTER'S 9TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Oscar H. Main of 16 Cedar street, gave a party Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock for the ninth birthday of her daughter, Barbara. The house was decorated with yellow and white crepe paper and cut flowers. The dining room was the center of attraction and was gay with yellow and white streamers. In the center of the table was an attractive birthday cake with nine candles. As favors each little guest received a fancy basket filled with candy. Refreshments were served consisting of sandwiches, cake wafers, ice cream and punch.

Games were played, the prizes being taken by Marilla Thumm and Madelyn Pedace. In the picture hunt Rita Shelly and Charles Noyes took prizes. Mrs. Main was assisted in serving the little guests by Mrs. D. J. Coyle and Mrs. William Noyes.

The guests were Anna, Mildred Mary and Margaret Malarkey, Rita Shelly, Alice Peck, Jean Coyle, Charles Billy and Ralph Noyes, Madelyn Pedace, Martha Thumm, Elizabeth Main, Helen Litchwell, Julia Litchwell and Marguerite Edwards.

AMERICANIZATION INSTITUTE EXPECTS BUSY YEAR

A meeting of the advisory board of the Americanization Institute was held Friday night at the Wauregan house and William G. Park of Hanover was elected chairman for the coming year. Reports showed that 981 students have completed their courses at the institute during the six years it has been in existence and that 331 foreigners received their first citizenship papers with the help of the course in citizenship advanced by the institute. Plans were made for the coming year and indications are that the enrollment in the courses will be larger this year than at any time before.

The meeting was attended by the following members: Gen. William A. Aiken, Charles D. Noyes, Jacob Munz, William G. Park, Philip A. Johnson, Peter Sellas and Joseph N. Carlevale.

PILGRIMAGE TO SHANTOK PARK NEXT MONTH

Preliminary plans for the pilgrimage to Fort Shantok, the new state park on the Thames river at Massapeag, which is dated for Tuesday, Oct. 12, were discussed at a meeting held Friday afternoon at the chamber of commerce rooms by the park and forestry committee of the chamber, of which Arthur L. Peale is chairman.

One of the endeavors of the committee will be to secure through the assistance of the New London chamber of commerce, the services of the Coast Guard band for that day. Other plans for the day are in the formative stage.

BY-LAWS ADOPTED BY NORWICH CIVIC COUNCIL

The second meeting of the Civic Council was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Friday night to adopt by-laws governing the organization. The president of the chamber, James L. Case, presided at the meeting which was attended by representatives of seven local organizations. The purpose of the council is to act as a clearing house of information on important local civic matters in which the chamber is engaged, or is requested by the council to take up. The council is composed of the presidents and secretaries of seven organizations and the mayor and city solicitor are invited to its meetings.

Civic councils have been established in a number of cities throughout the country. The Norwich council, as founded upon the basis of the Stamford, N.Y., council of clubs which has been in existence for several years. The sole object of these councils is to promote, foster, and secure those projects which tend to further the general welfare of the communities in which they are established, by acting as a clearing house of information, by presenting a true statement of facts concerning the projects proposed to the member organizations, a broad basis of intelligent understanding is established concerning important local civic matters.

The organizations represented at the meeting were the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants Retail association, Central Labor union, Rotary club, Lions club, College club and Veterans of Foreign wars.

ARREST FOLLOWS FIGHT BETWEEN RIVAL SWAINS

A fight over two Taftville girls on Shetucket street, Friday evening, resulted in the arrest of Ralph Pazano, 19, on a charge of breach of the peace. The arrest was made by Officers Michael Dewire and Peter Driscoll. From what can be learned of the story Anthony Duke of No. 27 Tanner street, drove into Shetucket street accompanied by the two girls who are said to be sisters and who reside on School street, Taftville. Duke parked his machine on Shetucket street.

Along came Pazano in another machine and he accosted Duke who was sitting in the machine with the two girls. Words followed, it is said that Pazano struck Duke. A lively fight then started and the result was that Pazano landed in the clothes of the law and was locked up in a cell at police headquarters while awaiting a bondsman. Duke and the two girls were summoned into court as witnesses against Pazano.

LYME SILVER ANNIVERSARY MOST SUCCESSFUL EXHIBIT

Sales and attendance broke all records for the Lyme Art association's exhibit during the recently closed season, in which the organization celebrated the silver anniversary of its founding. Seventy-one paintings, sketches, and pieces of sculpture were sold during the month of the exhibit for a total of $16,900. Receipts from the afternoon teas, which are donated to the public libraries of Old Lyme and Hamburg were $345.00.

It is estimated at the Lyme Art association's exhibit is visited annually by nearly 10,000 art lovers, critics and men and women of the brush and palette.

ERICKSON'S PLEAS SAVED ALBANIA AS A NATION

In a recent published article the work of C. Telford Erickson in saving Albania was described. While Dr. Joel B. Swain was pastor of the Central Baptist church, Mr. Erickson gave a lecture on Albania arousing great interest in Norwich. While here Mr. and Mrs. Erickson were the guests at the home of the Swains. Mrs. Erickson was their cousin.

The article referred to stated: The secret pact between Italy and the allies had provided for Albania's complete disintegration. The peace conference was on in Paris and Albania was without a single representative to speak for her. Its government was the military administration of Italy. Her own leaders were interned within their own land unable to leave except with Italian passports. In this crisis Mr. Erickson was asked by the Albanian Federation of America to go to Paris and do what he could as Albania's representative. For two years Mr. Erickson in Paris, in Washington, in London, was having interviews with officials and pleading for justice in behalf of this friendless people.

Those in Norwich who, in response to his lecture here years ago, gave liberally to help Mr. Erickson in his former years of work in Albania, also lines of missionary work and of the betterment of life that follows, will be glad to know of the results of this latest work: "Albania was saved from extinction and created an independent state; her frontiers were left practically as they were following the Balkan war; she was admitted as a member of the League of Nations—the first new state to be so admitted after the peace organization; she was relieved of the claims of foreign occupation composed of those of a half a dozen nations; she was officially recognized by the governments of the great powers, her Balkan neighbors and American."

Mr. Erickson is now in Albania, superintendent of 2,000 acres of land granted by the government for the creation of an Albanian-American agricultural school. After six months this is mostly under cultivation. The orchard of 2,000 trees, the boys' school on the farm and other results shown also in this direction the large executive ability and influence of Mr. Erickson.

STATE AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR BRIDGES AND ROADS

Four contracts for the construction of two bridges and about two miles of new roadway have been awarded by the state highway department, at a cost of $277,756. The largest was for the construction of the new ornamental concrete bridge over the Naugatuck River at Reynolds Bridge in Thomaston, which was awarded to Charles A. Haggerty & Sons of Webster, Mass., for $238,536.50. The bridge across the railroad tracks and river will have two 200 foot spans and one 170-foot arch span, with concrete arches and approach spans.

For the construction of 3,812 feet of reinforced concrete pavement on the approaches to the Reynolds bridge project, a contract was awarded to John DeMichael & Brothers, Torrington, for $65,669.62.

A contract for the construction of two-span concrete girder bridge over the Naugatuck river on the Torrington-Norfolk road in the town of Torrington was awarded to Ossola & Bezzo of Torrington for $41,750.

In New Canaan, a contract for building 7,210 feet of two and one-half inch bituminous macadam on a seven inch stone base on the Danbury-New Canaan road was awarded to F. B. Hayes of Bridgeport for $58,000.

MANY FAST BALL GAMES SCHEDULED IN EAST. CONNECTICUT THIS WEEK END

This week end will see practically all the eastern Connecticut baseball clubs in action, some of the clubs engaged in their annual series while others are playing out of town teams. Baseball fans are assured of plenty of action at any of the several games scheduled on Sunday, while the Saturday feature will be the second game in the five game series between Taftville A. A. and the Riverview club, this game to take place at the Providence street grounds, Taftville. The Sunday games include the third game of the Taftville-Riverview series, to be played at the Hospital diamond, the J. B. Martin and Valley Falls club game to be played at the Velvetmen's field, and the Moosup and Neo of Fall River game at the Carpet grounds in Moosup.

Taftville-Riverview

With the first game of the Taftville-Riverview series tucked away Taftville expects to annex the two games this week end and clinch the series. Their hopes are denied by the Riverview management however, as this team has signed some fast ball players for the week end double and intends to win both games and go into the lead in the series.

In the game today (Saturday) at the Providence street grounds Taftville will pin her faith in Fisher or Jarvis, both good men, and both able to hurl the team to victory. Riverview will send West or Dugas into the box to defend their honor and bring home the double victory. Lineups for the two teams have been announced as follows: Taftville A. A., Fisher or Jarvis, pitch and Eccleston catch. Frankie Farrell of the Hartford club of the Eastern league, left field, Mater of Deep River, Middlesex league, second base. Joe Faber of Yeoman (if he arrives in time) at short stop, Yerrington, third base, Donahue, right field, L. Jarvis, center field, and Gardie first base. Riverview will send the following men into the battle Saturday: West or Dugas, pitch, Belair, catch, Liberty, third base, Moore, center field, G. Farrell, first base, Clabby, left field, Kelly, second base, Dowd, right field, Normandin, short stop.

For Sunday's game the Hospital has signed several fast Eastern league players, intending to win the game and go into the lead. Johnny Tillman formerly of the New Haven Eastern league club, who this season pitched great ball for York, Pa., will probably pitch. Jigger Farrell will be seen at first base and Speck Kelley, formerly of Pittsfield Eastern league will be on second, who, with Normandin at Short and Liberty at third, makes up one of the strongest infields Riverview has had this season. With such players as Clabby, Dugas and Moore in the outfield, all heavy hitters, and the reliable Joe Belair behind the bat, Riverview expects to put up a good defense against the best Taftville can produce. Taftville for Sunday will probably pitch Jacobs of the Eastern league, while the remainder of the lineup will be the same as Saturday's game.

J. B. Martin-Valley Falls

J. B. Martin faces one of the strongest teams of the season Sunday as the J. B. Martin grounds when the Valley Falls nine of Rhode Island crosses with the locals. The Valley Falls club is rated as one of the top notch clubs of New England and has the reputation of having in its lineup some of the fastest players outside of organized ball.

This club has defeated some of the best teams in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Bristol, Oysterville Cape team, Checker Club of Providence, New England Oil and in fact have only been defeated three times this season. Mgr Costigan is bringing with him the strongest lineup available, McDermott or Murphy will do the backstop work with Noonan of Haverhill New England league team or Kennedy of Providence college team on the mound. Furey will cover first, Samson or Monahan at second, O'Connor will cover third with Coyle at short. In the outfield will be Burke, rf, Hacket, lf; Ryan, cf.

The Velvetmen are out for revenge after being defeated the first game several weeks ago and will lineup as follows: J. Murphy, c; Pepin or Lemieux, p, E. Murphy, 1st; Dugas, 2d; F. Gley, 3rd; Krauss, ss. The outfield will be picked from W. Gley, L. Joubert, J. Jouquet and F. Smith.

Moosup-Neos

Henry Loughran who has for the last six seasons done much as a pilot for Moosups base ball teams has again taken the managership and on Sunday will try to furnish the fans of Eastern Connecticut with the first of a series of four to six games to be played this fall.

The fast Neo team will be the attraction at the Carpet grounds in Moosup, Sunday, a team which has held the championship of Fall River and New Bedford for four successive seasons and last season was the only team which defeated Loughran's nine. Loughran says he is out to win from them this time with the following lineup— Big Tim Kennedy of Providence college will be on the mound with "Lefty" Feeney of Colby, 1924. Reserve Feeney has pitched and won 11 games out of 34 in semi-pro ranks in and around Portland Maine this season with strike outs ranging from 11 to 17.

Red Liberty of Jewett City will catch, Frechette of Moosup, 1st; Ray Doyle of Providence college, 1927 (Capt.) 2b; Joey Kendricks, ss; Hollecher of Harvard, 1928, 3d, Ernie Agnew of Hartford Eastern league if, Kid Allard of Moosup, cf; Joey Streit of Moosup, rf.

NORWICH GOLF TEAM GOES TO WESTERLY ON SUNDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 17.—Next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock on the links of the Winnapaug Golf club in Westerly will be played the match to determine whether the Winnapaug Golf club or the Norwich Golf club will be the winner in a series of matches. The first meet of the season was won by Winnapaug, 16 to 1 in Westerly. In Norwich on the return match Norwich players won, 16 to 1. On last Sunday in Norwich was played the third match, which resulted in a 14 to 14 tie.

FRISCH'S HOMER IN TENTH PUT REDS IN SECOND PLACE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Frank Frisch, Giant captain, knocked the Cincinnati Reds out of first place in the National league today by whacking a homer into the right field stands in the tenth inning which gave New York a 5 to 4 win.

Adolfo Luque, the Cuban, commenced with sterling mound work for Cincinnati, and even contributed to the scoring by poking out a single in the fifth which brought Hargrave in to tie the game, one-all. But he weakened in the eighth when the Giants found him for four hits and three runs, tying the game again.

Luque was succeeded in the eighth by Donohue who was followed in the box by Rixey. McGraw used Scott and Ring to help Fitzsimmons.

PIRATES NOW FIRMLY SET IN THIRD PLACE

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Another defeat at the hands of Dazzy Vance, 3 to 1, fastened the world's champions even more securely in third place today. Dazzy Vance was hit only at intervals by the Buccaneers. They reached him only at times for safeties but Cuyler's homer in the fourth was the only one accounting for a score.

Carmen Hill pitched steadily for Pittsburgh, conceding but four hits. He lost his game, however, when he walked two men with the bases full in the fifth, forcing over two runs. A hit by Vance in the same frame gave the Robins their third run.

WARRIORS AND BEARCATS PLAY FINAL ON SUNDAY

The Warriors and Bearcats are all primed and ready for action in the deciding game of their three game series at Dayco field on Sunday. Each club has a decision over the other during the season and Sunday's game should be the deciding factor as to the respective merits of the two nines. It will be remembered that the last game between the two teams was very close and exciting throughout and there is no reason to believe that this final game should not be the same.

D. Finn or Dudek will probably pitch for the Bearcats with Lamory catch while Couture will without doubt be on the mound for the Warriors with Burns catch.

The probable lineups follow:

Bearcats—Lamory, c; P. Finn or Dudek, p; Phaleh, 1b; Lagard, 2b; Martin, ss; Lemieux, 3b; S. Finn, lf; Rockdale, cf; Gero, rf.

Warriors—J. Burns, c; Couture, p; Kampf, 1b; W. Burns, 2b; Chmikoski, ss; Hamill, 3b; Courbois, lf; Jackson, cf; Winters, rf.

The game is scheduled to start at 3:15 p. m. sharp, and a large crowd is expected to see these simon pures battle it out for the city amateur championship for the season.

CARDS CONTINUE TO CLOUT WAY TO VICTORY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, pennant-bound, recovered their lead in the National league today by smothering the Phillies, 10 to 1, while New York helped them along by defeating Cincinnati, 5 to 4 in ten innings.

It was the Cardinals' fourth straight victory in the present series here. They sailed the game away in the opening inning by a 4-run rally which knocked Willoughby out of the box and sent Knight to his rescue.

The St. Louis final score was made on a freakish home run which resulted when Leach, chasing Thevenow's fly crashed into a bleacher wall and collapsed, allowing The venow to circle the bases.

CLEVELAND TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME FROM YANKS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Cleveland made it three straight from New York today winning 5 to 1 and cutting the Yankees' lead to three and one-half games. New York remained in its batting slump and gathered but five hits off Shaute, making two of the five in the ninth inning.

Like Levsen and Buckeye, who held New York to two hits each in yesterday's doubleheader, Shaute was wild, passing six batters. In fact, the Yankees scored their only run as the result of Shaute's wildness. Cleveland took kindly to Hoyt's offerings from the start and followed up his passes with hits that produced five runs. Sachems vs. Yantic A. A.

What promises to be one of the best games ever played in Yantic will take place there Sunday when the Sachems of Norwich cross bats with the Yantic A. A. There has been much rivalry between these two teams this past season, and Sunday will open a three game series to settle which team has the right to claim the city championship. Mgr. Cardin states he will use practically the same team that made such an impression in the Twilight league and which won second money.

Some snobbish people would rather be foolish than have sense of the common kind.

RICHARDS ELIMINATION BY BOROTRA MAKES WAY FOR ALL FRENCH FINALS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The rout of America's tennis forces by France's sharpshooting stars was completed today when Vincent Richards, youngest and last of the defenders, went down to a heat-breaking five set defeat at the hands of Jean Borotra in the semi-final of the National men's singles championship.

Although seemingly on the verge of exhaustion throughout the last two sets, the colorful bounding basque had the grit to pull out an uphill victory while the blonde New York youth tossed away one golden opportunity after another with as erratic an exhibition as he has ever displayed. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Borotra's courageous triumph assured an all-French final for the lawn tennis championship of the United tates, a spectacle unprecedented in nearly fifty years of the tournament's history and startling in its setback to the prestigage of a nation that until this week had dominated nearly all it surveyed on the courts over a seven-year stretch.

Borotra will meet Rene Lacoste tomorrow at 3 p. m., to decide which will take the American title overseas for the second time in its history and for the first time since 1903.

Only twice before has even one foreigner reached the American finals. Twenty-four years ago, in 1902, Reginald F. Doherty, British ace, won the all-comers, only to be defeated by William A. Larned in the challenge round then in vogue to decide championships. The following season, however, Hugh L. Doherty, second of the two famous English brothers, lifted the title.

Lacoste, who won the American indoor championship in New York last February by defeating Borotra in the finals, also had an uphill battle on his hands today before he joined his rival compatriot in the title bracket. The cool and calculating stylist took the measure of his countryman, Henri Cochet, who's spectacular attack accomplished the downfall of the six-time American champion, "Big Bill" Tilden, yesterday. Cochet seemed headed for another standing triumph today when he romped through the first two sets in imuressive fashion but he tired, lost control and succumbed finally to the remorseless steadiness of Lacoste. The scores were 2-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

TUNNEY HELD STIFF WORKOUT ON FRIDAY

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Gene Tunney was back on his game today after a condition yesterday generally considered a slump in his training for his championship bout with Jack Dempsey.

Jimmy Delaney and Tunney boxed two fast rounds, the protege of Mike Gibbons looking very much like his tutor as he dashed in to mix it with the contender.

The St. Paul lad started the workout by showing a barrage of lefts at Tunney's head and body. As the lefts were filled the air, Tunney fired a terrific right to Delaney's face. Tunney fought off half a dozen fierce assaults in the first round.

"He's a dynamite today," said Delaney between rounds as Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, wiped blood from his face caused by a slight nose cut. In the second round Tunney drove another hard right to his sparring mate's head staggering the light heavyweight. Delaney, however, came back strong and fire da hard right to the body at the bell.

Delaney gave such a good account of himself in his initial workout yesterday, that Tunney apparently decided he could speed up with the St. Paul boy so there were no lack of thrills today. The affair was strictly business.

Manager Fletcher Suspended

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—President John A. Heydler of the National league today announced that Manager Fletcher of the Philadelphia baseball club had been suspended for the balance of the season for delaying the second game of yesterday's doubleheader with St. Louis. Catcher Wilson of the Phillies has been fined $50 for his run-in with Umpire Klem the announcement said.

Attention Sluggers.

The Everready team and the Taftville Sluggers are tied, two and two in the five game series, so they can not claim themselves the champions of the village Manager Lunatte of the Taftville Sluggers was mistaken, so if he wants to play the last game of the series please arrange through this paper or see the manager, George Paradise.

Challenge to Ashland Cubs

Dear Editor;

A certain baseball team from Jewett City, namely the Ashland Cubs, has suddenly come forth to light and laid claim to the Junior championship of eastern Connecticut, basing their claim on their winning a series played with the Taftville Redtops. It is quite probable that the Cubs are lost in a dream, for the Redtops have played them but two games winning one and losing one, but this does not make any team the winner of the series. Now, the Redtops are willing to battle any team who claims the title, and if the Cubs are bold enough to claim the title they ough' to be bold enough to play a deciding series with the Redtops. If Manager Lambert wishes to try his luck at this he may call up 1073-3. Friday between 5.30 and 6 or Saturday between 12.30 and one o'clock.

WILLIAM PELTIER,
Manager Redtops.

BOBBY JONES ADVANCES TO FINALS BY BEATING OUIMET FIVE AND FOUR

SHORT HILL, N. J., Sept. 17—(AP)—The most sensational winning streak of golfing last ty today brought Bobby Jones of Atlanta to the portals of another great tournament triumph with a brilliant victory over Francis Ouimet of Boston in the semi-finals of the national amateur championship, five and four.

It was the second attempt of the veteran New England star to withstand the scoring power of a Georgia whirlwind which now has passed over 13 consecutive victims in the last three years of the amateur title struggle. But as in their duel of two years ago at Merion Ouimet went tumbling down after a gallant but hopeless stand while Jones found only George Von Elm of Los Angeles in the path of Bobby's drive toward his third consecutive championship.

Ouimet was decisively beaten, yet he was not disgraced. The champion of 1914 despite a costly tendency to hook his shots from the tees, played one of the best matches of a long and colorful career. But Jones, covering the 32 holes of the contest in one under even fours, pushed over the fairways at such a terrific pace that Ouimet was confronted with an almost impossible task.

As sensational as Bobby was today, he was compelled to share the glory of the day's scoring with the flaxen-haired Von Elm who brought off an overwhelming triumph over George Dawson of Chicago, in the other semi-final 11 and 10.

Von Elm drew from his bag a set of clubs which seldom failed him today, and the route through the match with a medal score only a shade less remarkable than that of the champion. Over the eighteen hole route of the morning round in a par 72 to lead Dawson by six up. Von Elm dashed away at such a record-breaking clip in the afternoon that the former University of Illinois player was soon left far behind.

Ouimet's irons and his putter kept him abreast the champion for four holes after they had rounded the turn. Then came another spell of hooking to cost him the fourteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth, leaving Jone 3 up at the close of the morning round.

The afternoon round was almost a repetition of the morning duel. For a brief time it seemed that Ouimet's uncanny approaching might overhaul the Atlantan for he dropped his second almost on the flag at the nineteenth to get an eagle three. But Jones promptly came back with a birdie at the twentieth to regain his lead of three holes and from then on the title holder was never tarestened.

Dawson, plying through his first national championship, was able to check the parade of his far west rival on only three holes. The Chicago youth tasted victory on the seventh, fifteenth and twenty-four greens, but each win was a partial tribute to the good golf which Von Elm played all day, for on all three holes he was compelled to sink birdies to excel the Los Angeles's star's par stroking.

Von Elm's card was an almost unbroken string of pars and birdies. He played over the twenty-six hole stretch of the match in even fours and on only four greens did he require a stroke over regulation figures.

The meeting of Von Elm and Jones in the final 36 hole battle tomorrow will be their third national championship match. Two years ago the man from beyond the Rockies faced Jones in the final, only to go down to defeat by the one sided score of 9 and 8, while last year the champion again triumphed over his far west rival in the semi-finals to win by 7 and 6.

RICKARD IS WATCHING FOR ALL COURT ACTIONS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Attorneys for Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight fight next Thursday night, prepared today to meet legal moves put in motion to interfere with the event.

All of Rickard's legal matters in connection with suits already brought or contemplated herb have been placed in the hands of Francis Shunk Brown, former attorney general of Pennsylvania.

Tomorrow in common pleas court the action brought by a "taxpayer and ticket holder" to prevent Rickard from advancing any money to Dempsey and Tunney will be heard. It is a violation of the boxing law of the state to pay fighters before a contest. Counsel for the "taxpayer and ticket holder" said that Jess Kearns, Dempsey's former manager was one of the interested parties in the action. Kearns is pushing a suit in New York to recover $23,000 from the heavyweight champion.

A fire alarm was sounded about 11 o'clock Friday morning, on the roof of the Westerly fire station from box No. 45, Beach, near Elm street. A tar barrel located on property of the town of Westerly, highway department, became ignited, where workmen were mixing up material for patching the highway. Fearing that the wooden structure, formerly used as a carbarn for the trolley road, might become ignited, when clouds of black smoke and flame shot skyward, a workman rushed to the box and turned in the alarm. Other workmen shovelled sand onto the burning barrel and the flames were extinguished. The fire wagon of the Westerly fire department responded but was not needed and the recall sounded in a short time after the alarm had been turned in.

George A. Royster of Bradford, operating the automobile of Andrew Royster, hit a cow owned by William C. Gavitt of East avenue, Thursday afternoon. NOANK

Eliza Rathbun, 88, wife of Calvin Rathbun, who died at her home Thursday morning has spent most of her time in the village. She was a native of Nova Scotia, but moved to Noank at an early age. She was one of the oldest members of the Baptist church and a good worker for the church. A short time ago she injured her hip, by falling downstairs at her home. She seemed to be getting better when she took a turn for the worse and could not rally. Besides her husband, Mrs. Rathbun leaves two daughters, Mrs. Erastus Fish of Mystic and Mrs. Myson Chester, of Noank and a son, Capt. Elmer Rathbun, keeper of Point Judith Light. There are several grandchildren.

Several members of the Sardines club left by automobile and attended Kingston Fair on Thursday evening. It was the best fair Kingston has had in a long while. The visitors saw the boxing matches which had plenty of action. In the party were Edward Morgan, Rollins Rathbun, Raymond Rathbun, Alder Brockey, and Neil Morrison.

The four masted schooner Ruth Chader while on its way toward Boston from New York, broke the rudder, when off the shore of Fishers Island recently. The rudder was taken to the shipyard by derrick scow, Capt. Tom and some of the men worked day and night to repair the rudder. Thursday the derrick scow was towed out to the disabled schooner with the old rudder repaired like new. The men are working to put it on so the schooner can make Boston by Sunday.

The Bridgeport baseball team of the Eastern league, in a large bus with a sign "Bridgeport Bears," on the way to Providence this week stopped in the village for gas when the supply ran low. The players were singing and seemed in a happy mood, but when the Providence team had finished with them it was a different story.

STONINGTON

Anthony Bousa attended Kingston fair Friday.

At a meeting of the Girl Scouts held recently, the matter of a questionnaire that is to be sent out that will perhaps decide the future of the Community house was discussed with the older girl members. They are to assist in an appeal to the public of Stonington for suggestions in regard to the conduct of the Community house. The rooms and hall are practically the only available place in the borough where the scouts can meet and carry on their work. The Community house is for the use of the public for social gatherings and any group may in turn have these rooms and hall for public or private social gatherings. The Community house is not run for the interest of a few. Upon application anyone may have these rooms. In case any gathering is held where an admission fee is charged, there is a small fee charged for the use of the building. This winter it is hoped to hold entertainments for the people of the borough and town and this can only be done successfully with the hearty co-operation of the public at large.

Mrs. Lewis E. Hammond, Mrs. Henry B. Noyes and Miss Etta Dugan and Miss Pauline Chesebro have returned from an automobile trip over the Mohawk trail.

CANTERBURY GREEN

The conference of six churches was held here at the green Wednesday with a good attendance. The morning sermon was by Rev. George Reese of Central Village. The basket lunch and social hour at noon was very enjoyable as was the afternoon session. The meeting as a whole was one of the best since the conference was organized.

The grange meeting took place on Wednesday evening. The program was in charge of Miss Ruth Davis, who put on a short farce. Mrs. Lucy Davis sang. Light refreshments were served. The grange workers are busy preparing their annual exhibit for the Brooklyn fair next week.

Rev. M. H. Jones and Miss Truman who have been spending part of their vacation here returned to their home in Providence Monday.

Mrs. Frank Bailey and children of Danielson visited them here at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Graves entertained their daughter, Mrs. Platt and friends from Springfield Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Frink and Andrew Clark attended the republican state convention at Hartford Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. C. C. Frink has returned from a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Hyde of Brooklyn. Mrs. Hyde accompanied by Miss Josie Shea of Hyde St. has since been spending some time at her cottage at Duxbury, Mass.

Mr. Neilson who has been living on the Marshall Frink place, on Hyde St. has sold it to people from Providence. Mr. Flemming and a brother-in-law who plan to carry on the poultry business.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

Be Kind to the Loved Ones at Home

Be kind to thy father, for when thou wert young,
Who loved thee so fondly as he?
He caught the first accents that fell
from thy tongue,
And joined in thy innocent glee.
Be kind to thy father, for now he is old,
His locks intermingled with gray,
His footsteps are feeble,
Once fearless and bold.
Thy father is passing away.

Be kind to thy mother, for lo on her brow
May traces of sorrow be seen;
Oh, well may'st thou cherish and comfort her now,
For loving and kind hath she been,
Remember thy mother, for thee will
she pray,
As long as God giveth her breath.
With accents of kindness then cheer her lone way,
Even to the dark valley of death.

Be kind to thy brother, his heart will have dearth,
If the smile of thy joy be withdrawn;
The flower of feeling will fade at their birth,
If the dew of affection be gone.
Be kind to thy brother whereever you are.
The love of a brother shall be
An ornament purer and richer by far
Than the pearls from the depth of the sea.

Be kind to thy sister, not many may know
The depth of true sisterly love.
The wealth of the ocean, lies fathoms
below
The surface that sparkles above.
Be kind to thy father, once fearless and bold,
Be kind to the mother so near;
Be kind to thy brother, nor show thy heart cold,
Be kind to the sister so dear.

Sincerely, BIDDY.

My Aim

I live for those who love me, whose hearts are kind and true,
For the Heaven that smiles above me,
and awaits my spirit too;
For all human ties that bind me, for the task by God assigned me;
For the bright hopes yet to find me,
and the good that I can do.

I live to learn their story who suffered for my sake;
To emulate their glory and follow in their wake;
Bards, patriots, martyrs, sage, the heroic or all ages.
Whose deeds crowd history's pages,
and time's great volume make.

I live to hold communion with all that is divine,
To feel there is a union 'twixt Nature's heart and mine;
To profit by affliction, reap truth from fields of fiction,
Grow wiser from conviction, and fulfil God's grand design.

I live to hail the season, by gifted ones foretold,
When man shall live by reason, and not alone by gold;
When man to man united, and every wrong thing righted,
The whole world shall be lighted, as
Eden was of old.

I live for those who love me, for those who know me true;
For the Heaven that smiles above me,
and awaits my spirit, too;
For the cause that lacks assistance,
for the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance and the good that I can do.

The Vale of Memory

Adown the vale of memory
Sweet visions come today,
And with the pictures they unfold
My spirit loves to stay.
I travel back o'er by-gone years
And dreams that used to be,
And, Oh, what hours of sweet delight
Are flooding memory!

Fond memory takes me back again
To days that used to be,
To think of all the dear, old friends
That I no longer see.
Oh, would that time could take a flight
And backward fly once more,
To bring back all of life's sweet dreams
That I have had of yore.

But now, alas! time passes by,
That never may return,
And for the dear old joys of old
So often do I yearn.
I long for mother, home and all
The ones I loved so well;
It's much this longing fills my heart
No one can ever tell.

KITTY LOU: Letter forwarded as requested.

WAYSIDE MIXED PICKLE

Dear Editor and Corner Friends: I noticed an error in the recipe for Wayside Mixed Pickle last week so I am sending the full rule again.

Wayside Mixed Pickle: Two quarts green tomatoes, two quarts ripe tomatoes, three green peppers, one large ripe cucumber, two bunches celery, three large onions, one small cabbage. Chop celery and cabbage and dice the rest. Cover with one half cup salt and let stand over night. In morning drain off all liquid. Add three pints vinegar, two pounds brown sugar and two tablespoons mustard. Cook for one hour or until tender, then seal.

As this is pickling time will send a good recipe for Chili Sauce: 30 ripe tomatoes, 4 green peppers, 4 onions, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 2 cups water, 3 tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon alspice, 1 tablespoon cloves, chop onion and peppers. Cook until thick enough.

I hope to be at the next Corner meeting of Club No. 4 and meet all the sisters of that and the many other clubs also.

HARD SOAP

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Will repeat soap recipe I sent in last week, as there was no borax in recipe printed.

Hard Soap: Five pounds melted and strained grease, 1 can potash, dissolved in one quart cold water, add to lye one cup ammonia. I didn't have ammonia so added one cup kerosene in place of it. Dissolve three tablespoons of borax in hot water, also three tablespoons of sugar, and add to lye. Flavor with sassafras if you like.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF PRESERVING

Dear Sisters: Huckleberries if thoroughly mixed with sugar and crushed will keep if canned raw also blueberries, currants.

Pack them in glass jars and they will keep.

Huckeberries and blueberries can be put in a jar, packed down, then fill the jar up with molasses, letting the air escape. Seal the jars and set them in a cool, place but have it dark. When the fruit is needed pour the contents of jar in a strainer and let the molasses drain off; wash the berries and use them as fresh ones.

To make jelly without cooking, mash the fruit and strain through a colander or fruit press, anything that will reduce it to a pulp. Then strain it through jelly bag. Add an equal part of sugar and stir with a wooden spoon for 3 minutes or until every grain of sugar has dissolved. (That is the secret of its keeping.) Then pour into glasses and set in a cool dry place (uncovered) for a week or two, until a thin sugary crust has formed on the top, when it may be covered like any jelly. Set it away, being careful to keep it in a cool dry place. It will be firm and solid as jelly after standing a few days.

WELFARE OF LITTLE CHILDREN

Dear Social Corner: I am tremendously interested dear sisters in the welfare of little children. I was reading a letter from a lady in Kansas in the 1914, Hearth and Home. She was interested and had sent in a few menus. I would like the little children to have perfect health as a foundation for other things that are good. Many mothers quite ignorantly give their babies the very food that make them ill and it is these mothers, I would like to reach with my letter. The child who grows sturdy and strong, which is the first requisite for a successful career must be carefully fed during the early months, especially until the end of the second year, when the food that acts on starches makes its appearance first in the digestive system.

Many babies are given digestive food long before reaching this age and the result is disordered stomach and bowels. This practice is the chief cause of the deadly summer complaint which is so prevalent during the child's second summer. It will certainly be a bright day for the babies when mothers everywhere come to a realization of the fact that the mere practice of cutting teeth is not responsible for any ills whatever, and they themselves cause the disorder ascribed to teething, when they allow the baby "a taste of this and a bite of that. A child under 12 months old needs and should have no food but milk. The unusual baby who is thus carefully fed cuts his teeth without any hours of fretfulness or pain. It is time we cease blaming Providence for the suffering of our children and realize that almost all of them may be prevented by parents who care to give a little intelligent study to the subject. Frequent baths, regularity of meals and an abundance of fresh air are of great importance but the diet is of most value. The child should be given no potatoes or vegetables before the end of the second year. There are plenty of safe foods for a child between one and two years, such as fruit juices, graham crackers, beef juice, baked apples, chicken broth, soft egg yolk, with cream and sugar and others of similar composition; and there is always milk. I trust this word to the wise is sufficient, and know that mothers who adopt my suggestions will thank me for them.

To Make a Good Cup of Coffee: Buy the best coffee, 4 large tablespoons of coffee, stir in one beaten egg. 1 1-2 cups cold water. Boil 5 minutes, turn this into 5 cups of boiling water let this come to a boil. Set off the stove, put in 1-4 cup cold water, a small pinch of salt and in five minutes it is ready to serve. I use a measuring cup. If any is left over from the meal this is just as good the next day.

I use 1 teaspoon condensed milk in each cup. Very nice.

HOW MABS DOES CANNING

Dear Social Corner Members: I wonder if you would care to know how I have done my canning for years and never lost one can.

For peas, after shelling I put in hot water for five minutes, then drain and pack tight in cans and put one tablespoon of salt in each quart can. Then cover with boiling water and put on rubbers and half snap top and put in boiler and after it boils, (time it for three hour) take out and seal.

I do the same with beans only boil two hours, use the same amount of salt. Put tomatoes in cans at once after peeling; use the same of salt—one tablespoon to quart and boil 22 minutes. I have never lost a can and they all taste like fresh vegetables. I opened a can of beans I put up in 1917 the other day and the children thought I had just picked them. I set them in the light and never wrap the cans as some people do.

I also go out in the country and get fresh eggs, I got mine at 30 cents a dozen right from the coop. I pack them in water glass and then we have them in winter even when they are high priced. I also do the same with fresh country butter—put down in one-pound prints wrapped in waxed paper use salt brine strong enough to float a potato and packed tight in crock. This will keep all winter beautifully. In fall I also purchase a half of a young pig and cut off the roasting parts in three or four pound pieces, just heat through in oven and pack in crocks in their own lard and mark Roasts. Do the same with the chops and bacon, etc., and mark all. I always have fresh meat when I want it without going to the store for it. Hoping these hints may help some one, as I have often been helped through the Corner.

WOULD LIKE PICNIC AT BEACH

Dear Social Corner Editor, Sisters and Friends: I am wondering how you all are this lovely Sabbath morning. I am much better than I have been, but still do not feel quite equal to going to church. I have not been out for ten days. I could not write for the Corner last month for I had a very bad sty on my eye. There was quite a long time I could not see with that eye, and even now my sight is not entirely restored. My correspondence is still in arrears.

I spent one day in Groton quite recently. Was invited over by my niece to a green corn dinner. We had corn and beans, corn on the cob and corn cut off, potted beef, boiled salt pork and green apple pie—a dinner fit for a king.

I wonder if there'll be a Social Corner picnic at Ocean beach this fall. It is getting late now but there was a picnic up at Gardner lake Saturday from the First Congregational church, Rev. Mr. Danforth's church. One of the ladies here went and said they had a wonderful time. I have not been to any outing this summer and thought I might go to the beach.

If the sister who signed herself "A Pussy's Friend will send me her full address I will send her a present that I think she will like.

What a lot of new Corner clubs have started since I became a member. I used to think I knew most of those who belonged but now I don't know anybody. I am too far away to meet with them, so of course, there are new members coming in all the time. There are not many of those who were in when I joined 12 years ago. Some of them have passed on and some have dropped out, at least as writers, but I am just as much interested in it as ever. It is the first thing I look for when I get the paper.

Whirlwind: I think you for your kind inquiries about my health. I was hoping to see you this summer. As you and Foxglove both have your cars you might come down and give me a call. If I had one I would visit you.

Kochie: I wish I could have been with you at the Wigwam. I was there two years ago and had a lovely time. I am extremely fond of their yokeag. No one can make it to taste like they do. It is made up of indian corn in a stone mortar with a pestle as fine as flour. It is lovely with ice cream. A friend of mine went to the Wigwam but I didn't know she was going or I would have sent for some of it. It used to be one dollar a pound.

Well, I think I hate made up for lost time so will ring off by wishing the Corner and everybody a long and happy life.

HOW TO ROOT ROSE BUSHES

Dear Social Corner Members: Have enjoyed the picnic at Elya's and several meetings since I wrote last and am afraid you will think me a very unworthy member if I do not contribute something to the Corner page.

In the Sept. 4 paper, Bee asks for the way to root rose bushes. We have several in our yard that were started from slips. Take a slip same as you would from a currant, and plan in the ground; cover with a glass jar which you do not remove for the next year. When glass has been removed slips have been known to die. A moisture collects on this glass and this acts like dew. Try your luck.

Aries: I have a picture book given me when a child with the verses you ask for and a picture to illustrate each verse.

But I find one verse Be kind to thy brother is missing. The other verses are:

Be kind to thy father, for now thou art young.
Who loves thee more fondly than he?
Who caught the first accents that fell
from thy tongue?
Who joined in thy babyish glee.

Be kind to thy father, the shadow of care
Must fall on his brow every day;
But if you protect him with love's earnest prayer,
The darkness will vanish away;

Be kind to thy mother, for tender her gaze
Whenever she looks upon thee
Without her affection how dark would thy days
In this lonely forgetfulness be!

Be kind to thy mother, in moments of pain,
Whose touch is so tender and light?
And, oh! she has watched thee again and again
And made thy life's spring time so bright!

Be kind to thy sister; not many who know
The depth of such generous love,
The wealth of the ocean his fathoms
below
The surface that sparkles above.

Her kindness has brought to thee many sweet hours,
And blessings thy pathway to crown.
And thy true love will weave her a garland of flowers,
More precious than wealth or renown.

I'm all would follow the sentiment of these verses how happy the homes would be. Best wishes.

ZULIEKA'S PETS

Dear Sisters: I have been deeply interested in the letters relating to cats, especially so in those who defended the dumb but adorable animals. When a question comes up which reflects on the loyalty of cats. I feel like the woman who said, The more I see of the human race, the more I love my cat." I have two in my home and they are treated as children with the first and best in everything, they are in no way related, but as devoted to each other as if brothers. If we hear the piano in the night we know Bobbie has decided to sleep on top of it. After my sister left for home following a five weeks visit both kitties took immediate possession of the bed where she had slept. I scarcely expect any one to credit one incident, but it is a fact, that one of my cats actually tried to use the telephone. Jumping on the chair he put his mouth into the transmitter and with one paw on the receiver hook held the post for a half minute, while I watched breathless to see what next, but there was no next. These and many acts which show the almost human intelligence they possess make it hard to understand how anyone with a heart, can be indifferent to their speechless plea for affection.

The question is often asked as to feeding. I think it quite impossible to specify a diet any more than for a person. A barn cat and a house cat require entirely different food. As I have no family I am obliged to feed salmon for the heavy dish and vary it with bread and milk, soft eggs and they seem well and happy. So this is my bit for the Kittie's Corner.

Kindest thought for all.

DUMB CAKE CEREMONY

Dear Cornerites: The "Dumb Cake" ceremony is an old English one, in which the girls on Hallowe'en knead a piece of dough with their left thumbs. They must utter no sound in the process, or the charm will be broken. Have the girls at your party follow out slight variations of this idea. Give the girls each a bit of dough and tell them to form with their left thumb, in a specified time, the "ghost of a man." They must not utter a single sound for the one who does is made to drop out and lose her chance for the prize for the most artistic result. The boys of course need not be "dumb" and after one of their recent awkward performances will be ready for a tease.

FINE TIME AT AUNTY NO. 1'S PICNIC

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I planned to write a letter to the Corner soon after the Shore Line club meeting and thank those for attending the first meeting held in Mystic and the good friends who assisted with the program, but I have failed to do it, not for lack of interest in the Social Corner but for time. It is pleasing to hear so many kind expressions of the success of the meeting and the new sisters have recognized me at other places since and expressed a desire for another meeting. Of necessity it will be in cold weather and we cannot expect 89 but enough for a real good time. Already enough new members and friends have volunteered to help do the work and get up a program and the place of meeting will probably be in the hall in the Main building as before.

C Sharp kindly carried three numbers to the No. 5 club meeting Sept. 1st and that meeting was sufficient to create a desire to attend more. A good friend Wednesday took three of us, who attended Club No. 5's meeting, added four more filling her large car full, eight in all, and took us to the picnic of all the clubs held with unity No. 1 at Norwich Town Wednesday and what a crowd we found there but room for all. The dinner was all anyone could ask for and how we wished we could eat more when they kept coming with it. We had some good baked beans and wondered if they were brought by E. L. M. We saw some old acquaintances and missed Lucille Drew and hope she is not letting rust accumulate on her pen for she knows her letters are desired.

We all were delighted with the hospitality shown us and think the Social Corner is rightly named. Was glad to really see Balsam Fir in person. On our way home the unnamed sisters were discussing pen names and we expect to see them enrolled after such a delightful day.

THE OLD SONGS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: I am sending The Songs of Long Ago, written by A Soldier.

The hymns that Majestic sent last week were good, and I always like to hear them on the radio, for there are no songs like the old songs for me.

The days when we were children, how blissful now they seem.

There are the songs we Conjure and Tone as The Old Old Songs or Childhood's Happy Days. I Cannot Sing for Old Songs But Days Recall the days of Happy Childhood. They take me back to Home and Mother, A Quiet Little Home, Where the Grass Grows Green and I hear her again Singing The Song She Used to Sing How Oft Beneath the Far Off Syrian Skies, Ten Thousand Miles Away, At Midnight on My Pillow with A Heart Bowed Down, I have felt There is A For the Weary and Balm in Gilead and that Life is Swift and Golden.

I have spent A Life on the Ocean Wave and am a Wandering Refugee but whether Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep on The Ship I Love or Gathering Shells by the Seashore, Far, Far from the Hearthstone. I often think of The Days of Auld Lang Syne and long to see The Home Once Again and though I Have No Mother Now, Her Bright Smiles Haunts Me Still and I dream My Angel Mother Waits for Me to Put Me in My Little Bed in Our Old Old Log Cabin Home. I wear a Faded Coat of Blue, see The Empty Sleeve for, I was in Sherman's March to the Sea through Dixie's Land in Slavery Days and sang The Star Spangled Banner as we went Marching Through Georgia but when this Cruel War Is Over while Tenting on the Old Camp Ground with my Comrades I dreamed of The Dear Old Folks at Home and heard them sing, Willie We Have Missed You, Turn Back, Oh, Time in Your Flight and Make Me a Child Again just for tonight and Carry Me Back to My Old Kentucky Home, Home Sweet Home to caress Old Dog Tray and Ned and all The Old Folks at Home to drink from the Old Oaken Bucket and be Lulled to sleep by the Cricket on the Hearth and Listen to the Mocking Bird singing where the weeping willows wave. Where now are the Playmates of my boyhood, when I was just as Happy as the Day is Long? Some are Sleeping in the Valley many have passed Over the River many are Angels Ever Bright and Fair. Ring the Bell Softly. There's Crape on the Door, and the Beautiful Rest. But After the Midnight, Cometh the Morn and The Dream is Ended. I know there's A Land that is Fairer Than Day and I will meet Our Loved Ones There in The Sweet Bye and Bye.

AN AUTO TRIP TO DETROIT

Social Corner Friends: Many of the sisters of the Corner have told of trips they have taken this summer so will tell of mine.

Mr. Naomi and I left Norwich by auto Aug. 15 to visit my brother in Detroit, Mich.

We drove through Hartford, Winsted, Great Barrington up to Albany. We spent that night at Bridgewater on the direct route to Buffalo.

The next night we stayed at Williamsville, N. Y. In the morning we started for Niagara Falls, where we spent the day viewing its natural wonders of which I had often heard but never seen.

We took a two hour trolley ride through the valley gorge route extending along the Niagara river from Niagara Falls to Lewiston, N. Y. Many stops were made, the first across the bridge at Queenstown, Canada, where the best view of both the American and Canadian falls could be obtained.

A guide announced the attractions at each station. Passengers could stop as long as they wished, free of charge, as trolleys came along the route every 15 minutes. We drove around Goat island and walked across a bridge to Luna island from where we had a close view of the falls, as we were right at the brink. A thrilling though safe trip may be made by an aero car which crosses the whirlpool 150 feet above the maelstrom. This is the longest aerial cableway in the world.

From Niagara Falls we drove to Buffalo (20 miles) where we took the steamer Greater Detroit across Lake Erie. Before an auto goes on the steamer all gasoline is drawn out. In the morning the cars are run out by hand and two gallons of gasoline are put into each. There were about 140 autos on board. Soon after we left, all passengers were requested to meet on deck and see life preservers demonstrated. The water was comparatively calm that night but during a high wind the next day, a steamer sank. We reached Detroit at 10 o'clock the next morning.

A most interesting feature of the trip was a visit to Ford's Highland park plant. It covers 278 acres of which 105 are under cover.

Fifty thousand men are employed here besides the office force of 800 men and women. A field of about ten acres is set apart for parking cars of the employes who drive to and from work. A guide directed a party of about 100 through the plant. We were not allowed to stop, but could walk as slowly as we pleased. It is interesting to watch the construction of a car. Consecutive operations are placed adjacent to one another thus making it possible for us to see just how one is made from beginning to end. We were told that conversion of raw material to cash is made in approximately 41 hours. Not much time wasted on the construction of a flivver! From this plant we visited the Fordson plant which covers 1100 acres. This presents a wonderful panarama of towering stacks, enormous structures and towers. The following morning we drove out to the old schoolhouse where Henry Ford attended school as a boy, my eldest brother being his teacher at that time.

Mr. Ford recently purchased the building and has built a high fence around it. It is only used on Sunday afternoons for religious services. The next morning we left Detroit for home passing through Toledo, Cleveland, Elyria, Ohio, Erie, Penn., and through the Catskills, where the scenery was wonderful. We reached Catskill on the Hudson, at 6:30 p. m. We had planned to cross by ferry, so as to reach Hartford that night, but to our dismay we found the last ferry had gone and there would be no more that night. We were told that one would leave in 10 minutes four miles above. We were there in time, but drove only to Great Barrington, Mass., that night. The following morning we left for Norwich reaching there in the afternoon, after a delightful trip of two weeks.

Success to the Corner.

NAOMI.

BIRTHDAYS

Dear Social Corner: Through your happy medium of exchange, I must return thanks to the Corner member and fellow townswoman who remember my birthday with good wishes, not only once but twice. And then what a refreshing wind whirled down from up country! I well remember Foxglove and I hope to meet them again.

and Whirlwind at Atlantic beach their rough faces and [illegible] and I hope to meet them again.

Speaking of birthdays, I will say that personally I am not fond of them and that mine come with unwelcome frequency; it seems to me oftener than once a year. But I once heard a woman say she had got to die or grow old and she wanted to live as long as she could.

In my household there are only two of us—the birthdays come with only one day intervening, my birthday being the second one. I often laughingly say that I cook a birthday dinner for my husband and warm what is left for my birthday. But this year, with a house full of family friends on a Sunday visit, there wasn't much left over and I had to cook again. The day between the birthdays, a treat for two of us, was made memorable by a delightful motor ride to Narragansett Pier. The Pier is certainly one of the beauty spots on the Rhode Island coast.

The third Tuesday in October will be here before we think of it. Who can compete with B. Natural and the lovely ladies of the Mystic valley? No one, it seems, but we must try to do something. Orinie and Connie, both good readers should be heard in a selection.

GREETINGS FROM BIDDY

Dear Social Cornerites: Sometime has elapsed since I have written I know, but I am a very busy woman at the present time.

I certainly read all letters from sisters and would love to attend all picnics if it were so I could. We have normal school table boarders and it keeps us very busy, also ties down my daughter and myself. But the money is good.

Aunty No. 1: Was sorry not to be able to attend your picnic, the first time I ever omitted one at your house.

Bumble Bee: So sorry I can't come to your picnic whenever you have it. But I can't bake for table boarders and attend picnics too.

Am sending in the poem you wanted it is a favorite of mine.

Deborah: How are you? Sorry I couldn't be there at your last Club No. 6 picnic in Mystic.

Beth: Come again and see me. Maybe I'll set you to wiping dishes, ha! ha!

Grace: Suppose you are very busy I know what it is though, some job. I went through it myself once. You lose a daughter and gain a son.

Many congratulations.

BIDDY.

EXPECTS LARGE CROWD

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I think it is about time I wrote, I have been so busy that it seems time to go to bed before my work is ever started.

I hope to see a large crowd at Too Late's and hope the weather will be favorable.

Bachelor Maid: Your wish came true. Hope to be able to show it to you at Too Late's picnic. If not there I hope to meet you at the first club meeting.

PALEFACE (Club No. 1)

PICNIC AT TOO LATE'S SEPT 29

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Come one. Come all to the picnic Sept. 29th at Too Late's on the Pleasant Valley road. Take South Coventry trolley and get off at the new Williamantic cemetery. Then follow yellow bow.

Bring soup dishes and something to eat. Please do not bring baked beans or macaroni. Hoping the weather will be fair, so we can all enjoy the sunshine.

GREETINGS FROM LAST ROSE OF SUMMER

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Good morning. Many moons, and some bright sunny days have gone by since last you heard from me.

I was glad it rained so I could attend the picnic at Twice Twenty's. I certainly had a good time.

Oh! Primrose, did you ever find your knife you lost in Danielson in June, on our eighth birthday? You should not have been allowed to take a knife at that age to play with! How about it?

I see some one has lost a spoon. (Some one got spoony.) Never thought that of this club. Hope to meet you all in E. K. on Oct. 9th and that Honary will be there.

Sorry 1432 did not bring her son to T. T.'s as we could talk farming and the want of a salad to him.

Rural Aunty: I also had Happy-go-Lucky and Primrose on Primrose Sunday as I had three dishes of Primroses and Sweet-brier leaves.

Ha! Ha!

LAST ROSE OF SUMMER.

GOOD POINTS WORTH KNOWING

Dear Editor and Cornerites: This is the first letter I've written to the Corner so please be lenient. There are so many interesting letters I'm afraid mine won't help much, but I'll try anyway. I should think the nasturtium sandwiches would be very good, does have an odd flavor of their own. Did you ever try nasturtium vinegar in salad dressing? I guess you two like sandwiches the way I do; I pound round hamburg seasoned with salt and pepper, add two eggs and mix well, form in thin round cakes the size of sandwich rolls. Fry and lay in split roll with slice of spanish onion.

Eggs scrambled and spread on bread with a slice of tomato and a spoonful of catsup or mayonnaise is good too.

When baking sugar cookies roll thin, place a marshmallow on one, place on top press the edges together and it makes a surprise in the lunch box. Another surprise is to put one spoon of batter in cupcake pan, lay on a marshmallow a stoned date, spoon of jam or fig stewed, add another spoon of batter, sprinkle with cinnamon or cocoanut and sugar and bake.

Eclipse: I'm another one who would like to go where there is a "life lightful medium" climate. These cooler days mean putting more clothes on the children. They have absorbed large amount of sunshine this summer by wearing only one garment; home made overalls, that are abbreviated pants with narrow strips over the shoulders to hold them up. They are brown as little Indians. Naturally we dread the cold weather.

The letter about pie crust was good. I always make mine by the hot water method—it's easier I think. If you make it by working the shortening in the flour use a wire potato masher. It's much quicker.

Nancy Peck: See I've really grown up. It's a long time since I rode in the mail wagon.

Green Hill: Made any baskets lately?

E. L. M.: See I have gone and done it.

SUMAC.

MAKING APPLE PIES

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Glad to see a full page of letters. The poetry is so good and true, I love to read it.

Arses: I too would like the words of the song, Be Kind to the Loved Ones at Home have not heard it since I was a girl and can only remember the first verse.

Hope: Big thanks for my donation you sent me by Balsam Fir. It was kind of you to think of me.

Ann Tenna: Guess you have made some mistake as I have never wrote any thing under Round Robin, Virginia Reel or your pen name.

The question I asked was for the name of a tree.

Kochie: It seem that birds fly everywhere, you have got the best of me as I don't know who is who. If you have a car why not come to see me, should like to see you. I had a pleasant little visit from Balsam Fir. She was a very old friend, just the kind of company for me to have.

L. T. Hi! must be planning at your place these lovely days. Am looking in hopes to see you some time.

Lola: Am glad to learn you love cats. I have a lovely cat, all over tortoise. He is very intelligent. I like the way Uncle Jed talks to The Wide Awakes about being kind to dumb animals. I read all the bed time stories one can learn a good deal from them.

About apple pie some tell about not having good luck seasoning them after they are baked. Do not cut an opening in top crust and do not wet the edge, the steam is all kept in to cook the apples. Remove the top crust soon as possible after taking it from the oven while the crust is crisp. If allowed to stand the steam softens the top crust, then it's almost impossible to get it off whole. If one wants an apple pie without a top crust, steam the apples and season to taste and put into a crust, shell then put on the meringue and brown in oven.

To all who are troubled with juice running out of any kind of pie, just use two tablespoons of minute tapioca instead of flour or rolled cracker. I use quantities of minute tapioca. Could not get along without it.

Best wishes.

JOAN.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Interest in the fall election of the year 1876 was running high in this city 50 years ago this week. One flag raising was held and others were being planned. There was also a political parade being arranged for during that week. The court of common council the same week passed an order to the effect that hackmen could not longer hangout in front of the Wauregan hotel. They were given Union square as a parking space. Interesting items taken from the files of The Bulletin of September, 1876, are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 11, 1876—As had been announced Dr. H. P. Arms delivered at the Broadway church, yesterday morning, a discourse on the origin of that church, its successive pastorates, the elements of its strength and healthful growth and its honorable war record.

The Hon. Oramel Whittlesey, died at his residence in Salem, Saturday noon. Friday he was in his usual health, which had not been firm for a year or two, and indeed was in better spirits than usual. On that day he drove to this city and returned home. Immediately after supper he was attacked with a paralytic stroke. He remained conscious until 3 o'clock Saturday morning and died at 1 o'clock on the afternoon.

The open cars will soon be taken off the horse railroad for the season. Those wishing to try the new coaches should improve their opportunities.

Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1876—The Continentals held a drill in Ripley's hall last evening. This company has now 75 members. They got their new uniforms Friday evening and intend to give their first parade on the street tomorrow night.

The pistol company's excursion to New York, advertised in another column, is really a very attractive one and will doubtless be extensively patronized. It will afford opportunity for a great deal of enjoyment of one kind and another.

Robert Drysdale, a baker in Greeneville, was thrown from his wagon while driving on Providence street last Saturday and received severe injuries about the head and shoulders. At present he is doing well with fair prospects for recovery.

Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1876—There will be a flag raising on Central Wharf this evening at 8 o'clock, between A. P. Willoughby's shop and C. H. Hurlbut's store, under the auspices of the West Side Continentals. There will be music and speeches on the occasion. Before the event, the Continentals, who now number 90, and who will meet at 7.15, will parade through Main street as far as Preston bridge. After the exercises they march down to Thamesville.

A meeting of the Central school district is called for next Monday afternoon at the city hall to choose members of the board of education and a secretary and treasurer and to attend to other appropriate business. As the election must be had by ballot the polls will be open from 4 to 7 o'clock p. m.

Joseph T. Fanning, the first classical scholar of the last class of the Free academy, entered the poetry class at Holy Cross college, Worcester, at the commencement of the fall session on Wednesday of last week.

Thursday, Sept. 14, 1876—The flag raising and parade of the West Side company of Continentals last evening was a very imposing affair and quite revived the memory of the grand and enthusiastic demonstrations of past presidential campaigns. For the first republican parade of the season it was eminently successful.

The City band complimented The Bulletin with a pleasant serenade last evening, which was thoroughly appreciated and is gratefully acknowledged. This organization has a large repertoire and executes with much taste. We hope to hear them often during the coming campaign.

A large building is being erected on Main street, Greeneville, by James Cunningham, the second floor of which is to be finely furnished for a public hall satisfying a need which has long existed in this part of the city.

Friday, Sept. 15, 1876—County fair notes—The work of repairs on the buildings is being rapidly carried forward. The cattle sheds are being erected and in the exhibition hall quite a large portion of one side has been ceiled up with matched boards, for the better display of goods. The fireplace of the New England kitchen is already constructed and looks like a real one of a century ago.

Work on the new almshouse is being pushed forward rapidly and it is thought the structure will be completed and ready for its occupants in two months. The new buildings occupies the site of the old one but the north wing has been somewhat enlarged.

The standing of hacks at the Wauregan house, which has provoked discussion and excitement on the streets for several days past, was settled last evening by the court of common council. The hackmen are now prescribed to Union square.

Saturday, Sept. 16, 1876—The annual reunion of the Fourteenth Connecticut Volunteers at Norwich Sept. 19th, promises to be the most enjoyable ever held.

A company of "Boys in Blue" was organized on the West Side Thursday evening. H. A. Miller was elected captain and James Hoxie, first lieutenant. After the election of officers, Elder D. C. Sterry delivered one of his best campaign speeches.

A company of Continentals has been located in the fourth district and on Monday evening a meeting will be held in the old "voting place" so called near the residence of Mr. E. A. Sterry at Norwich Town to complete arrangements. A flag raising will take place same time within a few days near the residence of Mr. Gabrielle, at the foot of Bean Hill. It is now quite confidently expected that the old fourth ward, usually considered democratic, will this year give a majority for the republican ticket.

A man usually has an ax to grind or else he is turning the grindstone for some woman who has.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Pythians from scores of lodges in Connecticut gravitated Sunday to an isolated nook in the farm lands beyond the tiny hamlet of Hamburg in the town of Lyme to attend the second annual outing of their Connecticut Home Farm association which has an option on the purchase of 2,200 acres.

They traversed much of the property as their cars climbed the shady country roads to the former Raymond homestead and parked in the farmstead yards. There were over 2,200 of them, as was shown by tabs kept on the ears of Golden Bantam and Evergreen corn and the cups of milk served from the buttery windows.

President Fred B. Ames of the association was in general charge of the outing. He is a neighbor of Senator Hiram Bingham in Salem, a few miles away. Among his assistants were William E. Snyder and William E. Hart of Hartford, S. A. Williams of East Hartford, and M. Morgenson of Meriden.

Grand Chancellor Arthur S. Mitchell of Hartford explained the general proposition in regard to the property as he talked from the veranda rail to the 2,200 Pythians. The association is made up of members of the order and it has secured the option from the several owners, among whom are the Jobowski family and the Raymond heirs. The lands have a spread of nearly two miles. Besides plow land, meadows, pastures, wood lots and gravel pits, there are ponds, groves and trout brooks and springs around the farmhouses which are headquarters. It is intended, in case the option is taken up, to investigate the openings for summer cottages, to provide facilities for camp parties, to ascertain whether golf links can be established, to enlarge a pond and to sell sites for pleasure resorts. There may be a central clubhouse and a Pythian home will be built.

In the course of the day the picnickers received 3,000 sandwiches, 3,000 frankfort sandwiches, 1,000 quarts of milk, 1,000 quarts of coffee and 1,660 ears of boiled corn.

After Grand Chancellor Mitchell had explained the project in outline, Grand Prelate Walter King of Willimantic and Past Grand Chancellor Thomas J. Troland of New London went into details. Mrs. Henrietta Curdt of Meriden, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters, Past Supreme Representative M. H. Norton of New Britain, Vice-Chancellor Charles Andres of Bridgeport and William Cowlishaw of New Britain, were speakers.

The Association

The association has an authorized capital stock of $150,000 in 15,000 shares of $10 each. The officers are: President, Fred A. Ames, Salem; vice president, Manlius H. Norton, New Britain; secretary, L. Erwin Jacobs, New Haven; treasurer, Clark Burnham, Lake Hampton.

Directors include: Fairfield county, Charles Andres, Bridgeport; Middlesex county, J. Franklin Bailey, Durham; John D. Hunderlach, Middletown; New London county, Thomas J. Troland, New London; Clyde J. Clendenden, Mystic; Windham county, Mrs. Nelson Adams, Jerry J. Lenihan, Willimantic; Hartford county, William H. Cowlishaw, New Britain; William E. Snyder, Hartford. Fifteen directors are to be added soon.

President Ames is chairman and Secretary Jacobs is clerk of the general committee in charge of the home proposition. A report is to be made at the annual convention of the order in Connecticut, which will be held in New Britain in October. If the recommendation is approved it is expected that the name of the association will be changed to the Pythian State Farm association.

At the outing stock to the amount of $3,500 was subscribed for.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY, A. L.

The regular meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of R. O. Fleacher post, American Legion, is to be held Monday evening, Sept. 20th. Reports of delegates to the state convention are to be heard and plans for fall activities outlined by the various committees.

AMERICAN LEGION.

Perhaps the largest aggregation of bands ever gathered in one city will take part in the eighth annual convention of the American Legion in Philadelphia, October 11-15.

One of the foremost musical organizations of the world will be represented in the parade. Colonel Vincent A. Carroll has announced, but when he was questioned about details he declined to identify the band. "The mystery band" is often a topic of conversation at convention committee meetings. Uniformed musical organizations from every corner of the country will take part, many of them organized in Legion posts and departments at the close of the war. The celebrated Racine, Wis., Drum corps will be among the strong entries in the national contests. At least 120 cities and towns in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey will send their best musicians to march with their posts in the annual parade Columbus day, October 12. Massachusetts will be represented by 2500 marchers and bands. One of the interesting features of the convention will be a series of concerts to be given each morning, afternoon and evening in the sesqui-centennial grounds, at City Hall plaza and at the various other important centers of Philadelphia.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

The regular meeting of Victory lodge, No. 4, was held Thursday evening with N. G., Sis. Laird in the chair. P. D. Sis. Bentley of Providence, and District Deputy Sis. O'Brien were visitors at the meeting.

After the meeting a whist was held and the prizes were as follows: Ladies' first, Yvonne Bedard; second Mrs. Margent Hunt; consolation, Mrs. R. Spear. Gentlemen, first, J. Wharmby; second, Mr. Webber; consolation, Mrs. Mary Knowles.

MOOSEHEART LEGION.

A whist and pinochle was held at Moose home Tuesday evening by the Women of Mooseheart Legion. Five tables of pinochle and four of whist were played.

In the whist Mrs. J. La Valle won first prize, with a score of 41, a sugar and cream set. Second was a tie between Mrs. Teresa Watters and Mrs. J. Yelen, the cut being won by Mrs. Watters with a score of 40, a pair of pillow slips. Consolation went to Vera Sterry, her score being 21, a cake plate. Gentlemen's prizes went to Mr. Webber, score 56, a shirt; second to D. Roeluck, score 31, a necktie; consolation to Paul Watters, score 24, a comb.

In pinochle first prize was taken by Mrs. Herman with score of 7590, a pair of bud vases; second, Mrs. Clement, score 7270, a night glass; consolation, Mrs. Nadolney, score 5440, a necklace. Gentlemen's prizes went to Mr. Fortier, score 5180, a stainless seal knife; second, Mr. Montesi, score of 4350, a necktie.

Ethel Hoelck was scorer on pinochle and Irene Burns and Teresa Watters on whist. Tickets were taken at the door by Irene Burns.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION

The annual meeting of chapter regents, state officers, councilors and chairmen of state committees of the Connecticut society, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held at the two sessions, that in the morning convening at 10:30, and an afternoon session, which will be preceded by a box luncheon at 12 o'clock. A committee, the Ellsworth homestead, Windsor, Thursday, September 23. There will be to nominate officers and councilors at the state conference to be held in Meriden in March, 1927, and a committee on auditing, will be elected, reports of chairmen of state committees will be presented and their various lines of work will be discussed.

The unveiling and presentation of the stone erected by Stamford chapter, D. A. R., to mark the site of old Fort Stamford, took place on Westover road, Tuesday afternoon. Addresses were made by the president general, Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau of Greenwich and by the state regent, Mrs. Charles H. Bissell of Southington. The president general was the guest of honor at a reception and luncheon at the Stamford Yacht club preceding the unveiling of the monument.

ODD FELLOWS

The members of Mystic encampment, No. 17, I. O. O. F., are making preparations for entertaining the Grand Encampment of Connecticut, I. O. O. F., at its annual meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at which delegates from the 37 subordinate encampments within the jurisdiction of Connecticut, together with the grand encampment officers, of which Stephen J. Austin of Mystic is grand patriarch, and visiting grand officers from nearby jurisdictions, will be present.

This will be the first time in the history of Odd Fellowship in Mystic that a grand lodge body has met there and it is also the first time that one of the members of Mystic encampment has been honored with the office of grand patriarch. It has been at least 15 years since the grand encampment has met in the southeastern part of the state, the last time being when Samuel Prince of New London was grand patriarch and the grand body met in New London.

For this reason, Mystic encampment is putting forth every effort to show its appreciation of the honor that has fallen upon it and will leave nothing undone to give the visitors a royal welcome.

Too many men try to adjust their religion to fit their business.

FOR VIOLATING BOBBED HAIR RULE POWER CO. DROPS NEW LONDON GIRL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 17—Girls of the flapper type cannot be employed at the office of the Connecticut Power company. That fact was demonstrated when one of the girl stenographers appeared at her employment with her hair bobbed, which act was against the rules of the company. She did not remain at work long, for during yesterday morning she was informed that her services would no longer be required because of having violated the rule which prohibits the young women wearing bobbed hair on the grounds that to wear the latest styles of female haircuts does not show modesty and refinement.

Two years ago the power company made it plain to its employes that girls could not remain in the employ of the company if they had their tresses cut short. However Miss Margaret McNamara, 46 Huntington street in the employ of the company for five years, decided that she would dress her hair as she deemed best suited to her looks and this morning she appeared at her desk with one of the latest style bobs. The appearance of Miss McNamara at her work with her hair cut in violation of the rules of the company, caused comment among the 35 other girls and the act of Miss McNamara quickly became known to officials of the company. A meeting of the executive officers was held and the matter was discussed. It was decided that Miss McNamara was familiar with the rule prohibiting the young ladies from wearing bobbed hair, especially as she had been in the employ of the company before short hair became the craze, so she was promptly discharged by vice president and general manager, Viggo E. Bird.

FORMER STATE POLICEMAN MAILED OBSCENE LETTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 17—William Kirschner, Poquyogh, of Waterford, a former member of the state police, was arrested at his home last night charged with violation of the federal laws in sending obscene matter in the mails. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran, but the case was not heard, a continuance to next Thursday being ordered. Kirschner was held in bail of $500 for his appearance next week and he furnished a satisfactory surety on his bond.

Kirschner, it is claimed, wrote a letter of such a savory nature, that the receiver of it turned it over to United States District Attorney George Cohen, at Hartford and that official after perusing its contents, immediately issued a warrant for Kirschner's arrest. The warrant was handed to United States Marshal Jacob Walter to serve and that officer came to New London and proceeded to Poquyogh where Kirschner was located and arrested.

Kirschner is well known in Waterford. About four years ago he made application for appointment as a state police officer and a short time afterwards he was appointed a member of the force. Kirschner was sent to the Groton barracks for training and having qualified was sent to barracks in other parts of the state, but did not perform duty at the Groton barracks. About three years ago Kirschner indulged in an act of indiscretion which resulted in charges being preferred against him and with a hearing being accorded him, he was discharged.

UNCASVILLE MAN JAILED— UNABLE TO PAY $50 FINE

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 17—Arthur Chappell, who came here from Uncasville, was fined $50 in the police court today for failing to give the right of way to an auto approaching his car from the right. There was a reason why Chappell was so indifferent. His car was zigzagging along from Garfield avenue to Manwaring street when John Roundtree, a member of the crew of the U. S. Steamer Downes was passing in an auto in an opposite direction. The result was a collision from which damage resulted to the Roundtree car. Chappell promised and arranged to make good the damage so he was not prosecuted for that. Chappell did not have the necessary funds to settle with the state and went to the county jail.

Guiseppe Legioce, known to the police as "Joe, the Jug" made a mistake when he forgot that "the wicked flee-th when no man pursueth" and sought to conceal a bag containing a five-gallon can of alcohol yesterday when he saw Detective John Cavanaugh approaching. The clever detective would have allowed Joe to pass had not the latter given evidence that he was trying to dodge the officer. Joe cast his bag and the can of alcohol into a vacant lot on Belden court. That was suspicious, in the opinion of the officer, so he sought to discover the contents of the bag. He learned, to the sorrow of Joe. The latter was in the police court this morning and there was fined $200 for transporting a beverage that the Volstead act says shall not be carried without the required permission of the government. Joe did not set up any defense. He just demurred and the court did the rest.

Michael Kelly of Norwich, who has been an employe of the Robert Gair company at Montville during seven long years, wandered away yesterday and came to New London where he sopped up a quantity of the stuff that goes for booze, with the result that he was found intoxicated in the street. Kelly's good record was so good that it won leniency from Judge Prince and no penalty was imposed.

A couple of young men were taken from a New Haven railroad train when it rolled in here from Boston. They were between cars when they were found. They gave their names as Russell Norton and Robert Clark and said they were working toward the south where they believed they would find employment, something they were unable to get in New England. That story was not accepted as one to be swallowed without thought, but the experience of allowing a couple of young men their liberty to make good was worth trying and they were ordered to move on, with a warning that if they were found loitering hereabouts they would be sent to jail.

Martin M. Collier, a member of the crew of the U. S. Ship Camden, attached to the coast guard service, will be apt to place his experience here in a scrap book covering his term in the service. He was an attendant at the burlesque performance at the Lyceum theatre Monday night after he had partaken freely of liquor and there became so boisterous that he sought to enter upon the stage. The girls did not recognize him as a "Johnny" so he was ejected, though force and a blackjack in the hands of a police officer were necessary to accomplish his ejectment. He was prosecuted in the police court, but as yet he has not had a trial because a companion who was with him in the theatre episode, escaped from the police and got aboard the ship. To get him out of the custody of the government certain formalities are necessary and these are being taken to get the companion into court. He is Charles Treanor. Collier has been in jail since Monday. Today he was paroled in the custody of Lieut. Hickey of the Camden, so both the accused men will leave the ship together when they answer to the civil process in law.

Levi G. Raymond, has sold a house and lot on Dell avenue to Luigi and Jennie Balsaretty.

Eagle Realty company has sold three building lots on the former Burrows Homestead plat, off Bayonet street to Aquatanto Antonio.

Judge of Probate and Mrs. Arthur B. Calkins returned today to their home on Granite street, having been absent from New London six weeks. The greater part of their trip was spent at Deer Isle, Me., where Mr. and Mrs. Calkins visit annually.

Andrew Cunningham, 266 Jefferson avenue made complaint to the police this afternoon that a spare tire was stolen from his automobile last night while the auto was parked for the night in front of his residence.

The police received a telephone communication last night from a resident of Bank street that two men were acting suspiciously near the corner of Bank and Pearl streets and it was believed that the pair were planning an attempt to force entrance to James Drug store, located on that corner. Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman John Sullivan were speeded to the corner, but did not find the suspected men there, nor in the vicinity of the store.

A. R. Hirsh, chief petty officer, attached to U. S. S. S-1 submarine base, made complaint to the police this afternoon that a watch belonging to him was stolen from his locker at the submarine base, either yesterday or this morning. Hirsh did not discover the theft until this afternoon when he lost no time in reporting it to the police.

Desk Sergeant Frank Howard of Walker street, resumed his duties at police headquarters this afternoon after his vacation, a part of two weeks, one week of which was spent at Niagara Falls.

Attorney Thomas F. Dorsey is spending a few days in New York.

Thomas Leiper, of 22 Truman St., and Miss Bessie Nudge, Westerly, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

P. S. LICENSES TAKEN FROM THREE BOOTLEGGERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 17—Following the arrests two weeks ago of a score of bootleggers and their prosecution and conviction in the police court, three of the bootleggers, who were public service operators, got further action today when Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel ordered their respective drivers' licenses suspended. As in the case of other former public service operators, whose licenses were suspended for their activities in peddling liquor, it is believed that the suspension will be permanent, for none of the suspended licenses of this nature have ever been returned to the owners. Those suspended today belonged to Ernest A. Coe, 288 Huntington street; John O'Neill, West Mystic, and Joseph Poretta, 47 Summer street. Although Mrs. Poretta was prosecuted in the police court and fined, her husband who it is claimed, was the real distributor of the liquor, is deprived of his right to engage in the public service business longer. The drivers were arrested on evidence obtained by stool pigeons for the state police. Others to lose licenses for various causes are Daniel Leong, 11 Moore court; Francis Redden, 232 Jefferson avenue; Herbert King, Whittlesey street. Commissioner Stoeckel also ordered the right to drive of Bernard A. O'Brien, United States Coast Guard state pier, restored.

The ferryboat John P. Collins, built by the Ship & Engine company, which started yesterday morning for Florida, where she will be operated, arrived in New York last night at 8 o'clock and will wait favorable weather conditions before resuming the next leg of the journey south.

Walter Gallup, Norwich, and Malcolm Brown, of Quaker Hill, were arrested by Sergeant Frank Howard this evening, charged with evasion of a public service fare and are being held prisoners at the police station pending the convening of the police court tomorrow morning. Gallup and Brown hired a taxicab operated by James L. Gard at the Union station shortly after 8 o'clock and after driving about the city for two hours, refused to pay their fare. Gard then drove to the police station and caused both to be arrested. Gard explained that he did not care to cause the prosecution of either, but stated that he took the action he did because Gallup had defrauded him of taxicab fare twice before.

Charles J. Treuor, who with Martin Collier, another sailor aboard the U. S. S. Camden created a disturbance at the Lyceum theatre Monday night was arrested this evening and will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning. Following the fight, Treuor succeeded in making his escape after Collier had been apprehended, and he was ordered by the commander of the Camden to deliver himself up at police station. He left the ship with this order, but failed to obey. Today he returned to the ship and stated that he had settled the trouble, but the commander had been acquainted with the real story. A guard was detailed to deliver Treuor to the civil authorities and this was done this evening. The guard stated that an officer from the Camden will be at tomorrow's court hearing and if Treuor is fined, the fine will be paid and that Treuor will be returned to the ship and drastic discipline will be meted out to him. Collier, who suffered a fractured nose and lacerations in the fight, is in jail awaiting trial.

Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray and Policewoman Jane Cassidy, who have been having vacations for two weeks, resumed their respective duties this afternoon.

HERE'S SAUCY, DELICIOUS, BIG-EYED AND SWEET-FACED

For every boy and girl in the world who ever had an idea about going into the movies, Ella Cinders has a message that has many a laugh and not a few tears

She knocked Hollywood so cold the Klieg lights took to sneezing—and laughing, and roaring, 'cause Ella Cinders, the kitchen mop, turned movie vamp! It's simply delicious! It's the story of "Cinderella in The Movies"

With LLOYD HUGHES and JACK DUFFY

BREAK IN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.— (AP) —The stock market broke sharply today under the weight of heavy selling for both accounts. Speculators for the advance started to bid up prices at the opening on the strength of no change in the New York Federal Reserve bank rediscount rate, but bear traders, sensing a lack of public participation, fired a broadside of selling orders which sent prices crashing 3 to 10 points, as hundreds of "stop loss" orders were touched off.

Stock market observers, who attempt to explain market movements by development in the day's news, attributed the selling to the "Mexican situation," but in other quarters, this was regarded as more of an excuse than a reason. In banking circles the steady decline of stocks in the face of favorable trade news was looked upon as a correction of a temporarily over-bought condition. Considerable uneasiness still exists over the credit situation, despite the decrease in rediscounts and the maintenance of the 4 per cent central bank rates, and this was intensified by the marking up of the call money rate from 4 1-2 to 5 per cent in the early afternoon.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported further improvement in business despite damaging weather in certain sections of the north. Bank clearings this week fell about 4 per cent below the corresponding week last year, when payments through the banks for the middle of September were the largest in history. The wholesale commodity markets were firm.

The selling movement reached its greatest intensity in Warner Bros. Pictures A, which dropped from 62 3-4 to 51 1-8 and then rallied to 53 1-2 where it was off 9 points on the day. The stock, which sold as low as 12 earlier in the year, touched a new record high of 69 1-4 this week.

Standing out in bold relief against the swiftly declining market was the common stock of the General Motors corporation, which touched a new high of 184 1-4 for the present issue, sold down to 169 3-4 and then snapped back to 183 for a small fractional net loss. U. S. Steel common did not possess the same recuperative power, selling down from 147 to 142 1-4 and rallying about a point from the low.

Allied Chemical dropped from 139 1-4 to 135 1-2, American Can from 56 1-8 to 52 3-8, American Smelting from 149 1-4 to 144 3-8, Baldwin from 118 1-4 to 115 5-8, Dupont from 314 1-2 to 307 1-8, General Asphalt from 84 1-2 to 79 1-8, Hudson from 58 1-2 to 53, International Combustion from 48 to 42 1-2, Mack Trucks from 113 3-4 to 108, Radio from 50 1-4 to 46 1-8 and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe from 206 to 197 1-2, but all-made partial recovery from the low level. Cudahy Packing opened 4 points higher at 110, a new high record, and maintained most of its gain.

Rails yielded with the industrials, but losses were not as large. The high priced issues such as Atlantic Coast Line, "Nickel Plate" common and Canadian Pacific were the hardest hit.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

The principal commodity markets lost ground. Active wheat futures dropped nearly 2 cents a bushel on reports of better weather in the northwest. Cotton yielded 8 to 11 points, with better weather also a factor. New high records for the year were established in the raw sugar market. Coffee closed unchanged to 5 points higher.

Foreign exchanges were easy. Demand sterling held firm around $4.85 but French francs yielded slightly, being quoted just above 2.80 cents. Other recessions were nominal.

Reddy's Mistake

The one whose wits are wide awake
Will seldom make a bad mistake.
—Mother West Wind.

Reddy Fox was trotting along the beach. As usual, he was looking for things. Jimmy Skunk also was on the beach, looking for things, but Jimmy wasn't trotting. You know, Jimmy seldom hurries. He takes his time about things. He says there is nothing gained by hurrying. Presently Jimmy came to a little pool of water left by the tide. It was a very small pool. Jimmy looked into it, to see if there was anything interesting there. There was. There was a curious little creature swimming about. At first Jimmy thought it was a Minnow. Then he discovered that it had legs, and no Minnow has legs.

"Shrimps certainly look as if they might be young lobsters!"

Jimmy was still looking at it when Reddy Fox came up. "What are you looking at?" inquired Reddy.

"You tell me," said Jimmy.

Reddy looked down into the pool and, like Jimmy, at the first glimpse he thought it was a Minnow; then he, too, saw the legs and knew that it wasn't a Minnow. "I wish," said he, "that it would stay still long enough for us to have a good look at it."

As if he had heard and understood, the little swimmer stopped swimming. He was just about the color of the sand over which he was swimming. Right away Reddy saw that there were two long feelers, like the feelers of a Lobster. The little fellow was shaped very much like a Lobster. There were no big pinching claws, but there were legs like a Lobster's legs and the tail reminded him of a Lobster's tail.

"Pooh!" exclaimed Reddy. "That's a young Lobster. Any one should know that."

"What is a young Lobster?" inquired a voice from overhead.

Reddy and Jimmy looked up to discover Graywing the Gull right above the little pool. "What is a young Lobster?" he repeated.

"He's right down there on the sand in the middle of this little pool," said Reddy.

"I don't see any young Lobster," said Graywing.

"That's probably because he's so much the color of the sand," replied Reddy. "He is right there. Jimmy and I can see him."

"No, you can't," retorted Graywing. "We can, too, can't we, Jimmy?" exclaimed Reddy angrily.

"We can see something that looks as if it might be a young Lobster," declared Jimmy.

"That is different," said Graywing. "I can see that, too. Neighbor Fox simply is mistaken in thinking it is a young Lobster. It is a Shrimp, and it will never be any bigger than it is now."

The body of this little fellow was about two inches long. Later both Reddy and Jimmy found some that were smaller. Had they lived down South on the seacoast they would have found some considerably larger. Some are called Shrimps and some are called Prawns, but all look very much alike.

"Is it good to eat?" asked Reddy, looking up.

"Indeed, it is," was Graywing's prompt reply. "Just scoop him out and try him."

But when Reddy started to do this the Shrimp disappeared in the sand.

Graywing laughed. "Never mind Reddy," said he, "you'll probably find lots of them washed up by the tide. You made a mistake, but I don't wonder at it, at all. Shrimps certainly do look as if they might be young Lobsters."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Grain values swung downward today, reversing the Thursday market. In wheat there was a lack of aggressive support until holders of bids started to take profits. Weakness in Winnipeg, better weather in the Canadian northwest and a weak technical position was responsible for the decline. At the close, wheat showed a net loss of 1 5-8 to 2 3-8c. corn was down 1 3-4 to cents, oats were off 1-4 to 7-8c and provisions varied from unchanged to 3 cents off.

All cereal futures were under pressure most of the season and what little demand there was came from shorts and holders who

"BLOODSTAINS" ARE PAINT; TAFTVILLE MYSTERY OVER

State police announced Friday that the red stains on the suit and Boston bag found in a lonely stretch of woods between Occum and Taftville last week were not blood stains at first believed but of red paint. The announcement sets to rest all sorts of rumors that had arisen with the finding of the suit and the mystery that developed afterward in the unsuccessful effort to locate the supposed owner of the clothing, one John Haendel, who is believed to have worked in a mill at Wauregan, and to have disappeared from the locality recently.

DINNER FOR 200 PUPILS AT ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL

A new chapter in the remarkable growth and development of St. Joseph's (Polish) school, Norwich, was written when, with the opening of the fall term, the first year of high school work was added. There are 500 children attending St. Joseph's this year and Father Ickiewicz has made arrangements with the sisters to provide a nutritious dinner for more than 700 children who attend from distant points of the city, and are served each noon.

Patients From Central Village.

The ambulance was called out Friday night about 10 o'clock to bring a patient from Central Village to the Backus hospital.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION ON ADMIRALTY CASE ARGUMENTS

Judge Newell H. Jennings of New Haven presided in New London Friday morning when a short calendar day was held for the opening of the September term of the civil superior court. Numerous matters on a long motion list were taken up and disposed of in one way or another, and a number of others were continued.

After long arguments by Attorney Frank L. McGuire representing the Automobile Insurance Co., of Hartford, and Attorney George H. Gilman for Smith, et al in the case of Smith, et al against the insurance company, Judge Jennings took the papers and reserved decision on a motion by the plaintiff for default.

The admiralty case evolved over the sinking of the steamer Atlantic at Charleston, S. C., just before she was to have made a voyage to Bridgeport. The plaintiff claimed that the insurance company agreed to "fully cover" the vessel until she reached Bridgeport. The case was tried for one day and a half in this city when Attorney Gilman sought to change his amended complaint.

A motion in the same case, made by Attorney McGuire to strike the amended complaint from the files and motion address to the complaint was denied. Judge Jennings explaining that it already appeared in the records and therefore he believed it would simplify matters to leave it in, with Attorney McGuire having opportunity to contest in that manner. Attorney McGuire in his arguments made reference to the fact that during the trial a ship expert who claimed upon direct examination to have examined the vessel, showed on cross-examination that he did not examine it. This, according to Mr. McGuire, coupled with several other features of the case, caused the plaintiff to ask to amend the complaint.

Foreclosure for $1,624

Default for failure to enter an appearance on the part of defendants William Wesemann and wife and defendants Brown & Stone was ordered in the case of Minhsall against Wesemann, et al. Judgment in the amount of $1,624 was entered in the foreclosure of mortgage and the second Monday in October set as the limitation of time. The property upon which rests the mortgage is situated in Stonington and was valued at $1,900.

To Continue Davis-Warner

Leave to continue business until Nov. 1 and not longer than Dec. 1, to transact unfinished business was granted in the case of Warner against the Davis-Warner Arms Corp of this city which is now in the procedure of dissolution.

Disclosure of defense or judgment within one week was ordered in the case of Pater against Plotsky.

An allowance of $50 to defend to be paid within two weeks was allowed and ordered in the case of Max Einhorn against Anna Einhorn.

In the case of Blankenfeld against Charmatz, a motion of the executrix of the will of Julius Charmatz to enter to defend action was granted and in the case of Charmatz against Blankenfeld, et al, a motion of the executrix of the will of the late Julius Charmatz to enter to prosecute action was also granted.

An order of continuance of one month with order of notice to appear twice was ordered in the case of Elizabeth P. L. Babcock against Horace H. Babcock. The plaintiff some time ago was given a divorce and alimony after a contested legal battle in the court.

Judgment by default against the non-appearing defendants and disclosure of defense within one week of judgment as to Israel Markow and W. F. O'Neil was entered in the case of the Norwich Building and Loan Association, Inc., against Dziacynski, et al.

The usual allowance to defend, $25 immediately and $25 within two weeks, was entered in the case of George E. Faulkner, against Mae Larpen Faulkner.

Disclosure of defense within one week or judgment was ordered in the case of Pendleton, Jr., et al against the Alexander Shipping Co., Inc., et al.

Disclosure of defense within one week or judgment was ordered in the case of the L. A. W. Acceptance Corp. against Manchik.

Reserved Decision

Motions to confirm P. LeRoy Harwood as receiver of the Fort Griswold Paper Co. and a motion to set the limitation of time for presentation of claims in the case of Goodnow, et al. against the paper company was brought up by Judge Charles B. Waller, representing the plaintiff. Judge Jennings took the papers and reserved decision.

Immediate disclosure of defense or judgment was ordered in the case of Barg, et al, against Trefes.

RAYMOND LeFONTAINE A NEW PREFECT AT ST. THOMAS' SEM.

Sixty new students were enrolled at St. Thomas' seminary, Hartford, last Thursday, making a total enrollment of 200. Rt. Rev. Maurice F. McAuliffe, auxiliary bishop of Hartford, is president of the seminary. Three new prefects are at the seminary this year: Rev. Stephen Carr of St. Augustine's parish, Hartford, a graduate of St. Thomas', who studied at St. Bernard's seminary, Rochester; Rev. Raymond LaFontaine of St. Patrick's parish, Norwich, a graduate at the Sulpician seminary, Washington, and Rev. Paul Spudnik of St. John's parish, Bridgeport, a graduate of St. Thomas' seminary, who studied at St. Mary's, Baltimore. The three prefects will finish their theological courses at St. Thomas' and will be ordained priests next spring. The opening mass of the seminary was celebrated Friday at 7:30 by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of Hartford diocese, who later addressed the student body.

SON'S FIGHT BRINGS FATHER TO COURT

Joseph Zanisky, 44, of Yantic, who got mixed up in a scrap between his small son and several other small boys Thursday, was in the city court Friday morning on a charge of breach of the peace in striking one of the boys and giving him a black eye. Zanisky denied that he struck the boy and for lack of evidence the case was nolled.

Zanisky claimed that the boy married the boys and that the black eye was inflicted by his son upon the other juvenile fighter.

A Westerly man was fined $7 and costs for intoxication. He made arrangements with the court to pay his fine.

OBSERVES HIS BIRTHDAY FOUR SCORE AND FOUR

Andrew Hagberg, well known Norwich tailor, observed his 84th birthday Friday. Mr. Hagberg was born in Sweden Sept. 17, 1842, and after his marriage in 1873 he came to this country. In 1873 he opened a tailoring establishment in this city and has since continued at that vocation. He has always taken an interest in the public affairs of the city.

Mr. Hagberg, since the death of his wife, has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. John J. Young of River avenue. He has two sons, Major Charles A. Hagberg and Major John A. Hagberg, both of whom served in the Spanish war and have long terms of service in the national and state guards to their credit. Mr. Hagberg also has two daughters, Mrs. John J. Young and Mrs. John A. Turner and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE HAS 152 IN FRESHMAN CLASS

The 152 girls who make up the class of freshmen at Connecticut college this year at New London have been in the college campus since Wednesday, five days before the campus is open to the general student body on Sept. 21. This innovation in allowing the freshmen to report several days ahead of the regular opening of the college year is designed to make their first days easier and more free from confusion than if they were arriving at the same time as the general student body.

Included in the freshman class are the following: Elizabeth Storrs Avery, Marian Geer, Norwich; Catherine E. Daboll, Noank; Margaret M. Monjo, Virginia S. Joseph, Stonington; Ruth M. Litch Danielson; Margaret A. De Gange, Elizabeth S. Glass, Frieda C. Grout, Josephine M. Irlandi, Constance Welling Smith, Elizabeth Avery Wood, Helen Mary White, Mabel Bartlett, Mary Josephine Cary, Loretta Murname, Anna Homantoskey, Marion Ransmo, Ruth Ferguson, Norma George, New London.

TIP FROM PARENTS LANDS BOY BURGLARS

Two 15 year old boys were taken into custody by the local police about 2 o'clock Friday morning charged with burglarizing Norwich stores. They were placed in charge of Probation Officer Edwin Hill until their cases are disposed of. Late Thursday night they broke into the Main Street garage, Henchel's tire shop, Willey's Cigar store and the Shea and Burke store. They have also confessed to entering Clark's Pet store on Shetucket street twice within the last two weeks.

At the Henschel store they took $1.90 in change from the cash drawer and tried to open the safe with keys found in the drawer. The keys were twisted out of shape. At the Main street garage the boys took about $10. The Willey store break netted them 33 cents and at the Shea and Burke store they took several small articles, including a handsome fountain pen. This has been recovered by the police and returned to Mr. Shea.

The boys are of the juvenile court and work in a bowling alley, doing the burglary work after they had finished at the alleys for the night.

When one of the boys did not get home early enough Thursday night, his parents notified the police who acted on the tip and found the two boys about 2 o'clock Friday morning.

WILLIMANTIC TAXI PARKING ISSUE BEFORE COUNCIL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 17—Another attempt to settle the taxicab parking problem, which has been hanging fire in the common council for the past two administrations, was fruitless, at the adjourned council meeting tonight, when a resolution was voted down by a 4 to 3 ballot. The resolution, introduced by Alderman Fenton, called for the parking of two taxicabs on each of Church and North streets and seven under the footbridge on Railroad street.

A lengthy discussion preceded the introduction of the resolution. Participating were Attorney Arthur Kelly for the taximen and Sidney B. Alling, a property owner. The spectators' gallery was crowded.

Business transacted included: A resolution by Alderman Fenton that the water superintendent shut off the water on Nov. 1 in cases where water rents have not been paid. Due rents to the amount of $4,500 are now collectible.

In answer to a previous objection of Wilfred H. Blanchette, town tree warden, Corporation Counsel Wm. A. King rendered a decision that the common council could designate any one it desired to cut down trees in the city limits.

Adjournment was taken at 10 o'clock.

At Cedar Crest College

Miss Agnes L. Dean of 7 Stetson Street, has entered the freshman class at Cedar Crest college, Allentown, Pa., where she is taking the liberal arts course. She was prepared at Norwich Free academy, where she was an honor student.

Feast of St. Mathew

As next Tuesday is the feast of St. Mathew the Apostle, the holy communion will be celebrated at Grace church, Yantic, at 6 a. m.

NORWICH TOWN

Wednesday proved a beautiful day for the annual Social Corner picnic, held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. William Weaver (Aunty No. 1) Huntington Green, Norwich Town. To the general invitation sent through the corner page, by Mrs. Weaver about two weeks ago, 250 members and friends responded. This proved the largest Social Corner gathering ever held. Although Mrs. Weaver has had the honor of entertaining the largest gathering of its kind in past years, this has surpassed any other as to attendance and cordiality. It was a joyous reunion for many.

Every Social Corner club was represented. These included No. 1 Willimantic; No. 2, Norwich; No. 3, Lebanon, No. 4 Killingly; No. 5, Norwich No. 6, Shore Line. A long line of automobiles was parked on Huntington Green, also in Mr. Weaver's grounds at the rear of the house. From the middle of the forenoon people began to arrive, and continued to do so, until about 12:30 o'clock, when by special request of the hostess, Dr. Charles H. Lamb, as leader, invited the company to join in singing the Doxology. This preceded the dinner. The excellent menu consisted of baked beans, rolls, pickles, olives, sandwiches, corn relish, salads, stuffed eggs, macaroni, buns, a variety of delicious cake, mince, apple and lemon pies, cookies, doughnuts, cheese, coffee and bananas. Mrs. Weaver was assisted in serving by Mrs. William White, Mrs. Forrest Leffingwell, Mrs. Frank Lathrop, Mrs. Fred Irons, Mrs. Andrew Gardner, Mrs. Henry Kendall, Mrs. Albert Miner, Mrs. Edwin Wheeler, Mrs. Ella Gager, Mrs. Wellington Miner, Mrs. Arthur Fulton, Mrs. Richard Carter, Mrs. Charles Wheeler and Mrs. Rana Barber.

The following localities were represented: Honolulu, T. H., Dry Mills, Me.; Brooklyn, N. Y., Framingham, Mass., Providence, R. I., and Westerly and Hartford, Southington, Wethersfield, Mystic, New London, Leonard's Bridge, Hampton, Stonington, Clark's Corners, Willimantic, Scotland, Windham, Lisbon, Jewett City, Versailles, Ocoum, Lebanon, Franklin, Fitchville, Poquetanuck and Norwich, Conn.

Dr. Lloyd Case of Honolulu, who accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Lamb in referring to the beautiful day stated that that was the kind of weather to which he was accustomed during the winter season. In Honolulu delightful weather prevails the year round, there is never a day when the sun does not shine at some time.

Another guest who during the afternoon was formally introduced was Mrs. E. T. Libby of Dry Mills, Me., Mrs. Libby (Balsom Fir) is a corner member though not a member of any club. There were several children present and about a dozen men. Following the dinner, many availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting the flower gardens of Mr. Weaver, numerous beautiful bouquets of variegated asters being carried away, as the company gradually disbanded.

This was the eleventh time Mrs. Weaver has hospitably entertained the Social Corner at her home. In recognition of this members volunteered an offering which plus the amount received from the sale of left-over cake, netted an even $20. Although this came as a surprise to her, Mrs. Weaver appreciated the spirit of the visitors in wishing her to receive this gift to her.

We believe things first and look for proof later.

The Place To Die

How little recks it where men die,
When once the moment's past
In which the dim and glazing eye
Has looked on earth its last;
Whether beneath the sculptured urn
The coffined form shall rest,
Or in its nakedness, return
Back to its mother's breast.

The soldier falls amid corpses piled
Upon the battle plain,
Where reinless war steeds gallop wild
Above the gory slain;
But though his corpse be grim to see,
Hoof-trampled on the sod,
What recks it when the spirit free
Has soared aloft to God?

The coward's dying eye may close
Upon his downy bed,
And softest hands his limbs compose
Or garments o'er him spread;
But ye who shun the bloody fray
Where fall the mangled brave,
Go strip his coffin lid away,
And see him in his grave!

'Twere sweet, indeed, to close our eyes
With those we cherish near,
And wafted upward by their sighs
Soar to some calmer sphere
But whether on the scaffold high,
Or in the battle's van,
The fittest place for man to die
Is where he dies for man.

—Michael J. Barry.

My Books

Sadly as some old mediæval knight
Gazed at the arms he could no longer wield,
The sword two-handed and the shining shield
Suspended in the hall, and full in sight,
While secret longings for the lost delight
Of tourney or adventure in the field
Came over him, and tears but half concealed
Trembled and fell upon his beard of white,
So I behold these books upon their shelf,
My ornaments and arms of other days;
Not wholly useless, though no longer used,
For they remind me of my other self,
Younger and stronger, and the pleasant ways
In which I walked, how clouded and confused.

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"I suppose you put up the fruit with your wife."

"No, that's one time she can't put up with me."—Boston Transcript.

Travers—"Your wife is very attractive. I never saw prettier cupid's bow lips."

Jimson—"Usually a cross-bow."—Detroit News.

"Mother," said Johnny, "is it correct to say 'you water a horse' when he's thirsty?"

"Yes, quite correct."

"Then"—(picking up a saucer) "I'm going to milk the cat."—The Progressive Grocer.

"Sir, I have courted your daughter for six years."

"Well, what do you want?"

"To marry her, of course."

"Good, I thought you wanted a pension or something."—Ideas.

"This disorder must stop!" shouted the speaker. "Why, I have scarcely been able to hear myself speak!"

"Well," came a voice through the din, "you're not missin' a lot!"—Exchange.

"Oh, how I wish I was twins," the little boy said to his mother.

"What a silly idea," said the mother. "Why?"

"Then this half could play while the other half went to the ol' summer school!"—Christian Science Monitor.

Hardware Man: "Yes, Summers is a good friend of mine. He showed confidence in me when the clouds were dark and threatening."

"In what way?"

"He lent me his umbrella."—Good Hardware.

A new tailor in town used as a trademark the picture of a large red apple. Curiosity got the better of the village grocer and he asked the tailor why.

"Well," said the tailor, "I'd like to know where the clothing business would be today if it hadn't been for an apple."—The Progressive Grocer.

Autum Trade Starts At Promising Rate

Manufacturing Operations Have Been Speeded Up to Keep Pace With Demand

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—An examination of business results so far this year and of prospects for the approaching fourth quarter seems to warrant the conclusion that 1926 will mark the establishment of new high records in most lines of industry.

Last week saw the piling up of additional evidence to support this view, despite signs of slowing down here and there. Commercial reports revealed that the autumn trade was developing at a promising rate, with manufacturing operations speeding up to keep pace with a steady enlarging demand from consumers.

The main offsetting influences, that might eventually become important enough to retard the forward movement of business, have been the gradual hardening of money rates, complaints of narrowing margins of profit, declining commodity prices and a slight increase in inventories. Unfavorable though they are, none of these factors has yet become a symptom of reaction and with the possible exception of the credit situation none has been the cause of any uneasiness in business circles.

Agricultural districts in the midwest have been adversely affected in the past week by the damage to crops from severe storms and floods which have reduced prospective yields of the late grains and delayed harvesting operations. Conditions on the whole, however, are regarded as satisfactory.

Little doubt remains that the railroads this year will carry the largest volume of freight in their history and that 1926 likewise will be a bigger year from the standpoint of earnings. Weekly car loadings, as reported from week to week, repeatedly breaking all records, the carriers are approaching the period of normally heaviest traffic with a combined net operating income more than 15 per cent larger than for the corresponding months last year.

The prosperity of the railroads has long been accepted as an index to the general prosperity of the country. Their showing this year, according to railway economists, has been doubly significant because their efficiency in moving freight, as shown by the complete absence of car shortages and their reduction in operating expenses, has contributed to the case with which the current enormous volume of business is being conducted on a hand-to-mouth buying basis.

As was the case last year, the automobile industry is finding that automobiles stimulated by the introduction of new models are keeping up a good pace in the spring months. The General Motors corporation for instance reported that all records were broken in August with the sale of 174,000 cars and that at present every division of the company is oversold. It has been evident for some time that some of the small manufacturers were losing ground, but most of the reports this month have indicated increasing business.

Steel mills maintained their stabilized last week with scarcely any change in the rate of operations. New business and shipments in the first half of September were well up to the average of the two preceding months. If the expected railroad buying materializes this fall it will probably open a further expansion of operations and prices.

QUEEN MARIE'S TRIP TO U. S. WILL LAST EIGHT WEEKS

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Queen Marie's trip to the United States will last eight weeks and during most of the time the royal party will live on a private train.

The announced itinerary takes in the cities of New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Butte, Livingston, Denver, Seattle, Portland, Ore., Vancouver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Albuquerque, St. Louis and Louisville. The queen will also visit Florida and North and South Carolina.

The queen will be accompanied by her daughters, Princess Helena, the young Infanta Beatrice of Spain, and possibly Prince Nicholas, her second son. The royal party will total 22. It is planned for the queen to leave Bucharest between October 2 and 4, boarding the Leviathan (on which a suite has been placed at her disposal by the American government) at Cherbourg on October 12.

OBITUARY

Major General R. E. Howze

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 19—(AP)—Major General Robert Lee Howze, commanding officer of the fifth corps area, United States army, died here today following an operation yesterday for gall bladder trouble. He was 66.

General Howze had an outstanding record in the United States army, which began soon after his graduation from the United States military academy in 1888. His war record included service in the Indian warfare in the northwest, for which he won the congressional medal of honor, the Philippine revolt, the Mexican raids and the World war.

He also was awarded the distinguished service medal, the Croix de Guerre, with palm, and was an officer of the legion of honor of France.

During the World war, General Howze commanded the 38th division and served in the Meuse-Argonne battle. He commanded the third (Marne) division in its march to the Rhine and led that division in the army of occupation in Germany, until August 14, 1919. On his return to the states he was assigned to Mexican border duty with the third division and was in command of the district of El Paso.

He came to Fort Hayes, Columbus, in July 1925.

Middle West Worn Out Battling Elements

Six Known Dead and Millions Property Damage in Northwestern Iowa.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A middle west worn out by two weeks of battle with the elements seized on a brief respite tonight to strengthen barriers against tides creeping up from flooded lowlands.

Northwestern Iowa, with clearing skies, was threatened by new torrents just reaching swollen outlets.

At Odanah in north Wisconsin, the townsfalk dropped their struggle with White River to combat danger from a new source, the Bad river's belated rise.

Deardstown, in Illinois, faced the fifth day of a vigil on the banks of the Illinois with the hope that levees heaped with sand bags would hold during the few hours interval before the passing of the peak stage, as forecast in the weather bureau.

Six known dead and millions in property damage were counted in the wake of the latest deluge in northwestern Iowa.

The floods reached Sioux City sweeping through residential streets and flooding industrial plants.

Railroad and civic agencies estimated the damage suffered in the one section of the state alone would total five million dollars.

TO QUESTION WITNESSES IN HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Despite reports following the indictment and entering of pleas of the four defendants involved in the Hall-Mills murder mystery that the state had "practically completed" the case, investigators today announced that the questioning of witnesses would continue tomorrow.

Two of those to be quizzed are Ralph V. M. Gorsline, against whom the state has threatened to bring perjury proceedings, and Mrs. Minna Clark, who was said by a witness to have spied with Gorsline upon the Rev. Edward E. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, his choir singer. Mrs. Clark was also charged with having had in her possession love letters which passed between the slain couple. Gorsline recently retracted a denial of four years standing and admitted he was near the scene of the murder with Miss Catherine Hastal on September 13, 1922.

The state, however, has expressed dissatisfaction over the statements made by Gorsline and indicated that it would ask the September grand jury to act against him. A statement made by Mrs. Clark was branded as "ridiculous" by detectives.

The woman was reported in a state of nervous collapse at her home in New Brunswick today. She was a choir singer in the church of Dr. Hall as were Gorsline and Miss Hastal.

WAS OBJECT OF ATTEMPT AT POLITICAL BLACKMAIL

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 19—(AP)—A statement tonight by Governor Ralph O. Brewster, who was reelected last week, charged that during the election campaign he was the object of an attempt at political blackmail. The governor said the attempt was made by close friends of U. S. Senator Frederick Hale, and that Senator Hale later admitted knowledge of the plan.

Governor Brewster said that at the beginning of the campaign he was called into a conference with the chairman of the republican state committee and the treasurer of the organization. At this conference, he said, he was shown a letter written by a friend of Senator Hale stating that the senator's friends would support the governor only if the latter would not be a candidate against Senator Hale for the republican senatorial nomination in 1928.

In this statement Governor Brewster said that later Senator Hale, in admitting that he knew of the letter, had defended the action of his friends.

GENERAL OBREGON NOT FIGHTING YAQUI INDIANS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 19.—(AP)—General Obregon has arrived safely at his home in Cajeme and is not in the field fighting the Yaqui Indians as had been reported here, according to General Pina, under-secretary of war. General Pina assured the Associated Press today that the government has no confirmation of the report of a serious engagement between the Yaqui Indians and the Federal forces. There is no official report of any such fighting at all, he says.

EXPLAINS CABLEGRAM TO CAPT. RENE FONCK

PARIS, Sept. 19.—(AP)—"Nothing but a personal message to an old war comrade" is Major Weis' explanation of his cablegram to Captain Rene Fonck, the French flyer in New York, declaring that his take-off on the trans-Atlantic was "absolutely necessary" even if he had to perish in the ocean.

Major Weis in whose squadron Fonck had served in the war, greatly regrets the publicity given his message.

LYONS, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Hiram G. Hotchkiss, Jr., 72, son of the once world-famed "Peppermint King" by the same name, died here today after a long illness. His father, 90 years ago was the first person to grow pepperment commercially in this country and first to distill the oil. Hiram, Jr., was president of the H. G. Hotchkiss prize medal essential oil company at the time of his death. He had been village president and trustee.

DEATH OF WILLIAM L. STEVENSON IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 19.—William L. Stevenson, head of the brokerage house of Stevenson and Company, of this city, died at his home here Saturday night. He was well known in financial circles not only in this city but throughout Connecticut and in New York.

The estate of John W. Weeks, former senator and secretary of war, was worth $1,200,000.

CALL FOR MEETING OF THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Nominees Have Been Invited to Assemble at New Haven Tuesday Morning to Consider Plans for the Forthcoming Campaign—Charles G. Morris and Rollin U. Tyler are Expected to Make Addresses Throughout the Statee.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 19—(AP)—Democratic nominees for state offices will assemble at headquarters here, Tuesday morning on invitation extended by Chairman James J. Walsh, of the state central committee. At this conference plans will be considered for the forthcoming campaign.

The purpose of the conference as announced in notices sent out from the democratic headquarters here is to "outline the general program and conduct of a vigorous campaign which will be carried into every corner of the state."

Charles G. Morris, of Newtown, nominee for governor and Rollin U. Tyler, selected by the democrats to oppose Hiram Bingham for United States senator, are expected to make addresses throughout the state with state rights, home rule, prohibition and decentralization of power as the main issues. Outside speakers are expected to be brought into the state.

The convention of the democrats of the third congressional district to nominate a candidate for congress to oppose John Q. Tilson has not yet been called by Thomas F. Keyes, state central committeeman from the eastern district who also is chairman of the third congressional district. He says that it will be close to the first of October before the convention is held. There is said to be a growing sentiment for the nomination of James [illegible] state senator and town clerk Joseph E. Donovan of this city as candidate for congress.

Republicans of the city and state also are laying plans for a vigorous campaign. The big meeting of the republicans of the state to name a state ticket will be held at Lake Compounce next Saturday in connection with a sheep bake under the auspices of the third ward republican club of New Britain. The meeting and speaking will be Theodore Douglas Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy.

WHAT WAYNE B. WHEELER REQUIRES OF NEXT CONGRESS

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Sept. 19—(AP)—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, speaking in the Methodist Episcopal church here today, outlined legislation which the prohibition forces will ask the next congress to adopt.

The legislation he said will include the reorganization bill, to provide for a division of prohibition and a bureau of customs in the treasury department; the Goff bill to strengthen the national prohibition act; the personal bill and corruption bill and the Stalker bill for increased penalties for law violators.

He pointed out that all of these except the last have passed one branch of congress and are now pending on the calendar of the other branch.

"No quarter will be asked nor given in the fight for law enforcement and the legislation necessary to enforce the eighteenth amendment," said Mr. Wheeler.

YALE UNIVERSITY IS TO ESTABLISH A NAVAL UNIT

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A naval unit to be established at Yale university and a course in naval science and tactics, to cover four years, will be given, it was announced today. The object of the course will be to graduate students who, in conjunction with those in the university ranks, have qualified themselves for commissions in the United States naval reserve. In time of war, graduates who have accepted commissions would be transferred as commissioned officers in the regular navy.

Two naval officers have been detailed by the navy department to take charge of the Yale unit. Both are graduates of the United States Naval academy, and the Naval War college. They are Captain Frank D. Berrien and Lieutenant Commander L. R. Greer, and. They will be assisted by three chief petty officers and as the unit increases each year, additional personnel will be ordered to the university.

ANOTHER WOMAN SWIMMER TACKLES ENGLISH CHANNEL

LONDON, Sept. 19—(AP)—An unusual warm spell—today was the hottest of the year—88 degrees in the shade according to the air ministry's figures—is tempting more channel swimmers. Mona MacLaren, another mystery lady started with Horace Carey, a swimming trainer, from Cape Gris Nez at half past five this afternoon across the channel. The weather was ideal, but it is very probable the fog will come on thick in the early morning hours.

Mona MacLaren accompanied by the same professional failed in an attempt to cross the channel on September 3. Rumor has it that the mysterious swimmer is a prominent woman doctor of London who is determined to swim the channel in record time.

ORGANIZATION AGAINST MOTOR VEHICLE ACCIDENTS

HARTFORD, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The formation of a "state organization against motor vehicle accidents," is suggested in the September number of the state motor vehicle department's bulletin. Its underlying object would be to reduce accidents and the aim of the organization would be to secure better uniformity in motor law and improved driving, police work and court dispositions in Connecticut. The bulletin states that an effort to establish such an organization could be made in the coming session of the legislature if public sentiment to favor such a move.

LIQUOR DISTILLERY WAS SEIZED IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A liquor distillery was seized today when policemen raided a house at 185 Lafayette street, and arrested Frank Gromak, alleged owner of the place, on a charge of violation of the liquor law and drunkenness. Gromak has been before the courts on liquor charges on other occasions, according to the police.

Two stills neither of them in use at the time of the raid, were confiscated. One was of 12-gallon capacity and the other a five gallon one. Alcohol, mash and apparatus also were carried off by the raiders.

WORKMEN CAUSED SHUT OFF WATER IN SOUTH NORWALK

NORWALK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The water supply of the south Norwalk of this city was shut off this morning for nearly four hours, when a workman, digging near the 12-inch main which supplies this territory, struck the main with his pick, breaking a large section.

It was necessary to shut the water off at the supply at Wilton from 8:30 until 1 o'clock. Meanwhile factories which had fire in their boilers had to pull the fires.

HADDAM, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Midnight court was held here last night following a raid on [illegible] from the Cedarhurst [illegible] corner in the night on the [illegible] Manor, a dance hall at Shailerville, a district of Haddam.

The proprietor, Richard N. Williams and nine men were arrested. Five men from neighboring towns were charged with drinking and dispensing liquor on the premises and were fined $ each and costs by Justice Belle D. Russell. Four men from Middletown were found engaged in a free game in the center of the dance hall and were charged with breach of the peace. Their cases were noted upon the payment of court costs.

The state police had received many complaints regarding the dance hall and the raid last night was made by Officers Henry, Schubert and Murphy.

NEW YORK-PARIS FLIGHT AWAITS BETTER WEATHER

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Guarded by two deputy sheriffs and two torpedo men, assigned by the navy department, the Sikorsky biplane S-35 stood idle in its hangar today awaiting favorable weather for the New York-to-Paris non-stop flight.

Captain Rene Fonck, commander of the flight, visited the hangar for a few minutes, scanned the weather reports briefly and then departed. Tuesday is the tentative date for the hop-off but the weather report today showed no change in the unfavorable conditions.

STRUCK BY MOTORCYCLE, SEYMOUR MAN DIES

WATERBURY, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Andrew Kolto, a laborer of Seymour, died this evening at Griffin hospital in Derby as a result of injuries when struck by a motorcycle driven by Raymond Tellgman, of Seymour, a half hour earlier. The accident occurred near Ellord switch on the Ansonia road at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Kolto had alighted from a trolley car and was crossing the road when hit by the motorcycle, sustaining a fractured skull and other injuries. Tellgman was released pending the result of an investigation by Coroner Eli Mix.

Plan to do your fall shopping during "Visit Providence Week."

It's a Pleasure to Dine in Providence

A score and more high-class eating-places have hospitably created especially tempting menus—and everywhere you will find the most agreeable dishes—fresh sea food of all kinds, for remember, the oyster has returned with September. You will find the prices moderate, the food excellent and the service good. And there will be extra touches here and there for "Visit Providence Week." By all means, plan to stay for dinner.

Special Attractions at the Theatres

A dozen decidedly modern theatres, all centrally located, offer you a variety of sparkling programs if you wish to see a show. Everything—including drama, vaudeville, burlesque and the newest feature photoplays. To make "Visit Providence Week" especially memorable, the theatres have outdone themselves in booking special attractions.

Plenty of Parking Space

Come by train or bus or trolley—or, better yet, drive your own car. You'll find especially roomy parking space in back of the Union Station, just a short walk from the heart of the shopping and amusement district. And don't make it a solo party—bring the family. There's something to interest everyone.

If You Want to Go Sight-Seeing

In Roger Williams Park, the flowers are gorgeously abloom—perhaps the finest floral display in all the East. Drive along the eighteen miles of smooth roadway by the shores of the Park's beautiful lakes. See the animals—graceful deer and lithe moose—cunning brown bears and the Asiatic yak. Glimpse the Benedict Memorial Temple of Music—the historic old Betsey Williams Cottage—the curious birds. Within a stone's throw of the business center of Providence are many interesting places to visit. Brown University—The R. I. College of Education—Pendleton House with its splendid collection of early American furniture—the Art Museum of the School of Design—the Annmary Brown Memorial. There's a reason for coming to Providence—to Southern New England's big town that is all dressed up to welcome you.

These Retail Merchants, Banks and Theatres, through their Membership in the Providence Chamber of Commerce, bid you welcome to Providence—especially during "Visit Providence Week"

Iodine

Iodine as a preventive of goiter is no new thing under the sun, according to Dr. Gilbert D. Harris, of Cornell university. In science, he quotes from an old Spanish medical work by an early French scientist, Broussingault, who wrote in 1825. In one place the author states that "till now, iodine is the only specific known for goiter." Elsewhere he continues, regarding certain mineral springs in Columbia, "In the province of Antioquia no other salt is used, save that from these peculiar springs, whose waters I have analyzed and convinced myself that, though the composition of their salts is variable, there is in all an appreciable amount of iodine. Hence the reason that there is no goiter in Antioquia. Each inhabitant takes every day a dose of iodine with the salt he consumes." Again: "It is a singular fact that for more than a century these waters have been recognized as a sure specific for goiter."

It's only a matter of time till people begin to say nice things about you—but you will be too dead to appreciate them.

FREEMAN RENOMINATED

Delegates assembled for the convention of the second Connecticut congressional district were of one mind. They went to Willimantic with one object in mind, the renomination of Richard P. Freeman, for a dozen years representative in congress from this district, and there was not one voice raised in objection.

Congressman Freeman has served in Washington for so many years that he is not only familiar with the ropes and the methods at Washington but he likewise understands the needs of his district and as his record shows he is persistently at work for the best interests of the district and the country.

The length of service has also brought him to commanding positions on important committees, all of which is advantageous to the district which he represents when it comes to looking after its needs. The prestige of such national legislators because of their experience and the fact that they are in close touch with activities is of no slight value to a district or state.

Congressman Freeman has ably represented this district since going to Washington. Those who have reason to call upon him for assistance are quick to give endorsement to his services and his readiness to assist on any and all occasions is characteristic. None has been more loyal as an administration supporter.

The action of the delegates in the congressional convention unquestionably voices the sentiment of the people of the second district. He has been tried and found to be true to every trust. His record in congress is highly creditable to the district, the state, the country and himself. The record he has established in every way justifies the repeated renominations. The voters have never had reason to regret the confidence placed in him and will be as eager to give him the majority he deserves in November as the delegates were to nominate him for reelection.

THE ROSENTHAL CASE

What risks are to be encountered in Mexico is shown by the Rosenthal case. Preceding this two other Americans were subjected to similar treatment, seized and held for ransom but they managed to escape from their captors and get away safely. Jacob Rosenthal was not so fortunate and his previous to his capture he had all the confidence that could be desired in the safe conditions that prevailed in the republic to the south. He was disposed to boast of greater danger in New York city than in Mexico.

The impression is gained that had the demand for ransom been met by the payment of the sum mentioned or his life would have been saved. But there was a difference of opinion as to how the ransom claim should be met. The Mexican authorities were for capturing the bandits without the payment of the money, rather than capturing down the bandits. Their plan failed because when the bandits saw that they were about to have the hostage taken from them they carried out their promises to take his life. They have since paid for it with their own lives, showing that the Mexican government is quick with their punishment, but that doesn't restore Mr. Rosenthal's life.

This is like other cases which have occurred from time to time in various countries. There are those who, in their lawlessness, see their chance to make a rich haul by kidnapping the subject of another country. It is not to different than cases of a similar nature which have occurred in this country. The Mexican authorities did not succeed in saving the American's life but they have made it clear that they are not disposed to tolerate any such activities and that those who engage therein case expected to lose their lives, as the bodies of the bandits strung up along the Mexican highway show.

However much there may be a disposition to criticize the attempt at rescue, because of the result, Mexican authorities contemplated nothing of the kind. Their aim was not only to obtain Mr. Rosenthal's freedom but to avoid the necessity of turning over any funds. The developments are such as to end any possibility of friction between the countries.

NICARAGUA'S TROUBLES

Placing an embargo upon the shipment of arms to the revolutionists in Nicaragua by this government is in the interest of a constitutional government in that republic. It indicates that this government is following out the same policy with that country and its troublemakers as it has with other republics in like difficulty. It is what was done in the days when the Obregon government in Mexico was seriously threatened and there is no question but what it had a beneficial effect.

This government has always taken the part of a big brother to the established government in Nicaragua. It has been necessary to maintain marines there for long periods of time to give protection to American lives and property. This is not the only country from which the insurrectionists in Nicaragua can obtain arms and ammunition, but it is a source of which extensive use would be made if there was nothing to impede the traffic. For that reason the Nicaraguan government has reason to feel greatly relieved and pleased at the action of President Coolidge.

It is possible for the revolutionists in Nicaragua to be assisted by sympathetic interests across the borders of that country, but the same was likewise true in Mexico when the revolt was undertaken against Obregon, and yet there is no doubt but what our arms embargo against the revolutionists was of great assistance to the Mexican government, and instrumental in creating better conditions there.

It is unfortunate that the Nicaraguans cannot settle their political differences at the ballot box instead of by the use of bullets. The old method has a hold upon the country which it is hard to shake. They are slow to see the wisdom of such a reform and education hasn't as yet succeeded in wiping out the old disease. The time may come when other countries in Central America are ready to join hands with Uncle Sam in maintaining a sound government in Nicaragua for a sufficiently long period to have its benefits recognized. Nothing better for it could be imagined and yet it is a question if it wouldn't be resented much more than it would be appreciated.

FLORIDA'S HURRICANE

It is an appalling story which comes from Florida telling of the great loss of life and the huge devastation of property along the east coast as the result of the West Indian hurricane.

Florida has unquestionably suffered severely but it is to be hoped that the early estimates coming from the chaotic conditions are overestimated. But whether they are or not there is no question about the sincerity of the calls for assistance that have been issued.

This state of heavy rains has never experienced anything of the kind in the past. The losses have been made larger because of the big development which has been going on there for the past few years, work which has created a much greater direct interest in Florida from all sections of the country.

To that state will not only go the sympathy of the rest of the country but there will be an eagerness to respond to the needs for assistance to whatever degree it is needed outside of the activities of the American Red Cross to which readywell-equipped and effective organization the governor of Florida has wisely turned over this work of relief.

Florida was apparently as unprepared to meet such a body blow as other sections of the country have been powerless to escape earthquakes, floods and cyclones. It however came at a season of the year when the population is much smaller than it would have been a few months later. While it is a great misfortune it strikes Florida at a most unfortunate time because it comes right on top of the banking difficulties so recently experienced.

MASSACHUSETT'S PRIMARY BLUNDER

Pennsylvania and Illinois have furnished some interesting facts in regard to the primary. They have shown that huge sums can be employed in such contests and that in all probability they would not have been used had the primary not been in existence.

The primary as shown up from another angle in the recent choice of party tickets in Massachusetts. For the lieutenant governor a western Massachusetts man was desired in order to balance the ticket and provision to that end had been made by the state committee even to the extent of getting a Boston aspirant to give up his ambitions and work for the man in the western part of the state. But like other well laid plans this went astray. The democrats, whether hypnotized by the name or believing that they knew better than the committee, picked out by a substantial majority the man who bucked the committee but who had been persuaded to abandon his effort. It was a demonstration by the voters that they thought they knew better than the committee, but so disastrous is the selection regarded that even though actually nominated the Boston aspirant has been persuaded for the second time to abandon the effort and urged the man who was wanted in the first place. But who naturally feels now that he wants nothing to do with it.

The primary has tied the Massachusetts democrats into knots. It is an embarrassing and bothering situation and it is certain to stand forth in political records as further evidence that while the primary may be a fine thing in theory it fails to measure up in practice. The state democratic committee in Massachusetts wouldn't have been made the blunder that the primary encouraged the voters to do.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The blows which Florida is experiencing this year are not mild ones.

"Gas leak delayed Fonck for a day," says a headline, a gas leak has delayed many an individual forever.

The man on the corner says: It's easy to tell a pleasant Sunday without a calendar. Watch the traffic.

Governor Smith of New York is going to run again. That is always the case when he declares he will not be a candidate.

We hear complaints about the cold already, but it will take something a little more severe to drive the summer furs to cover.

If that injunction against the Dempsey-Tunney fight really stops it the principals may yet be forced to arbitrate their differences.

Miss America has accepted a stove but declined a husband. Who's going to provide the fuel, cut the kindlings and carry out the ashes?

President Coolidge has returned to Washington from the Adirondacks. Anyone concluding his vacation can stand a lot of sympathy.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Never salt fresh meat when frying it. Salt tends to extract the juice and at the same time harden it.

Always rinse the glasses that have held milk, in cold water before you put them in hot soap suds.

Left-over boiled potatoes should be cut in small pieces, mixed with onion and fried until golden brown in bacon fat.

When cooking spices with fruits or meats, tie spices in a small bag so they can be removed when sufficient flavor has been absorbed.

If bread has risen too high before put in the oven it will be coarse grained.

When using valuable vases for table decorations, fill them with sand. This makes them stand firmly, and renders them far less liable to be knocked over and broken.

To remove grass stains from canvas shoes add a few drops of ammonia to a teaspoonful of peroxide or hydrogen and rub the stain with the mixture. Wash off with water.

To keep the whites of eggs from falling after they have been whipped try adding, while whipping a pinch of cream of tartar. This is usually most effective.

To make a wood floor look like new dissolve in water equal quantities of fullers' earth, soft soap and soda. Scrub the floor with this and the wood will look white and new.

Food cooked at a "hard boil" will not cook any faster than a "gentle boil" but will consume a lot of unnecessary gas and means higher bills.

When making omelets allow one tablespoon of cream or hot water for each egg.

Butter which has become spoiled by heat can be made tasty as ever if soaked for two hours in cold water in which a pinch of carbonate of soda has been dissolved.

ABSORBS THE GREASE

All foods that are fried in deep fat, such as cutlets, doughnuts and French fried potatoes, should be placed on clean brown paper after they have been removed from the fat, as all extra grease will be absorbed by the paper.

BAKED FISH

When baking fish a pleasant way to prevent having it especially pan fish is to lay two strips of clean manila paper under the fish when you lay it in the pan. These strips will serve as handles when removing the fish and insure it against breaking.

ICE THE CANDLES

In hot weather candles melt and drop very quickly. It is a good plan to keep them in the refrigerator a day or so before you need them. This seems to harden them sufficiently to prevent this.

IN CANNING TIME

Canning season often means fruit-stained fingers unless you prevent this by using a paste of cornmeal and vinegar. Incidentally, this is very good for the hands, and makes them soft and white.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Of great importance is the habit of correct posture. Teach children to stand as well as they can with chin level, chest out and abdomen in. Do not allow them to carry heavy loads on one arm day after day, as that will make the spine crooked. See that the clothes they get on are constantly adjusted to fit the needs of the growing child.

A certain amount of natural oil on hair is beneficial, but when the oil secretions become excessive they are likely to mix with whatever dandruff is present and form yellowish-gray crusts on the scalp which choke the hairs and invite infection. If the condition is not remedied it may develop into serious scalp trouble with loss of hair.

When a physical cause for excessive sweating cannot be discovered, one must look for the source of the trouble in the mind and emotions. There are many women who appear to be perfectly sound physically, but who are exceedingly nervous individuals in self-control. In cases like this the patient must be her own doctor and exercise her will power to change the mental habits that are destroying her health, comfort and happiness.

FRESH FRUITS

Wise judgment must be used in buying the fresh fruits. Fruits bought at the wrong time, when the market is high or when the fruit itself is not of the first grade, do not represent a saving. Poor grade fruit that requires "fixing up" with extra sugar or other materials or has a high percentage of waste is not a good investment. September is a good time to buy apples, grapes, peaches, pears for preserving.

CLEAN THE MIRROR

For dull and speckled mirrors take a small portion of whiting and add sufficient cold tea to make a paste, rub the glass with warm tea, dry with a soft cloth, rub a little of the paste well on the mirror and polish dry with tissue paper.

FOR BROKEN GLASS

When a piece of glass has been broken on the floor it is advisable to wipe up the tiny splinters with a woolen cloth. It is almost impossible to coax them all up with a broom.

OIL TRUNK STRAPS

Before you put away trunk straps wash with castile soap and rub with olive oil. This will keep them from becoming brittle so that they crack. It will preserve the leather as well.

WATER MARKS

After water has been in a vase, there is frequently a mark left that is hard to get off. A few drops of olive oil or any other oil, rubbed inside a vase where the mark is likely to appear will prevent its recurrence.

DICTATES OF FASHION

New fall coats are heavily fur-trimmed down the front.

Checked taffeta is being used for crisp tailored bows on street hats.

Color contrasts this season are particularly interesting, the combination of yellow and green is extremely popular and so is violet and blue.

Exquisitely beautiful but rather fragile are capes made of rows and rows of tulle ruffles. Some are in a single tone, others in pastel shadings.

Ensembles for fall show many interesting features, one being the use of a material a shade lighter or a shade darker for the dress than for the coat.

After so much reptile skin and mottled leather for pumps, there is a tendency in fall styles to return to suede in both black and the brown shades.

Two or three shades of the same color are an interesting feature of smart French street frocks. Browns and beiges are especially lovely in combination with burnt orange or rust.

Several bangles made of white crystal beads with pendants may be worn on one wrist, while the other boasts bracelets of silver or platinum. Gold and crystal are a bad combination.

Long lounging robes of heavy black satin have vivid tufted borders of orange or peacock blue or emerald. These heavy borders give a graceful swing to the hem. Sleeves are long and flowing.

Since this deep, wine red has become so extremely popular, we find this same shade being reflected in pumps, and red shoes are seen. It is also used for banding and straps on parchment and gray pumps.

All of the most striking new fall evening gowns show the bloused bodice and full skirt. Many have bands and draperies intended to emphasize the hips, in an apparent revolt against the cult of slimness.

HIGHER WAISTLINE

Higher waistlines, with fulness concentrated toward the front, are commented upon as significant details of many of the most interesting models shown at the recent openings.

For some time there has been a tendency to deviate from the straight lines that have dominated for so long a period. One sure evidence in the brief course of Parisi events last season. Gradually a softer and more feminine silhouette is being evolved which is to take the place of ultra simple straight effects.

FOR A SUNSHADE

No need to throw away a silk or cotton sunshade. Wring out a thundering hot water to which a little ammonia has been added and sponge each panel with hot water. Keep a towel under the material to avoid wetting the wires and causing rust. Dry in the sunshine.

LAUNDRY HINTS

You bring out a better gloss on linen if you iron it while quite wet with very hot irons.

Starch made with soapy water prevents the cloth from scorching and gives a lasting gloss to the linen.

Table cloths should be ironed in a diagonal way, and immediately after they are taken off the line. It is advantageous to have as few folds in a cloth as possible.

Paint stains are obstinate, but they yield before the treatment. Apply powdered starch and leave for several hours, by which time it has been absorbed. Then wash in the usual way.

When ironing, dip a cloth in water to which a little salt has been added. This helps to clean the iron nicely and prevents the clothes from being streaked or spotted.

A little salt, slightly moistened into a paste and applied to a grease spot on silk or woolen cloth will prove a good remedy, and so will fuller's earth, put on in the same way. Both must be left until dry. When brushed off, the marks will have disappeared.

IT'S IN THE DRYING

Articles knitted or knotted of wool will not shrink if dried, but to dry them properly is often a problem. One housewife has been well satisfied with the results obtained by rolling the articles in dry towels or old sheets. If this is done two or more only, more than the moisture is well taken out and the sweater, jacket, scarf, or shawl, if laid upon a flat surface, will soon be entirely dry. In this way they seldom or never get out of shape and the loops of the yarn are separated, appearing just the same as before they were washed. This soft, fluffy appearance cannot be obtained when the wool garment is put under pressure, or the nap of the wool pulled out in the

A NEW HOME FOR DOGGIE

One of the popular stiff paper shopping bags can be used to advantage by the woman who has a small dog. When she wishes to take a distance from home, small doggie can be tucked in the bag and carried in the trolley right past the conductor—all unknown.

STAINS

The various household stains can be removed from white goods by boiling in water to which two tablespoons of peroxide have been added for each quart of water. It will remove any yellow stains as well.

If white stains from cotton crepe dresses get on the person wash the hands in water the person will remove them press.

Do not use soap to wash a raincoat; a solution of one pound of alum to three gallons of water is a better cleaner for it.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Queen Mary of England recently celebrated her 59th birthday.

Mrs. Mary Talbot, deputy constable of Whitney, Col., totes a gun just like a man.

Lola M. Peterson is called the oil queen of Texas, having succeeded her father as the Panhandle field.

Miss Annie H. Jones bosses a gang of hustlers who are working on a $1,000,000 theater being erected in New Orleans.

Lady Astor's brother, sister of the Hard of Clivedon, is the newest English titled woman aspirant to legal honors.

Sarah Hopkinson, aged 66, is the first United States army nurse to retire under the new act recently signed by the president.

PURPLE GLASS

Of all colored beauty is a table service of glass in a deep shade of purple, just the color of freshly pressed grape juice. It is peculiarly clear and transparent and has none of the black shadings so often seen in purple glassware.

MAT FOR BATH TUB

Many accidents have occurred from getting out of a bath onto a slippery floor. One mishap may easily result in a broken rib. A great safeguard against this danger is to have a cork or rubber matting along the side of the bath.

RECIPES

Old Fashioned Cake: A cup of applesauce is plenty to use in the making of a perfectly delicious cake which may be baked in a loaf tin and eaten in conventional slices, or baked in a larger, shallower tin, cut in squares and served hot or cold with cream, plain or whipped, says the Christian Science Monitor.

To make the cake, cream 1-2 cup of butter with 1 cup of granulated sugar. Add 1 egg, well beaten. Then mix 1 1-2 cups of flour, 1-2 teaspoon each of salt, cloves and cinnamon. Sift once. Stir 1 level teaspoon of soda into the cup of applesauce, then alternately add a little of the sauce and a little of the flour to the butter-sugar-egg mixture until all is well blended. Beat thoroughly.

If desired, 1-2 cup of chopped raisins or nuts, or a mixture of both, may be stirred into the batter. Pour into a thoroughly oiled tin, and bake in an oven which is not too hot until testing with a straw shows that it is done.

This cake has a particularly attractive glossy brown crust, and never needs to be iced. It is a cake that is sufficiently moist to keep well, but is so delicious that it seldom is allowed to stay long in the cake chest. Requiring but one egg to make, it is an economical dessert.

Lemon Ice: Boil four cups of water and two cups of sugar rapidly 15 minutes; add one teaspoon of gelatine, previously softened in two or three tablespoons of cold water and strained. When cool add one cup of lemon juice and freeze in the usual way, using equal parts of crushed ice and rock salt.

YOUR HEALTH

HEADACHE DUE TO EYESTRAIN

By George W. Swift, M. D., Seattle
Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

At times every parent wishes to know what causes the frequent headaches of their children after beginning school work. Some children claim that they do not care to study; some, that they become sleepy after an hour or so of study.

Many children suffer from eyestrain and its consequent dull headache, and not realizing that poor vision is behind the headache, change about from this study to that, always aiming at one that causes less use of the eyes. These are signs that point eagerly to the need of a complete eye examination for the correction of the vision to normal.

The examination can rarely, if ever, be properly done unless the eyes are placed at rest. Every parent knows that it would be useless to attempt to fit the foot to a new shoe if the little one had a sore painful corn on the outside. It would be far better to place the foot at ease, either by removing the corn or by wearing slippers until the pain had eased. Then a good fit could be easily obtained and a comfortable shoe brings relief.

The comparison is quite useful when applied to the fitting of glasses. An optician or "glass vendor," no matter how complete his office and mechanical equipment, must of necessity fit glasses when the eyes "hurt" or are under strain.

Headache is the manifestation of the sore strained eye. To place the eyes at rest "drops," either of atropin or homatropin, are used by oculists (physicians who specialize in diseases of the eyes.) These drops dilate the pupils and temporarily paralyze the accomodation of the eyes.

This permits an accurate measurement for glasses. The effect of atropin lasts from 10 days to 2 weeks. Homatropin only 24 to 48 hours. Children usually require atropin, the stronger of the two drugs.

After a proper adjustment of glasses the headaches should disappear. If they do not then the parents should have the same oculist recheck and be sure that the glasses are as prescribed.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

As librarian of the Library of Congress, Dr. Herbert Putnam, who celebrates his 64th birthday anniversary today, is in charge of one of the largest collections of books and manuscripts in the world. Dr. Putnam went to the Congressional library from the Boston Public library 27 years ago, the choice of President McKinley, who looked upon him as the foremost man in his profession. He was born in New York city, the son of George P. Putnam, the eminent publisher. His first experience as a librarian was gained in Minneapolis, where he went after his graduation from Harvard. Of the 500 individuals awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for war work, Dr. Putnam is the only one who refused it. He took the ground that if any recognition is to be made of the American Library War Service, the recognition should be to the unit rather than to an individual.

Make the Most of Books

By James Hosmer Penniman, Litt. D.

Books Spiritualize Race

Better than any other relics the books of a nation show what it really was. The dark ages are called so because few books were written in them, and Africa is the dark continent because it has no literature.

No other works of man have done so much to spiritualize the race as books. The Laocoon is not as inspiring a creation as the Iliad, the Cologne cathedral is not as civilizing as Dante's Divine Comedy, and it has been said that the works of Goethe have advanced the progress of mankind more than all the conquests of Napoleon. Books have more soul than any other human work. A house without books is as dark as a house without windows.

CHILD TRAINING

A HINT TO MOTHERS

Mary Mead Eagleston

Well, it happened that I arrived early at Doris's card party that evening and she ushered me solemnly into the presence of Great Expectations who sat wrapped around with blankets and pillows, lay fast asleep. We were ever so careful not to make any change in the slumbering infant while at the same time, I must confess, I was charming on high conversation which, act my guilty conscience otherwise called flattery. The mother smoothed however, we left the cradle in the quiet of the house to welcome the coming guests.

Our friends arrived with little delay and soon all were playing cards, the high pitched voices of greetings subdued to the more natural tones of conversation. The theme, due to the majority of young parents present, centered on child life. Each mother enlarged upon the gifts of her baby until Dora was by no means backward in expressing herself: "Little Junior has the sweetest disposition—too cute when awakened in the middle of the night. He never so much as whimpers." Late in the evening during the bustle of leaving, Dora proved her claims in bringing the warm bundle of blankness from the serenity of dust and dreams to the place of electricity and reality. He was on the best of moods and smiled most generously at all who managed to tickle a soft nose under the covers. Then there came the exclamations: "The dear little fellow!" "How cool he is!" "What a sweet smile!" accompanied by the appropriate exclamations and the peek-a-boo policy that is the habit among grown people. Finally the baby was taken back to his crib, and the guests departed.

The following night, arriving home late from a dance, I did what Dora called "a mean trick."

"Was it mean?" I asked.

"The idea of phoning me this hour in the morning just to see how I liked being awakened! I was sound asleep. Besides, yesterday the baby was peevish all day; I couldn't do a thing with him, and I'm all in."

I was surprised to hear Dora admit any error in her child's behavior but I knew this slip was due to her own ill humor.

"Well, Dora," I said, "you expect more of your son than you do of yourself. You awaken him in the middle of the night and are surprised that he is all out of key the next day. Continue that habit and it will ruin his good disposition and add to your doctor's bills. Pardon the liberty I've taken, dear. What I've said is worth thinking over—don't, for the sake of trivial praise, ruin the health as well as the disposition of the man to be."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Hoover Not Concerned.

Mr. Editor: There appeared in your August 18th issue an editorial concerning a purported proposal of a $1[illegible] fund to loan to farm [illegible]. The name of Secretary Hoover has been linked with this proposal.

Mr. Hoover, who is in the west at the present time, has had his attention called to the statement of the proposed $500,000,000 corporation for loans to agriculture in which he is presumed to be actively concerned. Mr. Hoover asks me to state that he has never heard of nor discussed any such plan.

Very sincerely yours,
GEORGE AKERSON,
Assistant to Mr. Hoover.

SENATOR HIRAM BINGHAM HAS SON ON WORLD CRUISE

Parents of many of the 500 students of the University Abroad which sailed for a cruise around the world on board the steamship Ryndam from the Holland-American Line pier at the foot of Fifth street, Hoboken, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon attended a reception in the grand ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria Friday night. Dr. Charles F. Towle, president emeritus of Western Reserve university who heads the faculty of forty members, said one of the objects of the Abroad was to throw that American in her story comes to be the last for the world.

Reimer Govey, Horace J. Allen, Kansas, who was the dean of the School of Journalism, a friend and editor of the daily paper, The Ryndamite, to be published by the students, said he believed the cruise to be "the most significant movement in modern education." The Ryndam, the coal, was to be a "student ship and not a sightseeing cruise."

At a dinner before the reception Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, whose son will make the cruise, said he expected the faculty members would "acquire gray hairs in looking after the students when they went ashore in foreign ports. There are 50 boys among the students. The party will return to New York early in May, 1927.

He had made many friends since taking up his residence in Bristol and was held in high regard and esteem by all who knew him.

CONNECTICUT HAD 195 YOUNG DELINQUENTS IN YEAR

Juvenile delinquency was a less serious problem in the New England states in 1923 than was feebleminded-ness according to statistics made public Saturday by the commerce department at Washington. Although, as was reported in these dispatches, there were 5,000 feeble minded persons in New England institutions in that year, the number of juvenile delinquents admitted to institutions was but 1,477, of whom 1,068 were in special institutions for juvenile delinquents; 72 were in prisons and reformatories, and 33 in jails and workhouses.

Of a total of 67 juvenile delinquents in Maine, or 68.7 per cent. were confined in special institutions; 19, or 23.4 per cent. were in prisons and reformatories, and two persons, or three per cent. of the total, in jails and workhouses.

In New Hampshire, 37 juvenile delinquents were reported, all confined in special institutions for juvenile wrong-doers.

Vermont had a total of 54 juvenile delinquents. Three of them were in prisons and reformatories, the rest being confined in special institutions.

Of the 556 juvenile delinquents in Massachusetts, 287, or 52 per cent. were in special institutions; 24, or 4.3 per cent. were in prisons and reformatories, and 15, or 2.7 per cent.

A total of 264 juvenile delinquents was reported for Rhode Island. All except six were in special institutions, one being confined in a prison or reformatory and five in jails and workhouses.

Of Connecticut's 195 juvenile delinquents, 159 were in special institutions, 27, or 12.8 per cent. of the total, in prisons and reformatories, and 11, or 5.6 per cent. in jails and workhouses.

DRIVERS TOO SLOW WITH HAND SIGNALS

In response to a complaint that drivers' signals are for the most part given in a wishy-washy way, the department of motor vehicles has stated that the chief criticism of the signalling by automobilists is that they are commonly given too late for the following car to appreciate what is intended. Today drivers especially are being urged to give signals for left turns soon enough so that following cars are not required to make emergency stops.

When turning left, a pointing motion of the hand is called for. The department discourages the holding out of the hand and pointing in a stationary position and recommends that the driver keep his signalling arm in motion from the wrist to the elbow so that the signal combines both the pointing and the motion.

For a right turn, the department recommends a rotation from the wrist in a forward direction, combining the motion and the indication to traffic following to come ahead on the left side.

For stopping the ordinary stopping signal, or holding out the hand in a stationary position is recommended.

UNIVERSALIST PASTOR GIVES VIEWS ON PRESENT ISSUE IN MEXICO

Speaking by request upon the situation in Mexico where he spent a season some time ago, Rev. A. N. Foster, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, delivered a sermon Sunday morning upon the theme, The Background of the Issue in Mexico, using as his text Ephesians 1:10, That in the dispensation of the fulness of time he might gather together in one all things in Christ.

In part he spoke as follows:

My word of preface is a personal statement to the effect that several years ago I spent a season in Mexico. Memory lingers at Sunday worship in the vast Christian cathedral of the 17th century in Mexico City; the sight of "Tree of the Night of Distress" for Cortez and his hardy followers; the visit to the famed Shrine of the Virgin at Guadaloupe and to the stately memorial of Cuauhtemoc in the Pasea de la Reforma. Of not less interest was my stay through the rainy season at a rubber plantation in the rural district south of Vera Cruz on the isthmus of Tehuantepec on the Atlantic coast and not so far from the Pacific coast. In such a place, remote from tourists and reached only by the mountain trails of the pack pony, one sees social life which is quite primitive.

The romance of Mexican history includes the story of the ancient Aztec confederation and also the Spanish conquest of the 16th century. At the time of Columbus and Cortez the social and community life of the Aztecs was perhaps the most advanced of any tribes on the American continent. Judged by their roads and buildings and communal customs and social organization they were in the upper status of barbarism—far above savagery—and the preserved [illegible] Stone is mute testimony to their astronomical knowledge in the [illegible] they looked for the return of one their fair faced gods from over the sea. The thought is suggestive of the Messiah of the ancient Jews.

When the Spaniards appeared with white faces and towering [illegible] sails of wing sand unnamable [illegible] horses, they were mistaken for the returned Mexican gods. The [illegible] to take was later learned by [illegible] Their ancient worship of the god of war [illegible] the offering and perpetual sacrifice of choice selected [illegible] their own ranks on the summits of [illegible] stone altars at the spring festival. This custom also is suggestive of the lesson of the Christian's Easter, sacrifice.

The Spanish conquerors felt themselves called by the Most High to "gather all things in one in Christ." The church and the states were as one to them. They sailed the seas and traversed continents for the sake of winning converts to the cross and felt themselves heaven-approved in forcing all tribes and nationalities to acknowledge their sovereignty and to bow the knee in submission. They absolutely conquered the Aztecs and they sat in authority in the halls of Montezuma and exacted submission to the Christian cross and controlled the life of the people throughout for some 300 years. They sought to destroy every vestige of the native religions and to replace such with the Christian altar.

Pity that in the process there was so much of brutality and devastation. Otherwise there might not have been the smouldering resentment and cherished enmity of the natives for successive generations. The prosperity of the conquerors developed a mighty church institution; it commanded the wonderful natural resources and wealth of the country; it built thousands and thousands of churches and developed a most extensive priesthood and the latter included many who came to Mexico almost as refugees from European countries.

And yet at the same time the people remained poor and ignorant and superstitious. Thus social and religious contrasts were formed which were as obvious and as vital as the contrasts in climate while ascending the mountain slopes from the tropics Spain gained the country and amassed untold amounts of gold and in the process all but lost her own soul and certainly lost the leadership of the world of affairs.

The early revolt in 1810 which opened the way for political independence was led by a priest—Father Hidalgo—and this was the precursor of the revolutions of 1857 and 1910. The entire separation of church and state has been repeatedly decreed by emphatic national action and drastic laws affecting the priesthood have been formally enacted.

There are similar laws in this country although less stringent. While Mexico is essentially a Catholic country. The mystic element is very pronounced in the nature and inheritance of the people. In religion they respond so readily to symbolism in lights and forms and posture and hands and dress, etc., that a ritualistic church adjusts itself naturally in their society. The ancient native religions had much of corresponding symbolism. The protest is economic and ethical and is made for the sake of secular education and building of highways and what means modern community social life as distinguished from things ecclesiastical.

Today generally throughout Mexico the churches are open and the people may enter but the priests are not officiating at the holy altars. These have been withdrawn by the order of the high church authorities in protest against certain laws of the state. But the merits of a controversy between the clerical party and the lay party in a country where the catholic church is the only church, the Protestant may well be slow to enter and to pass judgment. He may however express sympathy for the appeal to the devotional life of a people and insist upon the wisdom of keeping church and state separate and clearly distinguishing between civic loyalty and the routine of ritual and ceremonials.

Unfortunately recent events tend to make less certain the assurances that Mexicans may work out their own salvation in state and in church.

An American citizen is killed by Mexican bandits and by way of reprisal the Mexican government has killed 13 bandits within 48 hours.

Almost instantly an appeal is made to those inflammable factors of national pride and threatened business loss. If the American government should, in effect, take sides against the Mexican state and for the clerical party, the ensuing result would be little short of disaster.

It is no secret that America herself has the problem made by bandits and train robbers in our midst. If a citizen were killed by bandits in New York or Chicago does anyone believe that the state government or the federal government would capture and kill 13 bandits within 48 hours? If a foreigner in our midst should be thus killed, what would American courts do on his behalf, assuming the matter ever reached the courts? It is unfair and unwise to try to exact better protection for our citizens abroad than is afforded at home.

It is sometimes said that the distinctive traits of a particular epoch seem to be embodied in the personality of an eminent leader of the day. The traits of that age of conquest seem to be thus embodied in the daring and craftiness and heroism and brutality of Cortez. We witness his method of making "all things one in Christ." We see in what sense his policy has justified itself in history but we lament the narrow vision and the worldy greed evidenced. For a companion picture I love to think of a great contemporary of the conqueror, Las Casas, the great and first Spanish bishop to the Indians who through the self sacrificing service of a long life time endeared himself to his subjects and demonstrated the superior value of the policy of kindness and mutual trust in an age when barbarities and persecution were most common. That was his method of winning souls and developing social policy.

It is the appeal of that character which bespeaks respect and veneration for the church universal.

Listing Game Animals

The United States Forest Service is [illegible] a permanent census [illegible] of game animals [illegible] according to a bulletin just issued by the American Game Protective association. The record is based [illegible] observation of forest rangers who [illegible] the forests continually. Figures [illegible] recently been given out of the last census [illegible] Montana Eastern Idaho and Western South Dakota and are tabulated as follows:

Bobcat and lynx	3,500
Mountain lion	1,000
Beaver	20,000
Marten	10,000
Mink	15,000
Otter	[illegible]
Weasel, badger, muskrat	45,000

While there are no wild buffalo in the national forests of this district there are several herds in preserves. Of deer, the black-tail predominates. Elk are increasing.

The rangers' reports show that predatory animals and birds take many young sheep and goats, and that more deer are killed by coyotes and mountain lions than by hunters.

Louvre Loses Curios

A curious lawsuit has just been concluded whereby the Louvre is [illegible] to give up some priceless art treasures and return them to the heirs of the man who was their original donor. The treasures are mostly sarcophagi, statues and vases from Syria, the emphora of Emese, some Phoenician antiquities and other valuable acquisitions which have been looked upon as public treasure for many years.

But they were originally given to the Louvre by M. Durighello, then French consul in Syria. An old law says that is children are born in the family of a donor he may provide for the return [illegible] to his heirs. Many grasshoppers manage to survive the long, cold winters in Indiana, and the full grown specimens now noted in the fields and along the roadsides are 1925 models. Grasshoppers produce their young annually and they do not come in cycles as do the 17-year locusts.

TILLMAN PITCHES RIVERVIEW TO DOUBLE VICTORY OVER TAFTVILLE A. A. CLUB

Johnny Tillman, former Eastern league pitcher, and at present one of the leading hurlers of the York, Pa., club, twice pitched the Riverview club to victory over the Taftville A. A. club in the second and third games of the series between these teams on Saturday. Tillman pitched a nice game which he won 4 to 2 at Taftville and on Sunday afternoon he pitched the Taftville aggregation 5 innings of Taftville seven scoreless innings. Tillman pitched well in Saturday's encounter but was his more effective game in Sunday's contest.

Lesser, who defeated the Yankees Thursday 2 to 1, tried to come back but was batted hard through so he was not taken out of the box soon enough, the Yankees scoring in four of the seven innings he pitched. Cleveland bunched three hits with Reutter's pegging in the first inning and a red hot rally in the fifth which netted them four runs. Reutter settled down then and was not scored upon again. He was effective after J. Sewell had hit out with a single in the eighth inning in a pinch hit role, he was then relieved by Kelso.

YANKS INCREASE LEAD BY BEATING INDIANS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20—(AP) After losing four straight games to Cleveland, New York picked today and defeated the Indians 5 to 3, the Yankees increasing their lead in the American league race to 3 and 1-2 games. The victory was the result of the batting of First Baseman Gehrig who in three doubles and a home run, driving in four runs and scoring one. Each made two hits, one a home run to the park, his 42nd of the season.

GIANTS CUT DOWN LEAD OF CARDINALS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—The New York Giants reduced the lead of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National to a full game today by winning the opener of a series by 6 to 5 before more than 40,000 fans. Many of the spectators rooted for the Cardinals.

It was the third straight game that the Giants have taken from the western contenders by a single run margin. McQuillan hurled a steady contest for New York with the exception of the sixth inning when St. Louis got all five of its 12 hits for three runs. Haines started for the visitors but was ineffective and his successor, Sherdel, added what finally proved to be the winning run.

St. Louis started off with two runs in the second inning. L. Bell singled and advanced to third on Hafey's double and came home on an infield error by O'Farrell. On Thevenow's single to Lindstrom, the latter hit Hafey with the ball and the runner scored. O'Farrell reached third and Thevenow second but McQuillan forced Hafey and retired Douthit on a fly to Kelly.

New York came right back with three runs in the third. Kelly opened with a single and was forced by Terry. Tyson batted safely and Jackson's double scored Kelly. McMullen fanned but McQuillan was out trying for a sacrifice.

Giants added two more runs in the fourth when Tyson singled, was put out, stole second and scored on a double by Jackson on the latter's home run into the left field bleachers.

The Cardinals tied the score by batting five hits for three runs in the fifth. With one out, Douthit hit an infield single and advanced to third on a base blow by Southworth. Hornsby then doubled down the right field foul line, scoring Douthit and singles by Bottomley and L. Bell then sent home Southworth and Hornsby. McQuillan then retired, fanning Hafey and forcing O'Farrell's liner.

New York took the lead in the sixth on singles by Bench, Kelly and Tyson. Jackson was intentionally passed filling the bases when Sherdel struck out McMillan and McQuillan.

Philadelphia, Mueller, traded by the Cardinals to New York in the waiver draft, threw out St. Louis's first man at the plate. Hafey opened with a double and scored on O'Farrell's single but was nailed at the home base.

St. Louis had another chance to tie the score in the ninth. With one out, Hornsby walked, L. Bell batted to McMullen, who threw to Jackson's single put Hornsby out at the plate. Haines who made two doubles, batted for Sherdel and was retired.

As the Reds batted today, they gained a run on the Cards. Score:

CRUCIAL WEEK FACES MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS IN RACE FOR THE PENNANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—Jack Hendricks and the Cincinnati Reds today were afforded the opportunity of writing into baseball history a modren version of Jason and his Argonauts in their quest for the golden fleece of the 1926 National league championship.

Trials that beset the mythical expedition of the Argo confronted the Cincinnati crew as it approached a crucial series with the Boston Braves. Like the symplegades of the Jason story—floating rocks which continually crashed together in the sea and ground to powder all objects caught between them—so the Braves stood forth as an obstacle to overcome in the journey to pennant hopes.

Cincinnati is due to ride the gauntlet starting tomorrow in Boston faced with the non-cheering fact that the troublesome Braves left their imprint of the league leading Cardinals and shattered the bunting prospects of the once contending Chicago Cubs.

Stopping at the Hub center on their final swing through the east, the Cards dropped three out of four-game series to the Braves and were temporarily toppled from the peak. In their wake, the Cubs succumbed in four out of five starts and in the season's series between the Reds and Braves thus far, Cincinnati has won 10 of 19 struggles.

The Braves headed the performances of the past week in the National with five victories out of six engagements while Cincinnati won six games and lost two, and St. Louis won 5 and lost two. The Cardinals were the heaviest run scorers of all clubs with 65 and topped the hitting with 100 safe blows.

Cleveland's desperate attempt to overtake the Yankees in the American scramble was marked by six triumphs and a single defeat which was the best average for the circuit. The White Sox came out on top in five of six tilts.

The Hugmen found themselves swamped by the Indians' overflow experiencing one of their worst periods of the season with but a lone victory in seven games which lodged them at the bottom of all the teams in the week's statistical standing.

Connie Mack's Athletics were engaged in the defense of third place against the Senators in the battle for division of the world's series spoils. Only a game and a half separated the clubs.

The badly buffeted Philadelphia Nationals aired new sailing without their regular pilot as the result of a bandy of phrases between Manager Art Fletcher and Umpire Klem in which Fletcher came under the wire second.

The tumpus originated when Klem chased Fletcher off the field in one of the games of the Cardinals' series at Philadelphia, proceeded to a sign labelled "Fresh Klem" which decorated the club house and ended when President John A. Heydler suspended Fletcher for the remainder of the season.

The Phillies manager has taken an appeal from Heydler's punishment and the outcome is still pending.

NUTMEGS TO OPEN SEASON NEXT SUNDAY

The Nutmegs are again in the field for a season with a fast football team and a successful campaign would be the outcome.

Among those out for positions on the team are Eden, C. McGrath, Capt. McGrath, Sullivan, Boldrighini, Herberts, Burns, of last year's squad, Jack Hare, late of the N. Y. A. staff, Jimmy Keogh, L. Stedman and B. Swann of the Academy, Nyarko, and several others not named who have ability at the gridiron game. No doubt the team will miss the services of Bill McGrath, '26 captain, who was one of the teams mainstays last year.

Negotiations are now underway for the opening game at Shetucket field, next Sunday, Sept. 26th, with the Majestics of Westerly and as this is the first game of the season in these parts a large crowd is expected to attend. The management will put the field in first class condition for the opening game and local fans will remember the time and place is the same as that of last year's contest which proved such an attraction.

BEARCATS BEAT WARRIORS IN FINAL GAME OF SERIES

The Bearcats defeated the Warriors at Davol field on Sunday by the score of 5 to 2. The game was fairly evenly contested throughout with the Warriors being handicapped by the loss of several regulars and using a makeshift team.

The Bearcats started right off by scoring one run in the first inning on two hits and an error. One each was added in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings on bunched hits coupled with errors at critical times. The losers had men on bases in the latter innings but were up-ho to produce a scoring punch. Score:

THREE KINGS OF SPORTS LOSE CROWNS IN BATTLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—Three of the greatest kings of sport have fallen with a reverberating crash in the short space of eight days to furnish something of a climax for the most hectic season of competition ever known.

A fortnight ago it would have smacked of lese majeste, at least, to have predicted that "Big Bill" Tilden, Bobby Jones and Paavo Nurmi would meet defeat.

Tilden has seen a bit of handwriting on the wall, perhaps, as he passed through the most disastrous season since he first gained the tennis throne in 1920. Then, eight days ago, he suffered a fresh jolt at the hands of Rene LaCoste in the Davis cup finals, losing to the phlegmatic Frenchman and twisting a knee at the same time. This accident helped complete the champion's decline but it was nevertheless a shock to have him pass out of the national title tournament at the hands of Henri Cochet, another invader, who in turn bowed to the eventual winner of the tourney, LaCoste, as France staged a complete rout of the defending forces.

Jones and Nurmi, pinned and at their best, were believed to be more unassuming Mr. Robin, with his third straight amateur title in sight, fell before the flawless golf and fighting spirit of George von Elm.

Jones is still the open champion of the world, as a result of his triumphs in the British and American medal play tournaments, but the chief purpose of his class has slipped from his grasp.

The foot-racing world had its full share of astonishment in the brace of setbacks sustained at Berlin by Nurmi over the last week-end. The Phantom Finn bowed first to the new German star, Dr. Otto Peltz at 1,500 meters, and then to Edwin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster, over two miles. It took world's record performances both times on the part of the victories to vanquish Paavo but these were supposed to be the exclusive property of the Finn over distances that have previously found him supreme since 1920.

TUNNEY HAS VERY IMPRESSIVE WORKOUT

STOUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19—(AP)—Stirred perhaps to extra effort by the enthusiasm of a great crowd, Gene Tunney today put on the most impressive exhibition of his training period. It was his last public appearance in the ring at Stroudsburg and he made it the best.

Early in the boxing the challenger convinced Jimmy Delaney that he was out for blood and he soon drew it, in a steady trickle from the nose of the St. Paul pugilist. Tunney was setting such a fast pace that Delaney modified the aggressive tactics marking his previous appearances and grew more cautious. Tunney was favoring hard rights and drove a number home to Delaney's face and body.

The contender was faster afoot and the clever light heavyweight was forced to miss some energetic swings. The marine entry's bruised lip again showed that it can take blows for Delaney hit Tunney more than once in the mouth without apparent effect.

After two rounds with Delaney, Mays was forced to step lively to entertain the bidder for championship honors. By this time Tunney was warmed up and was giving an appearance of the "dynamite" Delaney insists he boasts.

Tunney's expression gradually has changed within the last few days, was almost vicious today. There was not a smile on his countenance during the boxing and his demeanor throughout indicated that his mild manners are gone for the moment and he is rehearsing a fighting face for the big chance Thursday night.

BUDDIES WIN PENNANT IN DANIELSON LEAGUE

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 19—The Buddies were crowned champions of the Twilight league by virtue of their errorless as well as their decisive 5 to 1 victory over the Nadrivers here this afternoon. In the early innings a pitchers battle developed between Lagace, lauling for the veterans and LaBelle who was on the mound for the Carpenters. Both showed fine form but as the contest aged the more experienced lecion twirler, Lagace, pulled out in front and receiving perfect support gradually heaped up the seeds of victory. Comparison of pitchers shows that the Buddies made nine hits to the Nadrivers' five. Lagace fanned eight while LaBelle retired five and an errorless slate as compared to the three chalk marks against the hammer wielders left little doubt as to the superiority of the Legionaires. The fielding feature of the game was undoubtedly Blakesley's diving catch of G. LaBelle's drive toward third. This argument developed when the foes finished their twilight schedule neck and neck each having won 11 and lost four games.

E. C. BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS THIS EVENING

The Eastern Connecticut Bowling league opens this evening with matches in Norwich, Taftville, Westerly and New London. The schedule for this evening's opening is as follows: Palace at Aetna, St. Joseph at Taftville, Groton at Westerly and Lawrence at Peerless.

DEMPSEY POUNDS SAND BAGS IN SUNDAY WORKOUT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Sept. 19—(AP)—Jack Dempsey was in the moon to fight a cage of wild cats today but he did not pull on a glove.

The world's heavyweight champion irritable and angry at process servers sheriffs and other officers of the law gave all his sparring partners a day off and did not subject them to the fury of his blows. Instead, he attempted to relieve his pent up anger by taking healthy swings at punching bags and shadow boxing.

A deep scowl was on Dempsey's face. He talked to no one at the dog track. All the time he hammered the bags he kept mumbling to himself.

FRANCE ELATED OVER LACOSTE'S TENNIS VICTORY

PARIS, Sept. 19—(AP)—Lacoste's victory in the American championships, two French finalists, there reaching the semi-finals, electrified the French tennis world but the official tennis circles are accepting the honors modestly.

"We won't shout yet that we're the greatest in the world," said M Garey, president of the French Tennis Federation. "Our boys played splendidly, Boratra, Burgnon, Cochet, Lacoste, that is just as good a quartette as can be gotten together anywhere. It is too bad the Davis cup match is not to be played next week. But there are other years coming. The French federation thanks all the players for the honors that they have brought to France."

LEGAL ENTANGLEMENTS DO NOT STOP TICKET RUSH

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Sunday "blue laws," court writs, threatened injunctions and receiverships had no effect today on the rush of arranging for the world's heavyweight championship battle.

In the stadium of the sesqui-centennial exposition grounds, and carpenters and laborers toiled throughout the Sabbath to make ready by next Thursday night the seats and other accommodations for the largest crowd that ever paid to see a sporting event in this country.

A state court a few days ago decreed that at the exposition should not be operated on Sundays because it was a violation of the blue laws of 1794, but the "big show" was permitted to remain open pending the outcome of an appeal.

The latest legal action in connection with the bout was that taken at Atlantic City yesterday when the world's champion was thrown into temporary receivership by his former manager, Jack Kearns.

Kearns claims Jack owes him hundreds of thousands of dollars through alleged breach of contract, and the receiver was appointed so that Dempsey must make an accounting of all the money he received during the period of the contractural relations.

There are two other legal cases directly or indirectly involved in the championship bout, and one action is threatened.

Kearns is mixed up in the three legal actions already taken. One is the action still against Dempsey pending in New York to which the Atlantic City receivership proceedings are related.

Another is the action taken in Philadelphia courts to prevent Tex Rickard from paying any money to Dempsey and Tunney prior to the fight. The purpose of the law is to protect the public against dishonest exhibitions.

None of the legal moves taken in the east were designed to stop the bout but the threatened suit, which originated in Indiana, has its possibilities along that line.

H. C. Clements, president of the Central Conference club, who claims he holds a contract with Dempsey to fight Harry Wills, is apparently ready to stop the champion from fighting Tunney. Clements has notified the Pennsylvania boxing commission of the injunct a granted in Pennsylvania, he said, and he was prepared to bring a new action in Philadelphia.

CONN AGGIES WILL HAVE STRONG FOOTBALL ELEVEN

(Special to the Bulletin)

STORRS, Conn., Sept. 19—Thirty-four candidates for the 1926 Connecticut Aggie eleven reported to Coach Sumner A. Dole here this afternoon. This is the largest squad that has ever reported at State college for early season practice. There are several other men who are expected before next week is over and the final number of candidates will be between 40 and 50.

After Captain John J. Daly of Hartford had led the squad in setting-up exercises, Coach Dole divided the squad into two groups, Freshman Coach L. A. Alexander took one group while Coach Dole was in charge of the other. Forward passing, running down under punts and catching all the punters and the work probably be depended on during the coming season.

Seven ends are included among the 34 candidates and they are as follows: Captain Daly, center; Schofield, quarterback; Eddy, halfback; Zollin, tackle; Lange, tackle and Lorentzen guard. The class of 1929 eleven is represented by eight men and they are as follows: Sauers, tackle; Gilman, guard; Callahan and Bushnell, center; Kraus, quarterback; Wilson and Schlosser, ends; and Hooker, tackle. Other candidates are as follows: Hayes, Powers and Anderson backs, Pelmadie, Scott, Peck and Aschenbrenner and Dawson tackles; Mabey, Mayhew, Rowes, Bjork and Lindsay and Gilsslow center.

There will be two practice sessions a day until school opens the 24th of September. The morning session will be from eleven to twelve and the afternoon practice will be from 3 to 5. The squad will also be called together each evening at seven o'clock. Light signals will be the program for the first few days.

Practice is now in full for a strong eleven as the state college this fall as the largest squad in the history has ever supported the Aggie colors.

DANIELSON

MELON TO BE CUT TONIGHT FOR SERVICE BATTERY MEMBERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 19.— Monday evening at the state armory officers and men of the Service battery will share in the distribution of $1500, money due them for military services, including their pay for the period they put in at camp, in Tobyhanna, Pa., during July.

Naturally, tonight will be of special interest at the armory to the soldiers. Incidentally, it will be of interest to people operating business enterprises in Danielson, for experience of the past has shown that the boys spend most of their money earned in military service at home, buying clothing, shoes and furnishings and many other articles that people need from time to time, for one purpose or another.

BELLS SADDLE HORSES AT CHARTER OAK PARK

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 19.—Over at Charter Oak park in Hartford, Saturday J. C. Witter sold 35 saddle horses—runners, hunters, jumpers and polo ponies—to a select corterie of buyers representative of some of the largest cities in New England and of New York, including representatives of some of the best known riding schools in the east. Including in the string sold was a string of polo ponies from the Lawrence Fitzpatrick stable on Fisher's Island. In the list of horses shown in the ring and for sale were some very beautiful animals, including a number of Kentucky thoroughbreds. The top price paid for any of the horses was $450.

Of interest to all the members of St. James' parish and to many others who knew him during his pastorate in Danielson was the news that Very Rev. Celestin Crozet, M. S., for several years in charge of St. James' parish, has been elected superior general of the Missionary Order of LaSalette, at a meeting of the general chapter held in Rome. Before coming to Danielson, where he remained for several years prior to the world war, Father Crozet was superior of LaSalette college at Parkville, Hartford. In 1914 he was ordered to Rome, where for six years he was superior of LaSalette college for higher studies. In recent years he has held the office of procurator-general to the Holy See. Father Crozet did much for the development in Danielson. He is a priest of exceptional educational attainments and is head of the Missionary Order of LaSalette will direct the affairs of a society that has its missionaries in many countries of the globe.

Over on a dirt road that makes off the Brooklyn-Wauregan state highway near the old Brooklyn creamery property is the remains of a Ford touring car that was evidently stripped of its tires, the radiator, carburetor and other valuable parts, removed before it became fuel for flames that have left it a blistered old wreck. The registration plates are gone. There are various theories to account for the wreck of the car being where it is —and has been for a fortnight. Some are inclined to believe that the machine was stolen and then stripped for the tires and parts that are missing. And there are other theories. A state officer has been making an investigation that may eventually account for the missing information relative to the machine.

With her children and grand-children assembled to make her birthday joyous, Mrs. Josephine Perreault Saturday evening observed her 70th anniversary. The gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gertin and was delightful for the woman honored, for her children and their children and for the special friends of the family that happened to be guests. Refreshments were served, there were diversions and congratulations. Among other gifts Mrs. Perreault was presented a purse of $70 in gold.

This is the week that those who are vitally concerned in the contest over the election of selectmen in Killingly will put in their strongest efforts. This year it's a cutting and slashing affair. No secret is made of the fact that there is a wide rift in the ranks of the democratic party on the selectman issue. A party caucus that produced forty more votes in the ballot box than were entitled to be there, as shown by the check lists, was largely responsible for the situation now developing. Messers Alcott D. Sayles and A. E. Hall, the democratic candidates for selectmen, only one of whom would ordinarily have a chance to be elected, are facing a campaign that is unique in recent local political history. Their party will support neither one solidly, for various reasons, one of which is that they will in many cases vote for only one of them in the hope of defeating the other one. In this state of affairs republican leaders see a menace to the chances of their own candidates for selectmen, for the republican ranks are being canvassed hard for a vote for either one or the other of the democratic candidates, but no; for both in any one case. It's a pretty kettle of fish with party solidarity thrown to the winds and no secret about it. Old line democrats who got inspiration from a united party effort shake their heads in dismay over the turn affairs have taken.

On Saturday 124 new voters were added to the electorate of the town of Killingly. At a session held in the town hall building to examine the qualification of electors, the selectmen and town clerk admitted 80 men and 54 women. Only one applicant was rejected, and this because he did not happen to be in possession of his naturalization papers. The second district, which includes Dayville, Attawaugan Ballouville and Goodyear, as well as other adjoining territory, furnished a large quota of the new voters, who will cast their first ballots at the annual town meeting on the first Monday in October.

A Saturday night accident on a curve at what is known as Ledge hill, on the Danielson-Brooklyn route was between motor cars operated by Harry J. Boks, 202 W. 74th street, who was driving a Hudson coach, and a Ford roadster driven by Howard Shippee of Sterling. A state officer who checked up the accident ordered Shippee into court, in Brooklyn to answer to a charge of violating the rules of the road. No one was injured in the accident.

Altars resplendent with lights and a solemn high mass of thanksgiving marked Sunday, at St. James' church the observance of the 50th anniversary of the apparation of LaSalette. Inspiration of the foundation of the Missionary Order of LaSalette, in charge of St. James parish for more than a quarter of a century and a society that has its missionaries in far-flung corners of the earth. The sermons of the day dwelt with the miraculous appearance on the mountain of LaSalette, in France, before a boy and a girl who were engaged there in herding cows, this on September 19, 1846. In the years that have passed LaSalette has become one of the most frequented shrines in the Roman Catholic world.

In general orders received by Captain F. O. Armington, of the Service battery from the adjutant general's office there is information that the National guard of Connecticut, of which the Service battery is a part, has been allotted two appointments to the United States Military academy at West Point in the year 1927. Men enlisted in the special headquarters detail of which Major E. L. Darbie is in command and who have headquarters at the state armory here are among those eligible for these appointments, relative to which a press despatch has the following:

Connecticut National Guard candidates for appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point for the year 1927, have been advised by the adjutant general's office that a preliminary examination will be held here between November 1 and 15, 1926. The Connecticut National Guard is allowed two yearly appointments.

Members of Connecticut units, to be eligible, must be enlisted men of a unit recognized by the federal government. They must, on the date of admission, July 1, 1927, have served as enlisted men not less than one year, must be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-three and must not be less than five feet, four inches in height.

Enlisted men, intending to take the preliminary examination, must forward their applications, through their company commanders, to the adjutant general at the local State Armory at an early date.

Applications must be accompanied by a certificate from a medical officer of the National Guard, stating that the applicants physically fill the requirements of the war department for entrance to the military academy. Candidates must be unmarried and be able to present not less than two letters of recommendation from known and reputable citizens of the state.

The selected candidates will be authorized by the war department to report for the regular entrance examination, which is scheduled to be held beginning March 1, 1927.

Miss Ruth Child has entered Connecticut college. She is a graduate of Killingly High school in the class of 1926.

Attorney E. L. Darbie acted as chairman of the Second congressional district convention held at Willimantic Saturday.

Sunday afternoon funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Lewis, wife of John K. Lewis, was held at their home on Reynolds street, Rev. Harding W. Gaylord of the Westfield Congregational church officiating. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery Central Village. The bearers were A. A. Ennis, Burdette C. Hopkins, L. A. Bradford, James Danielson and Edwin Bennett. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Next Saturday night, Danielson and many other localities in this section of eastern Connecticut will have finished with the daylight saving schedule of keeping time and next Sunday morning will have reverted to standard time. The change will apply to manufacturing concerns, to stores and to the local public generally.

To listen to local baseball fans who are following the hectic close of the race in the National league, one might imagine the Danielson could lay claim to the Cardinals or the Reds, as the case might be. The boys are all het up about it.

There is rising enthusiasm over this week's dog show at the Brooklyn fair and the promise of a large number of entries.

Gasoline has dropped back a cent in price over the rate that has prevailed in Danielson during the summer season and is now offered at many stations for 24 cents a gallon.

Radio parties by the score are being planned in Danielson for next Thursday night to hear the broadcast of that Dempsey-Tunney affair over in Philadelphia.

La Salette college, Hartford, has been advised of the promotion of its former superior to the head of La Salette Order. Very Rev. Celestine Crozet was recently elected superior general of the order at the general chapter held in Italy.

The new superior general was for some time superior of the college in Parkville, after which he was transferred to the superiorship at Danielson. In 1914 he was sent to Rome where for six years he was superior of La Salette college for higher studies. In recent years he has held the position of procurator general of the Holy See.

PUTNAM

SYLVIA WHEELOCK BRIDE OF LEWIS ALLEN AVERILL

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 19—At eight o'clock last evening, Miss Sylvia Wheelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Mandeville Wheelock of this city was united in marriage with Lewis Allen Averill of Pomfret at the Second Congregational church.

An hour before the ceremony a procession of cars kept Main street at that point almost blockaded. A special patrol of officers was needed to keep traffic moving.

At eight o'clock the bridal party entered the church as the wedding march was played by the organist, Kenneth C. Sharpe, a cousin of the bride. Rev. James F. English officiated and the double ring service was used. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs James Roy Fulton of San Diego, California, a sister of the bride was matron of honor and Miss Bessie Morehead of Washington, D. C., a roommate of the bride at Simmons college was maid of honor. The other attendants were Mrs. John Harold Walters of Uxbridge, Mass., a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Harold Dean Baker, Jr., a classmate of the bride, Miss Mildred Williams of Watertown, also a classmate of the bride and Miss Rhoda Gilpatric of Putnam, a cousin.

Silas M. Wheelock, Jr., brother of the bride and Katherine Averill, a niece of the groom were ribbon-bearers. Lawrence Backus, of Thompson was best man and the ushers were Henry A. Wheelock and Howard Shirreffs of Putnam, John Wright, Keyren Cotter and Iver Nelson, of Pomfret and Lewis Girard of Putnam.

The bride was dressed in white crepe, made full skirt, wore a long veil an dcarried a bridal bouquet. The matron of honor wore green, while the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were in gowns of canary colored crepe. The church was decorated with flowers and white ribbons.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Wheelock home on Church street for the bridal party and relatives.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Averill will make their home in a newly furnished apartment at Pomfret.

MISS ASH ON COMMITTEE TO TEST RADIO'S VALUE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 19—Miss Annie Ash of Pomfret, teacher of music in the schools at Pomfret, and nearby towns, has been made a member of an advisory committee interested in New England's first experiment in the use of the radio in the public school educational courses. This is to start September 22, when the Connecticut department of education through broadcasting station WTIC at Hartford will give its first lesson in its course of music appreciation.

Whether the radio appreciation course of music will become a part of the curriculum of the schools of the state will depend largely upon the results of the advisory committee finds are being achieved.

The autobiography of Rev. George A. Gordon, D. D., who has been minister at the Old South church in Boston, is running through, "The Congregationalist" and in the current issue is the eleventh chapter. In this chapter Mr. Gordon praises the assistant pastors associated with him. The fourth and present pastor is Boynton Merrill, formerly the pastor at the Second Congregational church at Putnam. Mr. Gordon writes of him as follows:

"The present associate minister (Mr Merrill) I must not praise except to say that he seems to me essential to the continuance of my ministry and the new life of the church. So much I may be forgiven for saying, especially when I add that so much more in the way of grateful acknowledgement might justly be said."

Putnam Evening school will open in the high school building, Monday evening, October 4, at 7:30 p. m. Courses are offered in English for the foreigners. There will also be courses in commercial branches. The teachers will be about the same as last year and all instruction is free. Lewis F. Bailey is principal in charge of this school.

C. Dwight Sharpe, superintendent of Putnam Water Works department has returned from Providence, where he attended a meeting of the New England Waterworks association held at the Biltmore hotel. The visitors were entertained at a clambake at Chop Mist Inn by the association and more than three hundred members were present.

The delegates from Putnam who attended the republican congressional convention Saturday at Willimantic were Archibald Macdonald, Mrs. Ruth Rich, Dr. G. L. Lamarche and Victor Chapdelaine.

At the last regular meeting of the town school committee and the first meeting since the opening of the schools this fall, Miss Lenora Dogan was elected supervisor of music. Miss Dogan for a number of years was supervisor of music in Plymouth, N. H normal school and was supervisor of the schools in New Rochelle, N. Y., for a year.

The Putnam Taxi service has entered into an agreement with the town of Putnam to carry to the Israel Putnam school seven pupils who live in the outling districts to the west and will meet them at the Little River road.

It was voted to have a sub-primary room at the Israel Putnam school to be in session in the afternoons and will be taught by the kindergarten teacher of the morning session. Children under five and one-half years of age will be admitted.

The auditorium of the Methodist Episcopal church at North Grosvenordale has been closed for the past six weeks during which time repairs and improvements have been made at a cost of about $1,700. Steel ceilings and walls, hard wood floors and a new electric light system are among the improvements. The church was reopened Sunday with special services at which Bishop J. W. Hamilton of Washington, D. C., occupied the pulpit. The Swedish Lutheran church accepted the invitation from the pastor and officials of the Methodist church to join in the reopening services.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gilpatric and family of New Britain spent the week end with Mr. Gilpatric's mother, Mrs. George W. Gilpatric.

Miss Celeste Reaves will be in charge of the commercial department of Pratt High school at Essex, Conn., for the coming year. Miss Reaves graduated from the Bay Path Institute at Springfield last June.

Miss Ruth Child, oldest daughter of Hrs. Annie C. Child of South Main street leaves for Baltimore where she will teach in Goucher college.

Miss Annie Weiss has returned to her home on Maynard street after a visit of two months at Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinn of Boston have been recent guests of Mr. Quinn's mother, Mrs. Thomas Quinn.

Leonard Beausolief has completed his enlistment of fourr years as a musician

FREEMAN FOR CONGRESS THE UNANIMOUS CHOICE

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 29—Richard P. Freeman of New London was unanimously nominated for re-election to congress, at the second congressional district republican convention held in the town hall here at noon Saturday. The nominee has just completed his sixth consecutive term in office, a period of 12 years. Following a stirring nomination address by Walter A. Towne of New London, the secretary of the convention, Arthur D. Chaffee of Haddam, was authorized to cast one affirmative ballot for Congressman Freeman.

Charles A. Gates of this city, chairman of the district committee, called the convention to order. Elbert L. Darbie of Killingly was chosen chairman, on motion of Louis H. Geer of Norwich. Applause followed a brief address by Chairman Darbie. Mr. Chaffee was elected clerk on motion of Archibald MacDonald, of Putnam.

The first business was the appointment of committees on resolutions and on credentials, announced as follows

CONG. R. P. FREEMAN

by Chairman Darbie: Resolutions, Walter R. King, Windham, Edward E. Fuller, Stafford, Mrs. H. H. Mather, Saybrook and Louis H. Geer, Norwich. Credentials, Charles E. Whittlesey, New London, A. E. Harman, Coventry, Wright S. Reynolds, Middletown and A. T. J. Clarke, Canterbury.

The credentials committee reported that the temporary roll was correct and moved its adoption as the permanent roll of the convention, after finding that there was not expected to be any contest for candidacy. The roll call, read by Clerk Chaffee, showed but four towns in the district now answering, Chatham and Cromwell in Middlesex county, Hebron in Tolland county and Voluntown in New London county.

There were 188 of the total of 196 accredited delegates present, including twenty-two vacancies. The list:

Windham county: Ashford, E. E. Taft, John Chesm, Robert M. Baleh, Everett Parlow, Brooklyn, Samuel Hood, Sidney W. Bird; Canterbury, A. T. J. Clarke, proxy for Christian Kerr, James H. Walter A. Towne of New London, who responded to the call for nominations by addressing the gathering on behalf of Congressman Freeman, gave assurance that he controlled no votes and had no political prestige, having power over but one vote, his own. He said, "For all my life since leaving college I have been a teacher in the Boys' high school in New London. Some 40 years ago, Richard Freeman entered the school. There was no boy that I remember more distinctly—his cheerful, happy disposition, his genial smile, the utter absence of anything that savored of guile or deceit. Of course, at times, he needed looking after, but when reproved, he never sulked nor cherished a grudge. I claim that those same qualities have followed him to this day, and you, who have had personal dealings with him will bear me witness He has a great big heart, and I am sure that whenever you asked him for a favor you have seen his regret, if duty compelled him to deny you. In his public life, in his service to you, he has been diligent and regular in his attendance on the sessions of congress, and, what is perhaps more to the point, he has voted right. His long service has given him a commanding situation in congress, in attaining which a new man would require many years.

"Let me express the hope that he will receive your approval without a dissenting voice. Last Tuesday, the state convention in Hartford re-nominated unanimously Ernest E. Rogers for the office of treasurer of the commonwealth. Another New London boy, Richard P. Freeman, merits the same consideration at your hands, for his long and faithful service. Won't you give it to him?"

Mr. Towne then placed Freeman in nomination and a motion by Archibald MacDonald, Jr., of Putnam, that the nomination be made unanimous, was carried. Amid hearty applause the following committee escorted Congressman Freeman to the platform: Walter A. Towne, of New London, Daniel R. Kane, Saybrook, Archibald MacDonald Jr., Putnam and A. Jacobson, of Stafford.

Congressman Freeman expressed his appreciation of the continued honor bestowed on him, pledging himself to fulfil his duties in the lower branch of congress to the best of his ability. "To care for your particular interests, and to have a part, humble though it may be, in promoting and furthering the policies of the republican party in national affairs, have provided me with duties that have always received my faithful attention," he said. The speaker reviewed the financial record of the past administration, giving telling figures on the lowering of taxes three times and the reduction of the national debt by more than six billion dollars in the past six years. "Under the wise leadership of Calvin Coolidge, Andrew Mellon, John Fordney and Martin Madden, we are becoming a saving, rather than a spending nation."

In conclusion he invited all to the G. A. R. hall of the town building, where an excellent chicken dinner was served by the Woman's Relief corps, to about 200.

Just prior to adjournment the resolution committee, through Walter R. King of Windham offered a resolution approving and heartily endorsing the principles and policies expressed in the platform adopted by the republican state convention at Hartford, and commending to the electorate of this district the candidate nominated for senator in congress, Hiram Bingham, and the candidate for representative in congress, in and for the second congressional district, the Hon Richard P. Freeman and endorsing all nominations made by the republican state convention.

The republican second congressional district committee for the ensuing two years was chosen by the following nominating committee: S. H. Kellogg of Colchester, Mayo Kenney of Somers, Fred Depeyster of Portland and W. F. Sheldon of Plainfield.

The committee: Charles A. Gates, of Windham, John M. Mallon of New London, Arthur M. Brown of Griswold, Marcus A. Covell of Thompson, Fred O. Vinton of Mansfield, R. W. Ellis of Stafford, Wilson F. Reynolds of Cromwell, Bertha W. Goodrich of Portland, George M. Smith of East Haddam; W. F. Clark of Old Lyme and Isabel W. Chappell of Windham.

The session lasted fifty minutes.

Safekote Shingles Blunt the Scythe of Time

SAFEKOTE Slate-surfaced Asphalt Shingles resist the wear and tear of time. They will not curl or crack. Fabricated as scientifically, as carefully, as the steel and mortar foundations of a skyscraper—they last longer and serve better than you have ever imagined such low-cost, convenient roofing could.

It takes more than the best all-rag felt—more than the complete impregnation of finest asphalt—more than the surface of choicest crushed slate, so beautifully colored by nature—to make Safekote Shingles what they are. It takes brains, good judgment, skilled hands and ingenious machinery to obtain the toughness, the impenetrable compactness, the time-weather-and-fire resistance found in all this guaranteed roofing.

You need Safekote on your new building. If you are reroofing, you can lay Safekote right over the old roof. Then you'll be laying up satisfaction for years to come. You'll be laying aside for other purposes dollars saved in first cost and in upkeep. See the nearby Safekote dealer. Fill out and mail coupon today.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

Governor—A Prison Dog

Dog-like he went, dog-like he was content
To spread his mission through the darksome halls.
Barred doors and cells were no imprisonment
To this fine creature there in prison walls.

What had they done? It matters not to him;
And crime—to him is but an unknown thing.
Each is his pard whose sad eyes sometimes dim
With fears; each one to him is as a king.

These pale-faced men find in his gentle eyes
An old comrade, a boyhood's loving friend;
And fancy drifting to youth's paradise
Open wide their cells till life seems not so hard.

And so he trots from bolted cell to cell,
Awaits the quick caresses of a palm
Outstretching from the very ports of hell—
He kisses it, it is his dog-like balm.

No past so dark throughout the troubled years
Crime-stained but has some betterment for good.
Dog-like, he knew whilst his soft silky ears
Imprisoned fingers felt: he understood!

These are not prison bars—they're silken strands
Which only bind him closer to each one;
He loves them all, their very touch of hands;
With him in sight youth's freedom is not done.

Such is the mission of this loyal friend
Loyal to them within their prison walls;
Such is dog-like, whole-souled and without end;
Loyalty e'er! Nothing his soul appalls.

He has no soul? There is not future for
This man's best friend unselfishly who wends
His daily way, this loving counselor
To cheer the lives of his lone prison friends?

—Horace Seymour Keller.

Fare Mistress Buttercup at eve,
And Hans with pail and milking-stool
Is there her bounty to receive.
And calling through the barnyard gate
With eagerness beyond account,
She see's her hungry baby wait
To take his turn at life's sweet fount.

While drooping from the farm-house door
The little folks with cups to fill
From out the bucket's brimming store
Drink the warm draft with glad good-will.

O earth is full of joy and love
Of common things that rise sublime
Toward the stars that shine above
The lowly tasks of milking time;
And they who have not eyes to see
Have missed the touch serenely kind
That wrought the clay of Galilee
Into the healing of the blind.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

It seems as though little boys and girls are becoming more and more careless of their own safety as regards automobiles and motorcycles. Of course it is true that the number of motor vehicles in use is steadily increasing which increases the accident hazard but it is also true that in a great many cases children are knocked down and badly hurt through their own carelessness. The state, city and towns are doing everything possible to protect children, by making laws concerning the driving of machines and by erecting signs to warn drivers of sections where children congregate but the children do not seem to realize the necessity for extreme caution.

Only a few days ago within a short distance of Norwich a child darted suddenly in front of an oncoming auto. The child did not see the automobile and darted so quickly from the sidewalk that the driver of the machine could not stop in time to avoid hitting him. It is true that if the auto driver was proceeding at a speed of 6 or 7 miles an hour instead of 20 miles an hour, the child would probably have escaped injury, but it is equally true that if the child had looked up and down the street and allowed the machine to get by before starting to cross, he wouldn't have been hurt at all. The driver is sometimes to blame but more often it is the child's fault.

When a boy or girl runs off the sidewalk between two machines parked by the curb it is hardly expected that the driver of the machine is going to see the child until too late to stop. It is very probable that the driver's vision of the sidewalk at that point is obstructed by the parked machines. Darting suddenly from behind a parked machine is an extremely dangerous thing to do and often leads to serious consequences.

Remember that it is much easier for you to stop and look before crossing a street, than it is for a driver to stop when you suddenly dart in front of his machine.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

The Peanut

Dear Uncle Jed: The popular nut in the United States is the peanut and more than any other is grown for the markets, which never seem to have too many. It grows from the plant of the same name, and belongs to the leguminous order with the peas and beans. It is an annual branching and trailing in its habits of growth. The leaves have four leaflets. The flowers are small and yellow, in heads or spikes. After the flowers fall away, the forming pod drops to the ground, and the growing of the plant, of which it is a part pushes it into the soil. Here the nut rapidly develops, but if for any reason the pod is not buried in the earth it blights.

The food value of this popular nut is very great, and there are various ways in which it is finding its way into the markets as food. It contains a high percentage of oil, and from it comes the peanut butter of which many are very fond. It has a great commercial value and is extensively grown in Virginia and other southern states.

Spotted Sandpiper

Dear Uncle Jed: The spotted sandpiper is a bird of the brooks, ponds, lakes and streams. It is a very common bird. But you must go to the shores of streams and ponds if you wish to see it. There, likely as not, you will see it running along the shore, from you, stopping occasionally to secure a bite to eat. Get near it and it flies off a short distance, where it utters a sharp note of alarm, saying quite clearly, "peet-weet." Because of this familiar note it is also known as the "peet-weet."

The spotted sandpiper migrates northward late in April, long after the familiar and common killdeer has made its appearance.

About Ants

Uncle Jed: Naturalists once thought that ants returned to their home, through the forests of grassblades, weeds, sticks, etc., by scent, following their own track back. As a matter of fact, an ant seldom goes back over the outbound trail, and there is considerable evidence that it relies more on the mysterious general sense of direction than on sight or any other particular sense. One ant, as an experiment, was transported on a leaf beyond her destination, and when put down kept on in the same direction, though she was now going away from home. The general sense of direction is very remarkable in one species of the Australian ants; they build their nests along a north and south line so accurately that a traveler may direct his course by their aid. Snails have no sense of sight, or at least a very rudimentary one, yet it is not easy to lose a snail.

My Visit to New York

Dear Uncle Jed: I must tell you about my trip to New York with my aunt and uncle. We left Norwich at 11.30 a. m. We stopped at Branford, Conn., and had lunch with my supt. We stopped to see my sister at Clinton beach. We arrived at New York at 7:30 p. m. We stayed a few days in Elmhurst and too trips around Long Island. We came upon the day boat which left New York harbor at 10:30 and arrived at New London at 8.35. Sailing out of New York we saw battleships, tugs and ocean liners also the statue of liberty. I wish I could take a trip like this one soon again.

Ready For School

Dear Uncle Jed: I am all ready for school Wednesday and I suppose all the Wide Awakes are. I have a new pencil box and several pads, and Uncle Jed I have lots of new dresses too.

I have had a nice vacation. I have been to Newport twice and to Westerly and the nearer beaches. I have sewed a lot for my dolls this summer and my aunt says I have improved in my sewing.

This spring I started to learn to make cake and now I can make several different kinds all by myself, no help at all. I made my first pie Saturday. It was a peach pie and it turned out wonderful. My aunt said I can try another kind of a pie when I come for next week end.

I suppose you have had your vacation by this time and I hope you had a pleasant one.

A Kind Act

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide Awakes. Once I saw a little bird that had fallen from its nest and was very near the road. A car could have run over it. I picked it up. As my mother was with me she boosted me up on a limb of the tree. I reached the nest and put the baby bird back. I am sure the mother bird was happy then.

The Passing of Summer

Dear Friends and Wide Awake Workers: Long, long ago a dear little girl and her mother planted a lovely ash tree. Today that tree is about 50 years old and under its spreading branches I am writing the last letter I will write for our page before I start the fall term of school.

Here are a few of the cherry notes I listen to as I write you. "Phoebe, phoebe," "Chickadee, dee, dee," "Caw, caw," "Repartee, repartee," "Chip, chip, chip," "Yank, yank," "Theft, theft," "Peep, peep," and away in the garden mother quail is calling her young. The bob-white is known everywhere by the clear whistle that suggests its name. Two years ago I found one of their large and well shaped nests placed in a clump of grass on the ground. The mother quail was a good sized bird, and as I came near she would leave her nest and run along the ground and hide in the bushes, nearby. These birds are you know are very useful to man, and no less appreciated on the table than in the field. Every day the mother sparrows come with the young or members of the family to teach them table manners. They cry "peep, peep, peep," with their wings moving, their bills open waiting for something to eat. The mother bird takes the food in her bill and drops it into their open mouths. On the lawn in front of my home five large wake ups are gathering food. One by one the leaves are swiftly falling and many are turning bright yellow, red, and brown. Yesterday I saw a maple tree and all its leaves were red.

The New London County Fair

Dear Uncle Jed: The New London county fair was held at Norwich Sept. 6, 7, and 8. It was one of the best kind held at Norwich.

The horse races were held daily starting at two o'clock. There also were donkey, chariot and horseback races.

Many vaudeville acts were performed by different actors.

Every day about six o'clock a man would go up in the air in a balloon as high as 1,000 or 5,000 feet and from it making a triple drop.

At the last day a boxing match was held.

The Setter and the Bear

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time a settler caught a small baby bear. He took special care to train him and to teach him many different tricks. After a few months the bear was trained and he became as gentle as a dog.

Every day he went to the woods and brought his master a young deer or any wild animal he would catch.

One hot summer day the old settler lay down under a tree and went to sleep. Near him sat the bear who enjoyed himself by chasing flies which came to sit on his master. One big sitter, on his master for about ten horsef attracted his attention by time sitting on his master's forehead said to himself angrily, "Wait, wait, now, I will chase you away for good." He then picked up a large stone and threw it at the fly. He was such a good shot that he killed the fly but also split the settlers head.

The Indians

Dear Uncle Jed: When the first European explorers visited the coast of North America, they found it occupied by a tribe of men very unlike themselves.

They were of copper hue, with cheek bones, small black eyes, and straight black hair. The Europeans named these people Indians because all the first explorers supposed that North America was the eastern part of Ind

The Stake Driver

Run first and then investigate.
For thus you'll ne'er be tempting fate.
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

Danny Meadow Mouse, who, you remember, had been brought to the seashore by what he called a big "man bird," but which you and I call an airplane, had been having a very comfortable summer. True, at times he missed Nanny Meadow Mouse, but there was so much to see that he really didn't miss her as much as she missed him. He spent most of his time along the edge of the salt marsh. He felt more comfortable; he felt more at home. The open beach was no place for a timid mouse, and though he did venture out there at night once in a while, it was not often.

But it was very different on the marsh. He had cut nice little runways through the grass in all directions, and in these runways he felt fairly well hidden. Sometimes he went quite a distance. Sometimes he went away over the big creek that wound through the marsh. It was while he was over there at sun-up one morning that he received one of the worst frights he had had for a great while.

The water was low in the creek and that made a high bank where Danny was. He had a little path that he had cut through the grass right out to the edge of that bank, for he liked to sit there and look up and down the creek and see what was going on there. He had been there many times. This morning he had almost reached the edge of the bank when there came a noise that made his heart jump right up in his mouth. Anyway, that is how it felt to him. Yes, sir, it felt just as if his heart jumped right up in his mouth. He stopped short and held his breath. Again he heard it. He turned and ran back along his little path as fast as his short little legs could take him. After going a little way, he stopped to look behind him. There was no one there. Nowhere could he see an enemy. But he could hear that noise again, and every time he heard it his heart jumped. So more, he stopped. By this time his heart didn't jump every time he heard that more he stopped. By this time heart noise. He was getting used to it. He sat down and listened and tried to remember when he had heard a noise like that. It had a familiar sound. Yes, sir, it had a familiar sound.

"I've heard something like that before," said Danny to himself. "I certainly have. Now, where did I hear it, and when did I hear it, and what made it?"

Danny scratched the tip of his nose. That didn't help him, so he scratched his right ear. Then he scratched his left ear. Whether or not this had anything to do with it I cannot say, but when he scratched his left ear he remembered something. He remembered that once Farmer Brown's Boy was over in the Green Meadows driving some stakes. He had a great wooden hammer called a maul, which he would bring down on top of the stake

He turned and ran back along his little legs could take him short, little legs could take him with all his might. It made a noise that was almost exactly like the noise Danny was listening to now.

"There must be some one down there in the bed of the river driving stakes," thought Danny. "I'll go back and peep over the edge of the bank and see who the stake driver is."

No Danny didn't run right straight back to the edge of the bank. Goodness, no! His bravery wasn't quite equal to that. He ran a few steps and waited. Then when he had gained a little courage, he ran a few steps more. So little by little he got back to the edge of the bank. And all the time the stake-driver kept on driving stakes. Anyway, that noise continued

A recent caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Beard was State Policeman Frederick O. Johnson, of the Groton barracks.

A very successful meat-pie supper was held Tuesday evening in the church vestry. Mrs. O. B. Leffingwell was in general charge and the proceeds went for missions. The menu consisted of meat pie, mashed white potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, apple sauce, rolls, coffee and cake. Mixed candies were sold after the supper. The vestry was attractively decorated with fall flowers and pink crepe paper

Bees like to doze and sleep during the day time, and they do it unmolested, according to Professor Karl von Frisch, eminent entomological worker of Germany. Not only does Dr. von Frisch find that honey bees enjoy daily siestas, but love of ease varies greatly in individual bees. Continuing his earlier researches in bee psychology, Dr. von Frisch devised a method of marking individual bees with indelible colors. Carefully placed observers were able to follow the movements of these marked bees even in flight. Through glass-inclosed hives these same marked bees return to their perches and on the comb, indulging after moderate activity, in periods of inactivity ranging from minutes to hours, although their total span of life is approximately five weeks. It was not until the marking device was hit upon that Dr. von Frisch fathomed some of the age-old mysteries of bee navigation. In attempt to learn these by watching at random 40,000 bees in two hives was a hopeless task. Dr. von Frisch asserted adding: "It was always the bees we weren't looking at that moved."

POETRY

NATHAN HALE

(Hanged by British, Sept. 22, 1776)

By Rev. Felix O'Neill

Said Washington: "I seek a youth,
Of tested valor faith and truth,
To do a deed.—
A soldier fearing not to die,
If but his blood can thus supply
His country's need.

"Long Island swarms with British foe.
I feel unsafe to strike a blow
On front or rear.
One trusted man must don disguise
And learn the British army's size.
Who'll volunteer?"

Thus Washington to Knowlton said.
Thus was the General's order read
At bugle call.
While every soldier stood in place
Drawn up before the Colonel's face
He told them all.

The first his willing life to yield,
Forth stepped upon the tented field
A fair young man.
"I'll undertake it, sir, waved he,
"I'll do the task entrusted me
The best I can."

The Colonel bowed his fervid thanks.
Brave tears rolled down those rugged ranks.
'Twas Nathan Hale,
A handsome boy of twenty-one,
Of Coventry the dauntless son,
The pride of Yale.

"Hasty Captain Hale, Report to me."
Said Washington, "what force there be
In Howe's command.
He has thousands twenty-five,
For each a rumor is alive,
We scarce can stand."

Hale gave his Chief his last insight,
To Norwalk took his hasty route,
And crossed the Sound.
His foot upon Long Island beach
He sought some vacant school to teach
On Terra ground.

With ears and eyes kept open wide
He scanned the force on British side,
And quick returned
With plans of works 'tween soles of shoes
To bring his Chief that welcome news
For which he yearned.

Ah! There were days of peril then
For Washington and his brave men!
They seldom knew
While camped upon a settler's farm,
Which sullied them well, which willed their harm,
Which false, which true.

He felt grateful that the task was done
Entrusted him by Washington,
With cheerful face
He sat upon Long Island shore,
To wait for flash of friendly oar
At stated place.

The craft soon grated on the sands
With four false friends unchained his hands.
He held his face
In British trust to cross to Hone,
Who then was proud Manhattan now,
Royal City was cast

Convicted as a rebel spy,
The patriot was doomed to die
By rope of sun
While golden light would gild the wave
All hills and vales he sought to save
Would mourn as one.

A dragon's pious son was he
The symbol for God's majesty
For Bible learned,
Both chaplain and the Holy Book
The guards refused with sneering look.
His wish was spurned.

In chains, his final night on earth,
He penned to her who gave him birth
A last good night.
To Alice Adams, sister less dear,
He wrote to say the end was near
With dawning light.

But ere it was then the Marshal read.
He left them, his words and said
With gnashing jaws
"This rebel's friends must never know
The scoundrel loses his country so
Toward help their cause."

A flush of crimson toned the east,
The herald of the martyr's feast.
The morn had come.
A closing tide of marching men
Wound into Rutger's orchard then
With muffled drum.

"Now rebel, make your dying speech"
Yelled Cunningham with jeering screech
And lofty head.
As men and women of the crowd
And laud his valor long and loud
Hale nobly said:

"Had I ten thousand lives to live,
Ten thousand lives I'd gladly give
My native land!
One only life is far too small
To offer at my country's call.
So here I stand!"

"Make haste and swing the rebel off!"
The Marshal roared in biting scoff
And growling scorn.—
The altar was the orchard tree.
The sacrifice to make men free.
'Twas Sunday morn.

Why fear the noose of dangling rope?
'Tis but the welcome cravat of hope
To patriot's head
In spring, the leaves of gallows tree
Will flower, to them in Liberty
When patriot's dead.

O thou Manhattan, thrice art blest!
Thou urn wherein his ashes rest.
Oh! shelf unknown!
Sad Coventry hath lit the ray
That gleams from Statue down thy bay
'Tis Nathan's own.

O Misery! What cruel waze
Then clergyest one who would engage
To free his soul?
How shall our debt repay thee blood!
How womanhood requite a flood
Of tears and toil!

America, though tender guns
Should crack the cradles of the sons,
Heed not their roar!
Their sire and shield shall not prevail!
The spirit will live like Nathan Hale
And guard the shore!

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Host—The poor we have with us always.

Guest—Yes, and it's time to do something about the traffic congestion.—Boston Transcript.

John, shall we get married the fourteenth?

Will—no—letter make it the 16th, dear. The day after pay day, you know.—Detroit News.

We sometimes wonder which fellow passenger is the more irritating, the one that tries to read the back of our paper or the one that won't hold his paper still for us to read.—Punch.

She—No; when I marry, I want a man who is game from head to foot.

Ex-Football Man—Well, give me a chance; I've got a game leg already.—Kansas City Star.

The Ghost—I could a tale unfold to you whose slightest word would make each particular hair stand on end.

Hamlet—Useless labor old chap; my hair's naturally pompadour.—Exchange.

The ancient car chugged up to the gates of the ferry. The gatekeeper, demanding the usual fee, called out, Two dollars for the car.

The owner looked up with a pathetic smile; Sold, he said, and got out.—Motor Life;

"Sir," said the astonished landlady to a guest who had passed his cup for the seventh time, "you must be very fond of coffee."

"Yes, madam, I am," he replied, "or I should never have drunk so much water to get so little."—The Progressive Grocer

Wife—The price of the alarm clock was $1.50, but I got a discount, so it only cost me 98c.

Husband—Yes, but you know very well you could have got the same thing at Brown's for 75c.

Wife—That may be, but then Brown's wouldn't have taken anything off.—Good Hardware.

WESTERLY

CLOSE OF KINGSTON FAIR WITH OLD FIDDLERS' CONTEST

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I. Sept. 19—Saturday night marked the closing of the fourth day of the fifty-first anniversary of Kingston fair given by Washington County Agricultural society. The 1926 fair followed the lapse of one year, when the 1924 fair closed with a poor season and fire destroyed the race track, grandstand and adjoining buildings. Quite different was the ending of this year's fair, which was most successful. Among innovations was the conducting of the fair at night and on Saturday night an old fiddlers' contest lent a carnival conclusion, as reels and jigs were played by veteran fiddlers and dancing lasted until nearly midnight.

Speaking of the fair this year President Bailey declared that the appreciation by the public in attendance had shown approval of the officials endeavor to make an agricultural fair of high merit and that every effort would be made to make next year's event even more popular. Secretary Bitgood declared that "more than ninety per cent. of the attendance had been highly pleased." He added that the officials were new at the game and that much knowledge had come to them through this year's experience. With the night showing fireworks of a high grade were an added attraction and especially on Friday night, governor's day, there had been a wonderful display. The total attendance of upwards of 30,000 was a source of satisfaction to the new management and financial returns had furnished funds with which to care for improvements. The need of new cattle barns with closed in passageway would seem almost a necessity for next year for so many cattle had been entered that there was not room and many had to be kept in the open.

Among the new structures on the fair grounds this year was a new grandstand, 250 feet long and 24 feet wide, with a seating capacity of 2500.

The First Aid tent with Miss Luey E. Crowley of Westerly, welfare worker in charge with members of the Westerly Sanitary corps and Boy Scouts in attendance had no call for their services outside of the first day, when several heat prostrations were cared for.

Vaudeville programs were given daily in front of the grandstand. The card of races included 2.27 trot, 2.24 pace and 2.16 trot for purses of $300 and $400 on Wednesday won by Ashton (Smith) in the trot and by Bobby L. (Hawkins) in the pace.

Railbirds got a thrill when they saw a woman driver, Mrs. A. H. Chapman of Norwich up behind "Dr. Sharp" a rather obstinate mare which came in last, although it had speed to burn, if shown at the right time. She had another entry Dowaretta Boy driven by Grover, taking next to last place. In the 2.19 trot eleven horses were entered, victory going to Silver Threads with Grover driving in Thursday's racing and to Eleanor Wilson (Page) in the 2.21 pace and to Peter Jewel, (Hawkins) in 2.25 trot. On Friday, Peter Grayson (Carr) took first in the 2.32 pace and Allie Dean (Perry) in the 2.16 trot. Saturday Symbo (Lecuyer) took first in straight heats, free for all pace, time 2.15 1-4, 2.15 1-4 and 2.15 1-2. In the second event Choice Peter (Smith) also won in straight heats in the 2.20 trot, time 2.27, 2.28 and 2.27.

Baseball was also included in the list of athletic attractions and on Saturday South Kingstown defeated Shannock 4 to 1. Horseshoe pitching for the championship of southern New England was won by Albert G. Brown with Charles Wilcox and Frank Saxe third.

Saturday, the last day of the fair was industrial day and on this day children were admitted free.

JEWETT CITY

TOUGHS WHO DISTURB DANCE STIFFLY PENAIZED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 19.—Residents in the vicinity of Ekonk church and dance hall have been annoyed for a long time by the actions of toughs who conducted themselves in such a manner Saturday nights that people who would like to attend the dances were obliged to stay away and it was necessary every Sunday to clean up bottles and broken glass. Complaints were made to Deputy Sheriff Fred Tillinghast of Central Village. As the town line runs through the Ekonk church, Deputy Sheriff Dolan was called upon from New London county to assist Deputy Sheriff Tillinghast, also Dyer Russell of Moosup. As a result five Canterbury youths were arrested and a half dozen more sent out of town. They were brought before Judge John T. Tanner of Sterling by Grand Juror C. F. Montgomery of Oneco, and fined $5 and costs each, amounting to $28.95. One young man, particularly abusive in his language got $33.95.

MOTHER AND SON CAUGHT VIOLATING LIQUOR LAW

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 19.—State police arrested Rose Foley and son, Steve on illegal liquor transactions. They were brought before Judge Barry's court Saturday, by Prosecuting Attorney Richard Dudkowski. Mrs. Foley got $250 and costs for keeping with intent to sell and reputation, also 30 days in jail, sentence suspended. Her son's case went over to Thursday.

The A. C. G. club held its first dance of the season in Ashland Casino Friday night. It was a most delightful time, a large crowd attending. The casino was elaborately decorated, yellow and white streamers being used in every available place. Flowers decorated the stage and piano. There were three fancy dances, the hall being hung with balloons, with the addition of confetti and streamers for one dance. A candy kiss number and lolly-pop dance added to the fun. All the lights were covered with Japanese lanterns, lending an artistic effect to the scene. D'Ami's Waureegan House orchestra furnished the music.

LEBANON

Rev. A. G. Littlefield took for his text Sunday John 17:15, I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world but that thou shouldest keep them from evil. Spiritual food will be the subject for next Sunday's sermon.

The delegates to the Baptist association meeting held in Waterford gave reports of the meetings. Mrs. A. G. Goodwin reported the morning service, Mrs. A. G. Littlefield for the afternoon and Mrs. Gurdon Chappell for the evening. In place of the C. E. meeting Miss Mary Chappell gave a very fine report of the meetings and her studies at Ocean park, Maine, to which she was a delegate.

At the parsonage of the First Congregational church Saturday afternoon Miss Dorothy Hewitt, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hewitt was united in marriage with John Manning, son of E. Ray Manning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stanley Sellick. Mr. and Mrs. Manning are both popular young people and have many friends to wish them happiness. They left to spend some time at Matunuck beach, R. I.

Rev. Stanley Sellick took for his subject Sunday morning the Supreme message of the church and for the junior sermon The Legend of Wings. There was a solo by Miss Julia Standish. The C. E. meeting was led by George McDonald.

The Mission Circle met with Mrs. A. G. Littlefield Tuesday afternoon to make plans for the winter's work.

Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Bishop and grandson, Gordon Bishop took a trip to Far Rockaway beach, N. Y., to see their son Richard, who is to spend the winter with a theatrical company in New Orleans. They remained over night and returned by boat to New London.

Misses Ruth and Florence Campbell have been visiting their brother in Arctic, R. I., and attended a clambake there.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac and two sons of Boston spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crandall and son, of New London, spent the week end at their home in Lebanon and attended the Mitchell-Holmes wedding in Columbia Saturday afternoon.

H. C. Goodwin and daughter, Miss Mildred Goodwin, of New Britain spent Sunday at C. S. Goodwins.

Henry Williams and daughter, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Edna Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Williams and son visited Mt. Tom Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Geer spent Sunday with Mrs. Addie Waldo and Nelson Lyons, at Canterbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Manning of Hillstown, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Manning and two children of South Manchester were callers at C. S. Goodwin's Sunday afternoon.

The body of George N. Draper, a former resident was brought to Lebanon Tuesday, Sept. 7 and buried in the new cemetery.

Mrs. Hannah Hancock and daughter Miss Goldie Hancock, of Meriden, have been visiting the former's niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Troland.

Henry Saunders of Storrs was a caller on Mr. and Mrs. Revere Beebe Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell of Windham were callers Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. Clark Standish.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Royal, of New York were recent guest of Mrs. Anna Perry and Miss Bertha Perry.

Dr. Laura Hills and Miss Bertha Perry left Wednesday for an automobile trip to Florida.

The society of the First Congregational church furnished a banquet for the American men on Thursday, Sept. 9, 56 members of the order attended.

At the Grange Thursday evening children's night was observed with recitations, songs and instrumental music by the children.

Sister Waldo gave some incidents of her trip to the Lecturers' conference in Maine. Duet by Misses Thurley and Shirley Cummings, vocal solo by Geraldine Waldo, recitations by Barbara Manning, Bernice Cummings, Norman Manning, piano solo by Geraldine Waldo, musical play by children, story told by Phyllis Hoxie. Junior Girls' Glee club gave several selections. A very interesting illustrated talk was given by Brother Waldo, on wild flowers. At the close of the meeting, cake and ice cream were served.

COLUMBIA

Mrs. Junabel Squier has gone to Plainville to care for her sister, Mrs. Theodore Lyman, who was injured two weeks ago in an automobile accident on the Storm King highway. Mrs. Lyman was badly cut and bruised and suffered a severe nervous shock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harvey of Auburndale, Mass., and Miss Frances Harvey of Windsor, were in Columbia Wednesday afternoon calling on relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gilbert have sold their house on the Hartford road to Wilbur Spencer. The Gilbert family has moved to Willimantic.

Mrs. M. M. Bashae of Willimantic is acting as housekeeper for the family of H. W. Porter.

Columbia being on high ground has escaped so far the frosts suffered in nearby places, though the lower meadows have been covered with white frost every morning recently. No crops have been hurt here yet. Sugar corn is very late, and not ready to cut, and a hard frost would mean a big loss to many.

Columbia Grange held its meeting Wednesday evening. The social hour was in charge of the past masters of the grange, ten out of the eleven living past masters being present.

Henry Lafleur was chairman of the committee, and a mock trial was held on by the 10 men who entertained the audience for over an hour. The programme was open to members, grange families and the public was invited. The prisoner at the bar was Henry Hutchins accused of watering milk and selling it to the Dairy Co. Clayton Hunt was prosecuting attorney and Hubert Collins was counsel for the defense. Edward P. Lyman acted as judge, Philip Isham as sheriff, Rowland Cobb as sheriff. The witnesses were Henry Lafleur, Raymond Clarke, and William Wolf for the prosecution, and Raymond Lyman for the defense. A jury trial was demanded and the following were impaneled: Mrs. Ethel Blakely, Mrs. Bessy Woodward, Mrs. Alice Hunt, Mrs. Ruth Jones, Mrs. Nellie Macht and Miss Lillian Sisley. The whole thing was a very clever burlesque on a regular trial and kept the audience in continuous laughter. The jury found the prisoner guilty but recommended mercy because of several heavy cows to add to his herd to overcome the sprinkle water contained in Holstein milk. Music was rendered during the evening by St. Jean's orchestra of Willimantic, a feature being a surprise to all, and arranged by Mr. Lafleur. A quartet composed of Raymond Lyman and Rowland Cobb sang two selections.

The next meeting of the grange will be Oct. 13th and will be "Educational Night" with special invitations issued to the school board teachers, superintendent and trustees. This meeting will be in charge of two members of the grange and two teachers.

New Bread Mixer

A new bread mixing machine recently invented by a Kansas man has been developed at the department of milling industry of the Kansas State Agricultural college. C. O. Swanson and E. B. Watts of that department, assisted by a student, have taken the place of the dough conditioner previously used in mixing the bread in pans. With the aid of the conditioners of machine washed and ready to put the pans have to stand only a short time, and the action in dough conditioners is quite as good as that produced in the ordinary way. Just what application of this process will be made in the bakery industry has not yet been determined. Further experiments using the line are being conducted at the agricultural college.

3,500 Breakfasts in a Summer Season

PINEYCREST, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Hopkins, is famous in Western Michigan for its delightful hospitality. In a magazine article Mr. Hopkins describes his summer avocation as "a professional host." And he reveals in whimsical way much of the technique.

According to Mrs. Hopkins, summer entertainment begins in the winter, in the study of the tastes and whims of her prospective guests. Thus the people who come find their favorite foods and friends. Most of them find, as a personal surprise, something for which they have expressed a liking.

Hundreds of guests come from far and near. Some 3,500 breakfasts are served here in a summer. Guests find their rooms decorated with flowers to match the draperies and furnishings. Each finds a supply of every article guests have ever asked for. Those who smoke find in their rooms their favorite cigars or cigarettes.

Breakfast brings a coffee which no visitor forgets. Almost everyone asks about it. They are told that the coffee is La Touraine (Extra), the queen coffee of New England. And that it is brewed by an expert who will gladly demonstrate her process.

Pineycrest is famous in many ways: for its forest setting, its water outlooks, its gorgeous gardens, its wealth of recreations. But no memory lingers longer with the guests who come there than the revelation they obtain of coffee at its best.

Interesting facts about La Touraine (Extra) Coffee

It is the largest-selling coffee in New England, the birthplace of fine coffees in America. In this home of exacting coffee critics, it is considered the supreme result of 237 years of coffee development.

It is the coffee served in many dining places famous for their coffees. In all Statler Hotels, for instance. In the magnificent Shoreland of Chicago. In countless country homes which study fine hospitality.

The blend combines the four finest coffees that grow. Each comes from a different country, each is the pride of a nation. Each derives its excellent flavor from one of the rarest soils of the earth.

Three of the coffees combined in this blend cost 50% more than ordinary coffee, and 25% more than Sao Paulo, the prize coffee of Brazil. One is so rare that only 30,000 bags are grown yearly.

The formula for this blend is a secret, carefully preserved. Coffee experts spent 20 years in perfecting it. No other blend has been made to resemble it. Those who find here their ideal flavor can find it nowhere else.

Mr. E. J. Butler, the noted coffee expert, personally tests, tastes and selects all coffees used in this blend. His duty is to maintain, without regard to cost, this premier coffee flavor. He pays any price necessary to combine in La Touraine (Extra) the maximum delights.

La Touraine (Extra) is sold direct to retail grocers. This to save middlemen's profits. It is sold in double sealed cartons, not in cans. These and other economies—about 11 cents per pound—pay for the extra quality. Thus users get this matchless coffee without a fancy price.

Made Differently

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

They contain the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended.

But beyond that is an extra process—toasting—which gives them real distinction, making them indeed superior.

In smoking Lucky Strikes, you will find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

To attain these unique results, extra money is spent to give you added pleasure. This added effort brings extra goodness which accounts for the growing popularity of Luckies.

NORWICH BOOTLEGGER HAD $702 WAD WHEN ARRESTED AT NEW LONDON

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 19—Tony Rodriques, 28, of 8 Quarry street, Norwich, was arrested this morning charged with transporting. He is now a prisoner at the police station in default of a surety on his bond of $1000 for his presentation in the police court Monday morning. When arrested Rodriques had 35 gallons of alcohol in his automobile and $702 on his person. The automobile was taken to a garage after the several five gallon cans of alcohol had been taken to police headquarters.

Rodriques, who is a paper mill worker by occupation, claims that he is not a bootlegger, but that he is the victim of circumstances. He stated that this morning a New London man came to his home and requested the use of Rodriques automobile. The request was granted and an hour later he returned and requested Rodriques to accompany him to New London. Rodriques agreed to make the trip and while enroute from Norwich to this city, Rodriques claims that the New Londoner informed him that the automobile carried the alcohol and that they could dispose of it in this city. Arriving in New London the automobile was driven to North Bank street, where, according to Rodriques, the New London man alighted and sold a part of the alcohol in a residence. The automobile was then driven to Douglass street where the New London man entered a house and was there when the police seized the auto and contents and arrested Rodriques. The New London man is believed to have observed the police at the automobile and made his escape by the rear entrance. The police did not have knowledge of a second man being with the automobile when they arrested Rodriques.

The police received the tip of the delivering of the alcohol from a man who has a habit of informing the police of what is going on in the neighborhood where the alcohol was being delivered. About 10 o'clock he rushed into the police station and stated that alcohol was being sold from the automobile on Douglass street. Patrolmen William Graham, William Manice, Dennis Cavanaugh and Clarence Wells were sent to Douglass street and found the automobile, with Rodriques at the wheel. At the police station Rodriques made it known that a New London man and not he was with him and that he latter was the offender against the law. The police, however, believe that Rodriques is the bootlegger and that the New London man was his agent.

INSURANCE MAN PEEVED AT SLIGHT TO HIS WIFE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 19—Edgar Aldrich, 33, and married, residing at 74 Blackhall street, was arrested by Patrolman Michael O'Neill at 4:30 o'clock this morning, charged with breach of the peace, in forcing an entrance to the home of Mrs. Margaret McGlaflin, 36 Reed street and striking the woman. He furnished a surety on his bond of $50 for his presentation in the police court tomorrow morning. Aldrich is employed as solicitor by a local insurance company. Mrs. McGlaflin complained to Patrolman O'Neill, but since Aldrich's arrest, it is understood, that she desires to withdraw the complaint against Aldrich.

Aldrich stated that his wife was in an automobile on Reed street awaiting his return and that while seated in the automobile Mrs. Aldrich stated that a man had approached the automobile and after insulting her had entered the McGlaflin house. Going to the house in search of the alleged insulter, Aldrich was refused admission by Mrs. McGlaflin and believing that the fellow he sought was there, Aldrich forced the door, but the man he sought was not there. He declares that he did not strike Mrs. McGlaflin, and states that if she was struck it was by the door when he forced it open.

RAYMOND O. COOPER DIES AT STATE SANATORIUM

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 19—Raymond O. Cooper, 36, of 78 Truman street, this city, died yesterday morning at Uncas-on-Thames, below Thamesville, where he had been a patient about nine months. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Alice. Mr. Cooper was a member of New London lodge of Elks and Loyal Order of Moose, this city, and Fraternal Order of Eagles, Jersey City, N. J. Mr. Cooper was employed several years by carnivals, but latterly conducted a restaurant on Main street, this city, disposing of the business about a year and a half ago when his health began to decline.

STOLE MATE'S SALARY, GUARDSMAN IS HELD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 19—Francis David Parry, of New Haven, a member of the United States Coast Guard and stationed at this port, was arrested Saturday charged with forgery. He was presented before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran and held for trial before the next term of the United States District court.

Parry's arrest was made when it was revealed that he had stolen a United States treasury check of $80, the salary of John Daley, also of New Haven and had cashed the check at a New Haven restaurant. Daley is also a member of the United States Coast Guard and stationed here.

A woman named Fuller, residing on Williams street, communicated with Policewoman Jane Cassidy at 11 o'clock Saturday night, that a woman was on that street and carrying a baby, and that the woman was trying to locate Cosy Nook home, a home for babies on Granite street. She stated that if she did not find the home she would abandon the baby, as she was unable to provide for it. Mrs. Cassidy and Patrolman Henry Sylvia made a search of the neighborhood where the woman and baby had been reported seen, but were not successful in locating her, neither had the baby been taken to the Cosy Nook home.

Mrs. Katherine Lubchansky was fined $150 in the police court Saturday, for selling a pint of liquor, to John D. Brown of Quaker Hill. John was very frank about having bought the liquor and accused Mrs. Lubchansky of selling it to him so positively that she pleaded guilty without a word of testimony being given. It happens that John and Malcolm are brothers, so they engaged in different activities Friday. John was unconsciously a witness against Mrs. Lubchansky, perhaps, but when he started he did not falter. He was in the trolley waiting room at the Connecticut college when Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin happened in. John was using a bottle for a spyglass. The officer got familiar with him and then John confided where he obtained the liquor that he was drinking. He bought it from the Lubchansky woman and told where she was located on Main street. That meant arrest and such was speedily accomplished. Thus endeth the second lesson for the Brown brothers.

Bessie King, a Colchester woman who was dissatisfied with the way the garment factory was operated in New London, so that she endeavored to start a strike in the factory, is still on her good behavior as a case against her is pending in the court. She was to have been heard Saturday, but the case was adjourned to the 2th of October.

Charles J. Treaner, a sailor on the U. S. ship Camden, has been sought by the police several days to tell about a disturbance at the Lyceum theatre last week Monday when he and Martin Collier, another sailor got so excited while they were semi-intoxicated that they sought to go upon the stage. He was produced today, and his case was continued to Monday when Collier comes to judgment. Both the sailors are now in the custody of the commander of the Camden. They will pay the penalty the court imposes and then will be subjected to discipline aboard the ship.

Walter Gallup of Norwich and Malcolm Brown of Quaker Hill had an idea that they wanted a taxicab ride Friday and employed James Gard to supply the means of taking it. James was accommodating and did all that he agreed to do—namely, carry the charterers about the city and then he asked for his pay. It was not forthcoming, so the passengers were driven over to the police station. They were in the police court this morning and were represented by an attorney. The complaint against the accused was nolled with a distinct understanding that a settlement would be made in full for charges.

William F. Rowe of Preston was found after midnight Friday asleep on railroad tracks in Water street when Policeman Hill was making his rounds. Rowe would not have been there probably had he been allowed to have his sleep out, for railroad trains pass that point at frequent intervals. As it is, he was able to tell his story in court Saturday. He said he came here to buy shoes, which led Judge Prince to inquire whether Rowe meant shoes or booze. He admitted that he bought both. The court was not disposed to keep Rowe from earning a living so he was allowed to go back to Preston unpenalized.

John Miller, 254 Ledyard street, made complaint to the police this morning that while his automobile was parked in front of his home last night two spare tires were stolen. Although thieves are constantly stealing spare tires from automobiles that are left in the highway for the night instead of being placed in garages, auto owners persist in using the streets to park cars for the night.

William E. Carpenter, of Dayville, communicated with the New London police Saturday afternoon, stating that two Dayville boys had run away from home. He stated that the boys boarded a train at Dayville and are known to have alighted in New London and requested that if found the police would arrest them. The boys were not located.

Frederick Harris, 41 Montauk avenue, made complaint to the police this afternoon that two boys had ransacked his automobile while it was parked in front of his home and that included among the loot obtained by the boys was a flashlight.

O. L. Reynolds, 45 Garfield avenue, notified the police this morning that an attempt was made Saturday night to steal his automobile, which was left in front of his home for the night. The automobile was started but when the engine stalled, the thief was unable to start it again. The automobile was driven but a block from where it had been parked. A week ago the automobile was stolen and was found the following day abandoned in Montville.

Rudy and Frederick Davis, of Waterford: Mrs. Louis Roth, Cedar street, and Charles Caswell, Mystic, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were dismissed Saturday.

Frank P. Sydie, of the submarine base, and Miss Frances B. Price of this city, were married Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth.

Henry H. Coogan has sold to Norman and Martha Swindells a house and lot on Fitch avenue.

Mary A. Hullivan has sold to Walter J. Hullivan a house and lot on Colman street.

Walter Harris, a truckman, employed by a Bank street produce company, and Lawrence Fargo engaged in a war of words Saturday afternoon. Following its termination, Fargo made complaint to the police, charging Harris with breach of the peace as he alleged that Harris precipitated the quarrel. Harris was arrested by Patrolmen Braxton Hill and Edward Riordan. He furnished a surety on his bond of $50 for appearance in the police court Monday morning.

David Doherty, 370 Thames street, Groton, drove his automobile through Bank street Friday night at a reckless rate of speed, passing intersecting streets without reducing his speed and failing to sound his horn. Patrolman Michael Dorsey observed Doherty's reckless act and reported the fact at police headquarters. The state police ordered Doherty to present himself in the police court Monday morning.

This evening Doherty went to the police station and made it known that his automobile was not in New London Saturday night. The registration of his auto is N-6609 and as Patrolman Dorsey gave the registration over the telephone it is now believed that the driver of the offending auto is a resident of Norwich, and whose registration is N-6649. This registration is in the name of Stewart Long, 188 Elizabeth street. The state police are investigating.

Bernard Goldman, proprietor of a store, corner of Green and Pearl streets, has filed with the city clerk his intention to sell the business to Aaron Schumzatsky, Elizabeth, N. J.

THOMAS TISDALE STRUCK BY LANCASTER AUTOMOBILE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 19—Thomas Tisdale, 54, of 40 Mountain avenue, is a patient at Lawrence hospital, suffering from a fractured left leg and lacerations of the left arm, suffered this evening, when he was struck by an automobile owned by Spencer Lancaster, colored, of 35 Belden street. Tisdale had driven his automobile alongside the curb on Hempstead street and as he alighted, he stepped hurriedly to the middle of the highway for the purpose of crossing the street. He did not notice the Lancaster automobile approaching and was buried to the highway. Lancaster assisted Tisdale into the former's automobile and drove the man to the hospital.

The New Haven police this afternoon requested the New London police to be on the lookout for Leo Rouch, 18, alias Rudolph Rouch, who has disappeared from New Haven and may go to the local Y. M. C. A. Rouch, who is weak-minded, is described as being about six feet in height, of stocky build and wore a blue serge suit and tan shoes, but no hat.

Mrs. Clarence Sevin and child, of School street, is visiting Mrs. Sevin's parents at Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Crait, Norwich, telephone, 1899, requested the New London police this afternoon to assist her in recovering her camera, which she lost at Ocean Beach earlier in the day. Mrs. Crait's automobile was parked on Bentley avenue and she placed the camera on the running board of the auto parked alongside her auto, believing that the camera was on the Crait auto. She drove away and it was not until she arrived home that she discovered her mistake.

Shortly before last midnight a pedestrian passing through Bank street heard the fire alarm of the Armstrong building, and believing a fire was in progress caused an alarm to be sent in from Box 32, in front of the fire house of the Allen Hook and Ladder company. When the firemen reached the building there was no sign of fire, but the alarm was still ringing. Entrance was obtained to the building, but to gain admission to the several departments the doors were forced and two plate glass windows smashed, but no fire was found. What caused the alarm to be sounded has not been discovered.

Harold A. Quidgeon, R. F. D., No. 7, Norwich was arrested this afternoon by Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A sailor, who was a passenger in the car, was also arrested for he was intoxicated. Quidgeon was driving his automobile through Bank street and when near Howard street, the driver attracted the attention of the officer and the latter upon investigating found Quidgeon to be under the influence of liquor. His automobile is being held at police headquarters.

GALES FERRY

The September meeting of Home Missionary society, was held with Miss Natalie K. Gibbs, with a large attendance Tuesday afternoon, the president Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt presiding. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. George H. Wright. ANNOUNCEMENTS

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

One of the most important announcements from manager Bartlett of the Capitol is the coming of No, No, Nanette as the best booking of the season to date.

No, No, Nanette lays claim to being the most sensational musical comedy success of this generation, and this can hardly be disputed since, after a solid year in Chicago, it is at present playing to crowded houses throughout the south. Mail orders when accompanied by remittance including tax will be accepted prior to the regular box office sale. The engagement is for one night only on Thursday, Sept. 2.

Bread Theater

Colleen Moore registers another genuine triumph with the delightful cinema entertainment called Ella Cinders, which opened an engagement at the Breed theater last night, and had the audience in paroxysms of laughter at times and at others drew a tear or two with touches of pathos.

For one thing, her performance demonstrated beyond cavil that Miss Moore is one of the most versatile and winsome personalities of the screen today. Whether she be in satins or calicos—and for a good section of this picture she is in calicos—she is appealing to the nth degree.

Ella Cinders is a unique experiment in motion pictures, and judging from last night's reception a highly successful one. It marks the first attempt to make a feature motion picture from a newspaper comic strip, having been adapted from the joint creation of William Conselman and Charles Plumb, now running in a 100 dailies. More of this sort of thing will be welcomed by movie-goers.

In the story Ella is the slavery in the Cinders household, and how she gets away from the environment of her stepmother and stepsisters, falls in love with an iceman, wins a fake beauty contest, and "crashes the gate" to success in the movies furnishes a delightful entertainment in only the manner that is Colleen Moore's.

Lloyd Hughes, as Waite Lifter, who trains for football by delivering ice, makes an admirable leading man for Miss Moore. Excellent support is also given the First National star by Vera Lewis, Doris Baker, Emily Gerbes, Mike Donlin, Jed Prouty, Jack Duffy, Harry Allen and D'Arcy Corrigan.

The picture is presented through First National by John McCormick, responsible for Miss Moore's recent big success, Irene. It was made under the direction of Alfred E. Green, which in the light of his past achievements is just another reason why Ella Cinders is such an altogether enjoyable film to see.

Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, has called a general conference of prohibition administrators to meet in Washington today to map out plans for future activities.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

Attention is called to local theatre goers of the Keith-Albee vaudeville programme which opens at the Broadway theatre today for a three day run. Such a combination of big city attractions has never before been presented on any one programme and we predict capacity crowds for the duration of this programme and advise vaudeville patrons not to miss it.

There is a succession of sparkling situations in the new Columbia feature, "Steppin' Out," which is showing at the Broadway theatre these days.

"Steppin' Out" is an hilarious comedy with a dramatic background dealing with adventure among the bright lights of the most famous street in the world. Dorothy Revier, the lovely young star, has an interesting role in the picture. Co-starred with Miss Revier is the famous Comedian, Ford Sterling, who knows the art of making people laugh over all sorts of situations.

Frank Strayer, well-known for his skillful comedy direction, made "Steppin' Out" from "The Lure of Broadway." Robert Agnew, Cissy Fitzgerald, Ethel Wales, Tom Ricketts and Harry Lorraine have important supporting roles.

Palace Theatre

Today commencing with the matinee the Palace presents an entirely new show and one of exceptional excellence. The feature picture is Rex Beach's great Cosmopolitan magazine story, Padlocked. A story acknowledged as this famous authors finest work, a highly dramatic tale of the adventures of a beautiful high spirited girl of today driven from home by the actions of a bigoted hard hearted father, the romance of her life makes thrilling entertainment. The stage presentation is Marguerite White and Louise Scheerer, members of Roxy's famous radio gang direct from the Capitol theater, New York. These young ladies present a form of entertainment that has made them popular throughout the country and they are considered one of the most talented gems appearing in the pictures palaces of the large cities. Added attractions on the bill are a new Easops fable, A Bumper Crop, Alice Day in her latest comedy, Alice Is Good, The Palace Topical Events and symphonic arrangements from Faust by Walter Lang and his concert orchestra. The Palace bill for the first half of the week is truly one of unusual merit in every number and one that should make many new friends for this popular theater.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—After undergoing a general downward revision of prices, the stock market closed the week with its technical position apparently greatly strengthened. A strong buying movement in the railway shares, which previously had disregarded favorable news affecting the carriers accounted for the reversal of form.

Aside from the fluctuations in stock prices, there were few financial developments of importance. Money rates eased temporarily after the billion dollar turn over of funds in connection with the government's quarterly operations, but the rate on call loans was back to five per cent at the end of the week. The four per cent federal reserve rediscount charges were maintained for another week but the fear of an advance has not been entirely removed from financial circles.

Indications that the Van Sweringen interests were ready to revise the Nickel Plate merger terms still further in order to overcome the opposition of minority stockholders were a potent influence in reviving interest in the rail shares late in the week. Other carrier stocks finally responded to the promising reports of larger earnings and traffic and several were helped by favorable dividend prospects.

Wheat prices showed very little change for the week but cotton yielded an average of 90 points on fears that the next government crop report would be bearish.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

GERMINATION OF IMPORTED CRIMSON CLOVER SEED

During the six months ending June 30, 1926, thirteen shipments of crimson clover seed, aggregating 2,030 sacks, were prohibited entry under the federal seed act, formerly designated as seed importation act, on account of low germination, according to a report of the United States department of agriculture. This was out of a total of 34 shipments, comprising 8,034 sacks, offered for entry. In most cases, this low germination was due to the presence of a large proportion of seeds which gave broken sprouts when tested on absorbent paper in germination chambers. Crimson clover seeds which give broken sprouts in chamber tests do not produce seedlings when tested in soil, and are of no value for seeding purposes.

Attention is called to this condition with the hope that the seed trade may arrange their contracts for imported crimson clover seed to preclude this type of seed being shipped to the United States. Crimson clover seed which does not meet the minimum requirements of the federal seed act as to germination is for the most part impossible of reconditioning and can, therefore, be disposed of only by destruction or export.

BOXED APPLE INDUSTRY SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

The great apple industry of the far west has come to the front within the past twenty years. It began after half a century of commercial apple growing in the east, but has expanded rapidly along its own lines. In many recent seasons nearly half the market supply of apples has been produced in the eleven states known as the "western boxed apple region."

The industry has developed methods of its own in handling, packing and marketing. These methods are so different in all the various operations which attend the progress of the fruit from orchard to consumer that the western boxed apple is considered as a class by itself in recent apple investigations conducted by the department of agriculture.

In a bulletin, "Marketing Western Boxed Apples," a comprehensive survey is given showing the start and rapid growth of the industry and how it tended to concentrate in a few northwestern states favored by conditions of climate, soil and water supply, and helped by suitable methods of production and marketing. Washington, Oregon and Idaho, usually termed the Pacific northwestern apple region, have been shipping the greater part of the winter supply of boxed apples. A few productive valley regions such as the Wenatchee, Yakima and Hood River sections have become prominent because of immense annual shipments of high grade fruit.

The reputation of northwestern boxed apples seems to depend on choice varieties that are well grown, handled carefully, graded uniformly according to size and color, and put up attractively. Thus the number of fruits in a box and the appearance of the apples may be determined quite reliably by the marks on the package, and trading is placed on a fairly definite basis.

The list of varieties is composed of apples excelling in color, quality and general appearance, such as the Winesap, Jonathan, Rome, Spitzenberg, Delicious and Yellow Newtown. Many leading eastern kinds like Baldwin, Greening, Northern Spy, York and Ben Davis are not important in the boxed pack.

TIMELY HINTS FOR POULTRYMEN

An egg in the nest is worth two in the bird, so it behooves the poultryman to pay proper heed to the laying quarters he provides for his hens. In the nest itself is often found the secret of success as a poultryman, for it is largely the condition of their equipment that determines whether the eggs laid are to bring a profit on the market. The first maxim of every poultryman should be "A clean nest and a dark one," if he is to get a maximum of high grade eggs.

There are several reasons why improper nesting conditions will eat up the profits, and the first of these is the dirty egg. A dry, clean egg only can go into the top classes, for a dirty egg will not sell, and if washed it will not keep. Nature has filled the pores of the eggshell with an air film which is destroyed by contact with water, and the egg will evaporate.

Hens will not usually eat eggs if their nests are sufficiently darkened, and, generally speaking, egg-eaters are found in houses where the nests are brightly lighted. The answer is, of course, to have the nest covered and darkened.

The first rule in culling is to note the general appearance of the hen. High producers are generally the late layers and usually the late moulters. The best layers have dry, brittle, ragged and frayed plumage by fall, with tail and feathers much worn, while the poor layers will have a full plumage by the fall and will present a much better appearance, but in culling the ones moulting in July should be observed first, as these are probably non-layers.

It generally takes about eight weeks for a bird to grow new feathers after starting to moult. The earlier she moults the longer generally it takes to grow new feathers.

In observing the pigment, one should first look at the color around the vent, because it is there that the color first fades from yellow-brown to a white. Next the eyelids whiten, first on the front and then on the back. Finally, even the claws themselves begin to whiten. As soon as the bird stops laying this color is regained. Consequently the healthful bird which shows practically no color is laying. The laying hen should also have a deep abdomen, while the non-layer usually does not.

One should remember, however, to give the bird a proper chance to perform before she is thrown out. Birds that have lice, intestinal parasites, improper housing or feeding conditions may not be laying because of this.

YOUNG CHICKENS AS WELL AS OLD SPREAD "TB" TO HOGS

It is a general belief that chickens under 1 year of age seldom develop tuberculosis to the extent of becoming carriers of the disease. Hence, it is thought that culling all birds above that age from the flock would soon eliminate the disease.

To determine whether or not this belief is well founded, Dr. T. S. Rich of the United States department of agriculture, in charge of tuberculosis-eradication work in the state of Michigan, conducted a general culling campaign covering all poultry flocks in one township in the state. Every chicken on 151 farms was individually examined, or a total of 13,377. From this number 1,494 were removed as culls, and 86 were found upon postmortem examination to be infected with tuberculosis. The disease was demonstrated to exist in about 38 per cent. of the flocks examined. Three generalized cases were birds under 1 year of age. This was conclusive proof to Doctor Rich that young chickens as well as old are a source of danger in spreading tuberculosis to hogs and should be removed along with the rest of the flock when infection is discovered.

LIBERAL IRRIGATION MAKES LESS WATER CORE IN APPLES

Water core, a serious disease of apples occurring in practically every important apple-growing section of the world, may be reduced considerably by liberal irrigation and by picking the fruit at the proper maturity, according to Dr. Charles Brooks, pathologist of the United States department of agriculture. Six years of investigation have served to show that, contrary to the prevailing opinion, the disease occurs when the supply of water in the soil is inadequate rather than when it is excessive. The real cause of the trouble, however, is in connection with high temperatures, intense sunlight and the accompanying high-sap concentration in the fruit.

The watery or glassy appearance of the flesh of the apple, a characteristic distinguishing water core from all other apple diseases, is due to the filling of the intercellular spaces with cell sap instead of air. When water is not available in sufficient quantity high temperatures and intense sunlight cause the sap in the fruit to concentrate and exert enormous pressure on the cell tissues to a point where they break down. In irrigated regions experiments showed that apples from heavily irrigated trees developed less water core than those from lightly irrigated trees. Also less water core developed when light irrigation was followed by heavy irrigation than when the practice was reversed.

Picking at the proper stage of maturity is the most practicable preventive now known for the trouble, especially in the non-irrigated regions. The study showed that water core might increase as much as 90 per cent in ten days after the proper time for picking.

Reds' Luxuries Scored

Members of the communist party as well as Soviet officials received recently an extremely severe lecture from Joseph Stalin one of the dominant figures in the new Russia. By way of illustrating some of the faults in the character of Russian communists, he pointed out that grain buyers appointed by the government usually began business by hiring several stenographers, buying an automobile and surrounding themselves with a little army of employes.

"We are too fond of fantastic plans, meetings, anniversaries and dedications," said Stalin. "We have too many volunteers for honors who are

CUT WEDDING CAKE OF 25 YEARS AGO AT THEIR SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Diggins observed their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday by entertaining a group of friends at a dinner party at their apartment in The Osgood, Church street. During the day Mr. and Mrs. Diggins received congratulatory telegrams and gifts from many of their friends. Saturday morning a special mass in honor of the occasion was read by Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May at St. Patrick's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Diggins were united in marriage September 18 1901, at St. Catherine's church, Charlestown, N. H., by the Rev. Father Simard. Before her marriage Mrs. Diggins was Mary E. Lynch. She was born in Charlestown and made her home there until her marriage.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Diggins came to Connecticut, locating in New London where Mr. Diggins was employed for 10 years. In 1911 Mr. and Mrs. Diggins came to theis city and for some years Mr. Diggins was manager of the men's department at the former Manhattan store. He is now manager of the men's department at the Porteous and Mitchell store.

Mr. Diggins is a native of Vermont, having been born in Bellows Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Diggins are members of St. Patrick's parish and Mr. Diggins is a prominent member of White Cross council, No. 13, Knights of Columbus.

At the dinner party each guest received a small box of the wedding cake served at the wedding 25 years ago. Mrs. Diggins carefully preserved the cake especially for the silver wedding anniversary.

ST. PATRICK'S FETE NETS TOTAL OF $2,644 FOR ONE DAY

It was announced from the pulpit of St. Patrick's church at the four masses Sunday that the recent attitude [illegible] board meeting the Ontario [illegible] expenses of the parish [illegible] the substantial total of $2,644.21. In making the announcement the rector Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May expressed his gratitude to God, to his most efficient assistants Rev. Myles P. Gilligan and Rev. John J. Reilly and to [illegible] hard-working staff to the parishioners who had so generously cooperated to make the affair a success, [illegible] and business houses also to [illegible] helpers outside the parish who [illegible] Whitney worked for the [illegible] and others.

It was stated that the Children of Mary society had presented the church a statue of St. Therese, The Little Flower of Jesus, which has already arrived. In order to direct especial attention to the virtues which have made St. Therese revered and loved, there is to be a novena of devotion on nine days, in her honor, to occur Sunday, October 7th. The pastors announced the farewell [illegible] Holy Ghost Rev. Philip Phil, who gave a mission in St. Patrick's two years ago. It was hoped to begin the special devotions earlier on the feast of St. Therese, but the mission fathers will not be free from their appointments in missionary work until October 17th.

Sessions of Sunday school were resumed Sunday, following the summer suspension of the classes in Christian doctrine, catechism and Bible history meeting in the basement chapel after 9 o'clock each [illegible] mass.

The Holy Name society of the parish has requested a meeting of [illegible] for Monday evening for the [illegible] which is [illegible]

Yesterday was the 19th Sunday after Pentecost for the succeeding Epistle and Gospel are taken from Ephesians 4 1-6 and the gospel Matthew 22 15-21. From the latter text's answer to the doctor of the law Monsignor May preached on the [illegible] of the great commandment—Love. Man who, on rising, gives an act of love to God, Who created, redeemed and will reward them, prays later in the day, finds and works for God, and is left [illegible] rather than [illegible] Love, the consistent of this was the point with which the preacher developed in the brief space at [illegible] disposal. Confessions every Saturday afternoon and evening are beginning to the parish in renewed numbers, with the return of families and individuals from vacations, so that at the [illegible] Monsignor May required the assistance of Rev. Father Reilly in administering holy communion.

Sunday vespers at 3:30 were [illegible] the recitation of the Rosary and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament [illegible] resumed after summer suspension.

RYAN SUCCEEDS BULLARD ON AIR TRANSPORT BOARD

Governor John H. Trumbull chairman of the board of Colonial Air Transport, Inc., has announced the election of Major General John F. O'Ryan of New York to succeed W. Irving Bullard, Boston banker, formerly of Danielson, who has resigned to become chairman of the executive committee. The Colonial Air Transport, Inc., at present holds the government contract for the transcontinental mail between New York, Hartford and Boston and its planes are flying daily between the three cities. This was the first government air mail contract awarded to a private contractor.

General O'Ryan, who commanded the 27th Division during the World War is a practicing lawyer with offices in New York. He has been for the past five years a member of the New York State Transit commission.

Governor Trumbull also announced that J. T. Trippe, former managing director, who was instrumental in organizing and developing the company to its present state of efficiency, will become vice-president. The Colonial Air Transport, Inc., has operated air mail contract since July 1st over what is considered to be the most difficult airway in the United States, without an equipment failure. This airway will be the first one to be lighted by the department of commerce under recent air commerce act. The work is more than one-third completed.

PROPOSE STATE BODY AGAINST MOTOR ACCIDENTS

The formation of a "state organization against motor vehicle accidents [illegible] means to secure better uniformity in motor [illegible] and improved driving, the police work and court dispositions in Connecticut is suggested in the September number of the motor vehicle department bulletin. Its underlying object would be to reduce accidents.

The subject is broached at this time to get public reaction and it is stated that an effort to establish such an organization could to be made in the coming session of the legislature. Public sentiment appears to favor such a move.

"Power can be placed in the hands of some agency of the state, possibly in the establishment of a bureau to which will at once be apparent the need for several specific activities, so far as [illegible] related to motor vehicle accidents," says the bulletin. "First of all, a good safety program, in the cause of a declaration of established principles of traffic management and enforcement, is essential. In the making of this reasonable interpretation of laws and rules must dominate, because [illegible] there can be no discrimination in the application of its requirements. It must be based on and founded the experience and knowledge of the past.

"Then such an agency should proceed to secure the cooperation of town and city governments. It continues [illegible] that of their court and police, through the acceptance of the state powers. All disciplinary agencies would thus be brought together into cooperative effort and the work could be standardized so that fairness to the persons coming under its management and the combined with severe punishment in cases where warrant it is [illegible] proposed that, at the same time, [illegible] could be secured [illegible] conference with all those who follow automobiling in business [illegible] manufacturers and motor [illegible] associations with chambers of commerce and civic councils, [illegible] motor clubs and [illegible] schools and [illegible] supplementing the moral support which would make a program [illegible] success. For [illegible] owners of large fleets [illegible] could be induced [illegible] pointed out to cooperate as a business measure. [illegible] would not be ought [illegible] [illegible] before there would [illegible] [illegible] of good records of drivers [illegible] by such owners.

"The information and knowledge [illegible] in the proposed state organization would not according to the [illegible] be confined to automobile drivers [illegible] but would extend to pedestrians [illegible] to the extent of [illegible] [illegible] governed for their own safety. [illegible] the way to enforce traffic [illegible] officers is listed as one, if not the greatest qualification for safe [illegible] [illegible] it is stated that [illegible] [illegible] factor would prove to be [illegible] successful there would [illegible] [illegible] standard [illegible] which individuals would feel it necessary to adhere.

EXPECT 20TH DISTRICT CONVENTION HERE SATURDAY

Although the date has not been definitely set, it is expected that the republican senatorial convention for the selection of the party's candidate for the state senate from the 20th senatorial district, will be called by State Central Committeeman George H. Bradford of Montville for next Saturday morning. The convention will be called at 11 o'clock (D. S. T.) in the county court house at Norwich and immediately after adjournment the delegates will be guests at a luncheon at the Wauregan hotel which will be tendered to them by the successful nominee.

The only candidate who has been mentioned so far for the nomination is James J. Floyd of Waterford, who represented that town in the last session of the legislature, at the time when Fred A. Beckwith of Niantic was senator from the district.

AUTOMOBILE IN WATER AT BALTIC ROAD BRIDGE

Three sailors in a Ford coupe had an unusual accident, with an unusually small amount of damage, Friday night at Baltic when they failed to make the sharp curve at the bridge on the cross-road to the Norwich-Willimantic highway. Their machine took to the trolley tracks, then jumped the cattle-guards between the rails and plunged down a 12-foot bank into the stream.

The occupants of the car opened the doors and by climbing along the mud-guards reached dry land. The machine was pulled out backwards by a wrecker and was able to drive away under its own power after repairs had been made to one front tire that had been punctured by crossing the cattle-guards.

CAMP TERREHEGAN HAS NEW $2,600 BUILDING

Costing approximately $2,600, which has been contributed by friends of the New London Y. M. C. A., a new combination dining hall, cook house and recreation hall has just been completed at Camp Terrehegan, Gardner Lake.

The main floor of the new building is 64x24 feet. On each end of the structure a space 8 by 24, is completely enclosed, while in between a space 24x24 feet is covered with a sloping roof covered with fire proof shingles, with the sides boarded up for about three feet.

The south section of the building is designed for a cook house and store house, each being partitioned from the other. Both of these rooms have been fitted especially for the purpose for which they will be used.

The north section has been named the H. M. Swinney class room, in honor of Mr. Swinney, who contributed $500 toward the cost of the structure. In these rooms classes will be held and in inclement weather it can be used for a recreation room during the summer camps.

The central space will be used for a dining hall and assembly room.

Norwich Produce Market

Saturday, Sept. 18 —

Furnished by the Connecticut Commissioner of Agriculture

The market was quiet this morning and most stocks moved slowly. Apples are offered freely and good grades find ready sale but ordinary ones sell slowly. The supply of peaches is made up almost entirely of stock brought from other sections and includes a few Elbertas at $1.50, Bartlett pears are offered quite freely, both home grown at $1.00 $1.25 per 14 qt. basket and New York state at $2.00. Louis Plaut of Los Angeles, Cal., Ed feted freely and meets a moderate demand at 5-6c per pound. Limited stocks of New York state Moore's Early grapes sold at 25c per 3 lb. basket and liberal supplies of Cal. table grapes at $1.75 $2.00 per box.

Sweet corn is offered freely and finds ready sale but tomatoes move very slowly with an abundant supply. Spinach also finds a poor demand. Supplies of native lettuce are very limited and that mostly curled wall, shipped in stock is high. Cauliflower is also limited and high. Moderate offerings of egg plant at 75c-$1 per peck and endive at $1.00 per bushel.

Poultry continues steady with eggs and butter firm. Beef is very firm with a rise predicted soon and other meats steady.

The grain market continues steady with no changes in prices.

GEN. C. H. SHERRILL LIKES THE PRO. TREND IN SPORTS

Because Gen. Charles H. Sherrill married Miss George Barker Gibbs, on a visit to the late Edward N. Gibbs, of Pinehurst, Norwich, there is local interest in the following item from a New York paper:

The advent of Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis champion, Red Grange, football star, and other amateurs in professional sports has done more than anything else to give fresh impetus to amateur sports, according to General Charles H. Sherrill, America's first member in the executive committee of the International Olympic Sport committee. General Sherrill has just returned from Europe where he attended a meeting of the committee.

General Sherrill, a leader in his college days, was a notable athlete, quit his post as an interview at his residence in East Sixty-fifth street, what he believes is bound to be the effect of the professionalism of Mlle. Lenglen and other famous stars.

Among other things General Sherrill maintained that the opportunities for making money offered by professional sports would eliminate from amateur sports most of those who were induced to take up amateur sports by "assistance" in one form or another. General Sherrill gave unqualified endorsement to Mlle. Lenglen's tour.

Not only is the movement of amateurs into the professional field important because of its accentuation of honesty in the amateur field, but the moves [illegible] according to General Sherrill is exceedingly important because of the greater number of opportunities it opens to the ambitious who are striving for places in amateur sports. General Sherrill did not hesitate to make a thrust at the varsity crew of his own alma mater to illustrate his point.

"The Yale crew has been winning practically everything and next year it will be the same crew except for two men. Only two new men have a chance to make the Yale crew."

General Sherrill is in accord with the idea of arbiters of sports and cited the success of Judge K. M. Landis at head of American baseball.

General Sherrill has been a keen follower of many sports ever since he won seven intercollegiate championships. As a member of the class of '89 at Yale he won the intercollegiate 100-yard championship four years in succession, and the 220-yard championship in three years in succession.

General Sherrill is a member of the New York Bar. He served as minister to Argentine from [illegible] to [illegible]

Which Would You Choose

If some good fairy should appear, as they did in the old fairy tales and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health riches that send cares by, and surely health is cause enough for thanks.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you this priceless gift of perfect health.

325 KNOWN DEAD IN FLORIDA HURRICANE; STORM SPENDING ITSELF AS IT MOVES WEST

Miami Dispatch Places the Number Injured at Over 4,000 and the Property Damage at $50,000,000 — Forty Thousand Persons Are Reported Homeless—Miami Proper Had 125 Dead and About 2,000 Injured—The Storm is Now Driving Through Western Alabama and Mississippi—In Alabama the Velocity of the Wind is 88 Miles an Hour—At Biloxi, Miss., It Had Diminished to 50 Miles an Hour.

[illegible], Sept. 20—(AP)—The [illegible] Florida storm area as [illegible] Sunday's hurricane and [illegible] stood tonight at 325, the number of injured estimated at over four thousand, and the property damage was placed at fifty million dollars. [illegible] reported had 125 dead and approximately 2,000 injured; Miami suburbs including Coral Gables, Miami Shores, Little River and Hialeah total 15 dead and the injured was numbered in the hundreds.

The supplies of food, water and clothing available, enroute or promised, is sufficient to meet all requirements, it was stated. The needs is for public donations for the thousands who lost their all. Orphans must be clothed, given homes and educated and widows and aged people must be succorred. There also are many who will be helpless from injuries.

[illegible] yesterday flew from Miami to West Palm Beach by plane, went over the entire storm area today by automobile and afoot. Giant palms and towering pines and oaks were snapped in many pieces or uprooted and carried over one another. Debris littered the roads were filled with mud and leaves. Telephone and electric wires and poles were lying in confusion along the path of wires [illegible] were flat.

In the entire storm area of the area of [illegible] there was hardly a dozen homes untouched by the crushing force of the wind and rain. Only a few of the larger buildings hotels and business houses of modern strong and expensive construction, survived without great damage. A common sight was a two-room house uplifted from its foundations and turned upside down or lying on its side. Many were the awnings from which the upper story had been cleaned as if by a huge razor. No window panes remained.

Hollywood with 75 dead and 500 injured presented the most pitiful scene in the storm area as scores of children cried for their parents and an equal number of the search clad, many in bathing suits, searched the streets of their homes for traces of loved ones.

At Fort Lauderdale there were 13 dead and many other persons were reported fatally injured and 500 others [illegible] were being treated at the Red Cross hospitals and emergency stations. It was said by Red Cross officials there that about 7,000 persons were dependent upon them.

At Dania there had been found ten dead and 141 persons injured. Virtually every home or business building was wrecked. At Davie, five were dead and 40 injured.

[illegible] to see that all dead have been buried at Moore Haven and Clewiston [illegible] Because [illegible] of the impassability of the roads it was impossible to [illegible] several hundred bodies [illegible] to Miami.

Persons were suffering from injuries at Progresso and three at Pompano each place reported one death. At Hallandale there were three injured [illegible]

[illegible] Miami [illegible] to reorganize their lose.

[illegible] Saturday [illegible] the storm [illegible] until late this evening when the restrictions in Miami were modified. None was allowed during the day to enter the stricken area except upon some mission of relief, official business of the government or state or for the press.

[illegible] back by the [illegible] places that [illegible] and had [illegible] it was considered [illegible] better collected [illegible] water and food [illegible] emphasized by all [illegible] and caring for the [illegible] would be [illegible] making [illegible] and caring for the [illegible]

Response to Calls for Help

The nation responded quickly to calls for help for the storm sufferers. President Coolidge issued a proclamation calling on the American people to aid. The national headquarters of the American Red Cross made an initial appropriation of $100,000 and newspapers, cities and fraternal organizations poured subscriptions for aid in relieving the victims were issued by governors.

Relief trains, loaded with doctors and nurses and carrying food and medicine supplies ran into the Miami district.

Government departments at Washington placed their resources at the disposal of Gov. Martin. Eight Coast Guard vessels were ordered to proceed to the east coast and naval aviators in the Miami district were ordered to active training service.

How Moore Haven Suffered

Moore Haven [illegible] Miami, suffered the most severely of any inland city. Fifty-six bodies had been removed from the wreckage and placed in a temporary morgue at Avon park and almost 200 others were reported missing.

Refugees reported that [illegible] huts in Moore Haven were demolished, some frame structures being blown [illegible] two miles from their original positions. All brick buildings remained intact however. The town of Clewiston, it neared from until today, reported [illegible] come through the gale unscathed.

Damage to citrus fruit in the path of the hurricane was placed at $10,000,000.

Stories of Heroism

Stories of heroism and [illegible] were brought out of the ravaged district. Many [illegible] whom traveled in box cars. A mother, with her three children [illegible] heaved the surging waters at Moore Haven, when Lake Okeechobee overflowed and flooded the city. Huge waves enveloped them and two of the children were drowned. The mother, unharmed cut them from [illegible] and devoted her attention to [illegible]

Raising it to her shoulder, she held out until rescued.

Still clutching two of her children the body of a man was washed ashore. A couple who had [illegible] in a house were thrown into the water on the building collapsed. [illegible] hours they clung to palmetto [illegible] before being rescued.

The fate of several hundred persons aboard the Miami Belle [illegible] was undetermined tonight. One report two persons aboard was sent to head away and drift towards the open sea.

Reports received here told of families being torn asunder and many children separated from their parents frantically searched the ruins of what had been their homes.

Sheets of galvanized iron roofing were carried about like [illegible] during the gale and Chief of Police [illegible] Saturday morning, a Pullman car [illegible] for reported on his arrival here. Scores of persons were injured by the flying debris.

Description of the Storm

The storm at Miami came [illegible] according to Roy Jackson, a Pullman porter said, the gale becoming worse after each brief lull.

"We started in the car most of the time," he said "and about 25 people came and stayed with us for shelter. Three homes had been washed away and they had no place to go. You couldn't see ten feet in front of you and the wind blew so hard it rocked the car like it was a cradle. You can't imagine such a wind.

"Along about daylight Saturday morning you could see parts of trees, roofs of houses and big timbers sailing along through the air and the rain came in regular sheets before the wind. You could sit in the car and see parts of houses go sailing and telephone poles would snap off right close to the ground. Automobiles parked along the streets were blown under bridges or washed against buildings and the water that rushed through the streets."

Jackson said he saw thirty bodies piled in a baggage car at Fort Lauderdale and was told there were many more to be gathered for burial.

Only fragmentary advices had been received today from Fort Lauderdale which was believed to have suffered heavily. An appeal for equipment for 300 X-ray cases indicated there were many casualties there.

Governor Martin was enroute here with several members of his staff to supervise the relief measures personally.

Hundreds of [illegible] were patrolling the streets of Miami and strict penalties had been provided for persons caught hoarding or profiteering in food.

VARIOUS ESTIMATES OF LOSS OF LIFE AND DAMAGE AND STORY OF THE STORM

[illegible] BEACH, Fla., Sept. [illegible] A [illegible] chaos in the path of [illegible] by taken by the West [illegible] Friday night and [illegible] raged along the east [illegible]

Estimates of the dead ranged from 75 to 1,500 in the Miami district, which includes Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Redlands and Moore Haven, with thousands homeless. Property damage in Miami alone was placed at $50,000,000 by newspapermen arriving here after a survey of the storm-torn city. Loss caused by the hurricane in other sections of the state, estimated by refugees, would place the total damage well in excess of $200,000,000.

John E. Taylor, personal representative of Gov. Martin, advised the chief executive that 125 were killed and approximately 1,400 injured along the lower east coast. He listed 79 as dead in Miami and 500 injured; Hollywood 75 dead, 700 injured; Fort Lauderdale 50 dead, 500 hurt; Florida City seven dead.

Mr. Taylor said he found terrible [illegible] in Miami, but not as bad as first reported. Fort Lauderdale, Dania and Hollywood were practically wiped out, he reported, and Dalcrab was virtually ruined. Coral Gables was badly damaged.

Florida East Coast railway officials estimated the number of dead in Miami at 134 with 54 victims at Hollywood and 200 in Hialeah.

Two staff correspondents of the Associated Press reported here that their survey of the stricken section would indicate a death toll of between 600 and 1,500.

MORE TESTIMONY IN THE DAUGHERTY-MILLER CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—John Foster Dulles took the stand in the Daugherty-Miller graft case today after he was unable to get approval of the American Metals company claim from government departments which, but the claim through them, was superseded by one filed for the German stockholders by John T. King, republican national committeeman.

Dulles was put on the stand by the government when, attempting to prove that King used part of a fee of $441,000 given him, Richard Merton, German magnate who came to this country to obtain release of the proceeds of $7,000,000 assets of the company, as graft money to have the claim rushed through the offices of Harry M. Daugherty, President Harding's attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian.

When Merton first came to this country inconnection with the case of the American Metal company, he retained Dulles to take the matter up with the government. Dulles testified today that he consulted George E. Williams, first assistant to Miller as to whether such a claim had a chance of being passed upon favorably.

Williams, he said, referred him to [illegible] department of justice, where [illegible] conferred with two assistant attorney generals who reported that the claim would have to be adjudicated by a court [illegible] reported to Merton [illegible] the later Merton dropped [illegible] attorney and gave King a $50,000 retainer to continue the matter.

Roraback was shot and killed at a gasoline station known as "The Shanty" which he conducted.

Prison Guard Held For Accepting Bribe

Bound Over to Superior Court in Bonds of $3,500 by Wethersfield Court.

HARTFORD, Sept. 20—(AP)—Emil Davis, 28, a guard at the state prison, was arrested today by the state police for accepting a bribe of $1,500 to aid in the escape of two notorious convicts. Brought before Justice of the Peace Howard P. Dunham in Wethersfield late in the afternoon, he was bound over to the superior court in bonds of $3,500. He was unable to furnish the bonds and was locked up in the Hartford county jail.

Edward Slattery, 33, serving a life sentence for murder, and Lawrence H. Ferrone, serving a 30 year sentence as an habitual criminal, had sawed partly through certain bars of their cells with hack saws when the plot was discovered Thursday afternoon, according to information brought out at the hearing today. Justice Dunham was informed that Davis had confessed that, in consideration of the fee he delivered three hack saws to the two prisoners, and "covered" the convicts at noon while they sawed the bars. The hack saws [illegible] the saws furnished by outside confederates of the convicts.

Slattery escaped from the state prison December 29, 1919, together with three others, and was recaptured in Meriden, with two of his companions and brought back to the prison. Ferrone has been repeatedly detected laying plans for escape. Some time ago $500 in bank notes was found secreted in his mouth.

Prison officials declined to give out the details of Davis' confession so far as they concerned the outside confederates.

Slattery and Ferrone, strangers when brought to the prison, became acquainted within the institution walls. They occupied cells on a certain gallery of the same cell block but separated by three other cells. Davis, native of New Brunswick, Canada, came to the prison as a guard in June of this year, and after a period on day duty, was assigned to night duty on the "dead" tanks in that gallery. Warden Scott said today that Davis had come to the prison well recommended.

Ferrone and Slattery made a deal with Davis, directing him to the outside confederates, who furnished the bribe and the steel hack saws. The saws were delivered by Davis about ten days ago. The guard admits that he then kept watch for the two convicts while they sawed at the bars in their cells at night, slipping them off when the night captain was in the vicinity. The convicts worked two nights.

Thursday afternoon while Ferrone and Slattery were in the prison shop, prison inspectors in the course of their regular inspection, discovered the nicks in the bars of the cells. The two convicts refused to name the providers of the saws, but suspicion attached to Davis, and under examination, he confessed his guilt.

Each prisoner had proceeded in exactly the same manner in his cell. Each sawed partly through a bar on his cell door so that only a little more sawing on the night appointed for the escape effort would be necessary to remove a section of the bar.

GERMANY OPENS PEACE OFFENSIVE AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Sept. 20—(AP)—Germany opened her big peace offensive at Geneva today, inferentially letting the world know that Germany as a member of the council of the League of Nations can expect nothing more the great powers intends to assert herself positively in behalf of peoples of the German race. Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, spoke several times in behalf of the populations of the former German cities of Memel and Danzig.

Intervening particularly for the free city of Danzig, which is now in financial difficulties Dr. Stresemann urged help for the unemployed there and the granting of loans to meet the immediate needs of the city. He declared that if the present customs tariff war between Poland and Germany were settled the unemployment in Danzig would benefit.

The disarmament commission of the league assembly today adopted the Fromen resolution whereby the assembly affirms that the general disarmament conference of material armaments do not [illegible] should [illegible] before the next assembly—that is, September, 1927.

GOVERNORS DANCED OLD FASHIONED STEPS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 20.—(AP)—To the merry tunes of fiddle and reels played by Henry Ford's old time orchestra, Governors Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts, Ralph O. Brewster of Maine and John H. Trumbull of Connecticut danced old fashioned steps before an enthusiastic gallery at the Eastern States exposition today. The quadrangular dancing party, held at an open air pavilion where the Ford ensemble is giving concerts, came as a complete surprise, being arranged by Mrs. James J. Storrow of Boston who is connected with the home department of the exposition.

Besides the three New England governors, representatives of the seven other North Atlantic states attended the exposition today where they observed as "Governor's Day."

COORDINATING PLAN FOR RELIEF WORK IN FLORIDA

President Coolidge Calls Upon the American People to Contribute to a Fund to Aid the Afflicted—A Coast Guard Fleet Has Been Sent to Florida Waters to Participate in Relief Work—Red Cross Responded to the President's Call With a Contribution of $100,000—Many Offers of Assistance Have Reached Washington From Various Organizations and Individuals.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—A quick and wholehearted response to the distress call of the storm-swept district of Florida, came today from the nation's capital.

President Coolidge led the move for relief by formally asking the American people to contribute to a fund to aid those who had gone through an overwhelming disaster.

He promised such assistance as was within the means of the government, and, following his lead, the members of the cabinet whose departments were in position to offer help formally placed their resources at the command of those in charge of rehabilitation work.

The Red Cross was active early, and the first response to the president's call was a contribution of $100,000 from the national headquarters of the organization. Whatever fund is donated, the organization said, will go into actual relief work and none will be used for administrative purposes.

President Coolidge asked that contributions in response to his appeal be made through the Red Cross headquarters here or through local Red Cross chapters. Many of these chapters already have relief workers on the scene of the disaster and the national headquarters has ordered its expenditure.

A coast guard fleet was sent to Florida waters to participate in the rescue work. It carried a detachment of marines and a quantity of supplies. The war department promised to do everything within its power in the way of furnishing material, food supplies and a survey was ordered in southern territory to determine what surplus supplies were available.

Secretary Wilbur called Florida naval reservists to active duty for work in the devastated area and promised whatever other assistance the navy could give.

Postmaster General New ordered [illegible] post office workers to [illegible] penalty in sending [illegible] and urged and hoping the [illegible] Post Office Department [illegible] was also offered.

President Coolidge had several conferences during the day with members of his cabinet who went over the situation with him. It is expected that from these conferences a coordinated line of action of the government [illegible] soon will be developed.

Meantime many offers of assistance poured Washington from various organizations and individuals. A message received by the president from the committee of mercy and relief of the Federal Council of Churches said the disaster called for nation-wide assistance from the country's religious forces and that the federal council stood ready to "make an appeal to the churches for aid."

SPECIAL TRAIN BEARING RELIEF FROM CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—With [illegible] promptness inspired by sympathy, Chicago today took a leading part in the relief of storm stricken Florida.

GIVES CONNECTICUT A POPULATION OF 1,572,000

HARTFORD, Sept. 20—(AP)—A discrepancy of 3 per cent between the birth death rate of the state as compiled by the state department of health and the same data compiled by the federal census bureau has led to the discovery of a new method used by the federal bureau for estimating population rate centers of a population of 1,572,000 in 1925, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Stanley H. Osborn, commissioner of health.

The [illegible] in the [illegible] that with it had been proved at the state health department's offices and estimated that the state's population last year was 1,529,688. This difference accounting for the variance in the death rate which was announced by the census bureau to be 11.3 per cent and by the health department to be 11.8 per cent.

The state's figures for population had been arrived at by the arithmetical method of the assumption that the population rate on a year equal amounts based on the interval between the two previous censuses.

This method had formerly been used by federal census bureau in figuring its new system which was used for the first time in computing the 1925 census takes other factors into consideration. The federal estimate of the population is arrived at by a combination of certain features of birth rates, death rates and available figures on immigration and emigration of the census figure of 1925 used as a basis from which to work.

It is pointed out in a bulletin issued today by the department of health that the system which it uses makes it possible to compute population figures in towns in such a way that the totals will check with the figure for the state as a whole and that for the present, the department will continue to estimate population as it has done.

INSURANCE COMPANIES TO DO BUSINESS IN STATE

DANIELSON

ALFRED L'HOMME DIES FROM SUDDEN HEART ATTACK

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 20—Alfred L'Homme, about 50, died suddenly this afternoon at his home on Water St. Dr. George M. Burroughs, medical examiner, pronounced death due to heart disease. Mr. L'Homme had been in poor health for about a year. He was a native of Canada, but had lived practically all his life in Danielson. He leaves a brother, Hermidas of Portland, Me., and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Tetreault of Danielson and Miss Rachel L'Homme of Providence.

An appeal for contributions to the American Red Cross fund through the Danielson chapter is made this morning at the suggestion of the Washington headquarters of the organization, in a telegram received here Monday by Mrs. Ernest R. Warren. Mrs. Warren stated that contributions may be left with Treasurer Frances E. Stone at the Windham county national bank and that it is very desirable that the contributions as may be received be given at once.

The Danielson public library reopened, having been closed for six weeks to allow redecorating the entire interior and installing a new steam heating plant. The walls are now done in an attractive shade of gray and the ceilings a white, making the rooms much lighter than they were formerly. This color scheme is followed throughout the building.

Paintings and pastels of men and women who have aided the library in other days have been effectively rearranged in a new grouping. While the library was closed, all of the hundreds of volumes were cleaned and rearranged.

The old furnace, which was largely responsible for letting smoke to come to Danielson, has recently been dismantled and a new vapor steam plant installed, which will allow the temperature to be regulated at any given degree.

Alphonse Poirier, 37, died Saturday night at a Norwich hospital and his body has been removed to his home in Moosup by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy. Mr. Poirier was a native of the town of Plainfield. He leaves his wife and four daughters, Cecile, Irene, Rena and Mary Jane.

At the home in the Howard Valley district Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Adelle Tenbroeck were conducted by Rev. Victor Kotila, of Maynard, Mass., with relatives and a number of friends attending. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in Raymond cemetery. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

It was indicated Monday that the reopening of Killingly high school will not be decided beyond Monday of next week. More rooms have been taken down from the upper floor of the building. Members of the school board pushed down the walls and workers are engaged in cleaning up the lawn and other parts of the ground. While the entire building will not be ready Monday a sufficient number of rooms will be available to permit the students to go ahead with their work.

A freight wreck at Oxford, Mass., Monday morning cut off mail, and newspapers destined for Danielson and other points in this section and so upset things that even the boat train southbound Monday night, was more than two hours late out of here, carrying passengers for the Bulletin from various points in this section.

In order to allow as many of our customers as possible to attend the Brooklyn fair the bank will be closed at noon Wednesday, Sept. 22. The Windham county national bank.—adv.

COLUMBIA

The republican town committee met Wednesday evening and filled the vacancy in the ticket caused by the refusal of T. G. Tucker to accept the nomination for first selectman. The name of William Wolff has been put on the ticket for this office, Clair Robinson was nominated at the republican caucus for second selectman, instead of Henry Hutchins, as reported. C. A. Holmes is chairman of the republican town committee, Mrs. W. H. Carpenter vice chairman, and Henry Latour treasurer.

SOVIET TO SPEND VAST SUM FOR NEW HOUSING

In its extensive program for the present fiscal year the Moscow city soviet includes $30,000,000 for new building to relieve the housing shortage in the world's most overcrowded city. Drastic measures will be taken to encourage private and co-operative building.

House committees are forbidden to resell rooms, non-workers will be expelled from their rooms in the central section of the city and it is forbidden to rent a room to any of the leisure class. All except a favored few are crowded like rabbits.

Entire families occupy single rooms. The city's population is increasing faster than ever the "programs" and many times faster than what is accomplished.

In the meantime the Moscow Soviet which operates the hotels in the city has shown a practical appreciation of the situation by raising rates one-third.

WRECK OF FREIGHT TRAIN HOLDS UP ALL TRAFFIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Sept. 20—Railroad traffic on the Worcester-New London division of the New Haven road has been suspended since 8.30 o'clock this morning due to the wreck of fast freight train No. 705 two miles north of Webster.

Trainmaster Thomas Rawley of this city is the ranking New Haven officer of this section, said that it would be midnight before traffic could be resumed. The train consisted of 98 cars, all loaded, drawn by two engines and the cause of the wreck was a broken rail. The damage will amount to thousands of dollars. No one was injured.

The hearing in the case of Raymond Wetherbee charged with murder in first degree will be resumed here at 10 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning. When court adjourned Friday afternoon Attorney S. E. Harvey had not progressed very far in his cross examination of Agnes Pytko, the mother of the child that is alleged to have been killed and who was jointly indicted with him. The jurors were directed by Judge John R. Booth to refrain from discussing the case with anyone, but the story told by Miss Pytko on the stand aroused intense interest. Comments are expressed over the large percentage of talesmen debarred from serving as jurors because they are opposed to capital punishment. One man, when questioned as to how deep seated his conviction was on that point replied:

"I would not ask anyone to do what I would not be willing to do myself and I would not take another's life."

The jurors are: Arthur L. Clarke, Willimantic; Charles J. Lewis, Chaplin; Lucius Baker, Killingly; Raymond F. Dover, Brooklyn; Charles L. Salisbury, Plainfield; Daniel N. Mellaney, Pomfret; William D. Wright, Canterbury; Edward K. Frost, Sterling; Napoleon J. Fournier, Plainfield; Malcolm Wibberly, Canterbury; Howard A. Rex, Canterbury; Leslie B. Williams, Brooklyn, nearly all of whom are married and have children. Three of these jurors are from Canterbury and three are from the town of Plainfield.

An interesting feature of the meeting of Rho Delta class of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. William Hall on Walnut street was an account of a recent trip abroad by Mrs. Carrie Gascoigne. She has just returned from a tour in Europe.

Messrs. Day and Lawrence Kimball, London attorneys, who have been spending the past month with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Kimball at Bank Meadow house, Pomfret, have sailed for their home in London, on the White Star liner, Baltic. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball will remain in Pomfret until late in the season before they go to Boston where they have taken an apartment for the winter.

Artificial Diamonds

At the Roechling Steel Works in Weizlar, Germany, artificial diamonds are being made with some degree of economic success. The diamonds are within a fraction of the hardness of true diamonds, being 9.9, as compared with 10 for genuine stones. The artificial gems are made of an alloy of wolframite and test out in work and luster favorably with genuine diamonds. The cost of manufacturing them is said to be reasonable on a commercial scale.

DAWES PERSISTS

When Vice President Dawes started [illegible] to bring about a revision of the senate rules by presenting his views to the country he did not let it be known that he proposed to keep at it until he got results or was convinced that such a change could not be effected.

That he is doing only what he promised to do when he resumes this fall the advocacy of a change in the rules whereby it will be possible for a majority of the senate to obtain action upon a measure that is before it, instead of being forced to submit to the will and the rule of an individual.

Vice President Dawes is emphatic in declaring that he is not opposed to free speech. He is decidedly so upon free debate but he is opposed to the abuse of such a privilege through a filibuster, when one person may speak for hours and hours upon anything, whether it concerns the question under consideration or not, and the majority of the senate is forced to abide by the wishes of a small minority.

According to the plan which the vice president would have put into effect it would be possible for a majority of the senate to apply closure, whereby a time would be fixed for individual debate upon the question, and thereunder it would be possible to bring a vote within a comparatively short time. There would be no denial of rights, no injustice to the advocate or the opponents of the bill, but there would be eliminated those cases which occur too frequently, where the senate is forced to abide by the obstructive tactics of a handful of members, who because they are not in favor of a measure are unwilling that a known majority should have a chance to declare itself.

When the vice president declares that his experience in the senate has simply confirmed his opinion concerning the need of such a reform in the senate rules, there is nothing surprising in the fact that he persists in such advocacy. Sooner or later it is bound to be brought home to the law making body that its cherished self-determination

RULE REMAINS UNBROKEN

Early in the summer, Earl B. Zirkle of Kansas, who had just completed his course of four years at Annapolis, was [illegible] use of some adverse criticism because he was disposed to disregard the rule that all midshipmen must serve in the navy for a period of at least two years after graduation. Their course was begun with a full knowledge of such a rule and yet Zirkle was disposed to ignore it after having obtained his education at the expense of the government.

Zirkle's decision was made public at the time midshipmen were about to start on their annual cruise. He was firmly told that he could not resign and that he must go on the cruise. The belief was that he would change his mind and decide that the navy was not such a bad place after all. Coming back from the cruise, Zirkle was disposed to compromise rather a bit more by refusing to use the 30 days' leave. It was as if he had decided to abide, but that he would in a conference with classmates and navy officials with the result that he is to carry on all requirements and meet the requirements imposed by the navy department of a Annapolis graduate.

The young Kansan apparently carried the idea that exception could be made in his case without establishing a precedent that would cause need of trouble to the department. He apparently thought that while rules should be obeyed by others he could do as he pleased and it would appear that he was reluctant to recede from his position.

Better judgment has at last prevailed. The fact that there was nothing else to do may have had considerable effect upon his decision but in agreeing at last to go through with his contract with the navy department his work will possibly come in for greater public attention than otherwise. It is not improbable that he will yet become one of the shining lights of the class in the navy department and that the service will prove much more congenial than he has anticipated. Stranger things have happened even when individuals have seen far less ahead for the work to be undertaken.

PUNISHMENT VIA THE STOMACH

At various times judges have recognized the importance of applying punishment for deliberate and studied violations of the law in such a manner that it will mean something. Instead of sending those guilty to spend a short time with all the luxuries that might be found in a comfortable club, instead of sending them to jail only to have them out and back at their old practices in a few days, instead of being so lenient that punishment becomes a joke and respect for law nothing they have recognized the need of sending home the fact that lawlessness can be expected to be followed by something more lasting than a slap on the wrist. Jail sentences have thus taken the place of fines, and in Nebraska jail sentences are even accompanied, when deemed necessary, by the order that the diet shall consist only of bread and water.

Under the law which such a sentence is to be imposed is set forth that prisoners cannot be "treated with unnecessary vigor." While there may be some dispute as to where the line can be drawn between necessary and unnecessary rigor it is apparent that no sentence of the kind should be allowed to break down a prisoner's health, and it is not to be supposed that any judge would undertake such a thing.

But for the purpose of being better equipped to determine the effect of such sentences, one judge, who has been handing out such sentences for years, has decided to go on a bread and water diet for a week and if he notes no detrimental effects to continue it for a second week. He intends to have first hand information and it is not improbable that he will find that in some respects such a diet is beneficial, although no one would look upon it as the equivalent of three square meals a day according to the customary measure. Prisoners even should such fare be alternated weekly with the regular prison menu, would probably not welcome it and because of its undesirability there might be some hesitation about law breaking which they would know in advance would result in such restrictions on their food.

THE TIMES' ANNIVERSARY

In a rotogravure section of 64 pages the New York Times tells the story of its 75 years, and it is a story that shows the march of progress and discloses the changes in customs, buildings and industry in general including printing.

The Times is due for congratulations upon reaching the three quarter of a century mark. It is one of the leading newspapers of this country which has had its experiences, which has seen older papers go, younger ones come and go and witnessed the combination of newspapers to meet new conditions and new demands.

The most conspicuous years of the Times have been under the guiding hand of Adolph S. Ochs who for the last 30 years has directed his efforts to producing a newspaper that would meet the requirements in the manner which the Times has persistently and consistently done, and who surrounded himself with an able and conscientious force of assistants.

There are many newspapers which are older, but there are few if any that are better than the Times. It is the development of a sound, strong policy to furnish "all the news that is fit to print" and the public response has demonstrated how well it has been done and how general was the demand for it.

The achievements of the Times have been many, its record is inspiring and it has reason to be proud of it. The Bulletin and Courier, mindful of its 130 years, applauds the robust youngster and not only hopes but believes that its centennial will find it going even stronger for the best there is in journalism.

LOSING AT TENNIS

The winning of the tennis championship of the United States by a French player attracts more than the usual attention because it is against custom. French tennis stars have been forging to the front. They have been phenomenally successful at home, in England and now in the United States, and it is probably a good thing.

There was some surprise when American golfers went to England and took the British championships. It showed how splendidly our players had come to the front and possibly how over confidence may have worked to the detriment of the British golfers. Henceforth it can be expected that such contests will be fought on a different manner for the loss of such a honor creates the desire for its recovery.

The same can be expected in regard to tennis. There was much reliance placed in Tilden, although it was feared that he would not play his old time game. When, however, he came through and clinched the Davis cup it was regarded as an indication of what could be expected when it came to the championship matches. But well laid plans and hard reasoning have often gone askew and such proved to be the case when the Americans upon whom reliance was place to retain the American amateur championship were unequal to the demands and could not match the game which the French stars were playing.

It was a hard loss but all the more creditable to the visitors. It permits of a new appraisal of the American tennis stars and demonstrates to them what must be done to win back the coveted honor. Because it has been lost does not mean that it is gone permanently and American tennis players are good enough sports to recognize that fact and govern themselves accordingly.

BOOKS, BULBS AND BAKING

The shelves marked Household Arts adjoined the shelves marked Agriculture and Horticulture in the small branch library on the north side.

As the tall, stooped man with the shy, tired eyes ran his finger along the shelves and selected, Bulbs and How to Grow Them, he became aware that the brisk little woman with the graying hair was again studying the row of books upon cooking, canning, house decorating and furnace tending. He pretended to be immersed in Bulbs as he watched from the corner of his eye.

"I hope she takes down Hot Breads, he was thinking fervently. "There, her finger is on it. No, she is passing it. Perhaps she'll come back to it. She doesn't know, of course, about those colored pictures in it. That title misleads her. She couldn't know that that old-fashioned shortcake is in it, with the strawberries falling all over it. No, she is going to take How to Can Vegetables. A waste of her time. Ah, she is coming back to Hot Breads. If I only dared—"

The little woman looked toward him and their eyes met. The man flushed with embarrassment.

"Now she knows I was looking at her. I suppose I daren't sit down at her table after that. If she'd only take down Hot Breads. She'll make that strawberry shortcake if she once sees the picture. And all the folks back at her home will be eating it one of these nights. Strawberry shortcake made the old-fashioned way! None of your modern sponge cake substitutes! Can I sit down now at the table where she usually reads? That's a problem."

The tall, stooped man was a person at whom few people looked. He knew as much.

"Probably she has never noticed me," he thought, sailing down Horticulture Borders from the shelf.

Behind him the little woman with the graying hair was opening Hot Breads.

"There he is again," she thought. "He isn't reading the sweep-top book today. I suppose he knows all about sweet peas anyway. He probably has rows and rows of them in his garden or he used to have when he lived on the farm. Perhaps he hasn't a garden now. He wouldn't be so bad-looking if he were a bit sunburned. It must have been so hard for him to give up his sweet peas—poor man!"

She sighed as she tucked Hot Breads under her arm and walked off to find her accustomed seat in the only corner of the reading room that boasted a fern. She was gazing at the resplendent picture of the strawberry shortcake when the tall, stooped man passed behind her a few minutes later to a seat at the next table.

That decided him. He made a reckless plan. He read quietly at his table until she rose to go to the librarian's desk. He watched her hand over her yellow library card and get Breads. Then, as she trotted toward the door with the brisk step that he had come to know so well, he determinedly rose and followed her. In the street he stooped up to her.

"I beg your pardon, madame," he stammered. "I found this dollar bill under the chair that you just left. I thought I'd better bring it to you." He felt bolder for she was smiling up at him, though it was a perplexed smile.

"No it isn't mine," she said. "I haven't my purse with me."

He replaced his hat and thought desperately for something more to say. "I'm sorry it isn't yours," he murmured awkwardly and a bit hopelessly and then, realizing the stupidity of his remark, he smiled.

"So am I," she said. "But it isn't. You'd better keep it and buy sweet-pea seeds with it."

His heart leaped joyfully. "You saw me read the book about the sweet peas," he said.

"Yes and I saw you read The Relation of Crops. Today you had Bulbs and How to Grow Them. I've looked at its illustrations often. I should like to have a garden. I've thought, perhaps—" She hesitated and her pale cheeks grew rosy. "I've thought I had perhaps you used to be a farmer. You read so many books out of that section [illegible] the library."

The tall, stooped man was standing so straight that his stoop was almost ironed out.

"Are you going to make that strawberry shortcake?" he asked. "and won't you have to make two or three of them? One person could eat almost a whole shortcake like that at a sitting."

They had begun to walk.

"I have never made a strawberry shortcake in my life," she said.

"But I thought—er—er—I supposed that when one has a big family to cook for—"

The little woman looked at him queerly. "Big family!" she exclaimed. "I think I'll tell you who I am. I am a real-estate broker and I guess I'm considered a fairly successful one. I live in a hotel. I haven't cooked a meal since I was 16. Lately I've had a hankering for a kitchen. I've thought of retiring and buying a suburban bungalow." She grew rosy again. "I'd like to try to make a strawberry shortcake. Do you have them at home?"

The tall man looked down at her, his eyes no longer tired. "I'm an accountant in a loop insurance office. I haven't a garden. I haven't had a home since I was a kid. I live in a hotel too," he said.—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

AID TO SURGERY, INCREASE OF YEARS

By Albert Vandeer Veer, M. D. Albany, N. Y.

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen The saddest are these, it might have been.

Looking back over a period of 50 years, or applied to satisfaction, these words of Whittier are most appropriate. Had surgeons, for example, always known what they do now about the important branch of our profession, the percentage of deaths in the practice of surgery would have been lessened greatly.

The proper understanding and use of samaria suture has been the means of saving one mortality light. Not only was he original in his research work, but he left splendidly on the labors of other investigators, giving due credit and helping more than any one to create a sense of confidence in the method and preventive medicine.

Since the surgeon leads a very busy life in order that his patients may have the benefits of the research work of our newly established laboratories, he brings to his old competent assistants, in order to carry out the new ideas that have become proven facts.

As a regular reader of this column, you may very properly ask, "What has samaria been made with accidents and surgical operations."

This incident from my early professional days will elucidate.

The old doctor received a telegram asking him to come at once, asking him to bring a patient with had just met with an accident, breaking the leg below the knee and leaving the bone protruding through the skin.

"You must assume the responsibility," the old doctor told his assistant. "But get the bone back into position, promptly as possible. Cover the wound with the dead that may be discharging. It means a good scrub, and remember this:

"Give the man good, full doses of quinine for two days digging a canal up in the valley, the weather is warm and they are having many cases of chills and fever.

"See that your splints are well applied and avoid a chill that will irritate the fragments of bone."

It was good advice but not needed now. For modern sanitation sees to it that flies and mosquitoes which are capable of transmitting disease are shut out of all surgical cases.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Few present-day novelists in England or elsewhere have met with greater popular success than has fallen to the lot of H. G. Wells, who is in line for congratulations today on his 60th birthday. Before he discovered his forte Mr. Wells tried a variety of occupations. The son of a professional cricketer, he aspired in his early days to become a black-and-white artist. Then he tried a draper's counter, put in a year or two as a teacher, and scribbled articles in his spare time. Mr. Wells' "counter-jumper" days were long ago, but he still tells how, during several years of his boyhood, he "lived in, slept in an abominable dormitory; ate the insufficient food supplied, and drudged in the shop." His first serious attempt at literary work was in collaboration with his wife. The book made a hit and decided the young author upon his career.

Make the Most of Books

By James Hosmer Penniman, Litt. D.

Most Enduring of Fine Arts

Literature is the most enduring of the fine arts. No painter, sculptor or architect has created so permanent a memorial as the poets have done. Statues may be broken, pictures may fade or be consumed by fire, even the pyramids may crumble away, but the thought contained in great books such as the Iliad and the Aeneid is more nearly eternal than marble or bronze. Lowell's Commemoration Ode forms a more durable monument to Harvard's dead heroes than Memorial hall. There have been other actions as fine as the charge of the Light Brigade, but it is only those that the great poets have sung that are truly immortal in our memories.

"For deeds die, however noble donne,
And thoughts doe as themselves decay;
But wise words, taught in numbers for to runne Recorded by the Muses live for ay."
—Spencer.

Stories That Recall Others

Frankness

Smith was a one day caller at the Brown home.

"Won't you walk with me as far as the street car, Tommy?" he asked the young son of the family.

"I can't," Tommy replied.

"Why not?"

"Because we are going to have dinner as soon as you are gone."

Do You Believe It?

A young man at the bathing beach noticed a girl in the water with what appeared to be floaters under her arms.

"You told me you could swim," he called out, "and yet you are using water wings."

"Water wings, nothing," she said. "They're hot water bottles. This water is too chilly for me."

CHILD TRAINING

RULE THE TONGUE

Jack Wooten

As Sammie White passed the Reed home there came from his mouth phrases that would make even the most persistent swearer flinch. And Sammie was only 12 years old.

His mother, together with Mrs. Turner, was visiting Mrs. Reed. They had called to knit and talk the summer afternoon away. The "damns" and their even stronger accompaniments which Sammie threw to the wind were blown discordantly to the front porch so that the three women could plainly hear. Mrs. White hung her head, but said nothing. The others were silent, too. They continued knitting.

Sammie passed on down the street, lagging and cursing the old brindled cow that was his charge twice daily. His mother slumped down in her chair, her eyes fastened upon her needles. Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Turner were both conscious of the fact that the mother was condemning herself for the unbecoming outbursts of her boy.

As the silence hovered about the front porch, Jimmie, Mrs. Reeds' 14-year-old son, romped out on the portico. Behind him came Don, an old collie dog.

Tired of playing with the four-year-old, the canine dropped his bushy tail, spoke to the visitors with a slight switching of the same flexible appendage, and then flopped down by the side of Mrs. Reed's chair.

Jimmie called to the animal to "come on out in the front yard and play," but Don lay still. The boy gave a grunt of disgust and presently had the dog by the collar.

"Come on, Don," he entreated, but Don refused to budge. "Come on, Don." Jimmie tugged at the animal's neckpiece, but to no avail. "Darn old fool!" cried the child "Come on!"

"Jimmie!" Mrs. Reed's clear voice temporarily startled the boy, but not for long. Insistently he reached down again and caught Don by the collar. "Darn old fool!" he shouted "Come on out and play!"

Mrs. Turner stopped her knitting and smiled intentionally. Mrs. White kept her eyes on her needles. Mrs. Reed was looking at her son.

"Darn old fool, come on!"

Mrs. Reed excused herself and talking her little son by the hand led him into the house. Mrs. White and Mrs. Turner listened intently but after the fading footsteps no sound was heard from them for fully five minutes. Then the mother and child returned calm and serene.

Mrs. Reed began to talk about the Christmas and Jimmie after gazing thoughtfully at Don said, "Want to play now, Don?"

Don winked without interest. Jimmie gazed at him a moment longer and then said, "I'll play by myself then." He gave Don a parting pat and went out into the yard. After a minute, Don got up and followed him.

The visitors were interested. "How did you do it?" asked Mrs. Turner Mrs. White looked more than ever self-condemned.

"I had a little quiet talk with him," answered the mother. "He is very fond of automobiles and he saw what happened once when a man tried to run a machine before he knew how. I showed him that it was quite as necessary to be able to rule the tongue. He said, 'If you don't, does it make you bump into things?' and I proved to him that it did."

Mrs. Turner was voluminous in her commendations. Mrs. White said nothing but in her heart was a ray of hope. "I could do something like that," she thought.

AS OTHERS SEE IT

RICKARD SETS EXAMPLE

(Bristol Press)

This fellow Rickard, promoter of prize fights, on a big commercial scale is decidedly ungrateful to the newspapers who have made his enterprises successful by virtue of the free advertising and publicity they have given him with a wholly unwarranted generosity. He now turns upon his aids to prosperity by notifying them he will not permit radio reports of the mixup of his money-makers except in the case of those who pay him his price, which is not modest. He is a thoroughly commercialized person who is out after the dollars from every available source. We hope the affair shows the newspapers what an error they have made in classifying such purely business affairs as "sport." We also hope that they will hereafter consider such publicity advertising, which it actually is, and demand the amusement rate of the promoters. The newspapers can be as thoroughly business-like as Rickard and as he has set the example they make an error if they do not follow it.

It takes a wise man to write a letter that doesn't mean anything to a woman.

SUSIE RETURNS FROM HER TRIP AND PICKS UP HER HOME LIFE AGAIN

Susie has returned from her vacation and although she says she had a good time she says "Never Again." Her letter follows:

Dear Sports Ed:—

Well I did top I'm back in the old home burg once more. Don't be nasty tell you I ain't glad to be back rather. Camping tours is all right for some people but here's one kid what don't get no kick out of them at all. Next year when the old vacation time comes again you can tell this cockeyed world that little Susie is going her own sweet way during her leave of absence and nobody ain't going to mask her comings and goings either.

The last letter what I writ you was from Lake Magundicook up near Canaan Maine. Well, that lake has got a lotta water in it that's about all it's a kind of water what them mosquitoes thrive on. Up there them insects grow as big as humming birds and when they bite you you think somebody's jabbed you with a icepick. Anybody what can stand them pests must have a hide like a rhino. After a couple attacks by a flock of them critters, if you can call them critters, makes you look like you had the measles, scarlet fever and a nice crop of boils and makes you feel twice as bad. After fighting these flying devils for a couple nights we packed our beds and boats over the mountains.

Then comes the great stuff. When you look at them heaps of dirt and rocks you think how darned small you are, that's all. Makes you have a kind of depressed feeling if you know what I mean. We camps a couple nights up there on the hills and darned near froze to death. It ain't skeeters by cold out there and if it ain't either its rain and the three evils give me the real weather. Pa and Ma ain't speaking now because one night when we was up in the mountains Pa stole the blankets off Ma's bed and she caught a awful cold and her teeth chattered so she says that store set she was so proud of, Gosh, that was tough luck on Ma, but Pa only laughed and that made this get a lot worser. Guess I ain't got words to everybody what I know, telling them what a fine time I was having and wishing they was here and all that kind of stuff.

We got home last Saturday by train, a darned old flivver what Ma bought and down on the job and Ma sold it to a farmer up in Massachusetts for a awful gosh that woman ain't got a heart at all. Maybe that farmer is a mechanical wizard and believes he's got to be if he wants that old boat to take him any place.

Well, I'm just catching up on the local news and I see where there's a whole lot more I have missed. I see they put in three petitions for new lights in different parts of the city. I should hope folks what live down in Greenville lost out. I see they have put a cop up in the northern part of Greenville. Some feller said that he was building the cemetery. Gosh that's cruel. There's what is in the cemetery ain't got no chance of getting out and them what is out ain't got no call to get in. Now take it down in Thamesville section there's a number of burglaries, so I'm told a couple peeping cases and lots of gossip but there ain't no cop there till ten o'clock at night. Say, Ed, I see where a lord down in London class a girl from the office as a waitress because the girl was in charge of the office gets her home bombed. Gosh, I'm glad that other manager in Jewett City don't object to their wearing of this costume because if they do Norwich the army of unemployed females would sure be big. I read Ed Asquith speaking over the radio the other night and she said that although she ain't had her hair bobbed she takes off her bonnet to the man who has the nerve to have theirs bobbed. When women of title approve of bobbed locks it seems as though the New London man ain't got no excuse. They do funny things on the whaling village anyway. Speaking of the bobbed hair I think it's a good sensible thing, the girls look like boys. When you get bobbed you don't have to have none of the curlers what sticks into your head at night and give you a headache and when you get bobbed you don't have to set in a couple hours to get it combed. I never have stopped and figured out what it cost to have it done at the beauty parlors but I'll bet it runs into some advantages over the long hair. If they won't let me have my hair bobbed I'm going to run away from home and live with the Indians. Say, Ed, I see where Washington was a leading city in the U. S. If short hair is the reason why I'm for the women. Tell me.

I hope Ed that you don't fall for the fancy stuff like a new Studebaker this week. It looks like everything what tells the passing public that business is expensive. It cost me over a couple hours to have his fortune told. Believe me, fortune stuff is the bunk. You know what your past is full of times you don't want it to open again. The present you can see and as for the future, who wants to know what's coming to them? Knowing more, of course, is power and me and my old man is up if I'd known what was coming I wouldn't have been born.

Well, Ed, there ain't much more I have to say except that next week I'll tell you about that piece in that letter one Sunday. I don't want to be gets that stuff about wearing 175 pounds and it has been all mixed up. He says I'm only 5 ft. 1 in. As for tipping the scales at 175, oh my, what a outrageous weight for a girl. If I weighed that much I'd have to stand on the scales twice and if I did weigh that believe me I sure would do some reducing. I'll admit I ain't no shadow, but he's added on quite some pounds. Maybe it's all right though so's people won't recognize me as the one writing these foolish letters. If he wants a word picture of how I look, here goes. I has just turned twenty, I got blue eyes, auburn hair (ma says it's red) a nose what turns up a: the end and has got a hump in the middle and I weigh 110 soaking wet. Say Ed, do you know if that fellers married? Well, I thank him for them kind words all except about my sex and weight.

Well, so long Ed.

Yours as ever

Susie.

ROYAL TYPEWRITER CO. BUYS BROADCASTING RIGHTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Royal Typewriter company announced tonight it had purchased the broadcasting rights for Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout at Philadelphia on Thursday night, with 72 to 76 radio stations in the "hookup." The purchase price was not given.

The WJZ chain of stations of the National Broadcasting company and the WEAF chain of at least 25 stations will be pressed into the broadcast, the announcement said, in addition to those the high-powered stations of the General Electric company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company will probably be included. The transmission is expected to cover two-thirds the area of the United States.

The memorandum of agreement for the broadcasting privileges was signed tonight by representatives of the Royal Typewriter company and Colonel John S. Hammond, vice president of the Madison Square Garden corporation. The agreement must be approved by officials of the sesquicentennial exposition but Garden officials were confident this approval would be given.

It was said the announcer will probably be Major J. Andrew White of New York, but no decision has been reached on this matter yet.

WHITE SOX CUT LEAD OF YANKS TO 3 GAMES

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—(AP)—Chicago cut down New York's lead over Cleveland to three games today by taking both games of a double header 7 to 3 and 4 to 3, while the Indians lost their game to Boston. Chicago launched a vicious attack in the seventh inning of the first game and took a commanding lead which New York was unable to overcome because of Faber's steady pitching.

Meusel's error coupled with Jones' wildness and some daring base running by Mostil and Hunnefield put Chicago out in front in the second game and they increased their lead thereafter to win. The batting leaders played an uphill game and threatened in the ninth inning when Blankenship weakened. Connally came to the rescue, striking out Reicher, pinch hitter, and disposing of Severeid and Paschal, another pinch hitter, with only one run scoring. The scores:

ATHLETICS AND TIGERS SPLIT DOUBLE PROGRAM

DETROIT, Sept. 20—(AP)—After taking the first game 8 to 0 behind Rommel's airtight pitching, Philadelphia dropped the second 3 to 2 when the Tiger pitching proved too much for the visitors. Leonard allowed four hits in the first game. Two of Detroit's runs in the second game scored when Sammy Gray, fielding Earnshaw's count in the first inning threw the ball to third base where it was recovered. Two runs scored and the ball rolled to the left field and Earnshaw got to third. The scores:

The U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles, headed in a northeasterly direction toward Providence, passed directly over Westerly's business center Monday afternoon shortly after 5:30 at a comparatively low altitude. The buzz of the motors was heard for some time after the aircraft could be seen from the streets and the air craft's speed was not so great but its silvery beauty could be admired for a considerable length of time.

James Stanley of 1256 North Main street, Providence, who was arrested Saturday evening in Ashaway by Chief of Police Frank H. Brown, was brought before Judge O. H. Williams in the Third District court Monday, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $200 and costs of $10.85. He paid ...

The accident which resulted in Stanley's arrest occurred at about 5 o'clock o'clock Saturday afternoon, near the filling station in Ashaway. Stanley, driving a Studebaker touring car, and accompanied by his wife and three children, came along, in the direction of Westerly and crashed into a wagon loaded with wood.

An employe of Coombs' filling station who witnessed the accident telephoned to Chief Frank H. Brown. Officer George Madison of the Westerly police was also there and the officers, after looking Stanley over, decided he was intoxicated. To make sure, they took him to the office of Dr. M. H. Scanlon here and the physician gave the opinion that Stanley had been drinking.

He was arrested and occupied a cell in the Westerly lockup from Saturday night until his case was heard.

Out of the lot!

NO need to argue quality when you can taste it, nor to prove popularity when you can see it!

Out of the whole lot, men pick Chesterfield for its tobacco character and its natural good taste. Every bit of its enormous growth has been earned by its taste, and by that alone!

It's pretty clear from Chesterfield's record that good tobaccos can speak for themselves.

Danny Rubs His Eyes

Woe of his own voice likes the sound
His neighbors seldom want around.
—Old Mother Nature.

For a long time Danny Meadow Mouse sat on the edge of the bank, listening to some one driving stakes. At least, he thought that was what was going on. It sounded so to him. Now that he had reached the edge of the bank he couldn't quite make up his mind to peep over. But at last curiosity just had to be served. He parted the grass and poked his head out where he could see the foot of the creek. He wanted to see a man driving a stake. He didn't see any man. He didn't see any stake being driven. But there was a stake being driven, for he could hear the sound just the same.

At first Danny saw no one. He looked and looked and rubbed his eyes and rubbed his eyes, and still saw no one. It was clear that that stake driver was not just below him, as he had thought. Now, as he listened, the sound seemed to come from farther up the creek. Whack! Whack! whack! came the sound. It must be that somebody was driving a stake up around the bend where Danny couldn't see him.

Now that he had made up his mind to see the stake driver, and couldn't, Danny wanted to more than ever. You know how it is. Curiosity was getting in its work. Danny certainly did want to see the driver of those stakes. But Danny's legs are short as you know, it was a long way up to where he thought that stake driver was at work around the bend in the creek. What to do? Danny sat down to think it over.

"If they're not afraid, I shouldn't be," said Danny

"I suppose," said Danny, "that I could climb down and run along on the mud beyond the grass. I don't like to do it, because if danger should suddenly appear I should have to scramble up the bank. But I remember now that the bank farther up the creek is lower. Of course, I could work my way through the grass on the top of the bank, but that would be long, slow, hard work. I haven't any nice little path over to that particular place."

Danny looked all around carefully in all directions, including up in the sky. It was still very early in the morning and the creek on that side was still in shadow. There wouldn't be a safer time during the day. Just then Peep the Least Sandpiper and his friends came skimming along just above the water and alighted on a little mudflat just opposite the turn in the bank. They began running about picking up their breakfast. It was clear that there was nothing up there for them to fear.

"If they are not afraid, I shouldn't be," said Danny, and scrambled down the bank. Then, keeping close under the overhanging edge of the bank, he started up along the creek. He felt safer than he had thought he would. There really didn't seem to be any danger, and he felt very bold and brave.

Whack! whack! whack! That stakedriver must be driving a lot of stakes. Yes sir, any one who could keep it up like that must be driving a lot of stakes. Danny scampered just as fast as he could make his short legs go. In a few minutes he would be up where he could look around that bend. Then he would know what was going on there.

Peep the Least Sandpiper and his friends passed him and whirled around that bend. Danny was getting out of breath, but he ran faster than ever. He reached a point where he could look around that bend in a little cove. There, running along at the edge of the water, were the Sandpipers. Danny rubbed his eyes again. The sound of that stake-driving seemed to come around the next bend.

White Elephant

The only real white elephant in captivity, as far as is known, was recently received at the London Zoo from Rangoon. The royal beast has been provided with a new house and will be paraded daily for inspection, but, on account of the semi-sacred character invested in white elephants by Burmese tradition, English youngsters will not be permitted to ride him according to the time honored custom of the British Zoo. The elephant is the property of Dr. Saw Durmay Bo Min, president of an organization of the native Christians of Burma, who has agreed to lend the valuable animal for exhibition purposes, a proportion of the receipts going to the association he represents. "White elephants" are usually no more than pale grey. Such a one was exhibited in the United States by the Barnum & Bailey circus about 40 years ago. The animal in London, however, is said to be almost pure white with the yellowish pink eyes of a true albino.

I WAS already a veteran pipe-smoker when I ran across Prince Albert. It happened one day in the smoking-car. I reached for my tobacco and found I was "out." A good samaritan sitting across the aisle held out a friendly looking red tin.

I accepted the offer. That was a great moment in my life, as it turned out. Why, that very first taste won me. It was cool, like a breeze through an open window. It was sweet as a ripe peach. It was fragrant, even in that smoke-filled car. I was having the time of my life.

The mildness of Prince Albert appealed to me too. Yet there was plenty of body to it. I knew I was smoking. And I knew I was enjoying it more than any other tobacco I had ever tried. That settled me. I bought some P. A. when the train pulled in.

That was several years ago. I've been a P. A. regular ever since. Maybe you need a similar experience to put you next to the grandest tobacco that ever lined a pipe-bowl. My suggestion is: don't wait! Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Construction work in Norwich keeps up to the normal average and during the past week Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton issued five building permits for new work which will cost approximately $12,000. The permits include two for new dwelling houses, both to be of frame construction. Besides the permits issued during the past week a number of applications for permission to build were received and will probably be granted next week.

During the past week considerable progress has been made on local buildings under construction. The foundation for the new home of the Dime Savings bank is being brought along at a good speed by the contractors. The foundation walls are completed and the cement piers are in place. At the present time the contractors are working on the first floor getting the steel work into shape for the laying of the floor.

The work on the addition to the Sunday school room of the United Congregational church is fast approaching the completion stage. The walls and roof have been completed and the window casings have been set. Work is now going on in the interior and the plasterers and carpenters are at work here. At the Community house on Church street good progress has been made on the stone addition which is to be used as an entry and an additional room.

The building permits issued by Fire Marshal Stanton are as follows:

To Peck McWilliams, contractors, to erect a frame house at 37 Connell St., for Henry P. Woodmansee. The house will be 24x24 feet with concrete foundation. The building will be two stories high with asphalt shingle roof.

To Fred W. Fitch to build an addition to the present house on Main street. The addition will be 13x14 feet and frame construction.

To Ed S. Jackson to erect a frame addition to his present house at 46 Rose street. The addition will be 12x18 feet with concrete foundation. It will be used as a kitchen.

To Jan Przekop to erect a cottage house at the corner of Golden and Howard street. The house will have seven rooms and bath and will be of frame construction with hardwood floors and trim.

To John Chester to erect a frame garage at 330 West Main street, for James Mahoney. The garage will be 8x14 feet.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

During the past week there were nine sales of real estate in Norwich, exactly the same number as for the corresponding week in 1925. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $33,950 and $67,624.

There were eight sales of real estate in New London during the past week, one less sale than during the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $42,807 and $24,525.

Building Permits in State

The record of building permits issued during the past week in the principal Connecticut building centers compares favorably with the record for preceding years. About the same number of permits were issued but with a decrease in the total estimated cost of construction work started. There were 412 permits issued during the past week compared with 414 for last year and 335 for the same week in 1924.

Willimantic

Plans are being formulated by Louis J. Geasty for the erection of a business block which will contain a theater with a seating capacity of 1,500. It is to be of new Egyptian design, four stories high.

Storrs

From plans of Architect Delbert K. Perry, New Britain, bids will be received until October 1 for the erection of the Community church here for the Connecticut Federation of churches. Bids for the general contract will be submitted by Tracy Bros. Co., Waterbury, the Manchester Construction Co., South Manchester, the H. Wales Lines Co., Meriden, the Carbon & Torell Co., New Britain, Peck-McWilliams Co., Norwich, and Dennis F. Ahern, Hartford. Bids for the plumbing and heating will be submitted by the following: Otto Epstein, Inc., Hartford, the Shaffer-Marsh Co., Hartford, M. J. Daly & Sons, Inc., Waterbury, and Vanderman Bros. Co., Hartford.

New London

An increase of more than 100 percent in value of construction permits issued in this city during August was noted over the value of construction permits issued by the council in the corresponding period of 1925.

The value of new construction started during August is estimated this year to be $89,250 while it was estimated to be $41,430 last year. A decided increase in the number of permits issued was also noted in that 46 were granted by the council during August of the current year while 32 were granted during August of 1925. The figures correspond with a general increase in building throughout the present year, indicating that under normal circumstances for the balance of the year the building program in this city will have had one of the most successful years in its history.

Coincident with the date, 13 building permits were issued by the council last Monday night. In the list are included two cottages, one two-family dwelling and seven garages. The costs of the new buildings is estimated to exceed $35,000. The number continues to keep well above the weekly average last year, and brings the total number of permits for this month up to 93 with five cottages and one two-family house in the list.

H. R. Griswold has broken ground for a new frame dwelling in Montauk avenue. The owner is doing the work and prepared the plans which specify a structure 31 by 24 with all modern improvements.

Work has started on a stone addition to the building at 93 Main street for Emil Seifert. The new addition will be 35 by 14 feet and adjoining the present frame structure. Carl Burgess is architect and contractor.

A pretty two-story cottage is being completed for Myron Wilkinson at Ocean avenue and Evergreen avenue. The new structure is of frame construction. Frank H. Davis is the contractor and private plans are being used.

The interior is being finished in the one story hollow tile bungalow being built for Thomas Occhialini in Montauk ave. one near Thames street. The structure is 32 by 46 feet and of Spanish and Italian design. Plans for the new structure were prepared by Mr. Occhialini and work is done under his supervision.

Work is progressing rapidly on the interior work of the two-family frame dwelling being built by H. R. Griswold at Connecticut and Garfield avenues. The structure is 27 by 40 feet with entrance in Connecticut avenue.

The two-story cottage being built for Mrs. Annie M. Hislop in Ledyard street is nearing completion. The new structure is of frame construction and of modern design. Plans specified a building 2 by 28 feet. George N. Wassmer is the contractor. The house will have the usual improvements.

Architect Fred S. Langdon has prepared plans for a residence to be erected for E. Gerow of 86 Washington street in Fair Harbour place. The proposed dwelling will be of English design with frame and stucco construction. It will contain eight rooms and a sun porch and will be 30 by 44 feet in dimensions with an ell 7 by 19 feet in the rear. Hot water heat, tile bath rooms, hardwood floors and all modern improvements are included in the specifications.

With progress materialising rapidly on the alterations and additions to the Mariners Savings bank in State street the H. Wales Lines Co., general contractor, has awarded the sub-contracts for the job. The plumbing will be installed by C. A. Smith of Main street, the heating by P. G. Mono & Co., of Bank street, and electric wiring by T. J. Ealahan of Main street.

Work is progressing rapidly on the construction of a two-family house being built in Groton for Domenick Zeppetelli. Plans for the house were prepared by Architect Francis De Gange, who is personally supervising the construction work being done by day labor. The new house will be arranged with two flats of six rooms each.

Thirteen applications for building permits were granted by the city council Monday night. City Manager Holt submitted the following list of requests all of which were granted on the motion of Councilor Edward L. Streeter, Jr.

Julia Ziemienczyk, garage, 18 by 20, 127 Crystal avenue.

Morgan Rogers, cement block garage 18 by 20, Woodbridge street.

Dr. Frank E. Wilson, tool shed 8 by 12, Glenwood avenue.

H. R. Griswold, frame dwelling, 31 by 24, Montauk avenue.

F. L. Brake, tile garage, 20 by 20, 845 Ocean avenue.

Robert Tetrault, frame cottage, 26 by 32, Fitch avenue.

Edward Davey and wife, addition to porch, 5 to 12, 17 Spring street.

Standard Oil Company, metal store 12 by 16, Broad street and Connecticut avenue.

Jensen and Olsen, frame cottage, 24 by 26, Gardner avenue.

John J. Enos, two car garage, 18 by 18, 272 Bayonet street.

H. G. Remmert and G. M. Remmert, garage, 18 by 20, 804 Crystal avenue.

James E. Beebe, frame garage, 30 by 18, Thatcher street.

Promoted to Corporal

(Special to The Bulletin)

FORT BENNING, Ga., Sept. 20—A. Thompson, 618 Main street, formerly of Norwich, Conn., and now a member of Company F, 29th Infantry of the regular army, stationed at Fort Benning has been promoted to corporal. Thompson's rise in the army has been rapid and his friends have reason to be proud of a man whose excellent record reflects great credit on Norwich.

Keefe Gives Advice on Health

Quick Recovery From Severe Stomach Troubles, Nervousness and Run-down Condition Proves Value of Taniac.

Patrick Keefe well-known citizen living at 21 Court street, New Haven, Conn., suffered from many serious ailments for several years before he found relief. He says: "My stomach gave me so much rouble I became weak and run-down. Everything I ate caused continual belching and gas that bloated my stomach.

"The poisons of constipation swept through my system ravaging my liver and kidneys. Whenever I moved pains shot across the small of my back. And my nerves became affected. Instead of sleeping at night I would toss and turn. For two years I suffered intensely. Then Taniac came to the rescue.

"This wonderful tonic cleaned out my system, toned up my organs, relieved my stomach trouble and nervousness. It gave me new strength and health. I recommend Taniac to everyone."

Give Taniac an opportunity to relieve your suffering, to give you health. The first bottle brings amazing results. At your druggist's.

POETRY

September

This is the month when sun and wind contend
For the possession of that lepis, thinned,
To wanest opal, that is pure bare sky.
A cloud-puff is a milk-weed soberly
Shredded by breezes with the fists of boys . . .
A butterfly drifts down but makes no sound,
To prove it is no leaf of sudden brown.

Whisking along the floor. The boughs, the turf,
Hug their thick green as though it were a scarf
Against adventuring chill. And few and small
The russet tongues of the barberry thrill
The hairy verdure with the tinge of fire.
Now apple-seeds grow black, and seeds of pear;
Now the grapes lighten: meadows shake like seas,
And rivers are more level than the fields.
—Babette Deutsch, in "Honey Out of the Rock."

A Dancing Girl

She enters—the spirit of the dance!
And but for those large, eloquent eyes,
Where passion speaks in every glance,
She'd seem a wanderer from the skies.

So light that grass breathless there,
Lest the [illegible] dream should go,
Would think the [illegible] in the air
Warped the fair vision to and fro!

Or that the melodies sweet flow
Within the [illegible] played,
And then [illegible] arms of snow
And wait to list the music made.

Now gliding slow with dreamy grace,
Her eyes [illegible] the [illegible] lost,
Now the [illegible] lifted face,
And small hand [illegible] her bosom crossed.

And now with flashing eyes she springs
Her whole bright [illegible] to and fro,
Her [illegible] seem to [illegible] wings
And [illegible] in a wild instant there!

She spoke not but, so richly fraught
With language are her glance and [illegible]
That, when the curtain fell, I thought
She had been talking all the while.
—Frances Sargent Osgood.

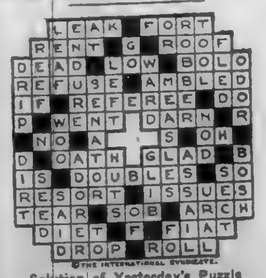
The airplanes will carry goods, medicine, powder and shot for the hunter tribes and will bring back cargoes of furs.



Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

News of interest in Norwich in 1851, taken in part from the columns of the Norwich Courier, is as follows.

Tuesday, Sept. 16, 1851—The earnings of the Norwich and Worcester railroad for the month of August were as follows: Through travel, $1,511.42; local travel, $10,831.04; freight, $13,528.65; mail, etc., $1,051.46, total, $27,-922.57. The total for the month of August, this year shows a gain of nearly $700 over August of 1850 when the total was $26,466 68. Local travel and receipts for mail, etc., more than offset the decrease. The actual increase for an equal number of days run is about $2,300 which shows a very favorable condition of the traffic of the road.

The fine statue, The Eve, by Powers, which was lost with the Swedish ship Westmoreland, off Cape Pales, on May 8 1850, has been recovered and is now in New York, having arrived in the British schooner Volo, from Carthagena. The statue is in good condition save a slight injury to the pedestal.

Among the 52 men who were shot at Havana we learn that there was one Charles A. Robinson, formerly of Mansfield in this state. He was 30 years of age.

Jonathan Adams Esq. one of the most competent and experienced engineer in the country, has been engaged for a number of days upon a thorough survey of the route of the Norwich and Westbrook railroad; and we understand that the result thus far has proved highly satisfactory.

Thursday, Sept. 17, 1851—D. P. Gardner, named as the "New England Soup Man," has arrived in this city and is stopping at the American House.

Leutze's Washington Crossing the Delaware, this grand national picture by our countryman, who stands foremost at the head of his profession as an historical painter, has just been received in New York and is on exhibition at the Stuyvesant Institute.

Many people in Norwich will learn with sorrow of the death Sunday at 1 o'clock noon, of James Fenimore Cooper, the American novelist, at the age of 62 years.

Shall the Otis library be sustained by the community is the question sometimes being asked. The answer of most people is that the purchase of a ticket a year by every family would settle the question forever, whether or not that family cares to use any of the 3,000 volumes accessible to all classes.

The first locomotive ever used in the United States is still employed on the little Schuylkill railroad. It was built in Liverpool, England, by Edmund Bury, and is a little over 20 years old.

Saturday, Sept. 19, 1851—The block of marble from New York for the Washington monument will cost $2,500. It will be taken from the Glenn Falls or Eastchester quarries and it is to be eight feet by five feet six inches and not less than 18 inches in thickness, with the city arms in bas relief, and above the words, From the City of New York.

Boston people are now celebrating the completion of the Grand Junction railroad. Signs bout the docks at Boston read with various slogans, among them Boston and the Canadas, United by Bonds from Iron. The feature of the celebration is the Liverpool, Boston to Canada route which is expected to be of great benefit to Boston commerce.

Forest fires are still raging in Maine, coastwise vessels reporting seeing the flames at night for stretches of many miles along the coast.

Ninety young gentlemen entered Boston university this fall and it is expected that the total enrollment may reach 100.

Lots of people are about half way between what you think they are and what they pretend to be.

Sick Man Offers $50 For Stomach Medicine

"I was a sufferer from indigestion until a druggist advised me to try Adlerika. The results have been wonderful. I eat anything, and can do a big day's work without feeling tired. I wouldn't be without Adlerika if it cost $50 a bottle."—R. C. Culver.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara, and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

F. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists.

BOOZE PEDDLER FROM NORWICH FINED $300 IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 20—Tony Roderiquez of 8 Quarry street, Norwich, was in New London Sunday morning, but he would have been wise had he remained away. Then he through his attorney, who talked for him, told a story that the court did not accept as a true statement of the situation, for it was to the effect, after Tony had been caught delivering alcohol to "customers," a fellow named Scott had borrowed the Roderiquez car to go into the country. He was gone two hours or more. Then he came back and notified Tony that he was coming to New London and asked the latter to go along with him to operate the car. Tony's spokesman represented that Tony did not know what was in the car though there were thirty-five gallons of booze there, which was peddled on John street in this city. The operations of Tony were observed by a man who imparted the information to the police and who asked how it was that such business could be carried on in the city. The police told the informant that they would attend to the case and immediately started out after Tony. They got him, but no Scott was seen. Tony had no right to operate a car, for his license was revoked some time ago. That gave an improbable turn to the case and led to the doubt as to Scott. Tony's attorney had him plead guilty to two counts in the complaint—one for transporting liquor and the other for operating a car while his license was under suspension. That cost Tony $300 and put him in a worse predicament with the state motor vehicle department. Tony had $702 in his duds when he was arrested. His fine and costs and his attorney's fee put a considerable hole in that wad, but Tony was agreeable to it.

John Sullivan was fined $10 for intoxication.

John Billings who has been too frequently accused in the court, pleaded guilty of intoxication and was fined $10. That took John to jail to work a fortnight or more for the county.

Patrick Murphy, charged with the same offense pleaded guilty. He explained that his son was in the hospital and that he sought to drown his sorrow with drink. He received a fine of $10 and paid.

Martin Collier and Charles Treanor, sailors on the ship Camden, appeared today after the police had endeavored to get them both into court, to answer to a charge of a breach of peace. The sailors had no story to tell in mitigation of their offense, so they were fined $20 each. This was paid by the service officer of the ship and the sailors were taken aboard the Camden for such discipline as their offense warranted.

Harry Holloway of Groton, charged with embezzlement from his employers, a meat packing house with an office in Norwich, was not in condition to appear today. He is under a heavy bond to appear and that bond was continued to the 4th of October.

Tony Corelchuk, charged with a breach of the peace in endeavoring to create a disturbance at a garment factory on Bank street, where there has been dissatisfaction, according to Corelchuk and Bessie King, a labor agitator from Colchester, was to have been tried today, but that case went over till the 16th of October, when Bessie is to come to trial.

Stuart Long was fined $10 for failing to observe the rules of the road in the operation of an automobile [illegible] reduce the speed of his machine in passing intersecting streets. Long hit a clip of 35 miles an hour, it is estimated.

Fred Pelstier, Peter Barowski and Abraham Belott were accused of intoxication, but judgment was suspended in each case.

James Taylor of Niantic was in the same predicament. He went past the police station very much intoxicated.

Harold E. Bass and Harold Quidgeon, sailors, pleaded guilty of intoxication Sunday. They were sent aboard their ship for discipline. When arrested Quidgeon was charged with operating an automobile under the influence but this charged was nolled.

Louis Minault received a suspended judgment on pleading guilty of intoxication.

Edgar Aldrich, an insurance solicitor, took offense at a sailor who, passing the car, spoke to Mrs. Aldrich. The sailor kept going but Aldrich pursued him to Reed street, where it was supposed the sailor went into a house. This supposition was so strong in Aldrich's mind that he sought to force entrance to find the sailor. Mrs. Margaret McLaffin, who resides in the house, told Aldrich of his mistake, but he insisted and in forcing his way in, pushed a door so that Mrs. McLaffin was injured slightly in the face. Aldrich was arrested, but the woman did not desire that he should be penalized for his conduct toward her, so the case was continued a month.

Margaret Mahoney, wife of John Treanor, died Saturday night at her home, 41 Shapley street, after an illness of but a week. Mrs. Treanor was well known, being a member of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and had resided in New London about 20 years.

Miss Lillian Hyde, 54, died Sunday at her residence, 45 Division street. She is survived by a brother, Joseph Hyde, Jr., of this city. Miss Hyde was born in New London and always resided in this city.

The funeral of Raymond O. Cooper was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of New London lodge of Elks, Washington street and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners, among whom were delegations of members of the Elks, Fraternal Order of Eagles and Loyal Order of Moose. The services were conducted by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. The bearers were members of New London lodge of Elks and Loyal Order of Moose. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Mrs. Timothy Whipple, of Mystic; Miss Mary Murphy, 38 West Colt street; Mrs. Abraham Levinson, 420 Montauk avenue; Mrs. Everett Dickinson and infant son, Essex; Mrs. Madeline Gorman, 140 Ocean avenue; Mrs. Harold Main, Mystic; Arthur Iverson, Roxbury, Mass.; Harry Walker, Waterford; George Abernethy, 33 Elskih street; George Sullivan, 21 Masonic street and Jean Hughes, 35 West Pleasant street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Sunday and today.

James Perkins, 56, formerly of Colman street, this city, died Sunday at Uncas-on-Thames, Thamesville, where he had been a patient about a month. He is survived by his wife, five daughters, Mrs. Helen Perkins, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. John Wall, New York; Mrs. Roy Pitts, Hartford; Mrs. George Happeny, Providence and Mrs. Edmund Downey, Florida. He also leaves three brothers, Charles Perkins of Lebanon and John and Gerard Perkins, of Bozrah and by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Sawyer, of Montville and Mrs. Arthur Latham of Norwich. Mr. Perkins was employed for many years by the Connecticut Power company at his Water street plant. Several months ago his health began to decline and he went to Hartford where he obtained medical treatment, but without beneficial results. Last month he came to New London and shortly afterwards went to the Norwich State sanatorium, below Thamesville.

IN FISH-MOSHER QUARREL FORMER IS BOUND OVER

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 20.—Capt. John A. Fish, of Fishtown, was presented in Groton town court today on a charge of assault on Ira Mosher, also of Fishtown and pleaded not guilty, but probable cause was found and Fish was bound over to the next term of the criminal superior court. The case is the outgrowth of a quarrel between Fish and Mosher, several days ago, when Fish is alleged to have struck Mosher on the head with the butt of a shot gun. Mosher appeared in court with his head swathed in bandages. The quarrel was over Fish's assertion that Mosher's dogs had killed the former's chickens.

A dangerous depression exists, in the sidewalk in front of the property, 783 Bank street. This afternoon a woman stepped into the depression, causing her to be thrown and bruised. The woman refused to reveal her identity to Patrolman Edward Riordan, who was near at hand when she fell. The danger spot will be reported to the department of public safety tomorrow.

Alfred Liquorie, 49 Montauk avenue, made complaint to the police this afternoon that a table, which was stored in a house he is [illegible] to be erected on Montauk avenue, was stolen some time last week. Mr. Liquorie did not discover the theft until this afternoon, when he visited the house and found the table missing.

A dog, the property of a resident of West street, which has been at a veterinary hospital several days receiving treatment for fits, escaped this evening by leaping through an open window to the ground. The animal made its way to Vauxhall street, and but a short distance from where its owner resides, where it collapsed in another fit. A resident of Connecticut avenue, observing the spasms of the dog and believing that it had been struck and maimed by an automobile, notified the police. Patrolman George Laboue was sent to where the animal lay in the street and ascertaining the facts in the case, removed it to the home of its owner.

Patrolman George Cockell in making his rounds through Union street, near Church street this evening observed a Buick touring car beside the curb with two of the tires flat. Inquiry made it known that the automobile was left there this morning by two young men. Believing the car to have been stolen and then abandoned, Patrolman Cockell reported the facts at the police station. The car carries registration, F—14-247, which is registered in the name of Dorothy Glaser, R. F. D. No. 1, box 400, Stratford. The Stratford police were communicated with and will determine whether the automobile has been stolen.

Leonard M. Winker, of South road, Groton, left his automobile parked for two hours on Bank street and in restricted area this afternoon. He has been ordered to present himself in the police court tomorrow morning.

Robert Hutchins, of Westerly; Mrs. Harry Weinstein, 37 Hamilton street; John Majeski, 40 Pearl street; Mrs. Frank E. Morris, and infant son, 16 Summit avenue; Mrs. Julian Vienlenzky, 127 Crystal avenue and Mrs. George Tague and infant son, Waterford, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

The funeral of John Shaw, 59 Mountain avenue, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. Joseph J. Elder, pastor of Huntington Street Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

News was received in New London today of the sudden death Friday at South Pasadena, Cal., of Mrs. Caroline Ross, wife of Elex Ross. Mrs. Ross formerly resided in New London and is a sister of Mrs. E. S. Howe, 65 Connecticut avenue.

Walter A. Murphy, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was presented in the Groton town court this morning charged with reckless driving. He pleaded not guilty, but after several witnesses had been interrogated, Acting Judge Charles F. Willard fined Murphy $5 and costs, the latter amounting to $12.30. Murphy was driving an automobile at the Groton approach to the Thames river highway bridge two weeks ago. As the automobile passed a truck owned by H. R. Douglas, local contractor and driven by Walter Rowley, Waterford, the former automobile cut in on the truck, colliding with the heavier vehicle, causing it to leave the highway and plunge through a fence, down an embankment and into a pond. Rowley was caught in the automobile, but managed to extricate himself and reach the shore.

R. F. Abernethy, United States Coast Guard, was fined $100 and costs, the latter amounting to $12.45 on a charge of reckless driving, but Judge Willard ordered $50 of the fine remitted. Abernethy's automobile collided with an automobile driven by Attorney John C. Geary, on the Boston Post road, near Fishtown, a day or two ago.

Herbert Harris, of Providence, was fined $100 on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Judge Willard ordered $50 of the fine remitted, which made the total amount Harris paid into the court $64.45, for the costs. $14.45 were annexed. Harris was arrested following his automobile hitting an automobile of Ovila Rheaume, of this city.

George R. Webb, Portland, Me., was fined $5 and costs, the latter being $14.55, on pleading guilty to intoxication.

Harold J. Hasbrouck, Brooklyn, N. Y., was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding.

Patsy Vitro was fined $15 and costs, the latter amounting to $10.55, on a charge of breach of the peace. Judge Willard ordered the fine remitted.

SECOND ELECTION IS SCORED BY COUNCILOR MAY WITH VIGOR

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 20—At the city council meeting this evening, Councilor May took a positive stand against the charter requirement for a second election each year in the choice of city councilor and other city officials. He asked that the matter of making a change should be submitted to the director of law, who shall report to the council that if it is deemed advisable the matter may be taken to the legislature for the change he proposes. Councilor Streeter seconded the motion for the purpose of bringing it to a vote in the council. Councilor Whiton opposed the action suggested by Councilor May and argued that the charter was framed by experts and that it had serious consideration. He thought the council should be slow in making a change and said that the second election had the desirable effect of arousing voters to the importance of their duties as electors. He believed the matter should receive very serious consideration before any change was thought of. There might be matters of slight moment and there may be others that deserve very careful attention and these might be considered also. Councilor Streeter represented that in the fifth ward there were some 350 voters who did not go to the polls at the last election. He thought that a second election might arouse these to go to the polls. Mayor Scott declared that there were 750 voters in the fifty wards who did not vote at the first election.

A pretty sharp letter was read to the council from Mrs. Emily Speirs criticizing the methods obtaining in the election system in this city at present and advocating an amendment to the city charter that would provide voting machines. She was quite emphatic in her criticism of the system in vogue, and opposed to the waste of the taxpayers' money in holding a second election. Councilor May advocated the adoption of his ideas and said New London was the only city in the state that held a second election to choose members of its city council.

The matter was finally referred to the committee on administration.

Fifteen applications for permission to build or alter real estate were made. There were a few new buildings other than garages contemplate dso that a little increase in the volume of work for mechanics looms up.

A contract for gasoline for the city's motor vehicles for six months was awarded to the Colonial company at the current market price at the time of the supplying of the gasoline with a 2 1-2 per cent discount. The estimated amount of the contract is $2,300.

The council voted to accept Guthrie Place, East Guthrie Place and West Guthrie Place as highways of the city. These are the first streets accepted by the city under the new charter and by ordinance.

The sum of $3,400 was voted to be transfered from different accounts to other accounts.

The city manager was voted a vacation with the understanding that City Treasurer Congdon shall serve for him during his absence.

The council voted to pay bills for the firemen's celebration last month to the amount of $1,200, the money going to the Fire Department Officers' association.

City Manager Holt presented an inventory of the cost of the city's outfall sewers and an estimate of what the same would cost at this time. The sewers represented an outlay to produce them of some $14,000 whereas the same could not be produced at present for less than an estimated $127,000. He said that labor when the sewers were constructed in pre-war times was hired at $1.25 a day whereas it cost now $4 a day.

The management of the new Garde theatre asked permission to place a cloth banner across State street at Union. The city manager was delegated the power of granting or refusing the permit. Tony Gardella asked the privilege of removing two trees from in front of his premises on Truman street.

WASHINGTON'S RULES CREDITED TO JESUITS

BOSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—George Washington's "Rules of Civility" were composed originally by the Jesuits, declares Charles Moore, head of the manuscript division of the Library of Congress.

In some school exercises of Washington's, written before he was sixteen years old, were ten pages of "rules," from which sprang suggestions on decent behaviour in company and conversation.

"There has been much written about these 'rules,' but little is known," says Mr. Moore in his book, which the Houghton Mifflin company is publishing. "They were composed originally or compiled and published in France by the Jesuits about 1595. Translated into English by Francis Hawkins about 1640, they passed through no fewer than 11 editions down to 1672. From the Hawkins book, the 110 rules written by Washington were selected, simplified and arranged by some person at present unknown.

"One copy came into the hands of George Washington, who from it wrote out the manuscript that is among the Washington papers purchased from the family by congress in 1834 and 1849, and held in the department of state until 1903, when they were transferred to the library of congress."

The wreck of the schooner Rebecca R. Douglass, which was rammed on Nantucket shoals Friday morning by the coal carrier Eastern Crown, was found by the Coast Guard Cutter Ossipee and towed to Vineyard Haven.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Union store, 84 Main street is now under the management of David Hirsch, formerly with the Union store in New London.

Breed Theatre.

Due to a huge public demand William Fox has re-issued "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," the greatest comedy picture ever produced. It will be shown at the Breed theatre Wednesday and Thursday and the management will not be surprised to see among the patrons a large percentage of those who witnessed the showings when the film was here before.

"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" was the best of Mark Twain's satires, and has been called the greatest in the history of literature.

Wallace Beery has a comedy role in the latest Frank Woods production "Let Women Alone," which comes to the Breed Wednesday as the second feature.

The presence of Beery in the cast gives this picture one of the most well known character men of the day. J. Farrell MacDonald also appears in the picture and since the release of "The Iron Horse," in which he plays one of the leading roles, his popularity has made a marked advance.

Other players of note in "Let Women Alone" which was adapted from Viola Brothers Shore's Saturday Evening Post story "On the Shelf," are Pat O'Malley, Ethel Wales, Harris Gordon and Betty Jane Snowden, making the cast an all-star one in every sense of the word.

Broadway Theatre

Excellency in both the Keith-Albee vaudeville program and screen features tickled the crowds who visited the Broadway theater yesterday.

The five act stage program started with Ruth Stripling in Kicks, assisted by R. Oliver Evans. This young lady is the personification of youth, pep and versatility. Her able assistant is an asset to the act which is fine.

Emma May Harvey, the well known character comedienne with her company offer a comedy skit called Past and Present. With a combination of fun and song the piece is carefully thought out and splendidly acted.

The Belvay Sisters followed with a song and dance revue that instantly caught the popular favor. Here is an offering that is as artistic as it is entertaining.

Foster and Semon, the two burlesque stars are a riot of fun who must be seen to be fully appreciated.

The Perottos, the snappy aerialists close the bill with a splendid offering.

Steppin' Out is the title of the new Columbia production now at the Broadway theater. The picture is an interesting departure from straight drama. It is amusing, light, and bubbling with comedy situations of a mirth provoking kind.

Dorothy Revier, makes her first trial in this sort of comedy and gives more promise of developing into a star of the first magnitude. Featured with the lovely Miss Revier is the noted comedian, Ford Sterling.

Palace Theater

Effective today the Palace theater makes an important announcement of a reduction in admission prices in favor of its patrons. The matinee prices will be 25 cents for adults and ten cents for children while evening prices will be 30 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. With the adult admission on Sunday evening of 35 cents. Although the admission prices are reduced the same policy of high quality pictures will be maintained. The picture for today and Wednesday is Padlocked. Rex Beach's great Cosmopolitan magazine story. A thrilling and romantic tale of a young, beautiful and high spirited girl of today driven from home by a hard hearted and bigoted father, this feature scored an instantaneous hit with Monday's audiences and was hailed as one of the best productions of the new season. Marguerite White and Louise Scheerer, charming and beautiful members of Roxy's famous radio gang from the Capitol theater, New York, gave a delightful performance on the stage and became immediately popular with their first appearance. Added attractions include a new Aesops Fable, A Bumper Crop, a hilarious comedy with Alice Day entitled Alice Be Good, the Topical Events with the News of the world and including the Yale football team starting training. Among other interesting news of the day. Walter W. Lang and his musicians playing a symphonic arrangement from Faust added largely to the enjoyment of the program which is easily the best presented at the Palace since the opening of the season, and with the new scale of prices in effect this popular theater should be even more in favor than ever before.

REGION OF PACIFIC A PROLIFIC PLAYGROUND

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20 (AP)—The playgrounds of the Pacific coast region from the Canadian line to the Mexican border, are accessible to the tourist by hot railways and paved roads, which link the western termini of transcontinental railroads and highways.

Each of the coast states has its multitude of beaches and beach hotels, its scores of inland lakes, its mountain hostelries, and in the south are the latest entries in the lists of resorts catering to visitors—landscaped desert oases.

Three principal national parks are Rainier in Washington, Crater Lake in Oregon and Yosemite in California.

One of the newest national parks is that about Lassen Peak, in northern California, the only active volcano in continental United States.

The summer playgrounds in the mountain resorts have a great scenic appeal. The equable temperatures of the coast afford relief from the heat which descends upon the inland valleys.

The visitor to Washington is enabled to go from his hotel in Tacoma or Seattle to the big hostelry at the top of Mount Rainier in his own car or in an automobile stage over a road which curves along the top of tree-clad precipices. North and south from Rainier stretch the Cascades, connecting in all almost unbroken mountain range with the Sierra Nevada of northern and central California and the Sierra Madre in the south.

Rivaling the attractions of the mountains are the beaches and islands of the long coast line.

Puget Sound's wooded isles and inlets cut off from the mainland the Olympic peninsula, whose forest covered mountains constitute the largest expanse or virgin timber left in the country. Oregon's beaches meet those of California which march away to the south, past Catalina island off Los Angeles and on to San Diego, just north of the Mexican boundary.

In California the visitor of a literary turn of mind can make pilgrimages to the former haunts of Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Stevenson or Jack London, or he can visit Carmel-by-the-sea, a hundred miles south of San Francisco, which is the home of a score of present day writers. In the south also is Movieland, home or most of the great motion picture companies.

Historic interest abounds. The Old Oregon Trail brought missionaries to the north Pacific territory; the gold rush took the forty niners to a vast area which had been people with Mexican overlords of Indian tribes; and the Apache trail in Arizona is rich in prehistoric relics and Indian and Spanish history.

TWO FIRST EDITIONS OF PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP)—A peculiar mixup has occurred over the copy of the first edition of Pilgrim's Progress for which 6,800 pounds was recently paid in a London auction room. Examination of the volume by the purchasers, a firm of antiquarian book dealers, revealed the fact, hitherto unknown, that there were two different issues of the first edition and this copy was one of the second issue which has a five-line errata at the end of the last page of the text.

This discovery caused the cancellation of the sale, but the work was resold almost immediately to the original purchaser by private arrangement with the auctioneers.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Lee & Osgood Co.

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

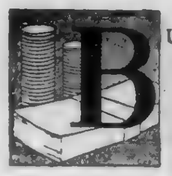
The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Lee & Osgood Co. sells lots of it.

Business Volume—and the Telephone



BUSINESS men dealing with large sums of money realize the value of speed and accuracy in doing business. Highly significant, then, is the testimony of well established investment houses.

Mr. John W. Cutler, Jr., manager of the New Haven branch of Prince & Whitely, a large investment house, says concerning toll telephone service: "We could not do the present volume of daily business without the medium of the telephone. Your facilities enable us to do business with speed and accuracy."

A word now—by telephone—is worth three bye-and-bye.

Prince & Whitely's business volume is directly influenced by their use of toll telephone service. Let our local Exchange Manager familiarize you with the various kinds of toll calls and recommend those best suited to your business.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Stiffening Call money rates, arousing fears of an early advance in Federal Reserve rediscount charges, turned the trend of bond prices downward today.

Trading was dull, with buying interest at a low ebb in view of the credit uncertainties, the unsettlement of the stock market and the huge property loss resulting from the Florida hurricane disaster.

Foreign obligations offered the best resistance to selling pressure but were unable to make much headway. Several of the more popular French issues scored moderate gains and Japanese bonds, including oriental development 6s and Ohio Electric Power 7s, were aided by the strength of exchange. Otherwise, operations were listlessly conducted.

Seaboard Air Line Railway lines were depressed by the news of heavy property damage in Florida and fears that the disaster would curtail the usual winter travel to the states resorts. All the road's active issues lost ground. Some of the Van Sweringen Rail bonds, particularly the Erie Convertibles, were steadied by the extensive buying movement in the stocks of these companies, based on the prospects of important progress in the Nickel Plate merger.

Domestic Industrial liens were under pressure most of the day, with losses of a point or so registered by Brier Hill Steel 5 1-2s Brooklyn Union Gas 5 1-2s, General Asphalt 6s, General Refractories 6s, Empire Gas and Fuel 7 1-2s, Continental Paper and Bag 6 1-2s, Pan-American Petroleum 6s and Skelly Oil 6 1-2s.

Reports that $100,000,000 or more of German Railway bonds would soon be marketed here aroused great interest in investment circles but well informed bankers, indicated that there was no likelihood of an early offering.

CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's curb market on selling inspired by higher Call money rates and reports of heavy property damage in the Florida storm. So far as is known only two issues were directly affected by the storm; Land company of Florida which dropped 2 1-4 points to a new low for the year at 20 1-4, and Florida Power & Light 5 per cent notes which sagged over a point to 92, or within a fraction of the year's low.

Oils were sluggish on publication of a report that the year's peak production had not yet been reached in the mid-continent field. Tidewater associated fell back nearly 3 points to 21 3-8 and then recovered about half its loss and most of the other active issues yielded fractionally.

A few independent strong spots developed in the industrial list. Fanny Farmer was bid up 4 points to a new high at 28 on reports of business expansion and Durant Motors was lifted 2 points to a new peak at 14 3-4. Dupont (new stock) crossed 150 to a new high. Erratic fluctations took place in Warner Pictures, B, which closed about 3 points lower. Curtis Publishing, which changes hands only in odd lots, broke 4 1-2 points to a new low at 197. Foundation Co. Foreign General Banking A, Gillette Safety Razor, Lehigh Valley Coal and Pender Stores also lost a point or more.

Establishment of a new 1926 peak by American Gas & Electric at 106 1-2 was one of the few features of the public utility group. Electric Investors was heavy but Northeastern Power received good buying support.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Eastern buying with a forecast of wet weather in Indiana gave much strength at times today to wheat values here, closing quotations, though, on wheat were unsettled at only 1-8 to 3-8c net advanced. Corn finished 1 1-2 to 1 3-4c down, oats 1-4 to 1-2c down, and provisions varying from 10-12 cents decline to a rise of 10c.

Gossip that a noted eastern speculator was back of the buying in the wheat market received considerable attention and so, too, did talk, which was current, that political considerations were involved in the buying. On the other hand, there was evidence of persistent selling pressure from the northwest, apparently the result of the increased movement of new crop wheat. A large increase in the United States Visible Supply total tended also to inspire caution on the part of buyers, especially at the finish.

Enlarged receipts of corn here had a bearish effect on corn and oats. Absence of frost, too, had also a similar influence.

In the provision market profit taking sales largely counteracted influences due to shortage of hog [illegible] and cotton.

TAKING OUT CURVES IN WORK ON NEW MONTVILLE HIGHWAY LAYOUT

In the cement highway contract from the witch hazel mill crossing southerly to Jerome's corner on the Norwich-Montville road, extensive changes are being made at Uncasville in straightening out several sharp curves. In one place the change made amounts to a new layout of the road.

This is just north of the Uncasville ... where, after the road crosses ... branch line of the Central Vermont ... road, the new road is being cut through the steep hill to the west of the present road. Just north of the Uncasville switch is one of the bad curves on the road where a steep ledge of rock juts out into the highway as the H. Heller place, formerly the Charles H. Comstock place. This ledge is to be entirely removed, this part of the work being almost finished now.

At the residence of Dr. John J. Donahue, which is just south of the Uncasville corner, a good sized ledge is being blasted out to straighten a curve there.

Over most of the work where a new cement road is to land the excavation has been made to prepare the surface for laying the cement but the work is so extensive that it will extend ... some time before the road is ready for smooth traveling again.

HOWARD PALMER WILL TELL OF MOUNTAINEERING

This (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock a public meeting of unusual interest will be held in the Shaw Mansion, the home of the New London County Historical society on Bank street, New London.

P. LeRoy Harwood will read a paper on New London Poets. Howard Palmer, formerly of this city, who has spent the summer mountaineering will tell of his experiences climbing in the Canadian Rockies. Abel P. Tanner will speak briefly of Nathan Hale of whom New London is justly proud. The memory of Nathan Hale is being honored throughout the entire state this week, as it is the 150th anniversary of his martyrdom.

This is a program of sufficient variety to make its appeal to the general public.

SUIT FOR RECEIVERSHIP HAS BEEN WITHDRAWN

The suit of Ralph B. Haas of New London against Archibald C. Haas of Mystic has been withdrawn without costs from the superior court. It was brought to ask a receivership for the grocery store business in Mystic under the name of A. C. Haas & Son.

It was claimed that the partnership was formed April 10, 1922, but that on Nov. 14, 1923 the defendant notified the plaintiff that his services were terminated.

REPORTS OF THE STORM SENT OUT FROM MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 21—(AP)—At least ... dead, 150 or more missing; 5,000 injured and 50,000 homeless—this was the known sum tonight of human life and suffering in cities and towns along Florida's southeastern coast in the tropical hurricane.

At Miami the death total increased as Biscayne bay gave up more of its dead. Authorities said the list probably would reach 250, although it was around 200 tonight. Hospitals and Red Cross stations here treated more than ... injured during the day, many of ... ...ously.

A check of the list of known dead ... ...with possibly eight other bodies ... to be brought in and with seventy persons listed as missing. Earlier reports had included many of the missing as definitely dead and the total had been announced as 75 known dead. It is believed now that many of those missing fled into the interior when the first hurricane approached and while many possible perished, it is regarded as more likely that they were only injured. There were about 250 injured listed at Hollywood today and slightly over 200 of them were definitely located and treated. A score or more at Hollywood were listed as seriously injured.

Fort Lauderdale's death list remained at 11 during the day but the list of seriously injured increased to 300 as the interior sections were reached and the victims brought in. Of the seriously injured probably a score will not survive. There are 500 others less seriously hurt in the Fort Lauderdale, Floranada and Progresso neighborhood. The Red Cross relief stations were crowded with injured and refugees.

Reports from other localities indicated little change in the death list with the exception of Dania and Davie, both of which reported several additional bodies had been located but could not be removed until high waters receded and broken trees were removed and tangled underbrush was cut away. The injured from these sections continued to increase.

DETAILS OF DAMAGE ALONG THE GULF COAST

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21—(AP)—Some loss of life and property and crop damage estimated into the millions resulted along the Gulf coast from the tropical hurricane which veered northwestward from southern Florida and careened across the western tip of that state and lower Alabama before spending its full force late tonight in southern Mississippi.

Pensacola, which was cut off from communication with the outside world for more than 24 hours after the hurricane, blowing 100 miles an hour had struck it, did not suffer any loss of life but there was heavy property damage according to brief direct communications established late today.

A telephone line was repaired to Mobile and over this a report was sent out telling of the escape of the residents of the city. Previous reports from railroad circles had said that there had been some loss of life in Pensacola.

The Coast Guard cutter Tallapoosa, which rode out the blow in Pensacola harbor reported to the naval station here by radio that many vessels in the harbor were damaged but no details were given.

Mobile, the largest of the gulf cities visited by the hurricane, suffered property damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Mobile was in the grip of the storm from 5 o'clock Monday morning until midnight Monday night, with the greatest wind velocity at 94 miles an hour. Communication with the outside world also was cut off until this afternoon.

Surveys are under way to determine the extent of the damage to small villages along mobile bay and in the interior. There were unconfirmed reports of some loss of life at Jackson and Bay Minnette, Alabama.

Pascagoula, Miss., suffered heavy damage, but there was no loss of life, Charles Farrar, special agent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad reported. Property losses, he said, in Jackson county, Miss., would run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, principally to the pecan crop.

The cotton crop in southern Alabama was said to have suffered considerable damage, but outside of Mobile there were reports of damage to shipping or the fishing fleets which base on the numerous bayous and inlets and along the Alabama and Mississippi coasts.

BROTHER CHARGED IN STRANGLING OF SISTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The ... old murder of an 18 year old girl was believed by police to have been solved with the arrest today of Harry Townsend, 38 years old, the victim's brother.

Townsend, a river boat captain, for whom the police have been searching since ... was reported to them to have admitted strangling the sister, Margaret.

The couple had lived in a furnished room at 245 West 22nd street where the tragedy occurred. He hid the body in an attic and disappeared.

RIOT AT REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Wayne county (Detroit) republican county convention to name delegates to next week's state convention, broke into a riot shortly after opening today.

There was fist fighting, yelling by delegates who filed about over the convention floor and an ineffectual attempt by a police riot squad to carry the riot leaders from the hall.

The hubbub ended only after police reserves had been called and one faction had left the place, organized a rump convention and named its own delegates.

UNION FUR WORKERS ON STRIKE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A strike of members of Fur Workers' Union, Local 20, went into effect in 30 shops here today and shortly afterward union officials reported 1,000 men and women had been registered and assigned to picket duty. The decision to strike was arrived at last night but not given to the workers until they reported for work today.

The union seeks to obtain the same conditions applied to the industry in Philadelphia, Chicago and New York, and demand a 40 hour, five day week in place of the present 44 hour, six day week," as well as wage increases of from $3 to $6 a week for the various trades.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

ROME, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The 56th anniversary of the taking of Rome in 1870 was celebrated throughout Italy with appropriate ceremonies.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—There was a full attendance at the wool auctions and offerings amounted to 11,555 bales. The maket was firm with a steady sale mainly to the continent.

WEIMAR, Thuringia, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Pauline Apel, 88, one of the few remaining associates of Franz Liszt, is dead. She was secretary to the great composer for 30 years, and after his death served as caretaker of his home.

POTSDAM, Germany, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Prince Eitel Friedrich, second son of the former kaiser, has been sued for divorce by Sophie Charlotte, former Duchess Von Oldenburg, on grounds of incompatibility which, she says, has caused her "mental suffering."

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 21.—General Pangalos, former Greek dictator, is quoted by an interviewer as declaring in his prison cell, that when overthrown last month, he was preparing to cause a rupture of the Greece-Turkish negotiations, declare war on Turkey, invade eastern Thrace and occupy Constantinople.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Sept. 21.—Troops of the 12th regiment consisting of men called up for annual training, rioted yesterday at Essen, smashing their barrack windows and wrecking the canteen. A non-commissioned officer was killed by a bullet and several men were injured. The regiment is confined to barracks while an investigation proceeds.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN DAUGHERTY-MILLER CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—(AP)—Through a woman witness called five minutes before court adjourned, the government today struck from a new angle in the conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller.

Miss Edith Haworth, of Washington, a clerk in the alien property custodian's office, was the witness. She identified documents that tended to show that two days before the claims of Richard Merton, German metal magnate acting as agent for the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs De Meaux, for shares of the American Metal company valued at $7,000,000 were recommended by Miller and approved by Daugherty, a claim made by a neutral and an American for part of the same shares was denied without the papers in the case being taken from the files of the alien property custodian's office.

The rejected claim was filed in December, 1920, by Julian B. Beaty of New York, and Edward Greenfield of Basle, Switzerland, as record owners of the shares. Beaty was vice president and treasurer of the American Metal company. They claimed 20 shares.

Miss Haworth identified an entry in the claim register of the alien property custodian's office and a file card that revealed that the claim had not been removed from the file prior to its rejection on August 2, 1921. It was on September 30, 1921, that Miller handed Merton checks for $6,453,979.92.

The government tomorrow will begin the offering of physical proof of the alleged distribution of these two sums between Daugherty, Miller, King and Jesse W. Smith, of Washington Court House, Ohio.

OLYMPIA MACRI TO ENTER THE "MOVIE" PROFESSION

HARTFORD, Sept. 21—(AP)—Olympia Macri, 20 years old, unmarried mother, and the principal in two sensational murder trials following her fatal shooting of John Bagnano, of New Haven, in 1924, is shortly to enter the motion picture profession under the auspices of her own producing company, it was learned tonight. Papers of incorporation of the Olympia Macri Picture corporation of New Haven, were filed here today announcing the incorporators as Olympia, her father, Nicholas and her brother, Fred Macri. The authorized capital of the company is $50,000.

Miss Macri, whose two trials for first degree murder ended first in disagreement of the jury at New Haven and finally acquittal by a jury in Litchfield, to which the case was removed to obviate prejudice, is to play the leading role in scenarios especially written for her, according to Samuel Campner, of New Haven, her legal adviser in the motion picture enterprise.

For several months, Mr. Campner said, tonight, Miss Macri has made preparations to enter the movies and after experiments conducted in New York has been told by recognized leaders in the industry that she "screens" exceptionally well and should be successful in her new career. Negotiations are now under way, Mr. Campner said, to engage a well known movie director to guide Miss Macri in her productions and announcement is soon to be made of the first film in which she will appear.

150 PERSONS KILLED BY HURRICANE IN PARAGUAY

ENCARNACION, Paraguay, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A hurricane struck this city last night killing about 150 persons, injuring 500 others and causing damage estimated at a million dollars.

In the most seriously affected district virtually all the buildings were destroyed.

Relief work was hurriedly started notwithstanding the torrential rain and violent gale.

The authorities have taken measures to prevent looting. Medical supplies and foodstuffs have been rushed from other cities.

Encarnacion, capital of the department of the same name, is situated on the Alta Parana river, 230 miles from Asuncion, capital of Paraguay. It was estimated by the Jesuits in 1614. It has a population of about 35,000 and is the center of a rich agricultural and grazing district.

NEW HAVEN WOMAN KILLED IN HURRICANE AT MIAMI

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Hattie E. Winslow, formerly of this city, was killed by the collapse of a veranda during the hurricane which swept over Miami, Fla., Saturday afternoon, according to a telegram received tonight by Edward Roath, her son-in-law. Mrs. Winslow was formerly the proprietor of the Winslow Bakery of this city. She went to Miami to make her home three years ago.

Her husband, two sisters, two brothers and a grandson were not hurt during the storm, according to the telegram.

Too Much Weight For the Sikorsky Plane

Banker Hambleton Believes the Tragedy Was Result of Inadequate Testing.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—(AP)—John Hambleton, Baltimore banker, who was a guest on the recent test flight of the Sikorsky plane from Roosevelt field to Washington, expressed his opinion today that today's disaster tothe huge ship was due to inadequate testing.

"The plan Sikorsky had never been tested with such a heavy load," Hambleton said, "the men in charge were novices with such a large ship. When they took off this morning with such a load they were taking a long chance and they lost."

TWO MEN PERISHED WHEN THE PLANE WAS BURNED

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Disaster struck down the giant Sikorsky biplane S-35 within two minutes after its attempted hop off today for a non-stop flight from New York to Paris.

A mass of twisted wreckage and the charred bodies of Charles W. Clavier, radio operator, and Jacob Islamoff, mechanic, tonight were the tragic aftermath of what was to have been one of the most daring ventures ever attempted in the history of aviation.

Captain Rene Fonck, commander for the flight, and Lieutenant Lawrence William Curtin, U. S. N., navigator, saved their lives by scrambling from the plane an instant before it burst into flames.

The flight that was to have taken Captain Fonck and his three intrepid companions on a 3,600 mile flight across the Atlantic ended in tragedy when the monster airplane, carrying a record weight of 23,000 pounds, was unable to lift itself from the ground and crashed over an embankment on Roosevelt field.

There was an instant flare of flames and black clouds of smoke billowed to the sky. Trapped inside the cabin of the plane, Clavier and Islamoff perished almost instantly.

More than 1,000 persons who had cheered the flyers two minutes before, stood helplessly by, awe struck, unable even to attempt a rescue of the two trapped men, while the 23,000 gallons of gasoline in the plane's huge tanks burned fiercely.

More than $100,000 had been spent in building the super-plane and American and France were to have shared in the laurels, had its flight been successful.

A slightly unfavorable wind was ...ected to have handicapped the ... weighted biplane in its attempted take off, but wrecking of the plane's rear landing gears when it passed over a rough spot near the end of the runway was ascribed as the immediate cause.

Unable because of this drag to accelerate its speed beyond this point sufficiently to lift into the air, the plane dived over a 25-foot embankment beyond the runway, plunged a distance of about 100 yards and then crashed.

The plane had attained a speed of about 65 miles an hour before the mishap. There was never a chance for the two men in the cabin to save their lives. Captain Fonck and Lieutenant Curtin were imperiled by the three great propellers that continued to whirl after the crash.

Gasoline from the shattered tanks caught fire immediately. By the time the spectators had arrived on the scene, flames were leaping 50 feet in the air.

By the time ambulances and firemen from Westbury arrived, the biplane was a crumpled metal skeleton.

Igor Sikorsky, who had hoped the plane would be the realization of his goal after 18 years of designing aircraft, sped in an automobile to the scene of the crash, saw that all was hopelessly lost, and then hurried away to his home, overwhelmed by the disaster.

Exonerating all participants from blame in the crash, officials of the Sikorsky Aero Engineering corporation, indicated today's disaster would not prevent attempts to make another non-stop flight from New York to Paris.

An inquest will be held Friday over the bodies of the two victims. Oral statements were made t othe coroner of Hempstead township, where the accident occurred, by Captain Fonck and Lieutenant Curtin soon after the crash, but they were not detained, on their agreement to appear for the inquest.

Lieutenant Curtin, in a statement shortly after the accident, attributed the fire to live gas thrown over the still-hot exhaust pipes.

Captain Fonck suffered a slight scratch on the cheek, but Lieutenant Curtin escaped without a mark. Both men said they were stunned by the impact of the crash, and that events from the time they began scrambling from the pilot's cockpit were blurred in their memories.

The hop-off had been considered by the sponsors of the flight as the greatest test the huge plane would meet during the entire flight, because of its enormous weight. It had been planned to drop the rear landing gear, the wrecking of which was a major factor in the crash, after the plane had attained a sufficient height.

Cheerful and confident, the four flyers had climbed into the cabin of the plane just at dawn. A slightly-overcast sky lay over the field, but the four men were undaunted by the local weather.

Lieutenant Curtin was especially optimistic when he left the hangar this morning for the plane, carrying a roll of maps and weather charts.

"We'll be in Paris in 37 hours," he said, smiling as though he were merely going for a walk. Ten minutes later he had escaped death by the narrowest margin.

The Raymond Orteig $25,000 prize for the first non-stop airplane flight between New York and Paris was the object of the flight.

Democrats Planning Newspaper Publicity

Decision Reached at Conference of Democratic Leaders in New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 21—(AP)—A program of extensive newspaper publicity will be adopted by the democrats of Connecticut in the fall campaign, according to an informal decision reached at a conference of democratic leaders here today. The newspaper publicity will be supplemented by a short campaign of speeches by the nominees and various leaders of the party.

Six of the candidates on the state ticker were present at the conference. Peter M. Kennedy, of Waterbury, nominee for treasurer, being unable to attend because of business engagements. Several members of the state central committee also were present.

The meeting was planned primarily as a general get-together for the nominees and leaders. It was entirely informal, no vote being taken on any question or final decision reached on any matter of vital importance. Another conference will be held at a later date to formulate a definite plan of action.

Methods of financing the campaign were discussed.

Following the conference, those present had luncheon with the delegates to the New Haven district democratic probate convention, with Judge John L. Gilson, as host. Judge Gilson, who was renominated for the eighth time by the republicans a few weeks ago, was endorsed by the democrats for probate judge at the probate convention here today. After the convention the delegates were invited to luncheon by Judge Gilson and the democratic conferees were invited by Judge Gilson to join them.

CRIMINAL SUPERIOR COURT IN SESSION AT HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Two prisoners, Mary Frances Hayes, of Hartford and Clark L. Hamilton, of Enfield, pleaded guilty to crimes for which the state's attorney will ask that they be sentenced to state prison, at the opening of the criminal superior court before Judge John W. Lyman, practicing physician at 43 Park street and a resident of Suffield, and Mrs. Louis Russell, of 1542 Broad street, pleaded guilty to advising the proceeding of an illegal operation on her niece, Ruth Baker, at the office of a New York doctor. They will be sentenced tomorrow. William M. Hunger and Howard L. Peet, ... acted the accused.

Frank Carbone, of Front street, who is believed by the police to have been involved in the bootleggers' feud which resulted in the murder of Carmelo Tiralongo, of Torrington by Cesare Barbiera, of Hartford, pleaded not guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon and elected through his counsel, Alexander W. Creedon, to be tried by the court without a jury Thursday.

OPTIMISTIC OF FUTURE OF COMMERCIAL AVIATION

HARTFORD, Sept. 21—(AP)—"Commercial aviation has an undoubted future; it is now a matter of making sure that we do not over reach ourselves in progressing too rapidly," Major General Jesse F. O'Ryan, newly elected president of the Colonial Air Transport, Inc., said today in an interview.

General O'Ryan, whose election to the leadership of the company in succession to Washington Irving Bullard, of Boston, was announced Sunday, flew to Hartford today in his first official inspection of the company's property. Mayor Stevens, President Hiram Percy Maxim, of the city aviation commission, Major William F. Ladd, commander of the National Guard aviation squadron and officers and directors of the transport company later lunched with him and this afternoon General O'Ryan went to Boston, where he will appear tomorrow at a hearing before Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, in connection with securing land at the Boston airport for land for a mail plane hangar.

SAYS HEALTH RESTS WITH FAMILY PRACTITIONER

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The future of public health rests with the family practitioner of medicine, Dr. Haven Emerson, former health commissioner of New York City, and professor of public health administration, Columbia university, told delegates to the second clinical congress at Yale university tonight. The congress is being held under the auspices of the Connecticut state medical society.

The rate of improvement in the prevention of disease, Dr. Emerson declared, depends upon the quality of general medical examinations given to apparently healthy persons of all ages, and regularly at stated intervals.

REVIEW OF HURRICANE AND RELIEF WORK UNDER WAY

List of the Known Dead Has Reached 388, But Belief Prevails That the Dead Will Total 700 in Southern Florida Alone—More Than 1,500 Were More or Less Seriously Injured—Property Damage is Estimated Anywhere From $50,000,000 to $100,000,000—Medical Supplies Are Being Rushed to East Coast of Florida—Airplanes Are Carrying Anti-Tetanus and Anti-Typhoid Serums to the Devastated Cities

By the Associated Press

Having taken an almost unprecedented toll of life and property as it swept across South Florida and the eastern part of the gulf coast, the tropical hurricane which came out of the Bahamas last Friday, most apparently had spent its fury in lower Mississippi last night before reaching New Orleans. With the single exception of Pensacola and nearby towns, direct communication with the nearly score of cities and towns in the wake of the storm had been reestablished. Fragmentary reports from Pensacola sent out by radio station told of some loss of life and great property damage in that Florida port.

As relief and rescue work went forward in the Florida flood area the list of dead steadily mounted and was expected to continue to do so as workers cleared away the wreckage of homes where scores of persons were trapped.

Identification of the ... proceeding slowly many of those who perished in the west storm Florida probably ever will be known and so the graves of the unknown.

Early last night the list of the dead still stood at 388, but rescue workers believed the total would be ... in southern Florida alone. More than 1,500 were more or less seriously injured and the property damage was estimated at anywhere from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Government agencies, relief workers and railroad officials were rushing their efforts to get into Pensacola, for an assessment of the damage there and to carry relief to the stricken population. There was no estimate either of the dead or of property damage, but the reports coming in through out of the wrecking of the station and property of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and of other property damage.

Press dispatches from Mobile early last night said that Gulfport had escaped with a property loss of several hundred thousand dollars, and no loss of life. Property loss was caused by the high winds unroofing buildings and the rising waters flooding buildings. The barometer there set a new low to wreck in the 75 years history of the weather bureau. Other gulf towns escaped the full force of the blast. Winds veered off into southern Alabama, where there were unconfirmed reports of loss of life and property and into Southern Mississippi where it was dissipated after warnings had been issued in New Orleans that the blow was headed for that place.

Although only four weeks have passed since the hurricane had swept Miami, Hollywood-by-the-Sea, Coral Gables, Fort Lauderdale, Miami Beach and many other Florida towns, the work of rescue and relief was well in hand. Hotels and other buildings, although roofless and windowless, were converted into temporary hospitals for the injured.

BIG PLANS AT COVENTRY FOR NATHAN HALE MEMORIAL

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 21—Wednesday at Coventry, Tolland county and the state of Connecticut will join in exercises in memory of the 150th anniversary of the death of Nathan Hale, Revolutionary patriot, who sacrificed his life for his country and who was a native of Coventry. Band concerts, a parade and public exercises will precede a pilgrimage to the Hale birthplace and monument. There the assemblage will hear speeches by Governumbull, United States ingham, CommissionA. B. Meredith and Phelps of Rockville. most men who will attend will be Congressman Richard P. Freeman of New London, and George Dudley Seymour of New Haven, owner of the Nathan Hale birthplace.

Followed by a parade, the afternoon speaking program will be on the village green at 3 o'clock (standard time). The evening program will be in the Congregational church at 7 o'clock standard time. Amplifiers have been connected from the outside of the church so that the overflowing attendance may hear the addresses. The speaking will be broadcasted from Station WTIC, Hartford.

Historical floats will be featured in the parade, with practically every town in the county represented. The Putnam Phalanx of Hartford will be present. Its major, Concord D. Perkins, a former resident of South Coventry, will honor the memory of Nathan Hale by placing a wreath on the monument in the Nathan Hale cemetery, overlooking Lake Wangumbaug.

Hundreds of school children from Coventry and surrounding towns will participate in the program. A special appeal has been made to automobile owners to assist in the transportation of school children to Coventry for the event.

William Ayres Jr. of Tolland, will be marshal of the parade. His aides will be Ross J. Talcott of Rockville, Captain Wilson A. Wolfe and Lieutenant E. [illegible] Z. Spencer of South Coventry.

PORTRAIT OF HALE GIFT TO NAMESAKE HOTEL

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 21—George Dudley Seymour of New Haven owner of the Nathan Hale birthplace in South Coventry, presented the new Nathan Hale hotel in Willimantic a handsome steel engraving of Nathan Hale today. The engraving has an antique frame handsomely carved, and will be hung conspicuously in the hotel lobby. Mr. Seymour will be a guest of the hotel at the opening banquet Thursday night.

At the close of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the death of Hale in South Coventry many of the participants will come here to join in the [illegible]holders inspection scheduled for Wednesday afternoon and evening.

It is expected that over four thousand [illegible] through the hotel between the hours of four and ten-thirty o'clock. A buffet luncheon will be provided.

Zone Manager Orrin D. Smith, of the American Hotel corporation, announced Tuesday that Miss Theresa Sprague, well known concert singer of Boston and a member of the Metropolitan Opera company, will entertain the guests at the opening banquet Thursday night. Reservations for this affair continue to be received by the hotel management. The seating capacity of the hotel for the main banquet, including an overflow into the lobby and the coffee shop, will be required to accommodate the guests at the banquet according to Manager Smith.

James B Fullerton, chairman of the program committee, has urged that all reservations be filed as soon as possible.

As part of the stockholders' inspection Wednesday a parade and flag raising program will be carried out. The paraders will assemble at noon on Union street at Lincoln Square. The line of march will be up Main street to High, then countermarch to the hotel. At the hotel a patriotic oration will be delivered by Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton. Rev. James G Graham of Windham Center, will offer the invocation. The B. P. O. E. Band will lead the parade and will play the Star Spangled Banner during the flag raising. Simultaneously there will be a salute of daylight fireworks, including the release of floating flags from bombs bursting at a height of 1,000 feet. The stockholders' inspection will start at four o'clock and continue until 10:30 o'clock.

For the parade Captain Joseph R. Morrison will be grand marshal. Several patriotic and civic organizations will be in line.

A sort of family reunion is being planned by Willimantic Rotary club, for its first meeting in the new Nathan Hale hotel Tuesday evening, October 5th. The grandparent clubs of New London and Norwich and the grandchildren, Putnam and Danielson, are being invited to attend this meeting. A renowned Rotarian orator has been invited to be the speaker and an invitation has also been extended Allan D. Colvin of Hartford, district governor. A special musical program is being planned. The meeting will be in charge of President James P. Bath, Vice-President Richard E. Dodge, Secretary Gerard E. Loiselle and Treasurer Herbert W. Huber with sub-committees consisting of Harry W. Standish, Valentine L. Murphy and Dr. R. Bullock Jones on 'stunts,' Gerard E. Loiselle on music and invitations, and G. Everett Harrington, chairman of the favors committee. The plans for this meeting were outlined at the weekly session of the Rotary club Tuesday noon. As the organization will make its future headquarters at the hotel it was voted to extend thanks to the Y. M. C. A. Secretary Albert B. Smith and the Ladies' Auxiliary who served the dinners during the past year.

James P. Mustard reported reservations coming in nicely for the Rotary Fall Conclave at Lenox, Mass., September 28, 29 and 30. A high grade program has been arranged by the local club for the breakfast on the 29th, at the Hotel Aspinwall, in Lenox.

Charles B. Pomeroy, chairman of the program committee was in charge of the entertainment for the day. He called on Walter Abbe to give an account of his vacation and the latter responded in an interesting manner.

Only one daily change, and that evidently an unpopular one, is contemplated in the new schedule of the New Haven railroad system which becomes effective with the change from daylight saving to standard time Sunday next September 26th. Other than setting the leaving time of trains to about one hour later than at present, the one change announced as affecting Willimantic is to take off the first train known as accommodation No. 111, which was made up here and leaves for Hartford at 7:07 a. m., daylight time. The plan is to have this train leave Rockville for Hartford in the future. Protests are already coming in from residents of this city and vicinity who have patronized the morning train in question, on week days. Most of these are commuters to Hartford who find the train more satisfactory for morning travel than the bus. The next accommodation train does not leave until 11:29 a. m. according to the proposed schedule. All the patrons of the train are not content with the announcement of the railroad company that suitable service is provided though the busses operated by the subsidiary company, the New England Transportation company.

Among other changes of minor nature affecting Willimantic will be the discontinuance of train No. 1020 arriving here from New Haven over the Air Line division on Saturdays at 5:35 p. m. This train will be arriving here on Sundays at 12:20 p. m., instead. There are no changes on the Providence division these being but one daily train as present between Providence and Willimantic. The passenger express now leaving here for Boston at 8:42 standard time will leave at 7:20 p. m. after Sunday.

The Central Vermont railway will maintain practically the same schedule. Steam train passenger service has been done away with, with the advent of the gasoline-propelled car which will leave here northbound at 6 a. m. and 5:42 p. m. The electric bus will leave northbound at 4:33 p. m. and 9 a. m. southbound.

Residents of this city, or relatives of [illegible] have been very fortunate in escaping, alive and well, the hurricane which swept Florida, according to telegrams reaching here. The Guillemette family at 44 Lyes street, the Fellows family at 47 St. Mary's court and the James McGuire family are among those to receive word from relatives that they are safe. As far as known, no one sustained property losses.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Amanda Merill were held at the Pleasant Valley Methodist church at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in Pleasant Valley cemetery. Avery and Van Zandt were in charge of the arrangements.

JEWETT CITY

NEWS COMES FROM FLORIDA THAT IS REASSURING

(Special to the Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 21—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kendell of Versailles, have three daughters living in Florida, two in Hialeah and one in Miami. Mrs. Vesta Bottomley and Mrs. Etta Weeks are of Hialeah and Mrs. Laura Kendall is of Miami. The family here received a wire Tuesday saying "Everything O. K. with us in Hialeah."

The boat train was two and one-half hours late Monday evening on account of a freight wreck at Oxford, Mass. Passengers for New York being notified at the depot of the late train, suffered no delay. Taking the 9 p. m. bus at P. O. square, direct connections are made via Franklin square cars in Norwich for New London arriving there 10.45 p. m., with ample time for the boat.

In 1895 the town of Lisbon carried a debt of $28,000 on which it was paying 6 per cent. interest, and when 1923 was reached, steady and seemingly unavoidable outlays piled the debt up to $44,000. A well managed refunding process, bunched the debt so that it was taken over for four and one half per cent. As the result of a 2-mill sinking fund tax, $15,000 was accumulated. At this time, in 1923, a financial committee, E. F. Burleson, F. D. Ballou, G. A. Ross and James Graham, so wisely placed this fund, that the amount in banks, and other parts invested in securities, earned from 6 to 7 1-2 per cent.

The bonded debt immediately began to exhibit favorable decreases, even as much as $14,000 within the space of three years.

Within a year, considering from the viewpoint of actual maturing securities, Griswold's adjoining and sister town of Lisbon, can liquidate every liability.

This was to be expected with Harry Hull as first selectman.

Charlie Butts, who takes the big Aspinook plant under the shadow of his wing during the night season, is authority for the statement that so far this fall, the mercury in this section has not dropped to dangerously near the frost line. He keeps his eye on the temperature as well as seeing to the welfare of the establishment, and can tell any morning at what hour it was the coldest during his watch.

Postmaster and Mrs. William T. Crumb and daughter Miss Rose, are away for a week with relatives in Springfield, Mass.

J. W. Reynolds, owner of the Pil-grim gardens took first premium for best exhibit of dahlias at the New London horticultural show held in New London Friday.

Many local friends, are interested to learn that Leon G. Young, of Griswold a World war veteran, is receiving treatment at Uncas-on-Thames.

Somebody reporting local people as being in Hialeah in Tuesday's Bulletin has another guess when stating that Everett Alley was there. He has been at home in Lisbon since early spring.

The closing of each month's busi-ness as applied to local advertising, shows such increases as go to prove how favorably these columns are being considered, when it is desired to reach every week day morning the close to 3,000 readers of The Bulletin in this vicinity. That means besides Jewett City, Voluntown, Pachaug, Griswold and Glasgo.

A man's attention was attracted on Monday evening as he came down the state road, and when near the afternoon of Tadpole pond, as he saw a small flock of black ducks, making their last aerial circle preparatory to volplaning into the feeding shallows along the eastern shore. Although the man was a one-time hunter, yet he confessed to a feeling of satisfaction when his ears caught no sound of guns discharged and he detected no disorder or alarm, as the flock found refuge for the night. Some few years ago, the close season on black ducks ended at midnight Aug. 31. In those times great flocks used to come into the upper reaches of the eastern half of the pond, and many a day, just as early dusk was settling down upon the water, a thousand ducks would arrive from all quarters of the sky, for the afforded shelter of the weeds and thick growths of button bushes. The first day the law was off the local juvenile hunting fraternity, pressed every gun into service that would throw shot. Some of these old rusty muskets, survivors of early wars, were always discharged at the risk of maybe a broken shoulder or at least being kicked out of the boat, without having time to take one's clothes off.

There never were any great bags actually on exhibition. A black duck can, unless a stray shot finds a vital spot, carry away an astonishing amount of lead.

One fall, a young man named Bryant, a pattern designer at the Slater Mills, conceived the idea of a "blind." He built one back among the alders that grew on a little island, and one night actually brought down 13 black ducks.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. George Koch of Sandusky, O., and three sons, William of Greenport where he died, Harry and Louis Mitchell of Mystic. Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Mary A. Noyes, 13 Mistuxet avenue Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Charles F. Eldredge of Niantic. The bearers were George D. Carpenter, George MacLoughlin, Austin Watrous, Dudley Watrous, Frank Carpenter and Elmer Doyle. Burial was in Elm Grove cemetery.

SOMERS

There was a union service of the Somers and Somersville churches at the Somers church Sunday morning, the purpose of this service was to enable the Somers pastor to say some of the things the congregations of the two churches felt of appreciation and love to and for Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Kebbe, pastor of the Somersville church for the past ten years and his wife who are leaving that field. Mr. Jones voiced the sentiment of the people very pleasingly and Mr. Kebbe responded in a cordial manner.

The members of the Home department voted an expression of thanks to Mrs. Anna C. Kibbe for the entertainment she provided last Thursday. Miss Lila Church, a pleasing character actress of Rockville proved most enjoyable.

Providence Invites You

WHY not plan to spend at least one day in Providence during "Visit Providence Week"—there are literally hundreds of reasons why. Special attractions at the theatres—fall showings of merchandise at all the stores—places to dine and dance. Make it a jolly good party and come along!

Providence— A Great Shopping Center

The truly fine stores of this big city of Southern New England offer exceptional showings of new merchandise during "Visit Providence Week." Go window-shopping along the principal streets. Step inside the big stores or the smaller shops. You'll find new fall stocks at their best—an excellent time to do your fall shopping. Every merchant will be glad to see you and ready to serve you promptly.

Proclamation

It is a pleasure to extend to our neighboring fellow citizens and friends a most cordial welcome to the City of Providence during the week of September 20 to 25, inclusive. This week will be known as "Visit Providence Week." It has received the endorsement of the merchants of our City and of the City Council.

Providence, we believe, can rightfully be termed the metropolitan center of southern New England, just as Boston and New York are known as the centers of their surrounding territory.

Providence is delightfully situated on one of the most beautiful bays in the world. We have here an educational center which in the scope and character of its activities takes its place with any in our land. Our new twenty-one-million-dollar water development has merited the praise of experts all over this country. Our shopping district and our large department stores, we believe, offer to southern New England opportunities which cannot be excelled.

Therefore, as Mayor of Providence, I urge all those of our neighbors who can possibly spare the time during the week of September 20 to come to Providence and allow us to share with them the beauties and advantages of our City.

Joseph H. Gainer
Mayor

For Providence is all set to give you a hearty welcome.

Free Parking Space

If you drive in, you'll find ample all-day parking space in back of the Union Station—a short walk from the center of the business district. If you come by train or bus or trolley, you will find yourself at once in the heart of things.

Something to Interest Everyone

There's something to interest every member of the family in Providence during this week of exceptional hospitality. The animals and a merry-go-round in Roger Williams Park for the kiddies. The best of feature photoplays — vaudeville — burlesque and drama at the theatres. You'll not be wanting for amusements. Then there are many places of historic and artistic interest to visit—in this city of century-old tradition and modern life.

DANIELSON

CORONER BILL'S FINDING IN DEATH OF JAME H. BLAIR

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 3—The following is the finding of Coroner A. G. Bill of Danielson in the case of James Hermy Blair:

The undersigned coroner within and for the county of Windham, having received notice that James Henry Blair of Hartford, Conn., had been killed in an automobile accident in the city of Willimantic on the state highway leading from Hartford to Willimantic, Tuesday September 14th, 1926 about 10.30 p. m. I viewed the body of said deceased and on the 17th day of September 1926 I held an inquest as to the cause and manner of said death, at the police station at Willimantic. From the testimony taken at said inquest, I find that said James Henry Blair died on the 14th of September from a fracture of the skull and other injuries caused by being run over by a heavy motor truck in which he was riding and which was driven by John H. McKernan of Hartford, Conn. I further find that at the time of said accident said James eHnry Blair was under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was sitting on the floor of the cab of said truck with his feet inside near the brake and shifting levers and with his back toward and near the open door fo said car and that while said truck was running at a moderate rate of speed he fell backwards out of said truck and was run over by the rear right wheel of the same, causing the injuries from which he died. I further find that said death was caused by the criminal carelessness of said John H. McKernan, driver of said truck. I delivered the body of said deceased to his relatives for burial. I file with this finding a copy of the testimony taken at said inquest and am communicating the import of said finding to Harry S. Gaucher, Esq., prosecuting attorney for the city of Willimantic.

MOTORIST GETS SURPRISE ON HEARING NEW CHARGE

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Sept. 21—Now among the many things that have been done to Ford cars no one has mentioned until this week about aggravating one. An operator of a public service car who lives here tells about making a trip to Narragansett iPer and that on the way down a rattling flivver came up behind him and sought to shoot by. The Danielson man did not allow this, having a heavy and powerful car, and to his amazement was halted some distance down the road and ordered to report to a police station. A complaint against him had been telephoned ahead. In due time the complainant, the driver of the flivver showed up, and when asked by the officer what the charge against the Danielson man was he repaid "aggravating." That was altogether too thin a charge and the local man was allowed to go.

Something definite about plans to give Danielson a new hotel and theatre, in combination, may be expected to be announced within the next few days. As outlined it is a proposition that will involve the expenditure of $200,000 and will give this place a structure such as has been talked of for years. It is planned to have a 100-room house with every modern hotel convenience. Interested parties are preparing to form a corporation, and more about the matter, as to the incorporators and what they intend to do will be made known within a few days.

Tuesday morning the funeral of Alcheris Poirier was held from his home in Moosup with funeral services at All Hallows church in that place at 9 o'clock, Rev. Oscar Normand being celebrant of the requiem mass. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Wauregan. The bearers were Joseph Poirier, Octave Poirier, Adolard Brodeur, Alphonse Champagne, Philip Moreau and Thomas Castegrey. At the grave in the Sacred Heart cemetery the committal service was conducted by Father Mathieu. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

All day Tuesday workers at the fair grounds in Brooklyn were engaged in setting up exhibits and making ready for today's show, which will attract several thousand people, providing the weather is good. It was indicated Tuesday, which was entry day, that the showing of farm products will be very good and that other departments of the fair will be up to standard. Many things that are to be shown will not be brought to the grounds until this morning, but everything will be in readiness by the time the crowds begin to gather.

At Wauregan much of the old highway bridge over the Quinebaug river has been removed and timber that will enter into supports for the forms for the new concrete bridge is being put in place. Crushed rock and other building material that will enter into the making of the new structure is on hand. The contract is one let by the state highway department and will be completed during the fall. Traffic is getting across the river, shallow at this point, on a temporary wooden bridge just north of the one that has been taken out.

Harvesting of the corn crop is unferway in Killingly and nearby towns and the growth is of excellent quality. Early summer produced such cool weather that the corn crop was considered three weeks backward in June. It developed splendidly during the extremely hot weather of parts of July and August and has come to cutting time as one of the best crops in a number of years. Up to now it has escaped damage by frost, though this is regarded as almost a nightly menace and all speed is being made with the harvest.

Those who watch such things predict that in the list of taxable property that will be made of as October 1, more cars will be shown as owned in the town of Killingly than in any previous year, including commercial vehicles, the list is likely to go between 1200 and 1500. In the aggregate these cars even at taxing values will represent a great sum of money and will be the means of adding a number of thousands of dollars in taxes to the town treasury.

With only a little more than two weeks remaining before the opening of the hunting season, game officials in this county are now scouting the woods daily in search of the few who always like to take advantage of the real sportsmen by doing a bit of bird shooting ahead of the time allowed by law. It already has been noted in this column that hedges set to ensnare birds have been found and torn up by game wardens. The next two weeks will be a time of extra vigilance on the part of the wardens. They are doing their utmost to detect the game law violators and welcome information from sportsmen relative to any person who is doing such things.

To The Bulletin comes a story that heartless people are abandoning kittens in the business section—leaving the little animals to seek for themselves when they are not old enough to do so. It has been said that the kittens are brought in in automobiles. One man tells of being engaged at this time in feeding four of these abandoned kittens, that they may not suffer for want of food, and of a desire for information of anyone guilty of abandoning kittens.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Reed were at West Medford, Mass., Tuesday evening to attend the wedding of Mrs. Reed's niece, Miss Eleanor Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arther J. Crosby. The ceremony was performed in Goddard chapel at Tuft's college.

In accordance with custom and recognizing Brooklyn fair day as a half-holiday the undersigned banks will close at noon today (Wednesday). The Danielson Trust company. The Brooklyn Savings bank.—adv.

John Bryant of Fair Haven, Mass., is visiting here for a few days, as is his custom occasionally. Mr. Bryant lived at Elmville as a boy.

There was little evidence about Danielson Tuesday of the old-time fakir for so long associated with fair time. He has not gone out of existence, but is not seen in such numbers as in years gone by.

Some beautiful dahlias grown at the home of Mrs. J. Herbert Smith on Broad street will enter into the making of decorations on one of the exhibits at the Brooklyn fair.

There is interest here over the welfare of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, formerly of this town, who are believed to have been in Miami, where Mr. O'Brien has property, during the hurricane.

Interest is such that some journeyed to Putnam Tuesday from Danielson to be in attendance at the Raymond Weatherbee trial in the superior court.

Once again the warning is heard to clean chimneys before fires are started for the season. The great proportion of fire alarms in Danielson for years past have been due to dirty chimneys.

Elmer Burdick, who was severely injured at the Main street plant of the Paco Mfg. company when he was drawn into a machine the past week, has improved sufficiently to be removed fro mthe Day Kimball hospital to his home in Elmville.

Members of the Nazerene church held a prayer meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Laura Reynolds.

There is a lack of rain all through this territory while Florida and certain western areas have been deluged.

Richard Tillinghast, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Tillinghast, is gaining steadily after having undergone an operation for appendicitis at the Day Kimball hospita lin Putnam. His case was an aggravated one.

Paul Bitgood, graduated in June from Connecticut Agricultural college and a star athlete at the institution, has gone to Springfield to enter an institution specializing in physical education of which Mr. Bitgood eventually will become an instructor.

There was considerable uneasiness in Danielson and some other nearby towns Monday over possible injuries to people or property in which there is local interest in the hurricane that devasted a section of southern Florida. Some of this uneasiness was aroused by the fact that the great blow flicked St. Petersburg on its rush into the gulf. Among those from this section who are at St. Petersburg is Fayette Wright, a former resident of the town of Pomfret and well known here and in Putnam. Mr. Wright has important property holdings in that section.

Nathan Blumenthal is making every effort to arrange for radio distribution of the Dempsey-Tunney fight returns in Danielson Thursday night. There is a great demand among sport fans for the round by round story of the battle as it will be on the air. Given good weather, the fans may stand around in the streets and hear all that comes from the loud speaker about the affair. It was intended Monday to put a new model 8-tube set into service on this particular occasion.

At the home in the Howard Valley district, Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Adele Rinkenen were conducted by Rev. Victor Kotila of Maynard, Mass. Burial was in the Raymond cemetery. Relatives acted as bearers. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

The suggestion is heard from one of the officials of the town that upon the completion of the auditorium and gymnasium at the high school building that the town hall interior because the renovating it so badly needs and thereafter kept in good condition one of the requirements to this end be that basketball not be allowed. The high school basketball in any event will be staged in the new gymnasium.

Police say they anticipate greater difficulty in obtaining convictions of persons charged with operating motor vehicles while intoxicated because of the new rule providing that such drivers shall not at once on being taken into custody, be presented before a physician that his judgement as to their inebrity be obtained. There always has been a great deal of dispute among people as to when a person is or is not intoxicated after drinking liquor. Formerly in such cases as is here referred to the word of a physician was law, a man jury ed-ucte's after his arrest went a long way in court as to guilt. Such evidence is no longer available while the defense may produce a physician to testify that a person held was not intoxicated, as well as other witnesses to offset any the state may produce in prosecuting.

Motor car drivers said Monday that they encountered about as dense and difficult traffic on Sunday trips as they have experienced this season. The highways were fairly alive with cars.

The town is to oil a section of Furnace street between Main and Cottage and a section of Cottage from Furnace to water. Gravel already has been supplied. Trolley rails were removed from these streets a few weeks ago and the work now underway is to put the road surfaces in good condition.

In observance of the feast of St. Matthew there was a service at St. Alban's church Tuesday morning.

On October 4 the Windham county convention of the Windham County Council of Religious Education is to be held in Danielson, at the Methodist church.

At her home here Miss Lillian E. Bailey is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever that obliged her remaining for weeks as a patient at the Backus hospital in Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Call, who have been at their summer place at Cedar Tree Point, R. I., since early summer are to return here for the season within a few days.

Excessive use by truck drivers of screeching whistles used in lieu of horns on their machines is regarded in some quarters as a disturbance of the peace, and as such may result in some court appearances. The whistles used as they are by some drivers are generally rated as a nuisance.

Danielson will be represented at a meeting of the Quinebaug Circuit league to be held in Putnam Friday evening.

Gurdon E. Withey is recovering from th eshaking up he received a few days ago when, in the dark, he fell down a long flight of stairs at the central fire station.

Mrs. Herman M. Coulter and daughter of New Bedford are visiting with F. E. Bitgood and family. Mr. Coulter was in Danielson over the week end.

"That's about as pleasant a thing as we do in the army" is a fair summation of what the Service battery members said Monday night, at the state armory as they divided $1,500 in pay.

A constant increase in the amount of travel is noticed on the motor coach

PUTNAM

WETHERBEE MURDER TRIAL RESUMED IN SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 21.—The trial of Raymond Wetherbee, charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the death of the newly born child of Agnes Pytko was resumed in Superior court this morning. The interest in the hearing is so great that court officials had to bar out hundreds of people who sought entrance, after the seats in the court room had been filled. Provision were made for witnesses and others interested in the trial and then all that the big court room could comfortably accommodate were permitted to enter. More than one-third of the spectators were women, many of them young girls.

Nearly all of the morning session was taken up with the examination of Dr. Robert Paine of Thompson, who is also the medical examiner for the town of Thompson. He told of going to the home of Miss Pytko in Wilsonville on the morning of June 30th, and in company with her brother-in-law and Officer Streaman of the state police finding the body of a dead infant lying at the edge of the French river which flows about 500 feet from her house. It was wrapped in a black cloth and tied with a rope. When they lifted the body it was found that a heavy stone was tied to the other end of the rope and hidden by the water.

He brought the body to Putnam and with the assistance of Dr. Karl T. Phillips performed an autopsy. The child weighed seven and one-half pounds and measured 22 inches. It was fully developed. He found a fracture of the left skull and that the lungs contained no water, which led him to two conclusions, one that the child had been alive when born, and that death had resulted from the fractured skull and not from drowning.

On the cross-examination by Samuel B. Harvey, several medical authorities were referred to which combatted the theory as expressed by Dr. Paine. He admitted the possibility that the child might have been born dead, or that, if alive, death might have been caused in several other ways, but adhered to his first opinion as being the most probable. He was subjected to a long and searching cross-examination in which frequent references were made to his testimony at the preliminary hearing. At one point his reply brought the rather caustic comment from Mr. Harvey, "You don't seem to recognize your own testimony, doctor!"

His testimony on the whole was clear and free from technicalities and was evidently easily understood by the jurors. As the State Medical association began its three days' session at New Haven today he was anxious to get away but it was nearly 1 o'clock when the lawyers finished with him and then he was told that he might be called back by telephone.

Dr. Peter Piasta of Webster, the physician who was called to attend Miss Pytko the morning after the child was born, was the next witness. He said that after he examined her and found what had occurred he advised that she be taken at once to the hospital here in Putnam, and this was done. Dr. Piasta's testimony was very brief as he did not see the girl after this.

At the afternoon session Dr. J. J. Russell, who was called to attend Miss Pytko after she arrived at the hospital, said in answer to Mr. Bradford that he had been practicing medicine for about forty years and that he had officiated in bringing from 1,500 to 2,000 babies into the world. He said that the girl's physical condition was fairly good and that she had made a quick recovery.

Then the cross examination of Agnes Pytko, the mother of the dead infant, and who was jointly indicted with Wetherbee for murder in the first degree was resumed. She was on the stand when court adjourned last Thursday afternoon, but by agreement of counsel the three physicians named were called first.

In response to Mr. Harvey's inquiries she said that many, in fact most of the statements she had made to Officer Streaman and to Coroner Arthur Bill were untrue. She told the former that she had gone to a different spot in the river from what she testified to in court Thursday, that she was alone, that she had tied the rope around the baby and thrown it into the water, that she had said that she had been kicked in the abdomen by a young boy which had caused, she thought, the premature birth, that the babe had been thrown into the water from the roof of her brother-in-law's barn, that she had had no help. To a score of other questions she had made answers which were diametrically opposed to what she had testified to in this court. She insisted, however, that her second story was true, but she offered adequate explanation for her former statements.

Her examination was not concluded until 4.30 when Officer Streaman of the state police was called. He had been asigned to investigate the case and after talking with Miss Pytko went to North Grosvenordale and put Wetherbee under arrest. He said that Wetherbee admitted having relations with the girl, but declared that several other men also had had, and denied any knowledge that she was to become a mother or that he had anything to do with the death of the infant. The officer was still on the stand when court adjourned.

Mrs. Thomas Duffy and Miss Eliza Reid who were so seriously injured in an automobile accident at Auburn about eight weeks ago still remain patients at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester. They are improving and are as comfortable as can be expected.

Allie S. King, local agent for the American Express company is having two weeks' vacation. Omer Tracey of Webster is in charge of the office during the absence of Mr. King. Mr. and Mrs. King have left for a trip to New York.

Miss Anna Johnson of Boston who has been spending a vacation with her parents in this city is now on her way to Henderson, Ky., accompanying Mrs. Boynton Merrill and children, of Boston, for a six weeks' visit.

At the recent democratic caucus in the town of Thompson, the following candidates were placed in nomination: Assessor, Francis J. McMullen; selectmen, Wilfred H. Bellrose, William G. St.Marie; auditor, Lewis N. Elliott; board of relief, Marcus A. Elliott; grand jurors, Amedee Bellerose, Francis J. McMullen and R. E. Congdon; constables, Neri Cederre, Joseph F. Blanchette, William G. St. Marie and Charles Armstrong; registrar of voters, Clarence Stevens; town school committee, Adelard Lepage and Lewis N. Elliott.

Miss Ethel Paul of the West Thompson road is still a patient at Day Kimball hospital She has had to undergo two operations within a week. She has been ill about fifteen weeks.

Miss Emma Chubbuck has returned to Springvale, Maine, where she begins her senior year at the Naseon institute.

Each class at Woodstock Academy has organized, electing the following officers:

Senior class—President, Dorothy Lillibridge; vice president, Enas Hanson; secretary, George Smith and treasurer, Elizabeth Lowe.

Junior class—President, Constance Wetherell; vice president, Florence Child; secretary, Henry Young; treasurer, Cedric Child.

Freshmen—President, Marion Cady; vice president, Roxanna Child; secretary, Jane Lyon; treasurer, Elsie Hibbard.

A meeting was held and officers elected by the freshmen before the class of '29 was even aware of their absence.

At the annual meeting of the Village Improvement society of Thompson the slate made by the nominating committee was accepted and the following officers were declared elected: President, Miss Harriet Lewis; first vice president, Marvin Taylor; second vice president, Nelson Bradford; treasurer, Miss Sheldon; secretary, R. A. Dunning; financial secretary, Miss Prudence Paine. The following three members of the executive committee were elected by ballot: Miss Florence Wiley, Mrs. George Vaughn and Mrs. George O. Brott. Mrs. Vaughn, the retiring president was given a rising vote of thanks for the good work she has done during the three years of

NATHAN HALE DAY.

Who is there who isn't familiar with the words, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country." Who is there who doesn't know the story of Nathan Hale and the patriotic service he rendered for his country? Who is there, knowing the young patriot through history and his sacrifice, who will not be eager to honor the memory of such a courageous volunteer 150 years after he gave up his life in order to advance the success of the struggle for this country's independence?

Connecticut has particular reason for being interested in Nathan Hale for he was a Connecticut boy, born in the town of Coventry in Tolland county of the best old New England stock and educated in his home town and at Yale and subsequently a teacher at East Haddam and New London.

Like many another who was fired by the call to serve his country Hale volunteered and quickly rose to the rank of captain, and when Washington wanted someone to get information concerning the British strength Hale offered his services fully cognizant of the risk and against the advice of close friends who sensed the great danger. He recognized the call to duty and he never wavered. He was imbued with the cause and his trial, conviction and impending end prompted his famous words that will ever stand as a patriotic inspiration to others.

It is fitting that there should be a celebration of the sesquicentennial of his sacrifice in the town of Coventry and that the governor should have designated today as Nathan Hale day "to do further honor to the memory of this fine type of Connecticut manhood" and "to impress anew the ideals of Nathan Hale upon the young people of this state." Well does he say in urging special attention to the study of Hale's life in the schools and by memorial exercises that "as long as American ideals are what they are, the story of Nathan Hale will never lose its appeal or fail of its inspiration."

But it is well to remember that this attention should not be restricted solely to the schools. Nathan Hale day deserves all the attention it will receive in his native town or Coventry and elsewhere. The memory of such heroes must ever be kept alive.

STOPPING IN RHODE ISLAND ROADS

For the purpose of preventing a certain type of accident in the highways, and also to avoid the near collisions and the blocking of the road, the state police of Rhode Island have been ordered to enforce the rule whereby those stopping on a state highway must drive the car off to one side and not leave it in the traveled way. This will be required whether it is a case of stopping to pick flowers, to fix a tire, to purchase at a wayside stand, to light a pipe or to look over the surroundnig country.

It is recognized that because of the failure to drive the car to one side and the sudden stopping in the right half of the traveled way serves to create obtruction for the traffic going in the same direction as the stopped car, and because of the necessity of turning out for it traffic going in the opposite direction is more or less impeded. It has also been found that cars have been bumped, or sideswiped and in some instances those working about them have been injured because the machines were left in the path of traffic.

It can be realized that the car which is stopped in the highway without a signal may be hit by the car in back, but there is an obligation on the part of the driver of the car following to keep at such a distance or drive at such a speed that he can meet such an emergency without trouble. With 35 miles an hour called for on the Rhode Island roads escaping a collision is not so easy if the cars are running to close to each other.

When the cars are driven to the side of the road all the difficulty is eliminated, and there is thus sound reason back of the order which has been given to the state police of the adjoining state. A reasonable interpretation can be expected to cover points where there are ditches and narrow stretches, but with the enforcement of the rules against cutting in, passing on curves and on grades the authorities of the neighboring state are working in a commendable way to increase highway safety. Those using Rhode Island roads will do well to bear this in mind.

THE SIKORSKY FAILURE

So far as the big Sikorsky plane is concerned the flight across the Atlantic, from New York to Paris failed with the destruction of the airplane and the death of two of its crew. It was a tragic tremination of a flight upon which so much had been staked and in which so much confidence was placed by its backers.

The big plane was expected to carry a weight of 28,000 pounds, a load that was apparently too great for it and in excess of anything which had been lifted during the test flights. Whether the machine would have been able to fly with the load once it had left the ground could not be determined for the series of accidents in trynig to get into the air paved the way for the ultimate destruction and thus ends an attempt that was by no means free of other dangers.

The fortunate escape of Captain Fonck and Lieutenant Curtin was accompanied by the distressing fate of the mechanic and radio men, and those who wanted to go but could not be accommodated will be more than thankful that the decision was against them.

Aviation has progressed under similar, regretable circumstances. Because this attempt was a failure does not mean that other attempts will not be made. It is deplorable that it was necessary to gain such information as can be gleaned from the tragedy at such a cost but that has frequently been the case. Failure to get away gives ground for the claim as made by the Baltimore banker that the big machine had not been sufficiently tested for what it was expected to do. The study of the experience will disclose whether there is justification for such a claim, but whatever was the fault it is to be expected that advantage will be taken of it on the next trial, for it is not to be expected that the endeavor will be abandoned because of the failure. It cannot in fact be regarded as a positive demonstration that such a flight cannot be made. How soon another attempt will be made may be uncertain but there is every reason to believe that it will be made.

SERVING WITHOUT PAY

There are not many instances where the holder of public office refuses to cash the checks for his pay. Too often it is the case where such office holders are constantly striving to have recompense increased. But from the time he was elected to the state legislature Governor Fuller of Massachusetts has never accepted a cent of salary. This means that he has returned to that commonwealth about $35,000.

Perhaps there are other public office holders who have taken their pay and distributed it through certain channels. Governor Fuller might have done that. He could have turned the $35,000 over to charity or given it to some patriotic cause but he has apparently decided that inasmuch as he does not need the money for his own use, and is desirous of rendering public service even as the dollar a year men did during the war period, he prefers that the benefit of the money should go to the benefit of the entire state.

There's no question but what he is entitled to his pay, or that he has earned it quite the same as predecessors. He does not hold to the claim that no one in public office should receive recompense. On the other hand his view is that of a man of means who apparently remembers back in the old days when the best class of men were not only ready and interested in holding public office but did so without thought of the pay they were going to get for it.

There is a decided contrast in many instances between those holding office today and those of half a century or more ago. The aim is to get rather than to give, but Governor Fuller makes it apparent that he cannot be included in such a classification. He is able to refuse to cash the pay checks and his action while unusual is commendable. Others might be as willing under like circumstances, but the instances are few.

THE TRUCK NUISANCE

There probably isn't a community but what has been forced at times to demand that something in addition to what is being done should be undertaken for the protection of the sleeping public and the property owners against the distressing noises and the building shaking vibrations which result from the use of heavy trucks on the streets.

Attention is called by the Springfield Republican to the fact that there are trucks which operate on the highways without objectionable noise or vibration while others rattle and jounce whereever they are, and it believes that the property owners ought not to be obliged to tolerate such a nuisance. Their protests, it fears, might not amount to much unless they were organized, for the claim of hurting business would be certainly raised, but it can see no reason for permitting the objectionable trucks to destroy the peace of mind of the people who live along the highway or loosen the ceilings and rattle the timbers of an otherwise stable and well built house.

When the jouncing is not due to defects in the highway the situation, is one that should receive more attention than it has in the past. Even on the newly improved highways the trucks are making life miserable for it well to say nothing of the sick and it is not improbable as pointed out by the republican that much of it is due to the type of truck or the condition they are allowed to get into. The modern highway and the change in transportation from freight and express trains to ponderous motor trucks have created the situation, which is apparently common to most localities.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Nathan Hal day, a good time to throw out the flag.

Is it the big fight or the world's series in which you are the most interested?

Among its many needs Florida will not include a west Indian hurricane right away.

When cities invest in snow removal apparatus there's no mistaking the season that is ahead.

How many congressmen will return to Washington with a better fishing ord than the president?

Safety week has passed but because of it safety should be greater than ever in every other week.

The man on the corner says: There are repeated evidences that even the winds in the south are something to dread.

The patriotic will make a pilgrimage in large numbers to South Coventry today for the Hale sesquicentennial and they will show honor where honor is due.

FROM LUCILLE'S DIARY

"Oh, daddy darling, take me," I begged when father announced that he had to run over to Detroit for a few days. "I don't need anything new for the trip. I could go just as I am."

"That's an unprecedented state of your affairs," laughed father, and I kissed the little bald spot on the top of his head. "I suppose you think you're going," he said.

"Why not?" I answered blithely.

"There's one objection, Lucile. I won't be in Detroit much of the time. I have to visit several near-by towns."

"I won't the least mind staying at the hotel alone. The change will do me good. I'm really getting seedy.

"I know of a boarding house where it will be much better for you to stay alone than in a hotel," remarked mother, who had been showing disapproval all the time. It was characteristic of her to put a spoke in my pleasant plan by suggesting an economical measure. However, I did not argue the matter with her as I feared that if I insisted upon staying at a hotel she would convince father that I should not go. I telephoned Frank Freeman and told him that I should simply adore meeting his charming sister, Mrs. Gerard Hawkins, who is a society leader in Detroit.

"I'll drop her a note, Lucile," he promised, "and I'm sure she will be delighted to do something for your entertainment. Where will you be staying?"

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

When Lawrence A. Downs, just out of college, went to work 30 years ago in a minor position with the Vandalia railroad, it would have seemed rash to predict that he would one day become head of two of the great railroad systems of the country. Yet he rounded out this record the other day when he was chosen to succeed Charles H. Markham as president of the Illinois Central railroad. He was already president of the Central of Georgia railway, in which position he had succeeded Mr. Markham in 1924. The whole of Mr. Downs' career has been spent in railroad service, and he is particularly familiar with the middle west and south. He was born in Greencastle, Ind., in 1872, and received his education at Purdue university. His connection with the Illinois Central system dates back to 1896, when he entered the engineering department of the company.

I must confess that it was mortifying to have to tell Frank that I should be at a boarding house, but I, course, explained that dear mother was so old-fashioned that she could not bear to have little me at a hotel unchaperoned. He laughed and said he thought she was quite wise — that it was all right for plain girls to stay at hotels alone. What a dear he is! I wonder if I shall ever see him again.

The first evening at the Afton, as the Detroit house was called, as I was going down to dinner, Mrs. Willson, the proprietor, started to introduce me to one of the guests, a severely dressed woman in black.

"Don't bother, please," I said hastily, "I really don't care to make boarding house acquaintances. You see, I shall be here such a short time." From the swift change of expression that came over the face of the person whose acquaintance I had refused I realized that she had heard me. She gave me a rather haughty stare and passed on into the dining room. There was something hauntingly familiar about her face, and I wondered if I had ever seen her before.

"We shall miss you dreadfully, Mrs. Hawkins, when you go back to your house," said Mrs. Willson almost as soon as every one was seated at the table. "It's been a great pleasure to have you with us."

"And I have enjoyed being here very much," Mrs. Hawkins looked smilingly around the table. "It's been so nice to know you all."

Mrs. Hawkins—Frank's sister! It was her marked resemblance to him that made her face seem so familiar. I wished I might hide my burning cheeks in my napkin.

"Th decorators left my house yesterday," she continued, "and my husband will be back from New York tomorrow, so I must report for duty. You will all come to see me, won't you? I'll have a little Afton house reunion party if you'll come."

"Will we? We'd love to. How lovely of you," said everybody at once, and the man sitting next me whispered, "Most gracious hostess in Detroit."

I fled to my room before coffee was served, and passed a miserable evening wondering how I could correct my unfortunate faux pas. I decided that I would go to Mrs. Hawkins in the morning and frankly say that I was sorry, plead a headache for my excuse and tell her I was a friend of her brother Frank. But at breakfast I saw her reading a letter from Frank. I recognized his writing on the envelope, which had been forwarded from her house. In the middle of it she looked up and shot a coldly amused glance at me, after which I could not speak to her.

"Why didn't you wait and come with your father?" asked mother when I arrived home unexpectedly soon.

"Well, dear, if you must know," I replied, "it didn't take me long to get fed up on the boarding house."

Mother merely smiled. She did not appear to realize that she had spoiled my trips.—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

THE NEED OF EXPERT ADVICE IN CARE OF THE EYES

By Fred Stauffer, M. D., Salt Lake City
Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

Eighty five per cent of all the knowledge that we gain through life comes through the eye. Notwithstanding the fact, the eye is the most abused organ in the body.

The eye is a hard working organ. It performs the double function of forming images of objects in the external world on the retina and of conveying them hence to the brain.

The eye is seldom perfect, but it has a muscle and nerve supply known as the accomodation apparatus which, stimulated by light, automatically compensates for the varying inherent or acquired defects in the camera mechanism.

Eye strain results from over use of the eyes when the body is below par as when convalescing from such diseases as scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria and typhoid fever. This is especially true in cases with errors of refraction which call for extra work on the accommodation mechanism.

Eye strain manifests itself through such discomforts as smarting, burning, aching and sensitiveness to light, also in watering and redness of the eyes. Any person with such symptoms should without delay, seek the advice of an expert lest neglect cause irreparable damage.

Every child should have its eyes examined for physical defects before entering school, and, at frequent intervals during school life.

Errors of refraction sufficient to cause eye strain should be corrected with proper glasses. No person, old or young, should use the eyes for near work when the body is below par from a febrile disease, nor during convalescence.

The following case, illustrating fatal delay, will stress the fact that the care of the eye should be entrusted to skilled advisors:

Glaucoma is a disease in which the eyeball becomes hard as a result of improper drainage of the fluids from the eye, thus causing loss of vision by compression of the nerve fibers of the retina. The chronic or slowly progressing form of this disease causes a gradual loss of sight not unlike that produced by slowly developing cataract.

The unskilled advisor is consulted for glasses to improve the vision; failing he advises the patient to wait until the cataract is ripe and then to consult an oculist for operation.

He has made a mistake; it was not a case of cataract but of glaucoma in which the only hope for saving the sight lies in early treatment. By delay the only opportunity for saving the patient from endless night is forever gone. Such cases are not rare but are too often met with in the practice of every oculist.

Make the Most of Books

By James Mosher Penniman, Litt. D.

Noble Men Read Only Best Books

The love of great books is in itself a mark of greatness. Biography teaches no more practical lesson than this; that the world's really noble men have spent little time in reading any books but the best, and that there has been a general agreement among them as to what the best books are. Socrates was familiar with Homer and Aesop. Alexander slept with Homer under his pillow. Montaigne alludes constantly to the Bible and to Cicero. Virgil, Horace, Seneca, Ovid and other great writers. Emerson notes the fact that Montaigne was in the libraries of Shakespeare and of Ben Jonson. Emerson read Chaucer, Montaigne, Plutarch and Plato while at college and knew Shakespeare almost by heart.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Chief Kenion's View

Mr. Editor: You may be interested in the following letter from Chief Kenion of the New York fire department concerning the letter I wrote about Chief Stanton which was published in the issue of August 5:

"I am glad Chief Stanton has decided to remain at the head of the Norwich fire department. He is a very capable officer. As you well said in your letter, Stanton's work has not been confined to Norwich, the country at large has benefitted through his knowledge of the game. I hope he shall continue to enjoy good health and remain for many years the head of the Norwich fire department."

Yours cordially,
I. G. HOAGLAND.

Where the Bad Eggs Go.

Eggs that are worthless so far as food value goes are not wasted by the large dealers, but are covered with kerosene after being broken, treated with boric acid and sold to tanneries for use in one of the first processes of making leather. The shells are removed by sieves and the egg mixture is placed in a revolving drum with the raw hides to make them pliant.

What Makes Home Happy?

FOUR walls can make a house, but it takes a woman to make a home.

The woman who prepares nourishing and attractive meals, does her housework without grumbling, raises a family of healthy boys and girls and still finds time to be a pal to her husband and a friend to her neighbors, is accomplishing the biggest job in the world. Homes like hers—little havens of peace and love—are the bulwark of the nation.

To be a successful homemaker a woman must guard her health. When the mother is not well the home is upset. Women everywhere are learning through their own personal experiences, as Mrs. Riessinger did, the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Riessinger was in poor health after the birth of her first baby. She weighed only 98 pounds. One day a neighbor told her of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she decided to try it. "After taking four bottles," she writes, "I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework without one bit of trouble." Her address is Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

MISS STARK WINS HER PH. D. FROM CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

Friday of this week Miss Marion Elizabeth Stark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Stark, of Maple street, will return to Wellesley college where she is an instructor. During the summer Miss Stark gained her Ph. D. from Chicago university, the culmination of many honors which she has won for scholarships since she was graduated from Norwich Free Academy in 1912 and from Brown university in 1916.

Miss Stark's father continues ill in bed at his home, although showing some slight improvement this week. It is arranged that Miss Stark will now be able to spend the week ends at her home, returning from Wellesley every Friday afternoon.

FUNERAL

Mrs. James H. Olcott

With many relatives and friends present the funeral of Mrs. James H. Olcott was held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, No. 10 Nelson Place, where she had resided with her daughter-in-law. There were numerous beautiful floral tributes. The service was conducted by Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church, and burial took place in Yantic cemetery. The bearers were four grandsons, James H., Elmer E., and Everett Olcott and a great grandson, Harold Crawford. Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Olcott who was 94 years of age, died Sunday at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sarah M. Olcott, of No. 10 Nelson Place. Mrs. Olcott was a native of Rhode Island but practically all of her long life had been spent in this city. A number of years ago she was united in marriage with James H. Olcott whose death occurred in 1906. For some time Mrs. Olcott resided at No. 85 West Thames street, the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. George W. Dolbeare, and for the past year had made her home on Nelson Place. She was a member of the First Baptist church, being the oldest member of the church in point of years.

Surviving are one son, Frank Olcott of Waterbury, a daughter, Mrs. Henry Judd of Trenton, N. J., four grandsons, James H., Elmer E., and Everett Olcott of Waterbury, and Frank L. Olcott of California, two granddaughters, Mrs. George W. Dolbeare of No. 85 West Thames street, and Dorothea Judd of Trenton, three great grand daughters, Mrs. A. N. Carr of Madison, Wis., Nancy Olcott of Waterbury, and Dorothy Olcott, two great grandsons, Franklin Olcott and Frank Olcott, the latter of California and two great great grandchildren in Madison, Wis. There is also a niece, Mrs. Bessie Whaley Beckwith, matron of the Shelterine Arms and a nephew, Philip Whaley of this city.

WHITE CROSS COUNCIL CHOOSES ITS OFFICERS

At a well attended meeting held at the Knights of Columbus home Tuesday evening, the following officers were unanimously elected by White Cross council, No. 13, K. of C.: Grand knight, Jeremiah E. Sweeney; deputy grand knight, William P. Ward; chancellor, Richard J. Marks, Sr.; recorder, Leonard Desmond; financial secretary, Joseph E. Burns; treasurer, Frank Powers; advocate, Martin Burns; warden, R. J. Marks, Jr.; inside guard, John A. Burns; outside guard, Charles Rinella; trustee, William Harrington.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the installation of officers which is to take place at the next regular meeting, when a smoker is to be held and a large attendance is expected. Indications point to a busy and prosperous year as the newly elected officers prepare to take up their duties and are assured of the popular support of the members.

MT. CALVARY CHURCH IN APPEAL TO PUBLIC

The official board and members of Mt. Calvary Baptist church on High street are issuing an appeal to the generosity of the people of Norwich to aid them by liberal contributions towards their $2,000 campaign in which next Sunday is the closing day.

The sermon at the church service that morning will be by Rev. D. W. West of Springfield and in the afternoon by Rev. D. W. Brown of McKinley avenue A. M. E. Zion church. In the evening there will be a concert service.

The church officials ask that all checks or money be sent to C. Edward Smith at the Cranston Co., store, who is treasurer of the drive or to the pastor, Rev. W. C. Pittman, at 79 School street.

$10,000 BEQUEST IS PAID TO COUNTY HOME

A bequest of $10,000 which was left to the New London county home in this city by the will of the late James N. Clark of this city has recently been paid to the county treasurer, Albert J. Bailey, by Reuben S. Bartlett, who was trustee of the fund created by the will. The money was to be held in trust with the income paid to a beneficiary, who has now died, enabling the trustee to turn over the fund to the county home.

Mrs. Wilbur A. Chappell of Salem turnpike, East Great Plain, is the daughter of Mr. Clark who left this money to the county home.

MRS. MARY DANESI DIES AT NEW LONDON HOSPITAL

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 21—Mrs. Mary Danesi, 64, of Stonington, died tonight at Home Memorial hospital following an operation which she underwent last Friday. She is survived by several children, among them Frank Danesi, of Railroad avenue, Norwich, and Peter Danesi of Mystic. Her husband died about a year ago.

REV. L. J. SHEPLER OF MERIDEN TO TAKE BAPTIST PASTORATE AT MYSTIC

Rev. Louis J. Shepler, who has been pastor of the Main Street Baptist church, Meriden, has resigned the pastorate there, effective Oct. 1, and has accepted the call to the Union Baptist church at Mystic.

Previous to the Meriden pastorate, Rev. Mr. Shepler had filled pastorates at Hollidaysburg and Pittsburgh, Pa., and at South Norwalk, this state. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and is a graduate of Brooklyn schools. His theological training was received at Crozier theological seminary, Chester, Pa.

The new pastor for the Mystic church is 42 years old and his family consists of his wife and three children.

At the present time he is president of the Ministers' Conference of the New Haven Baptist association and also president of the Ministers' association of Meriden.

GYPSIES PAY FINES AND LEAVE THE CITY

The two gypsy women who were caught in one of the savings banks here Monday when one of them had slipped $200 out of the hands of one of the bank officials whose fortune she was telling were tried in the city court Tuesday morning and were found guilty of the charge of attempted theft. Judge A. F. Libby imposed a fine of $200 upon each, giving them until Wednesday to raise the money, or else they would be bound over to the superior court.

They were taken to jail after the court session but by 4 o'clock the other members of the gypsy band had raised the money and paid the fines at the jail. Then the whole party loaded into automobiles and left town.

Because of the babel that the hordes of gypsy children raised in the court room, the case was tried in chambers, disappointing a large crowd of spectators who had gathered and filled every available spot in the court room.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN BY FOUR-FOLD COMRADES

The four-fold comrades of the Central Baptist church held their initial meeting of the year at the church on Tuesday evening. New officers were elected, as follows: Senior comrade, Unabelle Harbeck; junior comrade and chairman of program committee, Marion Royce; comrade of the records, Amie March; comrade of the treasury, Helen Denison; chairman of White Cross work, Viola Hill; chairman of social committee, Mary Peckham. An initiation committee consisting of Helen Denison, Viola Hill and Florence Bushnell was appointed.

Plans for the year were discussed, including the sending of a Christmas box to India, the work of the girls' choir, the giving of a play, and other forms of service activity. The Four-Fold Comrade group consists of girls between fifteen and twenty-one and all the girls of the church between these ages are eligible for membership. The next meeting will be held on October 5.

NEW ORGANIST SECURED FOR UNITED CONGREGATIONAL

Announcement has been made that D. Clarence Erb, head of the music department of Connecticut College for Women, has been secured as organist at the United Congregational church. Dr. Erb will begin his duties at the church on the first Sunday in October.

The position was for years held by the late Frederick W. Lester. After Mr. Lester's death William S. Jeffs, formerly organist at the Palace theatre, became organist at the church. Mr. Jeffs is now residing in South Manchester so it was necessary to secure the service of a new organist.

WEDDINGS

Thibeault-Ducharme

Miss Mary G. Ducharme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ducharme of 41 Providence street, Taftville, and Edgar Henry Thibeault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Thibeault, of Groton, formerly of Lisbon, were united in marriage Monday morning at 8 o'clock, at a nuptial high mass, in Sacred Heart church, Taftville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Jalbert of Jewett City, in the presence of about 50 friends and relatives. Miss Alice Frechette was at the organ, and played the wedding march.

The couple were attended by Morrille Lesonde of this city, as best man, and a sister of the bride, Miss Amelia Ducharme, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Aldea Lemoine and Miss Rose Brothers.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin with crepe de chine and bead trimmings. She wore a veil of tulle and carried a bouquet of asters and roses. Her maid was also prettily attired in cream crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli. The bridesmaids were gowned in white crepe de chine.

A wedding breakfast was served at Naturalization hall, Taftville, which was followed by a reception.

To her maid the bride gave a diamond bracelet, while the best man was presented a pair of diamond cuff links by the groom. The bride received numerous gifts of cut glass, silverware, money, etc.

The groom is a native of Lisbon, and has made his home in Groton. He is employed as a chauffeur for the Howard Street Grain and Coal company of New London. The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart school, Taftville.

Following an extensive honeymoon trip by auto through Massachusetts, Mr. and Mrs. Thibeault will make their home in New London.

Plona-Poreda

A pretty wedding took place Monday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Norwich when Alexander E. Plona of New London and Miss Hellen Poreda, eldest daughter of Mrs. John Poreda of 3 Golden St., Norwich, were united in marriage by Rev. S. A. Iclek, the pastor.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin and wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Poreda, as maid of honor, who wore orchid georgette and carried pink roses and carnations. The bridesmaids were the Misses Josephine, Rose, Sophie and Blanche Poreda, all sisters of the bride. They were gowned in yellow, pink, blue and green georgette and all wore picture hats of black satin and carried bouquets of pink roses and carnations.

The best man was Pt. Stanley Poreda of Springfield, Mass., a brother of the bride. The ushers were Anthony Zakszeskki; and Stanley Budkowski of New London, Paul Salamucha of this city and Felix Lenkiewicz of Clinton, Mass., formerly of Norwich. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls and the bride's gift to the groom was a signet ring. The bride presented her attendants with gold rings and the groom presented the best man and ushers with gold cuff links.

After the ceremony a banquet was served at the young couple's new home in New London, only immediate relatives attending. The presents to the bride were numerous and handsome, including china, cut glass, silver, checks and money. The bride attended Greeneville grammar school and graduated from St. Bernardine's convent at Reading, Pa., where she was teaching school. The groom is a foreman at the Babcock Printing Press Co., of New London. The newly weds will reside at 25 Wightman Pl., New London, and will be at home to their friends after October 1.

PACKERVILLE CLOUD DIGGER'S 76TH SEMI-ANNUAL PREDICTION

Perhaps some of the weather bureau representatives will come to the front and compare the weather I predicted last March, six months in advance with the weather he predicted by the $100,000,000 United States weather bureau daily; if so, my millions of readers in all parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America and some in Europe, can easily see whether it required high salaried men to tell what the weather is to be, or a knowledge, based on years of study, and applying the same rules that have for more than a century—to my knowledge—proven correct weather guides.

I leave it to you, and before I start my 76th semi-annual prediction, I wish to thank you all for your kind words in the past.

Now then, the earth is certainly in a position that it has not been in for more than a century, and with equinoxial conditions, congenial next March, we are today starting on a year of 12 months, none of them entirely free from frosts. A year without a summer as predicted by Herbert Janvrin Browne, is very likely to be just what we are in for, but I cannot truly predict until March 21, 1927.

The months of fall and early winter will alternately be very dry, severely cold with several of the worst storms we have had in many years, to get here early and from the first great storm in mid-December, right up to March 21 you have one thing certainly before you and that is a very bad winter. Storms follow each other in such rapid succession that one is hardly conquered before its successor arrives.

I look for a dry October but what storms we do have that month will be very severe, Thanksgiving this year can be enjoyed as 50 years ago by a sleighing party, this, I mean for southern New England; but snow blockades later on in the winter will extend far south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Earth disturbances in October will be far reaching, a slipping of the earth crust in eastern United States, Canada and the West Indies means an earthquake. I feel confident this equinox, in saying what I have never in my whole 38 years of long distance predicting said, and that is; that most of the storms after early November will be snow. January, February and well into March old Mother Earth will be continuously covered with snow and ice.

Just when winter winds and blasts are the most searching in the early part of January, a sudden warm wave of two or three days duration, accompanied by terrific rains, high winds and tides, sharp lightning and heavy thunder, will be with us. I account for this by the position of several of the solar family and the moon changes at that time.

It would not surprise me if those two or three days in early January would see thermometers of Connecticut and Rhode Island go soaring up among the 80's.

One peculiar fact we have to face this coming winter is the sudden changes, more sudden than any man living today ever saw. Never in the memory of any person living today has there been such a disagreeable winter in this respect as the one we are soon to have with us.

Prepare for all kinds of disagreeable pulmonary diseases such as influenza, grip, common colds, accompanied by severe coughs this coming winter. Be warned in time and prepare for such health conditions that can be avoided by taking care of yourself.

When a weather predictor tells you, you will see a half dozen bad storms in February, don't grin, as if he was crazy, don't try to laugh it away but prepare to meet not only half a dozen, but many more. The snow fall in February this year will be the greatest you ever saw, no matter how old you are, by you, I mean every New England person that reads this prediction.

The central part of this country will be practically snow bound the entire month, railroad blockades, bus tie-ups and also trouble at sea.

I can see no flood conditions at this time for winter will hold long after the spring equinox period and should a heavy rain or thaw come at that time the spring floods will be the worst in 50 years.

During the winter nearly upon us the wonderful efficiency of the American railroad system will be plainly made evident. Thousands of people who depend upon motor bus transportation for passengers and great motor trucks for freight and express, will thank God for the railroad.

The earth tremors due at various times during the winter will be far reaching, and I look for volcanic eruptions in both Italy and far South of us. Volcanic eruptions and earth tremors will be near together and invariably followed by tidal waves in different parts of the world.

The planetary conditions will be right in mid-winter for tidal waves near the earth's center, accompanied by floods in other parts of the earth, especially China, Siberia and Southern Asia in general.

Should the sun and tides be the same March 21st as at this time, Herbert Janvrin Browne and his 1927 without a summer will be no assured fact, but let's wait until March 21st before saying much about summer.

Save your pennies, they will be dollars before another September rolls around, enlarge your wood pile and darn up those woolen socks. I do not like to make public such pessimistic predictions, but following a rule that for 30 years at sea was found almost correct, and 35 years since, by my own careful records have proven so nearly correct that I and all my readers believe them to be correct rules.

I can only give you just what those rules tell me, 1927 will be the worst year you and I ever saw. Be sure that you are prepared to meet adverse weather conditions. Now don't for a moment think you are to freeze or starve during 1927, that is, if you take care of yourself, be careful, be economical, look out for fuel before the bad weather gets you, and lay in food that will keep, while it is cheap.

There are to be some peculiarly brilliant exhibitions of northern lights during late January and early February and the terrific winter weather to the far north of us will send down many unusual animal and bird visitors, all of these conditions will be brought about exactly as they were in 1816, "the year without a summer" but I do not at this time see any reason for predicting cold and stormy conditions beyond March 21, 1927.

Let's take care of ourselves this winter and prepare in the spring for what is coming later on with hopes for the best and a knowledge that what cannot be cured must be endured with a smiling and brave spirit.

I have always claimed, and for that matter still claim that no one on earth could tell whether a storm was to be snow or rain until it reached here, as much depends on the air currents above us that the storms come in contact with, that easily freezes a warm storm to snow, or melt a cold storm to rain, before it reaches the earth's surface; but this year I feel safe in predicting more snow than rain owing to other conditions outside of the set rules I always follow in weather predicting.

The man or woman who reads the long distance prediction of Herbert Janvrin Browne, ocean meteorologist, and lightly laughs them away has another think coming to him or her. The mistakes made by press associations in making 1927 read 1926 are easier to make than to correct. While I—at present—can see no reasons according to my rules for a summerless year in 1927, I have got sense enough to know that two and two make four, and that there is scientific reason for his prediction or they never would have been made.

March 21st I will tell you how much you can rely upon his claim, until that time, good by.

I thank U.
THE CLOUD DIGGER.

REV. LOUIS J. SHEPLER
New Pastor of Union Baptist Church, Mystic

DAYLIGHT SAVING IS IN ITS LAST WEEK

This is the final week of the "daylight savings" period, and local concerns and individuals are preparing to readjust themselves to the change back to the old time which will be effected next Sunday. The hour set by popular edict is 2 a. m. on that date, when the clocks are scheduled to be set back one hour. However, it is the usual practice to turn the clock back an hour upon retiring Saturday night.

The railroad schedules, always officially on standard time, will be altered in order to conform with the change. In most cases this will consist merely of retarding the schedule one hour. In other words, a train that during the summer has left here at 2 p. m. standard time, which is 3 o'clock daylight time, will, after Sunday, leave at 3 p. m., standard time.

Practically all of the stores, offices and industries in this vicinity have been on a daylight savings program all summer.

Must Register Bees.

All bee keepers shall on or before October 1, register their bees with the town clerk of the town in which the bees are kept, according to an announcement issued from the agricultural experiment station at New Haven.

Chapter 129, public acts of 1927 provides that any owner of bees who shall fail to register them as required by the act shall be fined not more than $5.

Given Enjoyable Shower

A shower was given Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Czikowsky at their home on the Baltic road by the girls of the Corticelli Silk company. Many pretty and useful gifts were made to Mr. and Mrs. Czikowsky and a dainty lunch was served during the evening.

Safe in Miami.

A telegram Monday night to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crowe, of 58 Summer street, brought them word that their daughter, Mrs. Milton Wheaton, who is in Miami, is safe. She telegraphed "All O. K. Letter coming."

Charles J. Dyer Ill.

Tuesday afternoon Charles J. Dyer became ill suddenly while on the piazza at his home on Sachem street. During the evening his condition became so serious that he required the care of a registered nurse.

Attended Sheldon Reunion.

Mrs. J. S. Jones of North Windham recently attended the Sheldon reunion held at Plainville camp ground, later visiting relatives at Crescent beach.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

REST, SUNSHINE, FOOD IN CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Rest, sunshine and proper food play a more important part in curing tuberculosis than does climate, Dr. Alle. K. Krause, associate professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins medical school today told nearly three hundred doctors who are attending the second clinical congress held under the auspices of the Connecticut State Medical society.

In the opinion of Dr. Krause the disease in its early stages can be treated as well at home as at a sanatorium. In the advanced stages a great deal could be accomplished, he said, by inflating the defective lung with gas or oxygen to relieve the strain upon the lung tissues.

The study of the larynx presents a mental hazard to most doctors, Dr. Louis H. Clerf of the Jefferson Medical college, said in speaking on the treatment of diseases of the larynx, because of the difficulty in getting a good view of the part under study.

A luncheon for the visiting doctors was held in Yale Dining hall. Technical sessions will be held this afternoon and tonight.

Swedes Breed Foxes.

Much interest is felt here in the breeding of rare foxes. Recently 70 pairs of silver and blue foxes arrived in Stockholm to be transferred to the Norrland. The main expense in fox farms is fencing. The fence must extend at least nine feet under the surface of the earth to prevent the foxes from digging themselves free. Obviously some of the myriad islands around Scandinavia would be good sites for fox farms. There no fencing would be required. While there is a good market for good skins, the stock is expensive and when too many foxes are kept together they deteriorate rapidly. Silver foxes are very difficult to handle. The blue fox, on the other hand, is easy to breed, but its pelt is of much less value.

Norwich friends attended Saturday at 4 o'clock the wedding of Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin D. Collins of Cobalt, and Dr. Carl Clarence Chase of Chester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Chase of Bennington, Vt., at the home of the bride's parents.

FAVORITES IN PROFESSIONAL PLAY COME THROUGH THEIR MATCHES EASILY

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 21—(AP)—A wave of low scoring swept over the Salisbury links today carrying Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrel and Gene Sarazen on its crest to easy victories in the first round of the Professional Golf association championship.

Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., offered less vigorous opposition to Hagen than a score of 3 and 2 might indicate. The defending champion, steering carefully through Salisbury's maze of traps, cut loose at the start with a commanding lead against the youth who finished second in the recent national open and was unextended to win on the 34th green.

Down three holes at the end of the first round as the result of an unbroken 73 by Hagen, Turnesa saved himself from being swamped by phenomenal putting. He shaved Hagen's lead in the morning by holing out two long ones on the 16th and 18th greens, but he was in traps on almost every fairway of the second round.

A one-sided victory by Farrell over Wal Watrous of Grand Rapids, Mich., at 6 and 5, furnished the outstanding surprise. Watrous, who landed well up among the leaders in the British open was swept off his feet by the eastern professional's uncanny putting.

Farrel, in the morning dropped three, 25-footers and was home in 71, one stroke under par, to lead by 5 up. He extended his hot pace into the afternoon session, playing every hole of the course in par with flawless golf.

Off the line with his tee and iron shots, the veteran Jim Barnes, former open and professional titleholder, yielded to a brilliant second round spurt by Sarazen, 5 and 4, with a margin of only 1 up at the end of 18 holes, the stocky little Italian flashed a withering fire of birdies on the first nine of the afternoon, reaching the turn in 32 strokes, four under par. Against such an assault Barnes had little chance and finally acknowledged defeat on the 32nd green.

Passing out of the fight with Barnes, Watrous and Turnesa were Bobby Cruikshank, former open champion and runner-up to Bobby Jones in the open, and Harry Cooper of Kansas City. A 73 in the morning and a card two strokes under par for the afternoon enabled Neal McIntyre of Gary, Ind., to eliminate Cruickshank, 4 and 3, while erractic play on the greens took Cooper down to defeat against the veteran Johnny Golden of Patterson, N. J., 5 and 3.

Francis Gallet of Wauwatosa, Wis., cut into a first round lead of 5 holes stacked up by Marshall Crichton of Kanuga, N. C., but finally conceded defeat on the home green, 1 up. In an even more exciting chase George Aulbach, of Arlington, Mass., carried Mike Brady of Mamaroneck, N. Y., to the 37th green, where the latter holed a tirnie four for his victory.

Harry Hampton of Memphis, Tenn., with a lead of 3 up in the morning, played in even fours this afternoon to clinch his match against Larry Nabedlz, 6 and 5, while Leo Diegel of New York, snowed under Mike Patton, Hampton's fellow townsman, with a staggering string of birdies, playing the course in one under par this morning, and closing with a card two under even fours this afternoon. The score was 8 and 7.

In other matches Pat Doyle of White Plains, N. Y., eliminated Willie Maguire of Houston, Tex., 3 up; Dick Grout of Oklahoma City, defeated Jack Hendry of St. Paul, 4 and 3; Fred McLeod of Chevy Chase fell before Duck Linnars of Long Beach, Calif., 5 and 4; Tom Harmon of Yonkers, N. Y., put out Al Espnosa of Chicago, 5 and 4; Abe Espinosa of Chicago easily won over Gunnar Nelson of Glenview, Ill., 7 and 6; William Leach of Philadelphia, eliminated Lauris Ayton of Evansville, Ill., 3 and 1; and George Christ of Rochester won by 3 and 2 from Leo Shea of Philadelphia.

PETTY HOLDS CARDS WHILE ROBINS WIN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 2—(AP)—Jess Petty held the league leading Cardinals to six hits today while the Robins staged a four-run rally in the eighth to beat their old time foe, Bill Sherdel, and won the opener of a two game series by 4 to 3. As the Reds bowed to the Braves today, St. Louis retained its two game margin on first place.

The Robins wasted their earlier opportunities but went to work in earnest in the eighth. Singles by Deberry and Cox, coupled with Sherdel's wild throw on Petty's grounder, filled the bases with one out. Grover Alexander was called to the rescue but Carey's single, a pass to Herman and Butler's single drove in all the Brooklyn runs.

Bottomley's triple followed by Lesser Bell's sacrifice fly gave St. Louis a run in the second inning. In the ninth, Douthit, led off with a single and Holm, pinch hitting for Southworth, flied out to Cox. Hornsby came through with a double to center scoring Douthit. Bottomley drove a line drive to Herman who threw over Marriott's head in attempting to catch Hornsby off third, and Hornsby regained at the plate. Lester Bell popped out to end the contest. Score:

YANKS HOLD LEAD BY BEATING WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—(AP)—New York retained its three game margin over the Cleveland Indians today by swamping the White Sox, 14 to 0, while Cleveland defeated Boston. The league leaders went on a batting rampage against three Chicago pitchers. Babe Ruth knocked out his 44th home run with a man on base and Lazzeri collecting his 8th blow with a man on the sack.

Lazzerri featured the attack. Waite Hoyt held Chicago to two hits, one of which came in the seventh when Sheely singled, and the other in the ninth when Collins hit safely. Aside from the first inning when a base on balls and an error put two men on base, Hoyt had pitched a perfect game. Score:

BRAVES PROVE STUMBLING BLOCK FOR REDS AGAIN

BOSTON, Sept. 21—(AP)—Boston once more proved bad medicine for Cincinnati today, winning the last game of the series, 4 to 0, and making it three straight against the second place Reds. Pete Donohue met the same fate that Eppa Rixey and Luque, other Cincinnati pitching stars encountered in previous games. He was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning. Genewich kept the eight Cincinnati hits scattered and received brilliant support. Three double plays helped him considerably. In the third with two out singles by Genewich, Smith and Bancroft brought in the first Boston run. In the fifth the Braves made three runs on singles by Burrus, Smith and Bancroft. J. Taylor's double and sacrifice flies by Genewich and Welsh. In the ninth Pipp led off for Cincinnati with a triple but was unable to score. Score:

WEBSTER IS INJURED IN YALE PRACTICE

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 21—(AP)—Bill Webster, guard on the Yale varsity football team, was injured in dummy scrimmage today and probably will be out of practice for the greater part of the week. The regular lineman from last year's eleven pulled a tendon in his ankle early in the practice and had to be carried from the field. Dick Wortham, letter man two years ago, took his place.

The coaches gave most of the substitute material a chance to see action today.

FITZSIMMONS WINS HIS 13TH GAME FOR GIANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—(AP)—Fred Fitzsimmons turned in his 13th victory of the year today for the Giants by defeating the Chicago Cubs in the third game of the series by 5 to 2. CLEVELAND TAKES EASY GAME FROM RED SOX

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21—(AP)—Cleveland had no difficulty winning from Boston today, 6 to 1. Uhle, pitching his 26th victory, held Boston to four hits, the Red Sox being saved a shut out by Rosenthal's home run over the right field wall.

AGGIES HAVE FIRST SCRIMMAGE OF SEASON

(Special to the Bulletin)

STORRS, Ct., Sept. 21—The Connecticut Aggie football squad closed this afternoon's practice with a hard scrimmage. The tentative lineup of the eleven that will probably be chosen by Coach Dole to represent the state college this fall is as follows:—Kennedy and Callahan, ends; Sayers and Longo, tackles; Zollin and Lorentzen, guards; Captain Daly, center; Schofield, quarterback; Eddy and Noonan, halfbacks; and Williams, fullback. The team that met the above lineup in the first scrimmage is as follows:—Schildgren and Wilson, ends; Hooper and Dawson, tackles; Adams and Bjork, guards; Giesler, center; Knaut, quarterback; Haversatt and Powers, halfbacks; and Bergen, fullback. Calcurcio, Reeves, Aschanback, Peck, Anderson, and Bushnell were given a chance to show what they could do.

The first scrimmage showed the Aggies to be strong on the defensive, when Williams, Eddy and Noonan were given the ball. The Aggie backfield will average about 175 pounds and Williams, who plays in the fullback position, is the heaviest man on the squad weighing 210 pounds and he is also the fastest man on the squad. More time will be taken this week to strengthen defensive work of the men. Kezer, a member of last year's freshman eleven, reported today.

NOTED PROS IN EXHIBITION AT GOLF CLUB ON SUNDAY

Those who are interested in the professional golf championships now in progress and have been following the fates of the professionals during the season will have an opportunity to see four of the noted pros in action at the Norwich Golf club on Sunday afternoon.

The pros who will play at the local club on Sunday are Jimmie Donaldson, Tom Kerrigan, Cyril Walker and George McLean. Anyone who has followed the professional game for any length of time will know that these players are of national repute and capable of some mighty fine golf. Perhaps Cyril Walker is the most noted of the quartette having won the American open title a number of years ago and has made a wonderful record in open and professional tournaments in this country and England.

Tom Kerrigan of the Kiwanoy club is a noted match player and has won a number of the sectional professional tournaments. George McLean of the Grassy Sprain club is a former Metropolitan champion and also won the Shawnee title. Jimmie Donaldson of the Fenimore club is a Chicago champion and a former Scotish open titleholder.

How these players will be paired in the foursome of Sunday has not been decided.

Red Tops Win Twice

On Saturday the Taftville Red Tops defeated the Taftville Sluggers by the close score of 3 to 2 in a 12-inning battle. The game was a pitching duel between "Return Ball" Lucier of the Red Tops and Kelly of the Sluggers, with the former coming out ahead. The sensational fielding of Lemieux and timely hitting of "Babe" Borden proved a great help to the Red Tops.

On Sunday the Red Tops played the Ashland Cubs at Jewett City. The Taftville boys won easily, coming out at the long end of the 10 to 3 score. Liberty of the Cubs was hit for 17 bingles, five of which being contributed by T. Pepin. Lemieux, pitching for the Red Tops allowed but four hits striking out 16 men.

Nurmi Lowers Record

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—(AP)— Paavo Nurmi, the Finnish runner, lowered his own world record for the 3 miles at a track meet here tonight. He ran the distance in 14 minutes 7 4-10 seconds, 4 1-10 seconds better than the record.

(Nurmi's record of 14 minutes 11 1-2 seconds for the 3-mile race was set up in Sweden August 24, 1923).

LEGAL GUNS GO INTO ACTION TO PREVENT HOLDING OF THE BIG BOUT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The heaviest legal barrage to which the Dempsey-Tunney battle has yet been subjected was laid down today.

Application for an injunction to stop the fight, made by B. C. Clements, Chicago promoter, who seeks to sustain the validity of a contract to match Dempsey and Harry Wills, was the outstanding development in the court maneuvers. It seemed the only possible obstacle to the bout being held.

This will not be decided, however, until tomorrow at a hearing in common pleas court at 1:30 p. m. Clements claims that Dempsey, in signing with Rickard to meet Tunney, violated a prior agreement to meet Wills in Chicago. The champion's answer has been that Clements did not live up to his own contract terms.

Clements simulatenously filed four actions claiming damages individually and collectively against Dempsey, Rickard and Gibson, while Kearns, in addition to moves already made in New York and Atlantic City, obtained a writ of attachment here against Dempsey's share of the purse. Rickard was named as Gernishee in the writ and bail was fixed at $600,000 representing twice the amount of Kearns' claim. This was covered by surety bonds arranged by Rickard.

Dempsey's share of the purse, it was revealed by Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania boxing commission, is a flat guarantee of $450,000 while Tunney's share is fixed at $200,000.

Kearns' writ, which is expected to mean tying up of the gate receipts, was obtained after withdrawal or an attempt to stop Rickard from paying either of the fighters before the bout, in violation of the Pensylvania boxing law. Rickard himself took the stand to deny that he had paid money, either to Dempsey or Tunney, out of the receipts for the fight, although the promoter admitted he had made personal loans to both.

DEMPSEY CLAIMS KEARNS DEFRAUDED HIM OF $500,000

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Charging that Jack Kearns, his former manager, is an ex-convict and had defrauded him out of $500,000, Jack Dempsey today filed an answer to the suit which has thrown him into temporary receivership. The case was continued for two weeks on the plea of Dempsey's attorneys, because he said he had had no time in which to prepare a defense.

Dempsey did not appear in court, disappointing many spectators who jammed the chambers of Vice Chancellor Robert H. Ingersoll. He filed his answer through his counsel who appeared with Gene Normile, his business manager.

Dempsey's affidavit was sensational in its charges against his former manager. He swore that:

He had learned that Kearns was an ex-convict, having served time in the Washington State penitentiary for a statutory offense.

The revelation of Kearns' alleged character made the man so repulsive to him that he could not tolerate further association.

Mrs. Dempsey, formerly Estelle Taylor, became so embittered at Kearns' opposition to Dempsey's marriage to her that Dempsey was compelled to break with Kearns for his own peace of mind.

In addition, the champion and his attorneys declare the state of New Jersey has no jurisdiction in Kearns' suit, as neither Dempsey nor Kearns is a resident of this state. Dempsey swore he lives in California and that he believes Kearns' residence also is California, although Kearns claims New York as his home.

Dempsey disclosed he has received $50,000 in advance from promoter Tex Rickard, but that this amount was in the nature of a loan and that Rickard holds his note for the money.

DEMPSEY HAS FINAL WORKOUT UNDER GUARD

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21.—(AP)—With guards barring admittance to all outsiders, Jack Dempsey today had secrecy in his final workout in preparation for the defense of his world's heavyweight championship against Gene Tunney in Philadelphia Thursday night.

The official report of the champion's activities was that he shadowboxed two rounds, drummed the light bag for two rounds and drove punches into the heavy swing bag for a round. Then he called his sparring partners into his dressing room and bade them all a fond farewell, giving each a warm handshake. They filed into the dressing room, one at a time to greet the champion and wish him luck.

Dempsey's light workout and his four and a half mile jaunt over the roads this morning, was designed, his handlers said, merely to keep his highly tuned muscles loosened. They did no boxing because he did not wish to invite the danger of getting an eyebrow split that might send him into the ring seriously handicapped.

After the champion finished his workout, those who remained outside the gates said he appeared to be cheerful. He smiled and waved in response to a cherring "good luck" Jack" as Dempsey, sitting in the back seat of his automobile with detectives on either side, left the track for the last time.

When the champion departed, the camp was dismantled. The ring came down, the boxing gloves and punching bags were packed away and the sparring partners and trainers collected their personal belongings.

"I am ready," Dempsey said, after the workout. "I felt great today. I hope I feel as well when I go into the ring. I am about on edge now. I am confident that I will defeat Tunney. I intend to win as quickly as possible —in the first round, if I can.

The champion was able to go through his last training session without interruption from legal complications which were brought at this time, he believes, for the purpose of worrying him and interfering with his training. Dempsey says he is not worrying over any legal situation and that the fight is causing him no worry.

Dempsey's movements for the next twenty four hours will be more or less secret. He may decide to go to Philadelphia tomorrow night, there to rest until weighing in time at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, or he may defer his departure until on the morning of the battle.

Gene Normile, Dempsey's business manager, said these plans had not been definitely decided. It all depends on Dempsey's wishes. It is known that Dempsey has no desire to appear in Philadelphia until necessary because he wishes to avoid the annoyance of process servers.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY BOUT TO BE ANNOUNCED AT BULLETIN

The results, round by round, will be announced from the Bulletin office on Thursday evening. The results will come direct from the ringside by the Associated Press wire. The main bout will go on between 9.30 and 10 o'clock.

There will be absolutely no admittance to the editorial rooms of the Bulletin during the fight.

TUNNEY IN FINE SHAPE AND VERY CONFIDENT

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Although Gene Tunney formally closed his training season yesterday he made a last minute change in his scheduled today and added finishing touches to his defensive program. After a brief period of bag punching the challenger spent eight minutes practicing blocking.

Billy Vidaback and Harold Mays were summoned and instructed to fling punches at the challenger with abandon. Tunney carried or cleverly evaded most of the hard driven blows, showing impressive fleetness of foot he ducked out of range almost at will or brushed the blows aside.

The sparring partners were wearing the 16-ounce boxing gloves used in training while Tunney's hands were encased in the regulation six ounce fighting gloves.

Tunney, sticking to his convention that he knows his condition even better than his handlers, worked this afternoon against the advice of the camp experts.

"Absolutely satisfied," was his statement of his reaction when he had finished the short working period.

Today's workout was semi-private. The ranks of the small army of newspaper correspondents was thinned by an exodus for the Philadelphia battleground and less than a dozen were on hand. Not many more than as many friends of the contender completed the ringside group. The clergy, however, was well represented, five priests being interested onlookers.

Tomorrow will be a day of complete rest, it was announced. No work is anticipated for the challenger. His weight today before the workout was about 191 pounds, attired in an approximation or the ring togs he will wear against Dempsey.

After his workout today Tunney talked of the bout in language of the ring. His finely chiseled phrases have evidently put in the bag with the old gloves.

"What have I to fear?" he asked.

"Nothing," he answered his own question.

"The only thing that might give me serious trouble would be a sock on the jaw and I have taken many of them."

Tunney expects his cut lip to go through the big bout without being reopened. The only blow, he pointed out, likely to cut the lip again is a left jab and Dempsey does not use many blows of this character.

The champion, suggested the challenger, would not trade one left hook for a dozen left jabs, so the lip has the percentage with it.

In a conversation with newspapermen and women after his informal training period, Tunney indicated that the boxer with a thousand enigrams has been shelved until after the bout in favor of hard boiled battler trying to win undying fame and much money to go with it.

CARDS LOSE GOOD CHANCE TO CLINCH PENNANT

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—St. Louis lost a major opportunity to clinch the National league pennant and the Cincinnati Reds practically gave up the ghost today when the Cardinals lost to Brooklyn 4 to 3 and the Reds took their fifth straight defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves, 4 to 0.

The losses of the leader kept intact the two game leeway the Cardinals hold over Cincinnati and with but four games still to be played, the Hendricks clan must win all their contests while the Cards are losing three out of four in order to gain a place in the world's series just By winning one more game while the Reds are winning three and losing one. St. Louis can insure a tie for the flag.

The standing of the leaders today:

	Won	Lost	Ave.
St. Louis	87	63	.580
Cincinnati	86	65	.576

The American league race, now coming to anti-climax, saw no change with both Cleveland and the New York Yankees winning their games, the Yanks walloped Chicago unmercifully, 14 to 0, to come out of the batting slump that has gripped them for a week. The Indians beat Boston easily, 6 to 1. With but five pastimes remaining, the New York lead of three games would force the Speaker tribe to take five straight victories while the Yankees were losing four out of five in order to sneak away with the flag.

The standing of the leaders today:

	Won	Lost	Ave.
New York	89	60	.597
Cleveland	86	63	.577
